23. This Act shall come into operation on the first day of July 1867.

WHITLEY STOKES,
Asst. Secy to the Govt. of India, Home Dept. (Legislative)

THE following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 22nd March 1867, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXVI OF 1867.

An Act to amend the law relating to Stamp Duties.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to Stamp Duties; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Interpretation clause.

1. In this Act—unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"High Court."

"High Court" means the highest Court of appeal in every part of British India to which this Act extends :

"Immoveable property."

"Immoveable property" includes land and every benefit to arise out of land, and things attached to the earth or permanently fastened to anything which is attached to the earth :

Moveable property.

"Moveable property" means property of every description except immoveable property.

Exception in Section 30 of Act X of 1862 not to apply to High Court, North-Western Provinces, and Section 2 of Act No. XX of 1862 applied to such Court.

2. The exception at the beginning of Section 30 of Act No. X of 1862 (to consolidate and amend the law relating to stamp duties), shall not apply to the High Court of Judicature of the North-Western Provinces of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, and Section 2 of Act No. XX of 1862, as continued by Act No. XXXII of 1863, shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to the same Court.

Section 2 of this Act to have a retrospective effect.

3. Section 2 of this Act shall be deemed to have had and to have effect as if it were part of an Act which had actually passed and received the assent of the Governor General of India on the 13th day of June 1866.

Act VIII of 1859, Sections 133, 150 and part of Section 198, repealed.

4. Sections 133 and 150 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the following words in Section 198 of the same Code :—"The application may be made either orally or by writing on unstamped paper,"—are hereby repealed.

Addition to Article 43 in Act No X of 1862, Schedule A.

5. In the said Act No. X of 1862, Schedule A shall be read as if at the end of Article 43 the following clause were added ; (that is to say)—

	Rs.	As.
If the letter or power of attorney be made for the sole purpose of appointing or nominating a proxy to vote at any one meeting of the proprietors or shareholders of or in any Joint Stock Company or other Company or Society whose stock of funds is or are divided into shares and transferable ..	0	4

A Stamp of one-fourth the value prescribed in the foregoing scale.

NOTE.—(a). In suits for immoveable property whether paying or not paying revenue to Government, the amount of stamp duty payable shall be computed according to the market-value of the property in suit. In suits for immoveable property paying revenue to Government, where the settlement is temporary, eight times the revenue so payable, and where the settlement is permanent, ten times the revenue so payable, and in suits for immoveable property not paying revenue to Government, twenty times the annual net profits of such property, shall be taken to be the market-value thereof, unless and until the contrary shall be proved.

SPECIAL RULES FOR THE BOMBAY PRESIDENCY.

(1.) In the case of lands held on a settlement for period not exceeding thirty years and paying the full assessment to Government a sum equal to eight times the survey assessment shall be taken to be the market-value.

(2.) In the case of lands held on a permanent settlement or on a settlement for any period exceeding thirty years and paying the full assessment to Government, a sum equal to ten times the survey assessment shall be taken to be the market-value.

(3.) When the whole or any part of the annual survey assessment is remitted, the valuation calculated by the preceding rules shall be increased by ten times the portion of assessment remitted.

(b.) In all other descriptions of suits, the amount of stamp duty payable shall be computed in the following manner:—

(1). In suits for moveable property (other than money), according to the market-value of the subject-matter of the suit at the date of filing the plaint, or

	Rs.	As.
where the subject-matter has no market-value, as, for instance, in the case of documents relating to title, or accounts, the amount at which the subject-matter shall be estimated in the petition of plaint or appeal.
(2). In suits, (other than suits under Act No. XV of 1865, or Act No. XXI of 1866), in which it is not possible to estimate at a money-value the subject-matter of the suit	10	0
(3). In suits for money (including suits for damages and compensation), according to the amount claimed.

In order to ascertain the market value or the annual net profits of any such property as is described in NOTE (a) and in NOTE (b), the Court may either of its own motion or on the application of any party to the suit issue a commission to any proper person, directing him to make such local or other investigation as may be necessary and to report thereon to the Court, and the decision of the Court, as to the market-value or annual net profits shall be final. If in the result of any such investigation the Court shall find that the market-value or net profits has or have been erroneously estimated for the purpose of computing the stamp-duty, the Court shall either (as the case may be) refund the excess paid as such duty, or require the plaintiff to pay so much additional stamp-duty as would have been payable had the said market-value or net profits been correctly estimated, and in such case the suit shall be stayed until the additional duty shall have been paid.

Section 180 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall be construed as if the words "the market-value of any property in suit or" were inserted after the word "ascertaining," and as if the words "or annual net profits" were inserted after the word "damages."

(c). In suits for mesné profits or for immoveable property and mesné profits, if the profits decreed are in excess of the profits claimed, the decree shall not be executed until the difference between the stamp duty actually paid and the stamp-duty which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits so decreed shall have been paid to the proper officer. Such difference shall be calculated by the Court according to the rules abovementioned, and shall be costs in the suit.

(d). If an appeal or plaint, which shall have been rejected by the lower Court on any of the grounds mentioned in the Code of Civil Procedure, shall be ordered to be received, or if a suit shall be remanded in appeal, on any of the grounds mentioned in Section 351 of the same Code, for a second decision by the lower Court, the Appellate Court shall grant to the appellant a certificate, authorizing him to receive back from the Collector the full amount of stamp duty paid on the petition of appeal. Provided that, if, in the case of a remand in appeal, the order of remand shall not cover the whole of the subject-matter of the suit the certificate so granted shall not authorize the appellant to receive back more than so much duty as would have been originally payable on the part or parts of such subject-matter in respect whereof the suit has been remanded.

(e). When any appeal shall be presented to a Civil Court, not against the whole of a decision, but only against so much thereof as relates to a part or parts of the subject-matter of the suit, and, on the hearing of such appeal, the respondent shall take, under Section 348 of the Code of Civil Procedure, an objection to any part of the said decision other than the part appealed against, the Court shall not hear such objection until the respondent shall have paid the additional stamp duty which would have been payable had the appeal comprised the part of the decision so objected to. Such additional stamp duty shall be calculated by the Court according to the rules abovementioned, and shall be costs in the suit.

GENERAL RULE.—If the subject-matter of any plaint, written statement, petition, or copy, of a decree or order cannot be conveniently comprised within one Stamp Paper of the value prescribed by the Schedule, one or more additional pieces of paper may be used bearing a Stamp of the value required for petitions. This Rule does not apply to copies of Judgments; and additional pieces of paper required for such copies need not be stamped.

Written examinations of complainants.

7. When the first or only examination of a person who complains of the offence of wrongful confinement, or of wrongful restraint, or of any offence other than an offence for which Police Officers may arrest without a warrant as specified in the third column of the Schedule annexed to the Code of Criminal Procedure, and who has not already presented a petition stamped as required by Article 10 of Section 6 of this Act, shall be reduced to writing under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, such examination shall be written upon stamp paper of the value of one rupee to be supplied by the complainant, unless the Court shall think fit to write such examination upon plain paper.

Certain Sections of this Act to be read with Act No. X of 1862.

8. Sections 1, 5, 6 and 7 of this Act shall be read with and taken as part of the said Act No. X of 1862: provided that nothing contained in these Sections shall have a retrospective operation.

Act not to affect Act XVIII of 1865.

9. Nothing in this Act shall affect Act No. XVIII of 1865 (to amend Act No. X of 1862) or any order passed thereunder, and nothing in this Act shall affect the stamps or fees leviable under the Indian Succession Act, 1865, the Parsee Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865, the Native Converts' Marriage Dissolution Act, 1866, nor any other stamp or fee leviable on any application, bond, certificate, copy, petition, power or translation not hereinbefore expressly provided for.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill, as settled in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for making Laws and Regulations on the 13th April 1867, is hereby published for general information:—

A Bill for the better regulation of the Police in Towns and Municipalities in the Territories under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Preamble

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the regulation and maintenance of the Police Force employed in Towns and Municipalities in the territories under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; It is enacted as follows:—

Interpretation

I. The following words and expressions in this Act shall have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, except where a different intention shall appear from the context, that is to say:—

"Magistrate."

The word "Magistrate" shall include the Magistrate of a District, or a Magistrate in charge of a Division of a District.

"House."

The word "House" shall include any shop or warehouse.

"Town."

The word "Town" shall mean any city, town, suburb, station, or bazar, or union, to which the provisions of Act XX. of 1856, passed by the Governor General of India in Council, shall have been extended, and to which the provisions of Act III. of 1864, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, shall not have been extended.

"Municipality."

The word "Municipality" shall mean any town, suburb, station, bazar, village, or tract of country to which the said Act III. of 1864 shall have been extended.

Gender.

Words importing the masculine gender shall include the feminine.

Number.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular.

Police in Towns and Municipalities to be appointed under Act V. of 1861.

II. From and after the commencement of this Act, no Police Chowkeydars shall be appointed, continued, or employed in any Town or Municipality under the provisions of Act XX. of 1856 passed by the Governor General of India in Council, and all Police Officers appointed or employed in any Town or Municipality shall be appointed under the provisions of Act V of 1861 passed by the Governor-General of India in Council, and shall be deemed to be a portion of the Police Establishment under the Local Government of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and shall, save as hereinafter appears, be subject to the provisions of the said Act V. of 1861.

Repeal of Clauses.

III. From and after the commencement of this Act, the various portions of Acts set forth in the Schedule hereto, shall stand and be repealed, except as to any act which shall have been done, or any liability which shall have been incurred, before the passing of this Act, and except so far as they repeal the whole or any part of any other Act, or ordinance, or regulation.

District Superintendent of Police to prepare a Budget.

IV. From and after the commencement of this Act, every District Superintendent of Police, on or before the first day of November in each year, shall prepare, in such form as may from time to time be directed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, a Budget or estimate of the income and expense of the Police Force in every Town and Municipality within his District, for the year to commence on the first day of January next after preparation of such Budget, and present the Budget of every such Town or Municipality to the Magistrate thereof.

Contents of Budget.

V. Every such Budget shall shew the number, constitution, and salaries of the Police Force to be maintained in any such Town or Municipality, and shall state whether the whole or some and what part of such expense is to be borne by rates to be levied in the Town or Municipality to which the same refers. Provided that the expense so to be borne in any Town shall not exceed the average rate of two annas per mensem for each house, and that the expense so to be borne in any Municipality shall not exceed five Rupees per centum of the annual value of all houses, buildings, and lands within the local limits of such Municipality.

Magistrate to consider Budget.

VI. The Magistrate of every such Town or Municipality shall, forthwith after the receipt of such Budget, lodge the same in his Office, and shall cause the same to be translated into the language usually spoken in such Town or Municipality, and shall cause the same or the translation thereof to be laid before the Municipal Commissioners of such Municipality at their next General Meeting or before the Punchayet appointed under the said Act XX. of 1856 of such Town, and shall, during fourteen days after such Budget shall have been so received, permit the same and the translation thereof to be inspected at all reasonable times and seasons by any rate-payer of such Town or Municipality who may desire to inspect the same.

Budget to be transmitted to Lieutenant-Governor.

VII. Immediately after the expiration of fourteen days from the receipt of any such Budget, the Magistrate who shall have received the same, shall transmit to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal such Budget, together with any remarks or objections made by the said Municipal Commissioners or the said Punchayet, as the case may be.

Lieutenant-Governor to decide on Budget.

VIII. It shall be lawful for the said Lieutenant-Governor to consider such Budget so transmitted to him, and to approve, or to reject, or modify and approve as modified, such Budget or any part thereof.

Amount of estimate in Budget to be deemed expense of Police Force.

IX. So much of the estimates in such approved Budget as may thereby be directed to be borne by the rates to be levied in such Town or Municipality, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be the expense of the Police to be borne by such Town or Municipality for the year for which such Budget shall have been presented.

Municipal Commissioners to pay amount of expense to Lieutenant-Governor.

X. The Municipal Commissioners in every Municipality shall, out of the annual rates of such Municipality, cause to be paid to the said Lieutenant-Governor the expense of the Police Force of such Municipality, by equal quarterly instalments, which said instalments shall respectively be payable upon such quarterly days of payment as shall from time to time be fixed by the said Lieutenant-Governor for the payment thereof by such Municipal Commissioners.

Magistrate to raise amount of expense.

XI. The Magistrate of every Town shall, by the ways and means in and by the said Act XX. of 1856 provided for raising the amount of the expense of Chowkeydars appointed under the same Act, cause to be levied and raised in such Town the amount of the expense of the Police to be borne under this Act by such Town.

Saving of powers of Police Commissioner in Calcutta.

XII. Nothing in this Act shall deprive the Commissioner of Police for the Town of Calcutta of any power or authority over the Police within the Town of Calcutta and the Suburbs thereof, in him vested by Act IV. of 1866 or Act II. of 1866 of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, or otherwise; and the Inspector-General of Police shall not exercise over the Police within the said Town or Suburbs, any of the powers or authorities to him confided by the said Act V. of 1861.

Deputy Commissioner to perform duties of District Superintendent under this Act.

XIII. The Deputy Commissioner of Police for the Suburbs of Calcutta shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the District Superintendent of the said Suburbs.

Commencement of Act.

XIV. This Act shall, so far as respects the preparation, presentation, inspection, consideration, and approval of Budgets, commence and take effect upon the first day of September now next ensuing, and as to the residue thereof, shall commence and take effect upon the first day of January 1868.

Section 34.

J. PITT KENNEDY,
Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Department.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 27th April 1867, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon within a fortnight:—

A Bill to amend Act III. of 1864 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act III of 1864 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, by providing some effective means for the recovery of the assessment thereby imposed upon houses, buildings, and lands, and by providing that the Inspector-General of Jails and the District Superintendent of Police in each District shall be ex-officio Municipal Commissioners; It is enacted as follows:—

Interpretation.

I. The following words and expressions in this Act shall have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, except where a different intention shall appear from the context, that is to say:—

"Municipality."

The word "Municipality" shall mean any town, suburb, station, bazar, village, or tract of country to which the said Act III of 1864 shall have been extended.

Gender.

Words importing the masculine gender shall include the feminine.

Number.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular.

Service of Notices.

II. Every notice, schedule, summons, or notice of demand regarding any assessment, rate or tax, or any money due in respect of the same, may be served personally upon the person to whom the same is addressed, or be left at his usual place of abode with some adult male member or servant of his family, or, if it cannot be so served, may be put up on some conspicuous part of such place of abode, and shall thereby be deemed to be duly served. Provided that, if the place of abode of the owner of any house, building, or land in respect of which a rate is assessed be unknown, or if the owner of any such house, building, or land be not resident within the limits of the Municipality, every such notice, summons, or notice of demand shall be deemed to be duly served, if put up on some conspicuous part of the house, building, or land in respect of which the rate is assessed.

Proviso.

Rate due from non-resident owner may be recovered from occupier, and deducted by him from his rent.

III. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any house, building, or land remains unpaid after the notice of demand has been duly served, and such owner be not resident within such Municipality, or the place of abode of such owner be unknown, the Municipal Commissioners may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of such house, building, or land, and, on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any goods and chattels found on the premises; and whenever such rate shall be paid by or recovered from such occupier, he may deduct from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from him. Provided that no arrear of rate, which has remained due from the owner of any house, building, or land for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof.

Inspector General of Jails and District Superintendent of Police to be ex-officio Municipal Commissioners.

North, the River Ganges.

South, the Plain.

East, the Lesliegunge boundary limit.

West, the present Dinapore union.

Under Section 10 of the Act, it is also further notified that the tax to be levied upon the inhabitants will be an assessment according to the circumstances and the property to be protected of the persons liable to the same.

The following Order issued by the Government of India, in the Home Department, is re-published for general information:—

No. 3626.—The 10th April 1867.—The following amended Notice is published for general information, in supersession of Notification No. 149, dated the 8th January last:—

Government Notice No. 1, 1867.

His Excellency the Administrator of the Government directs the publication, for general information, of the following amended Notice of the erection of a Light-house on the Bluff, at the south side of the entrance of Port Natal, in correction of the Notification given in Government Notice No. 122, 1866.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. Fitzpatrick,
Colonial Secy.

Colonial Office, Natal,
The 4th January 1867.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

A Light-house has been erected on the Bluff, at the south side of the entrance of Port Natal, at an elevation of 292 feet above high water, a light from which will be exhibited on the 23rd January 1867.

The Light-house is in Latitude 29° 52′ 50″ S., and Longitude 31° 3′ 35″ E.

The building is an iron tower, in the form of a frustrum of a cone, 81 feet high, painted white, centre of light being 70 feet above the base, exhibiting a revolving white light of the second class (dioptric), attaining its greatest brilliancy once every minute.

It is visible in all directions from North (round by East and South) to S. 59° W., and can be seen from a ship's deck 24 miles in clear weather.

The above light is not visible from the Aliwal shoal, which is 25 miles S., 53° W., from the Light-house; vessels should not, therefore, when coming from the southward and westward approach the shore nearer than four miles, or shoal their water under 40 fathoms, using the lead freely until they make the light well out from the deck, when they may stand in until it bears N. 59° E.,—which bearing will keep them outside all known danger—until they are abreast of the Umlazi River (about 0¼ miles below the Light-house), when they must keep it more to the northward, as the land trends more to the eastward, giving the shore a good berth of a mile; and when the light bears about W. N. W., they can haul into the northward for the anchorage; anchoring in 8¼ to 10 fathoms, with the Light-house bearing S. W. to S. W. ½ S. distant one mile.

W. E. Archdeacon, Master, R. N.,
Admiralty Surveyor.

Relief in Orissa.

From the HON'BLE C. P. HOBHOUSE, Chairman of the Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Committee, to S. C. BAYLEY, ESQ., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 3rd April 1867.)

I HAVE the honor to forward, for the consideration of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, copy of a communication of date the 19th ultimo, received from Mr. Molony, Commissioner, on the part of the Famine Committee.

2. It would seem from this communication that relief operations are now in active working, under the superintendence of Mr. Molony; and in furtherance of instructions given to him by the Executive Famine Committee, and in concurrence with the Local Committees, that gentleman proposes a definite scheme of relief operations.

3. It would seem that, in communication with Mr. Schalch and the Government Local Authorities, certain localities have been fixed upon as depôts for the storage and delivery of rice imported or to be imported by Government.

4. Mr. Molony and the Local Committees have then selected thirty-five sub-depôts for the storage and delivery of rice by relief officers.

5. The ordinary carriage of the country has been, and is being, made use of for the conveyance of rice from the Government depôts to the sub-depôts, the carriers being paid a commission of so much per bag, and being held responsible for short deliveries.

6. The sub-depôts have been selected with a view to take relief nearer home to the villagers, and have been so arranged, that on an average there is one sub-depôt to every eighty-six square miles of country; this average, however, is smaller in places where distress is greater and vice versa.

7. It is then proposed to map out the distressed parts into what are called sub-divisions, and to place each of these sub-divisions in charge of a Deputy Collector, with Inspectors and a Medical office staff under him, and the Committee take this opportunity of thanking His Honor for the promptitude with which the requisite staff of Deputy Collectors and Medical officers was placed at their disposal, and despatched to the scene of their duties.

8. The following are the terms on which the Executive Committee, in agreement with the General Committee, propose to sell or distribute rice at their sub-depôts: —

Firstly.—Sales to the public at the rates of Rupees 3-4 for cleaned rice, and Rupees 2-12 for Burmah rice, per Calcutta maund; no one purchaser being allowed to purchase more than one Calcutta maund.

Secondly.—Sales to the public at rates lower than the above, and in quantities of not more than five Calcutta seers to each purchaser, but such sales only to be permitted in special localities, under special sanction of a competent authority.

Thirdly.—Where employment is to be had, gratuitous distribution at full support-rates to be made only to those who, temporarily or permanently, are physically incapable of labor.

In order to this distribution—

A. Lists of persons, arranged in villages, incapable of labor, are to be called for from the Zemindars.

B. Such persons are to be assembled by the Zemindars or their agents in villages, and are to be then inspected by the Deputy Collector or their Inspectors.

C. After inspection made or certified, the Deputy Collectors are to issue relief tickets for the supply of raw rice, sufficient for a fortnight's consumption.

D. These tickets to run in numbers and by villages on the cheque-margin principle. All ticket-holders of any one village to be paid on the same day; and, as an exceptional rule, ticket-holders not to be forbidden to let their supplies be taken by persons other than themselves.

E. Casualties to be reported by the Zemindar's agent on days of distribution, and tickets to be cancelled in accordance.

F. Fresh ticket-holders only to be admitted on certificate from the Zemindar's agent, shewing cause for former non-inclusion, and on the usual personal inspection.

G. Brahmins, Kayusts, and women of family, for whom no suitable work can be obtained, and who will, from honest caste-prejudices, rather starve than take the only work to be had, to receive gratuitous supplies of rice only in very exceptional cases, and under strict supervision of trustworthy agents.

Fourthly.—Where persons, males or females, are incapacitated from doing a full-day's work, and only so long as they are thus incapacitated, light labor to be provided, and such persons to receive a full-day's pay, the Committee bearing the loss of the difference.

Fifthly.—For women generally, suitable labour (such as cotton for spinning, coir and hempen ropes to manufacture, paddy to husk, fancy basket work to make), to be provided, and the women to be paid in rice or money according to their work.

Sixthly.—For widows and children, who can only partially support themselves, and who have no male members of a family to whom they can legitimately look for support, labour, suitable to age and sex, to be provided, and the wages of such labour to be supplemented by small gratuities of rice.

Seventhly.—In the rainy season, provision possibly to be made for sending rice about in boats for sale by paid agents.

9. In the following exceptional cases, the Committee propose to afford relief, other than that to be given in the cases above detailed:—

Firstly.—Where public works cannot be easily provided, where the Zemindars are expending sums of money, otherwise than as loans, in repairing the huts of villagers, and where such Zemindars are, beyond a doubt, too impoverished to pay for such repairs in full, then the Relief Committee will supplement the Zemindar's exertions, but under supervision, so as that the monies given shall be expended bonâ fide on the repairs.

Secondly.—Where there are no public works available, and where no works can be undertaken that will be remunerative, the Committees, rather than let the people live in idleness, may employ them on works of purely local utility, even though such works be not remunerative.

10. There is another matter on which, though the Committee understand that it rests with them for absolute disposal, the Committee will yet be glad to have the benefit of His Honor's advice, and, they hope, concurrence.

11. It is as to the mode of disposing of the numerous orphan children whom the famine has thrown upon the charity of the public.

12. It is understood that in Calcutta, and perhaps in Orissa also, as a general rule, these orphans have, by a general consent of Local Committees, composed of European and Native gentlemen of different creeds, been made over to the guardianship of Christian Missionaries of various denominations.

13. Where therefore such Missionaries desire to retain such guardianship, and where, in order to the maintenance of the orphans, they ask pecuniary aid from the Relief Committee, such aid may, the Committee think, be at once accorded.

14. Again, where the parents of the orphans were of no creed, were for instance Sonthals, and where Christian Missionaries, fit persons, are willing to take the guardianship of them, and ask for monetary aid, there the Committee think such aid may also be at once accorded.

15. But where the parents of the orphans were Hindoos or Mahomedans, and where the Committee have to provide fit guardians for such orphans, and to give such guardians monetary or other aid, there a difficulty at once arises and has practically arisen in the District of Purulia.

16. The funds the Committee have to administer, are provided by persons of various creeds, who were aware when they made such provision, that the funds would in part have to go towards the maintenance of orphans, the children almost universally of Hindoo and Mahomedan parents.

17. In the administration of these funds, therefore, the Committee consider that they stand in loco parentis of the orphans, and that they must do for these orphans as their parents would have done.

18. The Committee therefore would first enquire, whether in the case of these orphans, there are any persons near of kin, friends, or of the same creed, fit and willing to undertake their guardianship, and if there are such persons, the Committee would make the orphans over to them, giving at the same time a donation in money or kind, sufficient to maintain the orphans for a reasonable time, the Local Committees taking on themselves the responsibility of determining the fitness of the guardians who offer. In such a case, the Committee would propose that the sum which they may determine to appropriate for such orphans, should not be paid down to such guardians in one sum at the outset, but should be lodged with the Collector or Magistrate, or other authority, to be paid out in quarterly or half-yearly instalments on production of the orphans and on proof being given that they are not only receiving food and clothes, but also education.

19. If there are no such guardians who offer, then the Committee would accept the offer of the Christian Missionaries, giving a preference to Missionaries on the spot who come forward, and would make the orphans over to the guardianship of such Missionaries unreservedly, giving a donation sufficient to maintain the orphans for a reasonable time; the money, however, to be lodged in the hands of some local authority, and paid by instalments as proposed in last paragraph. The funds of the Committee being comparatively small, the demands on these funds large, and the duration of them uncertain, donations seem to the Committee a wiser method of aid than monthly subscriptions; there is this further advantage in a system of donations, that such donations once made, the Committee would no longer be responsible for the duty of maintaining the orphans.

From H. L. HARRISON, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal to the Chairman of the Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Committee, Calcutta,—(No. 1528, dated the 15th April 1867.

WITH reference to your letter dated the 3rd instant, and its enclosures, I am directed to communicate to the Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Committee the Lieutenant-Governor's full concurrence in the measures therein indicated, which it is proposed to adopt in regard both to the relief operations and to the maintenance of orphans.

2. His Honor gathers from the remarks made by the Committee that they propose to make provision for all orphans left destitute in consequence of the famine throughout Bengal. I am therefore to inform them that an allowance of Rupees 2 a head per mensem has been already sanctioned by this Government for the support of some of these orphans, who were reported as being entirely dependant on private charity; and I am to ask whether the Committee are in a position to supplement this allowance by defraying any further charges on account of the orphans which cannot be met from local sources.

Importation of rice into Orissa.

From A. B. SHEKLETON, Esq., Honorary Secretary to the Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Fund Committee, to H. L. HARRISON, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 6th April 1867.)

I AM directed by the Executive Committee of the "Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Fund" to submit, for the consideration of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, extracts of statements received from the Special Commissioner, Mr. Molony.

2. In making his estimate of money required for the present month, in the District of Pooree, the Commissioner indents, among other heavy requirements, for a sum of Rupees 12,776, which he states "is estimated in consultation with the Collector, and includes transport from Pooree to each Sub-Depôt. The Collector will not consent to charge us only with the difference of transport charges from Pooree to the nearest Government Depôt, and from Pooree to the Sub-Depôt, which draws its supplies from the nearest Government Depôt (or rather is supposed to do so), on the ground that when the rice was sent there were no Government Depôts in existence."

3. The Committee entirely concur in the Commissioner's remark, "that this fact does not diminish the admitted responsibility of Government to stock its own Depôts, whence to supply the Sub-Depôts," and they therefore submit that they should only be held responsible for the transport charges between the Government Depôts, as at present existing, and their own Sub-Depôts.

4. Again, the Commissioner states, "the Government are clearing their accounts to the end of December, and wish all the proceedings and expenses since then to be included in the Committee's accounts and operations."

5. The Committee submit that they can only assume the liability for the payment of supplies received since the actual commencement of their operations, that is to say, since the 1st of March, they are ready, however, to devote the sum of Rupees 70,113 (being the amount of certain unexpended balances from the former Relief Fund, transferred to them up to the present time by the orders of Government), and any additional sums they may receive from the same source, to the part payment of supplies and expenses prior to that date, but all further claims, either in respect of grain supplied, or extra transport charges, they consider should be provided for from the Imperial Treasury.

From H. L. HARRISON, Esq., Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Honorary Secretary to the Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Committee, Calcutta,—(No. 1537, dated the 15th April 1867.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated the 6th instant, and in reply to state that the Lieutenant-Governor agrees generally in the principle which has been laid down by the Relief Committee in your 3rd paragraph in reference to the extent of their liability for transport charges, that is to say, that they should only be responsible for the cost of transport between the Government depôts as at present existing and their own sub-depôts, and His Honor accepts the offer made in your 5th paragraph to apply the unexpended balance (Rupees 70,118) from the old Relief Fund, as well as any additional sums that may hereafter be obtained from the same source, to the part payment of supplies of grain received, and expenses incurred since the end of December, but prior to the commencement of operations on the part of the Committee on the 1st March. Any expenditure previous to that date, in excess of the sum thus available, will be defrayed by the Government.

Distress in Cuttack.

From T. B. LANE, ESQ., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 652M., dated the 9th April 1867.)

I AM directed to forward, for the information of the Lieutenant-Governor, copy of a Report by the Collector of Cuttack, and the Board's reply thereto.

WEEKLY PRICE CURRENT.

THE supply of rice in the Town of Cuttack continues good, and considerable importations are still coming in, principally from Sumbulpore, the Gurjats, and Khoordah; the price averages now 10 to 11¼ Cuttack seers; for a few days it got dearer, but this I believe was principally owing to the increased number of purchasers from the Mofussil. A considerable quantity of the rice is carried inland towards Apressur and Kendraparah, and also towards Taldunda; these importations will continue as long as the river is open for boats. The Assistant Collector of Jajipore reports that the prices of all descriptions of grain and pulses are getting dearer; that importations still go on into the western portion of the Sub-division, though not on so large a scale as formerly; that the mahajuns are the persons who are profiting by it; this however is quite natural as they take the trouble to bring it. In the eastern portion of the Sub-division there are no importations, and rice is only secured with difficulty; and that those of the lower classes who avoid the Chutters are eating wild sag, which produces a disease half dropsy, half dysentery. The Assistant Collector adds, that the rain which has fallen was accompanied with hail, and has done as much harm as good to the Dhalu crops. The Assistant Collector of Kendraparah merely adds that distress is increasing. The rain throughout the district generally has done a great deal of good, not only saving what there was of the Dhalu, but also in enabling the cultivators to plough their lands, which they have done very extensively. There can be no doubt that distress is gradually increasing, more particularly in those places remote from high roads and public works. I have, however, heard no very marked or sudden change in the price of rice, nor is the demand on the Government stores so great as anticipated at this period. As yet there has been no very noticeable increase in the amount of crime, which is a good sign.

The failure of the mangoes, which promised so well at first, is a great misfortune.

CUTTACK, The 30th March 1867. } (Sd.) W. MACPHERSON, Collector.

From T. B. LANE, ESQ., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Honorary Secretary to the Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Committee,—(No. 651M., dated the 9th April 1867.)

I AM directed to forward, for the information of the Executive Committee, copy of a general Narrative of the state of the Cuttack District for the week ending the 30th March, and to state, with regard to the remark made by the Collector, that distress was increasing, more especially in those parts remote from high roads and public works; that the Commissioner has been directed to communicate with the Special Famine Relief Commissioner, and to urge the landlords to take Tuccavi advances for the improvement of their estates in such localities, on the principle laid down in the 4th clause of the 15th paragraph of Junior Member's minute of the 12th February, which has been approved of by the Government.

From H. L. HARRISON, ESQ., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 1551, dated the 15th April 1867.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 652M., dated the 9th instant, submitting a copy of a report from the Collector of Cuttack on the subject of the condition of the District up to the 30th ultimo, and in reply I am to state that the Lieutenant-Governor approves of the instructions which the Board have issued to the Commissioner regarding the distress which is reported to be increasing in those parts of the District remote from high roads and public works.

State of the Nuddea District.

From T. B. LANE, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 648M., dated the 9th April 1867.)

SIR,

I AM directed to submit, for the information of the Lieutenant-Governor, copy of a Report by the Magistrate of Nuddea on the state of his District.

From H. BELL, Esq., Officiating Magistrate of Nuddea, to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division,—(No. 484, dated the 29th March 1867.)

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to submit the Report called for in your demi-official letter of the 9th ultimo, upon the general condition of the District, and the prospects of there being a scarcity in the supply of food for the people during the present year. The enclosed Statement will give concise answers to the six points of enquiry suggested by your letter. It has been compiled from the answers submitted by the sub divisional officers.

2. The only part, of this District regarding which I entertain any apprehension, is a tract of country comprising some 200 or 250 villages, lying between the Jellinghy and Echamuttee rivers, from Chapra in the south to Bagivan in the north. The reports which I have received from that part of the country though unfavorable, are, however, not such as to excite any immediate alarm. Baboo Mudhoo Soodun Pall, who is not only a landholder but the largest Mahajun in those parts, informs me that there will be little or no distress till the beginning of Assar, (the 15th of June) and that the occurrence of distress after Assar entirely depends upon whether the small village Mahajuns sell their stocks for exportation, or distribute it as usual to their customers. His own stock, the Baboo informs me, will more than last till the early harvest, provided he has only to supply his regular dependents; but that if he has to lend indiscriminately, as he did last year, his stock of grain will be exhausted by the beginning of Assar. From the information which I at present possess, I have no reason to suppose that the small Mahajuns are sending rice out of this District. A Mahajun who sells his rice instead of supplying his regular customers is a marked man; and few Mahajuns are willing to undergo the odium which attaches to a man who in the present scarcity allows rice to leave his village. I have, therefore, every reason to believe that even in this part of the country we shall be able to get on till next harvest without experiencing any very severe distress. Should, however, any thing occur to alter my present opinion, the matter shall be at once reported to you. I shall receive weekly reports from the Police on the subject, and I have also requested Baboo Modhoo Soodun Pall and other gentlemen resident in those parts, to keep me duly informed of the condition of the people.

3. It is, as you are aware, always difficult in this country to collect accurate statistics; but from enquiries which I have made I have reason to believe we are receiving very considerable imports of grain from other Districts. The chief sources of our supply are three. First, the western part of the District receives large supplies from Cutwa. The trade is principally carried on by petty dealers called Teekreewalas who, purchase from the Arutdars and bring the grain in small boats up the Jellinghy. From a return which I have received from the Nuddea Toll Collector's Office, it appears that this trade has been very brisk during the present year. By this channel alone 19,025 maunds of rice and 3,250 maunds of paddy, were imported into the District between November and February last, while during the same period only 1050 maunds of rice were exported.

4. The eastern and southern parts of the District receive large supplies from the Soonderbunds, and from enquiries which I have made, I find that a very considerable quantity of rice is now being imported by the Soonderbunds' rivers. On the 23rd of last month when the Superintendent of Police was at Mohespore he found that 20 large boats carrying from 300 to 700 maunds of dhan each had just come up by the Kubuduk from Chandkalee in the Soonderbunds. Similar importations are taking place by the Echamutty. The Toll Collector at Kishengunge informs me that from November to 20th February last 23,865 maunds of dhan, and 6,365 maunds of rice were brought into the District viâ. Kishengunge, while during the same period we exported only some 1,000 maunds. We are also receiving very considerable supplies by the Eastern Bengal Railway. But it is, I think, unnecessary for me to enter into further details: the figures I have given sufficiently shew that we are receiving large imports from the surrounding Districts, while we are sending little or nothing away.

5. The price of rice is no doubt still very high, but this is not to be wondered at. Last year's stocks were completely exhausted, and until they have been replenished we cannot expect prices to fall. The largest Mahajun in this District told me that his stock of grain at the commencement of the present season, was only half what it was in ordinary years. The deficiency, therefore, must first be made good before prices can fall to their old level. The harvest, it is true, has been generally abundant, but we shall require more than one good harvest to make good the exhaustion caused by the scarcity of the past year.

6. Taking, therefore, a general view of the condition of this District, I am of opinion that there is no real ground for alarm. Rice is cheaper now than it was a month ago. The people are generally contented, and are under no apprehension for the future. Labour is abundant and every man who is willing to work can obtain employment; and while rice is cheaper wages have risen. Last year coolies received from 6 to 8 pice a day; this year they are getting from 8 to 10. This time last year the country was swarming with beggars: now there is hardly a beggar to be seen. Looking, therefore, to these favorable indications of the improved condition of the people, I am of opinion that there is no ground for apprehending the recurrence in this District of last year's distress.

Question I.—Were the hopes of the people actually realised in regard to the late rice harvest?

Was it a full harvest, and is the produce of a good quality?

The Sudder Sub-Division.

The Joint Magistrate states that the crop of 1866, has quite satisfied the expectations of the people, and that there is no apprehension of there being scarcity of supply in the coming season, and that the rice in stock is quite sufficient to last till the next crop comes in.

The Assistant Magistrate of Kooshtea writes of his Sub-Division as follows:

The Aous crop was at least an 18 anna crop, and very many placed it far higher. As this crop had been gathered there could not be much room for after disappointment. The Amon crop of course greatly differed in various parts of the Sub-Division and was not so good as the Aous in any one part:—In the Eastern Thannahs it was a good average crop and in the Western, not, much more than a three-quarter crop, altogether we may say that the whole out-turn of the rice was in excess of that in a year of average plenty.

The Assistant Magistrate of Meherpore writes: "The last Aous crop was a full one, the last Amon crop was not so good. But in this Sub-Division there is very little Amon sown. The produce of the Aous crop was of a first-rate quality."

The Assistant Magistrate of Chooadangah says. "The Aous crop was a good average one; there appears to have been a much larger area sown than in former years, and there was no dificiency in quality. On the whole I would put down the Aous crop at a 12, and the Amon at a 4 anna one."

The Deputy Magistrate of Ranaghat says that the hopes of the cultivators of the land were realised. The harvest was full and its quality good.

The Assistant Magistrate of Bongong says: "The harvest has been very fair in the quantity of the yield and has been of average quality."

Question II.—What of old stocks? Were they all really exhausted, or are any now coming forward into the market?

The Joint Magistrate states that the greater part of the last crop had to be repaid to the Mahajuns, and as they have to replenish their stocks, which were of course considerably, if not quite, exhausted last season, only a small proportion of the rice finds its way into the markets.

The Assistant Magistrate of Kooshtea states that all the people unite in saying that the old stocks of rice were thoroughly exhausted.

The Assistant Magistrate of Meherpore states that the old stocks were all exhausted.

The Assistant Magistrate of Chooadangah says: "I believe there were no stocks to speak of in existence until the Aous dhan came in, say beginning of September last; when this was gathered by far the greater part went to the Mahajuns, who had got next to nothing from the ryots for three years, the harvest stored in 1864 having been lost in the Cyclone, and that of 1865 having been a failure. I believe that the village Mahajuns have now large* stocks of grain in hand, and amply adequate to the sustenance of their Asamees until the next harvest, but very little of this finds its way into the market, and hence probably the high price of rice at present* (3-4-0 a maund). It is said that just after the Aous was gathered in and while it was still cheap, considerable quantities were bought up and exported to Calcutta and the Southern Districts; there is certainly no exportation going on just now. On the contrary I am told that there is considerable importation from the North and East.

* For coarse rice.

The Deputy Magistrate of Ranaghat states, old stocks of grain were exhausted.

The Assistant Magistrate of Bongong states, the old stocks were quite exhausted by the time that the early crop of last season was fit for use.

Question III.—What has been the out-turn of the cold weather crop?

The Joint Magistrate says "as to the cold weather crop, I cannot, so far as rice is concerned, furnish other statistics than those I have already given in my famine answers, and as regards the other crops they are all tolerably good and abundant, that is, they are just about the average. The chola, however, in some places, and the moshina in other places have suffered from a blight.

The Assistant Magistrate of Kooshtea states: "The cold weather crops vary much, but can be pronounced good on the whole, for kinds that failed on one side of the District thrived wonderfully on the other. The only crops that were universally poor are the chili and linseed crop; the latter was plentiful but of poor quality."

The Assistant Magistrate of Meherpore states. The prospects of the grain were very good till the end of January when the rain that then took place did some damage. An insect made its appearance which ate into the husk and completely destroyed the contents. I have myself seen fields of gram, of which but a very little had any fruit remaining whatever. A great deal of ground was sown with grain, and though so much has been destroyed, the crop may be reckoned as a six-annas one. The out-turn will not be much less than an average one. The urhur crop has been a first-rate one. The crop that was gathered in January was much above the average; the crop that they are now cutting is an avgrage one. It could have been as good as the January one, but the rain and the insects did some damage. The wheat harvest will be an average one. The kalaie out-turn was very good and so was the teel.

The Assistant Magistrate of Chooadangah states an average one; oil seeds good.

Sugar cane; Excellent.
Urhur; Ditto.

Chillies (of which very extensive cultivation) indifferent, except in the immediate neighbourhood of Chooadangah and in some parts especially in the east of the Sub-Division very poor. Gram (very largely cultivated this year) promises well but not yet ripe.

Peas Ditto.
Wheat Ditto.

Kalaie generally bad on the whole. The cold weather crop may be reckoned an average one, but short of that that was expected a couple months ago.

The Deputy Magistrate of Ranaghat states. The cultivators have paid their Mahajuns the advances of this and the arrears of past years, keeping stocks sufficient for consumption till the next harvest, or for some months to come according to circumstances. These cultivators sell only small portions of their stocks for purchasing the other necessaries of life. The Mahajuns of this part of the country who have got the rice, are not in the habit of selling it. They only advance grain to the ryots and take it from them with interest. The tradesmen are gathering up all kinds of grain, only some of them are selling in small quantities. They are storing up in the hope of deriving larger profit from selling at the latter part of the year, the present upwards gendency of prices giving sufficient trounds for such a hope.

The Assistant Magistrate of Bongong states: "The cold weather crops have yilded a good out-turn."

Question IV.—How do the people themselves account for the existing high prices?

The Joint Magistrate states; "as for the prices the Natives are not in the habit of accounting for them upon politics-economical grounds, putting them down mostly to the arbitrary determihation of the sellers, but they all acknowledge the following circumstances which are quite enough to account for the prices being higher than usual.

It is of course impossible to expect that a full crop following a great scarcity, can lower prices nearly so much as a full crop poured into a market or a country already well supplied. The prices do not depend upon the amount of each crop, but upon the amount of each crop added to what is already in existence.

It is, however, to be observed that, the ruling prices are not considered by the common people to be exceptionally high. Although one rupee and less per maund used to be a prevailing price, still for some years past it has been a very fair price for the buyer.

A zemindar pointed out to me, one cause of this general rice. He said that before the Railway was opened a large quantity of rice used to pass through these Districts in its way from the Eastern Districts to the Calcutta market and other markets, a part of it was intercepted and came into the Nuddea markets, it tended to lower prices but now that all that rice passes straight through Kooshtea by Railway, this influence no longer exists and the District being thrown back entirely upon its own resources, prices rose.

The Assistant Magistrate of Kooshtea says the causes of high prices are partly to be attributed to the Mallajuns, partly to the fact that the Government is in the market as a purchaser of rice; the necessity of refilling all the golahs which were empty at the time of the late harvest and exportation which goes on from the District: the latter cause is very slight with regard to rice, but the pulse and cereals are exported largely.

There is one erroneous notion among the people that, all the rice Government requires must of necessity come from their part of the country,and rice is kept for two reasons, fear of similar famine to last year; hope of greater gains by a later sale.

The Assistant Magistrate of Meherpore states: "They attribute the present high prices to the effect of the last famine and to all the old stores being expended, and to there being so little importation."

The Assistant Magistrate of Chooedanga states: "It is difficult to answar the question owing to conflicting statements. The Mahajuns (as I have said in question 2) swept away the larger part of the Aous crop in payment of the long arrears due to them. I believe that exportation to some extent also took place while the price was low, so that at present there is really very little rice coming into the market, and it of course commands a high price, the fact of the Mahajuns' Golahs being full does not lower prices in the bazaar, as their stores are not sold for cash, but kept for the purpose of advances to the ryots who are the customers of each Mahajun."

The Deputy Magistrate of Ranaghat states: The people say that the Government are purchasing very large quantities of rice for Orissa and consequently there is an increasing demand for it even at this time, this demand added with the disinclination of tradespeople to sell, and the fear of another scarcity contribute to raise the price of rice. In this way the people account for the present high prices.

The Assistant Magistrate of Bongong states: The high prices are accounted for by the complete exhaustion of the previous stocks, and the fear of an increase of exportation or decrease of importation from the scarcity consequent on high prices in other places.

Question V.—Are the people generally in good circumstances, and is any anxiety felt among them in regard to the supply of food this year?

The Assistant Magistrate of Kooshtea states. The position of the ryots and their freedom from, or entanglement in debt to the Mahajuns is difficult to ascertain. Two years of bad crops followed by one of famine has reduced them to such a pitch of debt that even the blessing of an unusually good year could not liberate them from the clutches of their creditors. There is no anxiety felt as to the supply of food, but it is anticipated that prices will be much higher again in June and July. This is to be expected, but I should not be surprised to hear every day of their falling now.

The Assistant Magistrate of Meherpore states: "The people expect the price of rice to rise, and in the Meherpore bazaar, coarse rice is now selling at Rupees 3-8 a maund, but they do not fear famine."

The Assistant Magistrate of Chooadangah states: "The people are not generally in good circumstances, as they have all been more or less weakened by the events of last year.* It is not likely that the distress will be as great this year as it was last. Certainly not with the agricultural classes. They say we got through last year and why should not we this one? They are better off than they were this time last year, inasmuch as they have had a good Aous crop and not a bad cold weather one, and their Mahajuns' Golahs are generally well stocked,

The laboring classes will feel it more; employment is now no doubt easily obtainable, but the rise in wages has by no means kept pace with the rise in the price of food. Respectable people of small means, such as the majority of Government and Railway employés, private servants and Brahmins living on the profits of small Lakraj of holdings and such like will suffer a good deal."

The Deputy Magistrate of Ranaghat states: "The people generally speaking are in good circumstances, but the laboring classes, beggars, and such people as have limited and small incomes and are not tillers of the land, feel uneasiness in respect to the supply of food, and this uneasiness will increase in proportion to the rise in prices."

The Assistant Magistrate of Bongong states: "I think that the ryots in this Sub-Division are in comparatively good circumstances, but there is a certain amount of anxiety from the causes mentioned in the preceding clause."

Question VI.—Are exports going on from your District, and if so whither?

The Assistant Magistrate of Kooshtea states nothing. The Assistant Magistrate of Meherpore states: "An exportation of kalai, moog, urhur, linseed and mustard seed is now going on to Calcutta, Kishnaghur, Hanskally, Culna, and Moorshedabad; wheat will be exported and so will grain when the crops are gathered in."

The Assistant Magistrate of Chooadangah states: "There are certainly no exports going on and not likely to be. In fact I believe rice is now being imported viâ Kooshtea and Jessore. I may remark that cattle are now very dear about here; this is attributed to the increased demand for them for the purposes of cultivation, the people are said to be preparing for dhan, old gardens, sides of Tanks, sides of roads &c., and places never before used for that purpose. The reason, universally given for late bad seasons, is want of water, not rain exactly but inundation from the rivers, it appears certain that some of them, viz., the Kumar and Matabangah do not now contain the volume of water in the rains that they formerly did."

* It is highly probable, however, that there will be considerable suffering in June and July, the two months preceding the gathering in of the Aous crop.

The Deputy Magistrate of Ranaghat states: "From this Sub-Division there is no exportation of rice, on the contrary it is imported from other places, but other grain such as seeds, grain, pulses, &c., are being exported to Calcutta."

The Assistant Magistrate of Bongong states: "Exportation has not yet begun. It generally does not begin until the end of the current Bengalee month, Chyte."

Report on the Cultivation of Cinchona at Darjeeling during the Month of February 1867.

From THOMAS ANDERSON, ESQ., M. D., Superintendent Botanical Gardens, and in charge Cinchona cultivation in Bengal, to the Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, —(No. 7, dated the 16th April 1867.)

I HAVE the honor to forward the Report on the cultivation of Cinchona at Darjeeling, for the month of February 1867.

Report on the cultivation of Cinchona at Darjeeling, during the month of February 1867.

I VISITED the plantations during February, and I am glad to be able to report that, I found all my orders concerning the cultivation were being vigorously carried out by Mr. Gammie, and his Assistants. The plants were in good order, and I was particularly struck by the high state of health of the open air plantation in the Teesta Valley, and at Nos. 4, and 5. In these 2 plantations five plants of 3 species of Cinchona were in flower.

1. Nothing could surpass the appearance of the plants in the nursery beds (specially at Rishap) which contained many thousands of plants of C. Succirubra ready to be planted out as soon as favourable weather returns.

2. Great progress in propagation has been made during the month; 57,000 cuttings have been made, and 24,140, seedlings have been added to the number of rooted plants; 8,300 plants of C. Succirubra, and 1,900 of C. Officinalis have been planted in the open air nursery beds to be in readiness for the permanent plantation. The total number of plants on the 28th February was 7,18,548.

3. 1,682 plants have been distributed during the month; of these 650 were sent as the stock with which the Khasia and Assam cultivation will be commenced; 32, to the Moorgaon Tea Company, in the Terai, 1,000 to the Tukvar Tea Company.

4. The weather during the month has been similar to that of January; only 1 inch o rain fell during the month.

5. Some plants of C. Succirubra, and C. Officinalis were cut down to yield bark for analysis in London. The young trees cut down were planted in July and October 1864.

6. With reference to the value of C. Pahudiana which has for some years been entered in the Report of the Cinchona cultivation at Ootacamund as a worthless species, I am glad to be able to report that, at a recent Meeting of the Linnœn Society of London, Mr. Howard, on whose earlier chemical analysis this species had been condemned, stated that, "As regards the bark of C. Pahudiana, the results of his recent examination of samples derived from the Government plantations at Ootacamund, are new and striking, indicating a mean between the extreme depreciation in which this sort has been held by some, and the commendation lavished on it by others. It appears to be rather superior in point of produce of alkaloid to the fine bark Loja, the C. crispa or quina fina as grown in India."

I shall take an early apportunity of sending bark of this species to London for Chemical analysis.

From Chief Secretary to Government of Bombay, No 880, dated 31st December 1866, and enclosure.

Telegram from Secretary to Government of Bombay, dated 20th January 1867.

Telegram from Secretary to Government of Bombay, No. 45, dated 23rd January 1867.

We have divided the Act into seven parts, arranged, so far as possible, in conformity with the English Merchant Shipping Act of 1854.

In Part I, we have made some alterations in the definitions, and have introduced (Section 4) the provisions of Act V of 1850 (for freedom of the Coasting Trade of India), which will be repealed.

In Part II, we have adopted the rules for the registration and measurement of vessels from the latest English legislation, retaining the special provision of Act X of 1841 for giving passes to the ships of Native States. We have made registration compulsory on all British Ships over fifteen tons burden, following in this the English law. This will so far supersede the provisions of Act XIX of 1838 (for the compulsory registration of all coasting vessels in the Bombay Presidency,) which we therefore propose to repeal, leaving it to the Government of Bombay to re-enact in the period that will elapse before this Bill becomes law any of its provisions that may be considered necessary for the registration of vessels under fifteen tons burden. The terms of Section 96 of our Bill enable all Local Governments to make similar rules. In accordance with a suggestion of the Financial Department, fees for registration will be credited to the general revenue, and not to the Local Government, and the limit hitherto put on the Government of India, in fixing the amount of these fees, has been removed.

In Part III, we have used the designation of Mercantile Marine Office instead of Shipping Office, as done in England. We have provided for the examination of engineers, and have raised the examination fees of masters, mates, and engineers to an equality with the English scale. We have given general power to the Local Government to exempt any ships under two hundred tons, and manned by Natives only, from the necessity of having certificated masters and mates, and in accordance with the strong representation of the Steam Navigation Companies, we have provided (Section 171) for the validity of the engagement of engineers and stewards engaged in England for lengthened periods. We have introduced the provisions of the latest English Acts with reference to the discharge of British seamen abroad, but we have not as yet proposed any specific alteration in the Section on which was based the recent ruling of the Calcutta High Court—that the shipping master was bound to recognize any discharge of seamen if both master and seamen consented, as we prefer to wait and see what action will be taken in England on the representation that has been made by the Government of India. We have adapted to India the Sections that relate to the manner in which enquiries into misconduct are to be conducted and certificates of service or competency cancelled or suspended. We have also introduced and made general the provisions of an Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, for enforcing the usage of hoisting signals in ships entering harbours.

We have added a proviso to Section 103 as to fees on engagements and discharges of seamen, to the effect that when seamen are discharged and re-engaged for the same vessel for the same day, only half of the fee otherwise leviable for a discharge on an engagement shall be paid; this will meet the representation of the Peninsular and Oriental, and of the British Indian Steam Navigation Companies, whose vessels make exceptionally numerous voyages.

We have also added a Section (185) with the object of giving power to the Local Governments to order a survey of any vessel whatever, before it puts to sea from any port in British India, whenever there is reason for doubting its sea-worthiness, and the Officer of Customs will be prohibited from giving such vessel a port-clearance until it is surveyed and certified to be seaworthy. The necessity of this provision has been represented by the Governments of Madras and Bombay, and we recommend that the cost of the survey should be defrayed by the State.

Part IV is composed of various enactments, some general and some local, and provides for the periodical survey of steamers and otherwise for the prevention of accidents at sea.

In Part V, we have given power to certain officials at a distance from the seats of the Local Governments to which they are subject, to order an enquiry into wrecks and accidents at sea, and have added a Section (260) to enable the Local Governments to remove wrecks at sea, beyond the limits of harbours. With reference to a question raised by the Government of Bombay, we are of opinion that the finding of the persons appointed to enquire into wrecks should not be final, but subject to the confirmation of the Local Government.

Part VI contains general regulations for the survey and good management of Native Passenger ships. We have consolidated in one chapter the laws relating to Arabian pilgrim ships, and to Bengal Native passenger ships, now contained in Act XXI of 1858, Act XXV of 1859, and Madras Act XI of 1862.

In Part VII, we have adopted the provisions of the English law, adding a Section which takes the place of two Sections of the English Merchant Shipping Act (101 and 203), by which the punishment for forging certain documents that relate to merchant ships was provided. The proposed Section will have the effect of making the forgery of such documents equally punishable, whether the public office from which they profess to emanate be in India or not. We think it needless to make any special provision for punishing the forgery of any documents that come under the designation of valuable securities, as the terms of Section 267 of the Indian Penal Code are ample to meet such cases.

Having proposed so many important alterations, we think it right to submit a first report, with the recommendation that it and the Bill as now amended be published in the Gazette, and that copies be sent for careful revision to all persons practically acquainted with the subject. We would also recommend that copies should be sent to the Secretary of State, and that the further consideration of the Bill be postponed for the present.

148. On discharge of seamen abroad, by sale of ship or otherwise, certificates of discharge to be given, and seamen to be sent home at expense of owner.
149. No seamen to be discharged or left in British India without certificate of a Superintendent.
150. Proof of such certificate to be upon the master.
151. Wages to be paid when seamen are left behind on ground of inability.
152. Such wages to be treated as money due to the seamen, subject to payment of expense of their subsistence and passage home.
153. Distressed seamen found abroad may be relieved and sent home at the public expense.
154. Master of British ships compelled to take them.

Powers of Superintendent.

155. Superintendent may decide questions which parties refer to him.
Enforcement of award.
156. Masters and others to produce ship's papers to Superintendent and give evidence.
157. Rules as to settlement of wages.
(1). Release to be signed before and attested by the Superintendent.
(2). To be a discharge.
(3). And to be evidence.
(4). No other receipt to be a discharge.
(5.) Voucher to be given to Master and to be evidence.
158. Superintendent may withhold sanction to discharge.

(d.)—Legal Rights to Wages.

159. Right to wages and provisions when to begin.
160. Seamen not to give up certain rights.
Salvage services.
161. Wages not to be dependent on the earning of freight.
162. In case of death, such wages to be paid as after-mentioned.

Section.

163. Right to wages in case of termination of service by wreck or illness.
164. Wages not to accrue during refusal to work or imprisonment.
165. Period within which wages are to be paid.
166. Wages payable in foreign coin to be recoverable at par in the current coin of India.

167. Seamen may sue summarily before any Magistrate for wages not exceeding 500 rupees.
Order of Magistrate to be final.
168. Levy of wages by distress.
169. No suit for wages under 500 rupees to be instituted in Admiralty Court, &c., except in certain cases.
170. Master to have same remedies for wages as seamen.
171. Chapters III and IV of Part III not to affect certain agreements.

CHAPTER V.

Of the Wages and Effects of deceased Seamen.

172. Master to take charge of effects of deceased seamen.
173. Effects and wages to be paid to Superintendent with full accounts.
174. Penalties for not taking charge of, or accounting for, such monies and effects.
175. Wages and property of deceased seamen may be paid without probate.
176. Disposal of wages and effects of deceased seamen, not claimed within one year.
If subsequent claim be made thereto.
Proviso.

CHAPTER VI.

Of the Provisions, Health, and Accommodation of Seamen.

177. Survey of provisions and water on complaint made.
178. Forfeiture for frivolous complaint.
179. Allowance for short or bad provisions.
180. Medicines, &c., to be provided and kept on board certain ships.
Proviso.
181. Masters to keep weights and measures on board.
182. Expense of medical attendance and subsistence in case of illness how to be defrayed.
183. Place of shelter to be appropriated.
(1). To European Seamen.
(2). To Lascars or Native seamen.
Place to be kept clear.
Penalty if place be not properly constructed.
Penalty for not keeping space clear.
184. Superintendent may board any ship, and inspect provisions, &c.
Procedure if provisions, &c., are found to be of bad quality.
185. Power to inspect ships alleged to be unseaworthy.

CHAPTER VII.

Of Complaints by Seamen.

186. Seamen to be allowed to go ashore to make complaints to a Magistrate.

Section.

CHAPTER VIII.

Of Protection of Seamen from Imposition.

187. Sale of, and charge upon, wages to be invalid.
188. No debt exceeding 3 rupees to be recoverable till end of voyage.
189. Penalty for overcharges by lodging-house-keepers.
190. Penalty for detaining seamen's effects.
191. Persons not to go on board before final arrival of ship, without permission.
192. Penalty for solicitations by lodging-house-keepers.

CHAPTER IX.

Of Discipline.

193. Penalty for misconduct, endangering ship, or life or limb.
194. Admiralty Court in British India may in certain cases remove master and appoint a new master.
195. Court authorized to make enquiry into charges against masters, mates, and engineers and to report to Local Government.
Proviso.
196. Procedure of Court.
197. Local Government may direct investigation in cases of incompetency and misconduct.
198. Powers of Court, &c., in making enquiries.
199. Local Government may cancel or suspend certificates in certain cases.
(1). Loss, abandonment or serious damage by default of master, mate or engineer.
(2). Conviction of any offence.
200. Master, mate or engineer to deliver up his certificate.
Penalty for not delivering it.
Report to other Local Governments.
201. Saving of powers vested in certain Admiralty Courts.
Same powers may be exercised by chief Criminal Court in British Indian port where there is no Admiralty Court.
202. Offences of seamen and apprentices, and their punishments.
(1). Desertion.
(2). Neglecting or refusing to join, or to go to sea; absence within twenty-four hours before sailing, and absence without leave.
(3). Quitting without leave before ship is secured.
(4.) Act of disobedience.
(5). Continued disobedience.
(6). Assault on officers.
(7). Combining to disobey.
(8). Wilful damage and embezzlement.
(9). Act of smuggling, causing loss to owner.
203. Entry of offences to be made in official log, and to be read over, or a copy given to the offender; his reply, if any, to be also entered.
204. Seamen whom masters of ships are compelled to convey, and persons going to sea in ships without leave, to be subject to penalties for breach of discipline.

Section.

205. Master or owner may apprehend deserters without warrant.
206. Deserters may be sent on board in lieu of being imprisoned.
207. Seamen imprisoned for desertion or breach of discipline, may be sent on board before termination of sentence.
208. Entries and certificates of desertion abroad to be copied, sent home, and admitted in evidence.
209. Facilities for proving desertion so far as concerns forfeiture of wages.
210. Costs of procuring imprisonment may to the extent of 30 Rupees be deducted from wages.
211. Ascertainment of amount of forfeiture when seamen contract for the voyage.
212. Application of forfeitures.
213. Questions of forfeiture may be decided in suits for wages.
214. Penalty for false statement as to last ship or name.
215. Fines to be deducted from wages and paid to Superintendent.
216. Penalty for enticing to desert and harbouring deserters.
217. Penalty for obtaining passage surreptitiously.
218. On change of masters, documents hereby required to be handed over to successor.

CHAPTER X.

Of Official Logs.

219. Official logs to be kept in forms sanctioned by Local Government.
220. Entries to be made in due time.
221. Entries required in official log.
(1). Convictions and punishments.
(2). Offences.
(3). Punishments.
(4). Conduct, &c., of crew.
(5). Illness and injuries.
(6). Deaths on board.
(7). Births on board.
(8). Marriages on board.
(9). Quitting ship.
(10). Wages of men entering Navy.
(11). Wages of deceased seamen.
(12). Sale of deceased men's effects.
(13). Collisions.
222. Entries how to be signed.
223. Penalties in respect of official logs.
224. Entries in official logs to be received in evidence.
225. Official logs to be delivered to Superintendent on ship's arrival at port of destination in India.
226. Official logs to be transmitted to Superintendent in case of transfer of ship and in case of loss.

CHAPTER XI.

Of hoisting Signals.

227. Master on arriving within signal distance of signal station to hoist the number of his vessel.
228. Penalty for not hoisting signal.
229. Pilot to require the master to hoist signal.
And if master refuses to do so, pilot may bring the vessel to anchor.

Section.

230. Punishment of pilot disobeying or conniving at disobedience to the provisions of this Chapter.

PART IV.

SAFETY AND PREVENTION OF ACCIDENTS.

CHAPTER I.

Boats for Sea-going Steam-vessels.

231. Rules as to boats and life-buoys.
232. Penalties on masters and owners, &c., neglecting to provide boats and life-buoys.
233. Officers of Customs not to clear steam-vessels not complying with the above provisions.

CHAPTER II.

Regulations concerning Lights, Fog-signals and Sailing Rules.

234. Owners and masters bound to obey regulations in force.

CHAPTER III.

Survey of Passenger Steamers.

235. Certain steam-vessels liable to be surveyed twice a year.
236. Local Government to appoint one or more surveyors.
237. Authority to surveyors to go on board steamers for the purposes of surveying.
Penalty for hindering them in making the survey, or withholding required information.
238. Surveyors to grant certificate and declaration when they can with propriety do so.
239. No clearance to be given to a steamer for a voyage for which she has not got a certificate from the surveyors.
240. Master or officer who is a licensed pilot attempting to take his ship out of port without a proper certificate liable to lose his license.
241. Special survey may be ordered by Government of any British steamer in port.
242. Local Government may make Rules as to mode and time of conducting survey.
243. Penalty for surveyor who receives fees, &c., for making a survey.
244. Fees to be paid for every survey made.
245. Cetificates to be always hung up in conspicuous part of vessel.
246. Certificate to be in force only six months; and to be delivered up when expired or revoked.
Proviso in case of vessels absent from port, when certificate expires.
247. Certificate and declaration may be cancelled by Local Government.
248. If the correctness of a survey is doubted, Local Government may order a second survey by other surveyors.
249. Fees how recoverable.
250. Surveyor acting alone included in term "Surveyors."

Section.

CHAPTER IV.

Rules as to Passengers by Steamers.

251. Penalties on drunken or disorderly passengers.
(1). Persistence of such passenger in attempt to enter.
(2). Refusal of such passenger to quit ship.
(3). On persons molesting passengers.
(4). Penalties on persons forcing way on board the ship when full.
(5). And on persons refusing to quit the ship when full.
(6). Penalties for avoiding payment of fares.
(7). Proceeding beyond distance for which fare paid.
(8). Refusal to quit on arrival at place to which fare paid.
(9). Refusal to pay or show receipt.
252. Penalty for injuring steamer or molesting crew.
253. Manner of apprehending offenders.

Carrying dangerous Goods.

254. Provisions to prevent the taking dangerous goods on board without due notice.

PART V.

OF ENQUIRIES INTO WRECKS.

255. Enquiry may be instituted in cases of wreck and casualty.
256. Powers of Chief Commissioner in British Burmah, Commissioner in Sind, Residents at Aden and Bushire, and Consul at Zanzibar.
257. Investigation.
258. Report.
259. In case of wreck of foreign ship, Consul to be deemed owner's agent.
260. Power to remove or destroy wrecks at sea.
261. Recovery of expenses of such removal or destruction.

PART VI.

OF PASSENGERS.

CHAPTER I.

Of Native Passengers.

262. What shall be deemed a Native Passenger Ship.
263. Native Passenger Ship to sail only from ports appointed by Local Government.
264. Native Passenger Ship not to sail without obtaining a certificate.
Contents of certificate.
265. Appointment of officers.
266. Quantity of provisions and water to be shipped.
267. Officer to be satisfied before giving certificate—
(1). That the ship is seaworthy.
(2). That the space between-decks for passengers is sufficient.
(3). That the space on the upper deck is sufficient.
(4). That there is a due supply of provisions.

Section.

268. Master to give notice of day of sailing, &c.
269. Power to enter and inspect ship.
270. Ship may be surveyed.
271. Number of passengers.
First exception.
Second exception.
272. List of passengers.
273. Ship taking additional passengers and touching at intermediate port.
274. Information to be transmitted to ports of embarkation.
275. Report of Consul, &c., to be admissible in evidence.
276. Length of voyage to be fixed by proclamation.
277. Penalty for breach of provisions in Sections 263 and 264.
278. Power to enter and inspect ship.
279. Penalty on master of licensed vessel.
280. Penalty on ships bringing excessive number of passengers from Red Sea or Persian Gulf to Indian ports.
281. Penalty for fraudulent alteration in ship after certificate obtained.
282. Penalty for omitting to supply passengers with prescribed allowance of food and water.
283. Penalty for landing passengers at a place other than that at which they have contracted to land.
284. Native passengers' right of suit preserved.

CHAPTER II.

Of forwarding certain Passengers taken off a Ship or picked up at Sea.

285. Recital of Passengers' Act, 1855, Section 99.
Sections 286 and 287 applicable to passengers upon certain voyages.
286. Governors or Consuls may pay expenses of passengers taken off a passenger ship.
287. Governors or Consuls may send on passengers if master of ship fail to do so.
288. Expenses incurred under Sections 286 and 287 to be a Crown debt.
Passengers forwarded under Section 287 not to be entitled to compensation.

PART VII.

OF PROCEDURE AND PENALTIES.

289. Depositions to be received in evidence when witnesses cannot be produced.
Proviso.
290. Adjudication of offences, and recovery of penalties.
291. Wages, penalties, &c., payable by master or owner, may be levied by distress of ship.
292. Jurisdiction.
293. By whom proceedings for penalties under Chapter I of Part VI to be instituted.
294. Application of penalties.
295. Punishment of forgery.
296. Offences under this Act to be "offences" within meaning of Penal Code.

SCHEDULES.

AMENDED BILL.

A Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Merchant Ships, Seamen and Passengers by Sea.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Merchant Ships, Seamen and Passengers by Sea; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title. Commencement of Act.

1. This Act may be called "The Indian Shipping Act, 1867," and shall come into operation on the first day of December 1867.

Repeal of Acts.

2. The Acts specified in the sixth Schedule hereto are hereby repealed, except as to the repeal of Acts and parts of Acts effected thereby, and except as to acts done, penalties incurred, and agreements made before the passing of this Act. All things duly done under any of the Acts hereby repealed, shall be considered as having been done under this Act.

Interpretation clause.

3. In this Act—unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"British India." "British India" means the territories which are or may become vested in Her Majesty or Her Successors by the Statute 21 and 22 Vic. cap. 106, entitled "An Act for the better Government of India."

"Local Government." "Local Government" means the person or persons for the time being immediately administering the executive Government of that portion of British India where the port or place in question is situate:

"Magistrate." "Magistrate" means any person lawfully exercising the full powers of a Magistrate, and includes a Magistrate of Police appointed under Act No. XIII of 1856 (for regulating the Police of the Towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, and the several Stations of Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore and Malacca), a Justice of the Peace, and, at the Port of Aden, the Political Resident and his Assistant.

"Ship." "Ship" includes every description of vessel used in navigation not propelled by oars;

"Home-trade ship." "Home-trade ship" includes every ship employed in trading between any ports of the said territories, or between any port of the said territories and any port or place on the Continent of India, or in the Island of Ceylon;

"Foreign-going ship." "Foreign-going ship" includes every ship employed in trading between any port of the said territories and any port or place not in the said territories, nor on the Continent of India, nor in the Island of Ceylon;

"Master" includes every person (except a pilot) having command or charge of any ship;

"Seaman." "Seaman" means every person (except masters, pilots, and apprentices) employed or engaged in any capacity on board any ship, and includes engineers, stewards, stokers and coalburners;

"Section." "Part." "Section" and "Part" respectively mean Section and Part of this Act;

Number. Gender. Words importing the singular number include the plural, words importing the plural number include the singular, and words importing the masculine gender include females;

"Person." "Person" includes any Company or Association or body of persons whether incorporated or not.

Nothing in Act to apply to British and foreign Navies. 4. Nothing herein contained shall apply to ships belonging to or in the service of Her Majesty or belonging to any foreign Government; and nothing in Parts III, IV and V, except as otherwise hereinafter provided, shall extend to any ship belonging to the subjects of any foreign Government; and notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, goods and passengers may be conveyed from one part of British India to another part thereof, in other than British ships, without any restriction other than is or shall be equally imposed on British ships, for securing payment of duties of Customs or otherwise.

PART II.

BRITISH SHIPS, THEIR OWNERSHIP, MEASUREMENT AND REGISTRY.

Chapter I.

Description and ownership of British Ships.

Description and ownership of British ships. 5. No ship shall be deemed to be a British ship unless she belongs wholly to owners of the following description; that is to say—

(1.) Natural-born British subjects:

Provided that no natural-born subject who has taken the oath of allegiance to any foreign Sovereign or State shall be entitled to be such owner as aforesaid, unless he has, subsequently to taking such last-mentioned oath, taken the oath of allegiance to Her Majesty, and is and continues to be, during the whole period of his so being an owner, resident in some place within Her Majesty's dominions, or, if not so resident, a member of a British factory, or partner in a house actually carrying on business in the United Kingdom or in some other place within Her Majesty's dominions:

(2.) Persons made denizens by Letters of Denization, or naturalized by or pursuant to any Act of the Imperial Legislature, or by or pursuant to any Act or Ordinance of the proper legislative authority in any British possession:

Provided that such persons are and continue to be, during the whole period of their so being owners, resident in some place within Her Majesty's dominions, or, if not so resident, members of a British factory, or partners in a house actually carrying on business in the United Kingdom or in some other place within Her Majesty's dominions, and have taken the oath of allegiance to Her Majesty subsequently to the period of their being so made denizens or naturalized:

(3.) Bodies corporate established under, subject to the laws of, and having their principal place of business in the United Kingdom or some British possession.

British ships with certain exceptions must be registered. 6. Every British ship plying between any British Indian ports, or between any British Indian port and any other port, must be registered in manner hereinafter mentioned, except ships duly registered under Act No. X of 1841, or the Merchant Shipping Act of 1854, before or after this Act comes into operation, and except ships not exceeding fifteen tons burden employed solely in fishing or trading on the rivers or coasts of British India:

And no ship hereby required to be registered shall, unless registered, be recognized as a British ship; and no officer of Customs shall grant a clearance to any ship hereby required to be registered for the purpose of enabling her to proceed to sea as a British ship unless the master of such ship, upon being required so to do, produces to him such certificate of registry as is hereinafter mentioned; and if such ship attempts to proceed to sea as a British ship without a clearance, such officer may detain such ship until such certificate is produced to him.

Chapter II.

Measurement of Tonnage.

Tonnage deck, feet; decimals. 7. Throughout the following Rules, the tonnage-deck shall be taken to be the upper deck in ships which have less than three decks, and to be the second deck from below in all other ships; and in carrying such Rules into effect, all measurements shall be taken in feet, and fractions of feet, and all fractions of feet shall be expressed in decimals.

For ships to be registered and other ships of which the hold is clear. 8. The tonnage of every ship to be registered, with the exceptions mentioned in the next succeeding Section, shall previously to her being registered be ascertained by the following Rule, hereinafter called Rule I; and the tonnage of every ship to which such Rule can be applied, whether she is about to be registered or not, shall be ascertained by the same Rule.

Rule I.

Lengths (1.) Measure the length of the ship in a straight line along the upper side of the tonnage deck, from the inside of the inner plank (average thickness) at the side of the stem to the inside of the midship stern timber or plank there, as the case may be (average thickness) deducting from this length what is due to the rake of the bow in the thickness of the deck, and what is due to the rake of the stern timber in the thickness of the deck, and also what is due to the rake of the stern timber in one-third of the round of the beam; divide the length so taken into the number of equal parts required by the following Table, according to the class in such Table to which the ship belongs.

Table.

Class 1.—Ships of which the tonnage deck is according to the above measurement 50 feet long or under, into four equal parts.

Class 2.—Ships of which the tonnage deck is according to the above measurement above 50 feet long and not exceeding 120, into six equal parts.

Class 3.—Ships of which the tonnage deck is according to the above measurement above 120 feet long and not exceeding 180, into eight equal parts.

Class 4.—Ships of which the tonnage deck is according to the above measurement above 180 feet long and not exceeding 225, into ten equal parts.

Class 5.—Ships of which the tonnage deck is according to the above measurement above 225 feet long, into twelve equal parts.

Transverse areas.

(2.) Then, the hold being first sufficiently cleared to admit of the required depths and breadths being properly taken, find the transverse area of such ship at each point of division of the length as follows:—measure the depth at each point of division, from a point at a distance of one-third of the round of the beam below such deck, or, in case of a break, below a line stretched in continuation thereof, to the upper side of the floor timber at the inside of the limber strake, after deducting the average thickness of the ceiling which is between the bilge planks and limber strake; then, if the depth at the midship division of the length do not exceed sixteen feet, divide each depth into four equal parts; then measure the inside horizontal breadth at each of the three points of division, and also at the upper and lower points of the depth, extending each measurement to the average thickness of that part of the ceiling which is between the points of measurement; number these breadths from above (i. e., numbering the upper breadth one, and so on down to the lowest breadth); multiply the second and fourth by four, and the third by two; add these products together, and to the sum add the first breadth and the fifth, multiply the quantity thus obtained by one-third of the common interval between the breadths, and the product shall be deemed the transverse area; but if the midship depth exceed sixteen feet, divide each depth into six equal parts instead of four, and measure as before directed the horizontal breadths at the five points of division, and also at the upper and lower points of the depth; number them from above as before; multiply the second, fourth, and sixth by four, and the third and fifth by two; add these products together, and to the sum add the first breadth and the seventh; multiply the quantity thus obtained by one-third of the common interval between the breadths, and the product shall be deemed the transverse area.

Computation from areas.

(3.) Having thus ascertained the transverse area at each point of division of the length of the ship as required by the above Table, proceed to ascertain the register tonnage of the ship in the following manner:—Number the areas successively 1, 2, 3, &c., No. 1 being at the extreme limit of the length at the bow, and the last number at the extreme limit of the length at the stern; then, whether the length be divided according to the Table into four or twelve parts as in classes 1 and 5, or any intermediate number as in classes 2, 3 and 4, multiply the second and every even numbered area by four, and the third and every odd numbered area (except the first and last) by two; add these products together, and to the sum add the first and last if they yield anything; multiply the quantity thus obtained by one-third of the common interval between the areas, and the product will be the cubical contents of the space under the tonnage deck: divide this product by one hundred, and the quotient being the tonnage under the tonnage deck shall be deemed to be the register tonnage of the ship, subject to the additions and deductions hereinafter mentioned.

Poop and any other closed-in space.

(4.) If there be a break, a poop, or any other permanent closed-in space on the upper deck, available for cargo or stores, or for the berthing or accommodation of passengers or crew, the tonnage of such space shall be ascertained as follows:—Measure the interval mean length of such space in feet, and divide it into two equal parts; measure at the middle of its height three inside breadths, namely, one at each end and the other at the middle of the length; then to the sum of the end breaths add four times the middle breadth, and multiply the whole sum by one-third of the common interval between the breadths; the product will give the mean horizontal area of such space; then measure the mean height, and multiply by it the mean horizontal area; divide the product by one hundred, and the quotient shall be deemed to be the tonnage of such space, and shall be added to the tonnage under the tonnage deck, ascertained as aforesaid, subject to the following provisions; first, that nothing shall be added for a closed-in space solely appropriated to the berthing of the crew, unless such space exceeds one-twentieth of the remaining tonnage of the ship, and in case of such excess the excess only shall be added; and, secondly, that nothing shall be added in respect of any building erected for the shelter of deck passengers, and approved by such officer as the Local Government shall appoint in this behalf.

In case of two or more decks.

(5.) If the ship has a third deck, commonly called a spar deck, the tonnage of the space between it and the tonnage deck shall be ascertained as follows:—Measure in feet the inside length of the space at the middle of its height from the plank at the side of the stem to the lining on the timbers at the stern, and divide the length into the same number of equal parts into which the length of the tonnage deck is divided as above directed; measure (also at the middle of its height) the inside breadth of the space at each of the points of division, also the breadth of the stem and the breadth at the stern; number them successively 1, 2, 3, &c., commencing at the stem. multiply the second and all the other even numbered breadths by four, and the third and all the other odd numbered breadths (except the first and last) by two; to the sum of these products add the first and last breadths; multiply the whole sum by one-third of the common interval between the breadths, and the result will give in superficial feet the mean horizontal area of such space; measure the mean height of such space and multiply by it the mean horizontal area, and the product will be the cubical contents of the space; divide this product by one hundred;

and the quotient shall be deemed to be the tonnage of such space, and shall be added to the other tonnage of the ship ascertained as aforesaid; and if the ship has more than three decks, the tonnage of each space between decks above the tonnage deck shall be severally ascertained in manner above described, and shall be added to the tonnage of the ship ascertained as aforesaid.

For ships not requiring registry with cargo on board.

9. Ships which, requiring to be measured for any purpose other than registry, have cargo on board, and ships which, requiring to be measured for the purpose of registry, cannot be measured by the Rule above given, shall be measured by the following Rule, hereinafter called Rule II.

RULE II.

Length.

(1.) Measure the length on the upper deck from the outside of the outer plank at the stem to the aftside of the stern post, deducting therefrom the distance between the aftside of the stern post and the rabbet of the stern post at the point where the counter plank crosses it; measure also the greatest breadth of the ship to the outside of the outer planking or wales, and then, having first marked on the outside of the ship on both sides thereof the height of the upper deck at the ship's sides, girt the ship at the greatest breadth in a direction perpendicular to the keel from the height so marked on the outside of the ship, on the one side to the height so marked, on the other side by passing a chain under the keel; to half the girth

Girting of the ship.

thus taken, add half the main breadth; square the sum; multiply the result by the length of the ship taken as aforesaid; then multiply this product by the factor ·0018 (eighteen-ten-thousandths) in the case of ships built of wood, and by ·0021 (twenty-one-ten-thousandths) in the case of ships built of iron, and the product shall be deemed the register tonnage of the ship subject to the additions and deductions hereinafter mentioned.

Poop and other closed-in spaces on upper deck.

(2.) If there be a break, a poop, or other closed-in space on the upper deck, the tonnage of such space shall be ascertained by multiplying together the mean length, breadth and depth of such space, and dividing the product by 100, and the quotient so obtained shall be deemed to be the tonnage of such space, and shall subject to the deduction for a closed-in space appropriated to the crew as mentioned in Rule I, be added to the tonnage of the ship ascertained as aforesaid.

Ships measured under Rule II may be measured under Rule I.

The owner of any ship which is measured under Rule II contained in this Section, may at any subsequent period apply to the Local Government to have the said ship re-measured under Rule I contained in Section 8, and the said Government may thereupon and upon payment of such fee not exceeding four rupees for each transverse section as they may authorize, direct the said ship to be re-measured accordingly, and the number denoting the register tonnage shall be altered accordingly.

RULE III.

Allowance for engine-room in steamers.

10. In every ship propelled by steam or other power requiring engine-room, an allowance shall be made for the space occupied by the propelling power, and the amount so allowed shall be deducted from the gross tonnage of the ship ascertained as aforesaid, and the remainder shall be deemed to be the register tonnage of such ship, and such deduction shall be estimated as follows; (that is to say),—

To be rateable in ordinary steamers.

(a.) As regards ships propelled by paddle-wheels, in which the tonnage of the space solely occupied by and necessary for the proper working of the boilers and machinery is above twenty per cent. and under thirty per cent. of the gross tonnage of the ship, such deduction shall be thirty-seven one-hundredths of such gross tonnage; and in ships propelled by screws, in which the tonnage of such space is above thirteen per cent. and under twenty per cent. of such gross tonnage, such deduction shall be thirty-two one-hundredths of such gross tonnage.

May be measured where the space is unusually large or small.

(b.) As regards all other ships, the deduction shall, if the registering officer and the owner both agree thereto, be estimated in the same manner, but either of them may in his discretion require the space to be measured and the deduction estimated accordingly; and whenever such measurement is so required, the deduction shall consist of the tonnage of the space actually occupied by or required to be inclosed for the proper working of the boilers and machinery, with the addition in the case of ships propelled by paddle-wheels of one-half, and in the case of ships propelled by screws of three-fourths of the tonnage of such space; and the measurement and use of such space shall be governed by the following rules; (that is to say) —

Mode of measurement.

(1.) Measure the mean depth of the space from its crown to the ceiling at the limber strake, measure also three, or, if necessary, more than three breadths of the space at the middle of its depth, taking one of such measurements at each end, and another at the middle of the length; take the mean of such breadth; measure also the mean length of the space between the foremost and aftermost bulkheads or limits of its length, excluding such parts, if any, as are not actually occupied by or required for the proper working of the machinery; multiply together these three dimensions of length, breadth and depth, and the product will be the cubical contents of the space below the crown; then find the cubical contents of the space or spaces, if any, above the crown aforesaid, which are framed-in for the machinery or for the admission of light and air, by multiplying together the length, depth and breadth thereof; add such contents to the cubical contents of the space below the crown: divide the sum by 100; and the result shall be deemed to be the tonnage of the said space:

In case of separate compartments.

(2.) If, in any ship in which the space aforesaid is to be measured, the engines and boilers are fitted in separate compartments, the contents of each shall be measured severally in like manner, according to the above rules, and the sum of their several results shall be deemed to be the tonnage of the said space:

Shaft trunk of screw steamer.

(3.) In the case of screw steamers in which the space aforesaid is to be measured, the contents of the shaft trunk shall be added to and deemed to form part of such space, and shall be ascertained by multiplying together the mean length, breadth and depth of the trunk, and dividing the product by 100:

Alteration of engine-room.

(4.) If, in any ship in which the space aforesaid is to be measured, any alteration be made in the length or capacity of such space, or if any cabins be fitted in such space, such ship shall be deemed to be a ship not registered until re-measurement:

Penalty for carrying goods in such space.

(5.) If, in any ship in which the space aforesaid is to be measured, any goods or stores are stowed or carried in such space, the master and owner shall each be liable to a penalty not exceeding one thousand Rupees.

RULE IV.

Open ships how measured.

11. In ascertaining the tonnage of open ships, the upper edge of the upper strake is to form the boundary line of measurement, and the depths shall be taken from an athwartship line, extended from upper edge to upper edge of the said strake at each division of the length.

Tonnage and number of certificate to be carved on main beam.

12. In every registered British ship, the number denoting the register tonnage, ascertained as hereinbefore directed, and the number of her certificate of registry, shall be deeply carved or otherwise permanently marked on her main beam, and shall be so continued; and and if it at any time cease to be so continued, such ship shall no longer be recognized as a British ship.

Tonnage when once ascertained to be ever after deemed the tonnage.

13. Whenever the tonnage of any ship has been ascertained and registered in accordance with the provisions of this Act, the same shall thenceforth be deemed to be the tonnage of such ship, and be repeated in every subsequent registry thereof, unless any alteration is made in the form or capacity of such ship, or unless it is discovered that the tonnage of such ship has been erroneously computed; and in either of such cases such ship shall be re-measured, and her tonnage determined and registered according to the rules hereinbefore contained in that behalf.

Re-measurement of ships already registered may be made, but not to be compulsory.

14. The rules for the measurement of tonnage herein contained shall not make it necessary to alter the present registered tonnage of any British ship registered before this Act comes into operation; but if the owner of any such ship desires to have the same re-measured according to such rules, he may apply to the registering officer for the purpose, and such officer shall thereupon, and on payment of such reasonable charge for the expenses of re-measurement, not exceeding the sum of three rupees and twelve annas for each transverse section, as he may authorize, direct such re-measurement to be made, and such ship shall thereupon be re-measured according to such rules as aforesaid, or according to such of them as may be applicable; and the number denoting the registered tonnage shall be altered accordingly

Power to re-measure engine-rooms improperly extended.

15. If it appears to the registering officer that in any steamship measured before this Act comes into operation, store-rooms or coal-bunkers have been introduced into or thrown across the engine-room, so that the deduction from the tonnage on account of the engine-room is larger than it ought to be, the said officer may, if he think fit, direct such engine-room to be re-measured according to the rules in force before this Act comes into operation, excluding the space occupied by such store-rooms or coal-bunkers, or may, if the owner so desire, cause the ship to be re-measured according to the rules hereinbefore contained, and subject to the conditions contained in the last preceding Section; and after re-measurement the said officer shall cause the ship to be registered anew, or the registry thereof to be altered, as the case may require.

Officers may be appointed and regulations made for measurement of ships.

16. The registering officer may, with the sanction of the Local Government, appoint such persons to superintend the survey and admeasurement of ships as he thinks fit; and may, with the approval of the Local Government, make such regulations for that purpose as may be necessary; and also, with the like approval, make such modifications and alterations as from time to time become necessary in the tonnage rules hereby prescribed, in order to the more accurate and uniform application thereof, and the effectual carrying out of the principle of admeasurement therein adopted.

CHAPTER III.

Registry of British Ships.

Registrars of British ships.

17. At the ports of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, the Master Attendants, and at any other port or place in British India approved by the Local Government, the Collector of Duties, or any other person who is appointed by the Local Government to act for this purpose, are required to register British ships, and shall be deemed Registrars for the purposes of this Act.

Registrar to keep register books.

18. Every Registrar shall keep a book to be called "The Register Book," and enter therein the particulars hereinafter required to be registered.

Port of registry of British ship.

19. The port or place at which any British ship is registered for the time being shall be considered her port of registry or the port to which she belongs.

Name of Ship.

20. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the names of British registered ships; (that is to say):—

(1). Before registry the name of each ship and of the port to which she belongs shall be painted on a conspicuous part of her stern, on a dark ground in white or yellow letters of a length not less than four inches: Provided that the Local Government may exempt any pleasure-yacht from this provision:

(2). No change shall be made in the name of any registered ship:

(3). No concealment, absence, or avoidable obliteration of the above names shall be permitted, except for the purpose of escaping capture by an enemy.

(4). The ship shall not be described by or with the knowledge of the owner or master by any name other than the one by which she is registered:

And for every breach of the above rules or any of them, the owner and master shall each incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Application for registry by whom to be made.

21. Every application for the registry of a ship shall, in the case of individuals, be made by the person requiring to be registered as owner, or by some one or more of such persons if more than one, or by his or their duly authorized agent, and in the case of bodies corporate, by their duly authorized agent. The authority of such agent, if appointed by individuals, shall be testified by some writing under the hands of the appointors, and if appointed by a body corporate, by some instrument under the common seal of such body corporate.

Survey of Ship.

22. Before registry, the ship shall be surveyed by a person duly appointed under this Act; and such surveyor shall grant a certificate in the form marked A. in the first Schedule hereto, specifying her tonnage, build, and such other particulars descriptive of the identity of the ship as may from time to time be required by the Local Government, and such certificate shall be delivered to the Registrar before registry.

Rules as to entries in register book.

23. The following rules shall be observed with respect to entries in the register book; (that is to say):—

(1). The property in a ship shall be divided into sixty-four shares:

(2). Subject to the provisions with respect to joint owners or owners by transmission, hereinafter contained, not more than thirty-two individuals shall be entitled to be registered at the same time as owners of any one ship; but this rule shall not affect the beneficial title of any number of persons or of any Company represented by or claiming under or through any registered owner or joint owner:

(3). No person shall be entitled to be registered as owner of any fractional part of a share in a ship; but any number of persons, not exceeding five, may be registered as joint owners of a ship or of a share or shares therein:

(4). Joint owners shall be considered as constituting one person only as regards the foregoing rule relating to the number of persons entitled to be registered as owners, and shall not be entitled to dispose in severalty of any interest in any ship or in any share or shares therein in respect of which they are registered:

(5). A body corporate may be registered as owner by its corporate name.

Declaration of ownership by individual owner.

24. No person shall be entitled to be registered as owner of a ship or any share therein until he has made and subscribed a declaration in the form marked B. in the first Schedule hereto, referring to the ship as described in the certificate of the surveyor, and containing the following particulars; (that is to say):—

(1). A statement of his qualification to be an owner of a share in a British Ship:

(2). A statement of the time when and the place where such ship was built, or (if the ship is foreign-built, and the time and place of building not known) a statement that she is foreign-built, and that he does not know the time or place of her building; and, in addition thereto, in the case of a foreign ship, a statement of her foreign name, or (in the case of a ship condemned) a statement of the time, place and Court at and by which she was condemned:

(3). A statement of the name of the master:

(4). A statement of the number of shares in such ship of which he is entitled to be registered as owner:

(5). A denial that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, any unqualified person or body of persons is entitled as owner to any legal or beneficial interest in such ship or any share therein:

The said declaration of ownership shall be made and subscribed in the presence of the Registrar if the declarant reside within five miles of the Custom House of the port of registry, but if beyond that distance, in the presence of any Registrar or of any Magistrate.

Declaration of ownership by body corporate.

25. No body corporate shall be entitled to be registered as owner of a ship or of any share therein until the secretary or other duly appointed public officer of such body corporate has made and subscribed, in the presence of the Registrar of the port of registry, a declaration in the form marked C. in the first Schedule hereto referring to the ship as described in the certificate of the surveyor, and containing the following particular; (that is to say):—

(1). A statement of such circumstances of the constitution and business of such body corporate as prove it to be qualified to own a British Ship:

(2). A statement of the time when and the place where such ship was built, or (if the ship is foreign-built, and the time and place of building unknown) a statement that she is foreign-built, and that he does not know the time or place of her building; and, in addition thereto, in the case of a foreign ship, a statement of her foreign name, or (in the case of a ship condemned) a statement of the time, place and Court at and by which she was condemned:

(3). A statement of the name of the master:

(4). A statement of the number of shares in such ship of which such body corporate is owner:

(5). A denial that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, any unqualified person or body of persons is entitled as owner to any legal or beneficial interest in such ship or any share therein.

Evidence to be produced on registry.

26. Upon the first registry of a ship, there shall, in addition to the declaration of ownership, be produced the following evidence; (that is to say):—

(1). In the case of a British-built ship a certificate (which the builder is hereby required to grant under his hand) containing a true account of the proper denomination and of the tonnage of such ship as estimated by him, and of the time when and of the place where such ship was built, together with the name of the party (if any) on whose account he has built the same, and, if any sale or sales have taken place, the bill or bills of sale under which the ship or share therein has become vested in the person requiring to be registered as owner:

(2). In the case of a foreign-built ship, the same evidence as in the case of a British-built ship, unless the person requiring to be registered as owner, or in the case of a body corporate, the duly appointed officer, declares that the time or place of her building is unknown, or that the builder's certificate cannot be procured, in which case there shall be required only the bill or bills of sale, under which the ship or share therein became vested in the person requiring to be registered as owner thereof:

(3). In the case of a ship condemned by any competent Court, an official copy of the condemnation of such ship.

Penalty on builder for false certificate.

27. If any builder wilfully makes a false statement in any certificate hereby required to be granted by him, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Particulars of entry in register-book

28. As soon as the foregoing requisites to the due registry of a ship have been complied with, the Registrar shall enter in the register-book the following particulars relating to such ship; (that is to say):—

(1). The name of the ship and of the port to which she belongs:

(2). The details as to her tonnage, build and description comprised in the certificate hereinbefore directed to be given by the surveyor:

(3). The several particulars as to her origin stated in the declaration or declarations of ownership:

(4). The names and descriptions of her registered owner or owners, and if there is more than one such owner, the proportions in which they are interested in such ship.

No notice taken of trusts.

29. No notice of any trust, express, implied or constructive, shall be entered in the register-book, or receivable by the Registrar; and, subject to any rights and powers appearing by the register-book to be vested in any other party, the registered owner of any ship or share therein shall have power absolutely to dispose, in manner hereinafter mentioned, of such ship or share, and to give effectual receipts for any money paid or advanced by way of consideration

Chapter IV.

Certificate of Registry.

Certificate of registry to be granted.

30. Upon the completion of the registry of any ship, the Registrar shall grant a certificate of registry in the form marked D in the first Schedule hereto, comprising the following particulars; (that is to say):—

(1). The name of the ship and of the port to which she belongs:

(2). The details as to her tonnage, build and description comprised in the certificate hereinbefore directed to be given by the surveyor:

(3). The name of her master:

(4). The several particulars as to her origin stated in the declaration or declarations of ownership:

(5). The names and descriptions of her registered owner or owners, and if there is more than one such owner, the proportions in which they are respectively interested, indorsed upon such certificate.

Change of owners to be indorsed on certificate of registry.

31. Whenever any change takes place in the registered ownership of any ship, then, if such change occurs at a time when the ship is at her port of registry, the master shall forthwith deliver the certificate of registry to the Registrar, and he shall indorse thereon a memorandum of such change; but if such change occurs during the absence of the ship from her port of registry, then, upon her first return to such port, the master shall deliver the certificate of registry to the Registrar, and he shall indorse thereon a like memorandum of the change; or, if she previously arrives at any port where there is a British Registrar, such Registrar shall, upon being advised by the Registrar of her port of registry of the change having taken place, indorse a like memorandum thereof on the certificate of registry, and may for that purpose require the certificate to be delivered to him, so that the ship be not thereby detained; and any master who fails to deliver to the Registrar the certificate of registry as hereinbefore required, shall incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Change of master to be indorsed on certificate of registry.

32. Whenever the master of any British registered ship is changed, the following persons,—that is to say, if such change is made in consequence of the sentence of any Naval Court, the presiding officer of such Court, but if the change takes place from any other cause, the Registrar,—shall indorse on the certificate of registry a memorandum of such change, and subscribe his name to such indorsement, and forthwith report the change of master to the Local Government; and the officers of Customs at any port situate within British India may refuse to admit any person to do any act at such port as master of any British ship, unless his name is inserted in or indorsed upon the certificate of registry of such ship as the last appointed master thereof.

Power to grant new certificate

33. The Registrar may, with the sanction of the Local Government, upon the delivery up to him of the former certificate of registry, grant a new certificate in the place of the one so delivered up.

Provision in case of loss of certificate.

34. In the event of the certificate of registry of any ship being mislaid, lost, or destroyed, if such event occurs at any port in British India, the ship being registered in British India, then the Registrar of her port of registry shall grant a new certificate of registry in lieu of, and as a substitute for, her original certificate of registry; but if such event occurs elsewhere, the master or some other person having knowledge of the circumstances shall make a declaration before the Registrar of any port having a British Registrar at which such ship is at the time or first arrives after such mislaying, loss, or destruction; and such declaration shall state the facts of the case, and the names and descriptions of the registered owners of such ship, to the best of the declarant's knowledge and belief and the Registrar shall thereupon grant a provisional certificate as near to the form appointed by this Act as circumstances permit, and shall insert therein a statement of the circumstances under which such provisional certificate is granted.

Provisional certificate to be delivered up.

35. Every such provisional certificate shall, within ten days after the first subsequent arrival of the ship at her part of discharge in British India, if registered in British India, be delivered up to the Registrar thereof, who shall thereupon grant a new one, as near to the form appointed by this Act as circumstances permit. If the master neglects to deliver up such certificate within such time, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Custody of certificate.

36. The certificate of registry shall be used only for the lawful navigation of the ship, and shall not be subject to detention by reason of any title, lien, charge, or interest whatsoever which any owner, mortgagee, or other person may have or claim to have on or in the ship described in such certificate. If any person whatever, whether interested or not in the ship, refuses on request to deliver up such certificate when in his possession or under his control, to the person for the time being entitled to the custody thereof for the purposes of such lawful navigation as aforesaid, or to any Registrar, officer of Customs, or other person legally entitled to require such delivery, it shall be lawful for any Magistrate by warrant under his hand, or for any Court capable of taking cognizance of such matter, to cause the person so refusing to appear before him and to be examined touching such refusal; and unless it is proved to the satisfaction of such Magistrate or Court that there was reasonable cause for such refusal, the offender shall incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees; but if it is made to appear to such Magistrate or Court that the certificate is lost, the person complained of shall be discharged, and such Magistrate or Court shall thereupon certify that the certificate of registry is lost.

Delivery of certificate may be required.

Penalty for detention.

Mode of proceeding if detaining party abscond.

37. If the person charged with such detainer or refusal is proved to have absconded, so that the warrant of the Magistrate or process of the Court cannot be served upon him, or if he persists in his refusal to deliver the certificate, such Magistrate or Court shall certify the fact, and the same proceedings may then be taken as in the case of a certificate of registry mislaid, lost, or destroyed, or as near thereto as circumstances permit.

Penalty for using improper certificate.

38. If the master or owner of any ship uses or attempts to use for the navigation of such ship a certificate of registry not legally granted in respect of such ship, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees; and it shall be lawful for any commissioned officer on full pay in the Military or Naval Service of Her Majesty, or any Magistrate or British officer of Customs, to seize and detain such ship, and to bring her for adjudication before any Court having Admiralty jurisdiction in British India; and if such Court is of opinion that such use or attempt at use has taken place, it shall pronounce such ship, with her tackle, apparel and furniture, to be forfeited to Her Majesty, and may award such portion of the proceeds arising from the sale of such ship as it may think just to the officer so bringing in the same for adjudication.

Certificate of ship lost or ceasing to be British to be delivered up.

39. If any registered ship is either actually or constructively lost, taken by the enemy, burnt, or broken up, or if by reason of a transfer to any persons not qualified to be owners of British ships, or of any other matter or thing, any such ship as aforesaid ceases to be a British ship, every person who at the time of the occurrence of any of the aforesaid events owns such ship or any share therein shall, immediately upon obtaining knowledge of any such occurrence, if no notice thereof has already been given to the Registrar at the port of registry of such ship, give such notice to him, and he shall make an entry thereof in his register-book. Except in cases where the certificate of registry is lost or destroyed, the master of every ship so circumstanced as aforesaid shall immediately, if such event occurs in port, but if the same occurs elsewhere, then within ten days after his arrival in port, deliver the certificate of registry of such ship to the Registrar; and such Registrar, if he is not himself the Registrar of her port of registry, shall forthwith forward the certificate so delivered to him to the Registrar of the port of registry of the ship. Every owner and master who, without reasonable cause, makes default in obeying the provisions of this section, shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Chapter V.

Transfers and Transmissions.

Transfer of ships or shares therein.

40. A registered ship or any share therein, when disposed of to persons qualified to be owners of British ships, shall be transferred by bill of sale; and such bill of sale shall contain such description of the ship as is contained in the certificate of the surveyor, or such other description as may be sufficient to identify the ship to the satisfaction of the Registrar, and shall be according to the form marked E in the first Schedule hereto, or as near thereto as circumstances permit, and shall be executed by the transferer in the presence of and be attested by one or more witnesses.

Declaration to be made by transferee.

41. No individual shall be entitled to be registered as transferee of a ship or any share therein, until he has made a declaration in the form marked F in the first Schedule hereto, stating his qualification to be registered as owner of a share in a British ship, and containing a denial similar to the denial hereinbefore required to be contained in a declaration of ownership by an original owner. No body corporate shall be entitled to be registered as transferee of a ship or any share therein, until the Secretary, or other duly appointed public officer of such body corporate, has made a declaration in the form marked G in the first Schedule hereto, stating the name of such body corporate, and such circumstances of its constitution and business as may prove it to be qualified to own a British ship, and containing a denial similar to the denial hereinbefore required, to be contained in a declaration of ownership made on behalf of a body corporate. In the case of an individual, the above declaration shall be made, if he reside within five miles of the Custom House of the port of registry, in the presence of the Registrar; but if beyond that distance, in the presence of any Registrar or of any Magistrate. In the case of a body corporate, the declaration shall be made in the presence of the Registrar of the port of registry.

Registration of transfer.

42. Every bill of sale for the transfer of any registered ship or of any share therein, when duly executed, shall be produced to the Registrar of the port at which the ship is registered, together with the declaration hereinbefore required to be made by a transferree. The Registrar shall thereupon enter in the register-book the name of the transferree as owner of the ship or share comprised in such bill of sale, and shall indorse on the bill of sale the fact of such entry having been made, with the date and hour thereof. All bills of sale of any ship or shares in a ship shall be entered in the register-book in the order of their production to the Registrar.

Transmission of shares by death, insolvency, or marriage.

43. If the property in any ship or in any share therein becomes transmitted in consequence of the death or insolvency of any registered owner, or in consequence of the marriage of any female registered owner, or by any lawful means other than by a transfer according to the provisions of this Act, such transmission shall be authenticated by a declaration of the person to whom such property has been transmitted, made in the form marked H in the first Schedule hereto, and containing the several statements hereinbefore required to be contained in the declaration of a transferree, or as near thereto as circumstances permit, and in addition, a statement describing the manner in which and the person to whom such property has been transmitted. Such declaration shall be made and subscribed, if the declarant resides at or within five miles of the Custom House of the port of registry, in the presence of the Registrar, but if beyond that distance, in the presence of any Registrar or of any Magistrate.

Proof of transmission by insolvency, marriage, will, or on intestacy.

44. If such transmission has taken place by virtue of the insolvency of any registered owner, the said declaration shall be accompanied by such evidence as may for the time being be receivable in Courts of Justice as proof of the title of persons claiming under any insolvency; and if such transmission has taken place by virtue of the marriage of a female owner, the said declaration shall be accompanied by a copy of the register of such marriage or other legal evidence of the celebration thereof, and shall declare the identity of the said female owner; and if such transmission has taken place by virtue of any testamentary instrument or by intestacy, then by the will or any copy thereof that may be evidence by the laws of British India, or by letters of administration or any copy thereof, or by such other document as may by the laws of British India be receivable in the Courts of Judicature thereof as proof of the person entitled upon an intestacy.

Registration of transmitted share.

45. The Registrar, upon the receipt of such declaration so accompanied as aforesaid, shall enter the name of the person or persons entitled under such transmission in the register-book as owner or owners of the ship or share therein in respect of which such transmission has taken place. Such persons, if more than one, shall, however numerous, be considered as one person only as regards the rule hereinbefore contained relating to the number of persons entitled to be registered as owners.

Registrar to retain certain evidence.

46. Of the documents hereby required to be produced to the Registrar, he shall retain in his possession the following; that is to say, the surveyor's certificate, the builder's certificate, the copy of the condemnation, and all declarations of ownership.

Unqualified owner entitled by transmission may apply to Court for sale of ship.

47. Whenever any property in a ship or share in a ship becomes vested by transmission, on the death of any owner or on the marriage of any female owner, in any person not qualified to be owner of British ships, it shall be lawful, if such ship is registered, for any High Court, upon an application made on its original side by or on behalf of such unqualified person, to order a sale to be made of the property so transmitted, and to direct the proceeds of such sale, after deducting the expenses thereof, to be paid to the person entitled under such transmission, or otherwise as the Court may direct; and it shall be in the discretion of any such Court as aforesaid to make or refuse any such order for sale, and to annex thereto any terms or conditions, and to require any evidence in support of such application it may think fit, and generally to act in the premises in such manner as the justice of the case requires.

Order to be made by Court.

48. Every order for a sale made by such Court as aforesaid, shall contain a declaration vesting the right to transfer the ship or share so to be sold in some person or persons named by the Court, and such nominee or nominees shall thereupon be entitled to transfer such ship or share in the same manner and to the same extent as if he or they were the registered owner or owners of the same. Every Registrar shall obey the requisition of such nominee or nominees as aforesaid, in respect of any transfer to the same extent as he would be compellable to obey the requisition of any registered owner or owners of such ship or share.

Limit of time for application.

49. Every such application as aforesaid for sale shall be made within four weeks after the occurrence of the event on which such transmission has taken place, or within such further time as such Court as aforesaid may allow; such time not in any case to exceed the space of one year from the date of such occurrence as aforesaid. In the event of no such application being made within such period as aforesaid, or of such court refusing to accede thereto, the ship or share so transmitted shall thereupon be forfeited in manner hereinafter directed with respect to interests acquired by unqualified owners in ships using a British flag and assuming the British character.

Power of Court to prohibit transfers.

50. It shall be lawful for any High Court, without prejudice to the exercise of any other power such Court may possess, upon the summary application of any interested person made either by petition or otherwise, and either ex-parte or upon service of notice on any other person, as the Court may direct, to issue an order prohibiting for a time to be named in such order any dealing with such ship or share. It shall be in the discretion of such Court to make or refuse any such order, and to annex thereto any terms or conditions it may think fit and to discharge such order when granted with or without costs, and generally to act in the premises in such manner as the justice of the case requires. Every Registrar, without being made a party to the proceedings, upon being served with such order or an official copy thereof, shall obey the same.

Chapter VI.

Mortgages.

Mortgage of ships and shares therein.

51. A registered ship or any share therein may be made a security for a loan or other valuable consideration; and the instrument creating such security, hereinafter termed a "mortgage," shall be in the form marked I in the first Schedule hereto, or as near thereto as circumstances permit; and on the production of such instrument, the Registrar of the port at which the ship is registered shall record the same in the register-book.

Mortgages to be registered in order of time of production.

52. Every such mortgage shall be recorded by the Registrar in the order of time in which the same is produced to him for that purpose; and the Registrar shall, by memorandum under his hand, notify in the instrument of mortgage that the same has been recorded by him, stating the date and hour of such record.

Entry of discharge of mortgage.

53. Whenever any registered mortgage has been discharged, the Registrar shall, on the production of the mortgage deed with a receipt for the mortgage money indorsed thereon, duly signed and attested, make an entry in the register-book to the effect that such mortgage has been discharged; and upon such entry being made, the estate, if any, which passed to the mortgagee shall vest in the same person or persons in whom the same would, having regard to intervening acts and circumstances, if any, have vested if no such mortgage had ever been made.

Priority of mortgages.

54. If there is no more than one mortgage registered of the same ship or share therein, the mortgagees shall, notwithstanding any express, implied or constructive notice, be entitled in priority one over the other according to the date at which each instrument is recorded in the register-books, and not according to the date of each instrument itself.

Mortgagee not to be deemed owner.

55. A mortgagee shall not, by reason of his mortgage, be deemed to be the owner of a ship or any share therein, nor shall the mortgagor be deemed to have ceased to be owner of such mortgaged ship or share, except in so far as may be necessary for making such ship or share available as a security for the mortgage debt.

Explanation.—A mortgagee of a ship has power under this Section to use as well as sell the ship.

Mortgagee to have power of sale.

56. Every registered mortgagee shall have power absolutely to dispose of the ship or share in respect of which he is registered, and to give effectual receipts for the purchase money; but if there are more persons than one registered as mortgagees of the same ship or share, no subsequent mortgagee shall, except under the order of some Court capable of taking cognizance of such matters, sell such ship or share without the concurrence of every prior mortgagee.

Rights of mortgagee not affected by any act of insolvency of mortgagor.

57. No registered mortgage of any ship or of any share therein shall be affected by any act of insolvency committed by the mortgagor after the date of the record of such mortgage, notwithstanding such mortgagor at the time of his becoming insolvent may have in his possession and disposition and be reputed owner of such ship or share thereof; and such mortgage shall be preferred to any right, claim, or interest in such ship or any share thereof which may belong to the assignees of such insolvent.

Transfer of mortgages.

58. A registered mortgage of any ship or share in a ship may be transferred to any person, and the instrument creating such transfer shall be in the form marked K in the first Schedule hereto, and on the production of such instrument, the Registrar shall enter in the register-book the name of the transferree as mortgagee of the ship or shares therein mentioned, and shall, by memorandum under his hand, record on the instrument of transfer that the same has been recorded by him, stating the date and hour of such record.

Transmission of interest of mortgagee by death, insolvency, or marriage.

59. If the interest of any mortgagee in any ship or in any share therein becomes transmitted in consequence of the death or insolvency, or in consequence of the marriage of any female mortgagee, or by any lawful means other than by a transfer according to the provisions of this Act, such transmission shall be authenticated by a declaration of the person to whom such interest has been transmitted, made in the form marked L in the first Schedule hereto, and containing a statement describing the manner in which and the party to whom such property has been transmitted. Such declaration shall be made and subscribed, if the declarant resides at or within five miles of the Custom House of the Port of registry, in the presence of the Registrar, but if beyond that distance, in the presence of any Registrar or of any Magistrate, and shall be accompanied by such evidence as is hereinbefore required to authenticate a corresponding transmission of property from one registered owner to another.

Entry of transmitted mortgage.

60. The Registrar, upon the receipt of such declaration and the production of such evidence as aforesaid, shall enter the name of the person or persons entitled under such transmission in the register-book as mortgagee or mortgagees of the ship or share in respect of which such transmission has taken place.

Chapter VII.

Certificates of Mortgage and Sale.

Powers of mortgage and sale may be conferred by certificate.

61. Any registered owner, if desirous of disposing by way of mortgage or sale of the ship or share in respect of which he is registered, at any place out of the territories in which the Port of registry of such ship is situate, may apply to the Registrar, who shall thereupon enable him to do so by granting such certificates as are hereinafter mentioned, to be called respectively certificates of mortgage or certificates of sale, according as they purport to give a power to mortgage or a power to sell.

Requisites for certificates of mortgage and sale.

62. Previously to any certificate of mortgage or sale being granted, the applicant shall state to the Registrar, to be by him entered in the register-book, the following particulars; (that is to say):—

(1). The names of the persons by whom the power mentioned in such certificate is to be exercised, and, in the case of a mortgage, the maximum amount of charge to be credited, if it is intended to fix any such maximum, and in the case of a sale, the minimum price at which a sale is to be made, if it is intended to fix any such minimum.

(2). The specific place or places where such power is to be exercised, or if no place be specified, then that it may be exercised anywhere, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained.

(3). The limit of time within which such power may be exercised.

Restrictions on certificates of mortgage and sale.

63. No certificate of mortgage or sale shall be granted so as to authorize any mortgage or sale to be made at any place within British India if the port of registry of the ship be situate in British India; or by any person not named in the certificate.

Forms of certificates of mortgage and sale.

64. Certificates of mortgage and sale shall be in the forms marked respectively M and N in the first Schedule hereto, and shall contain a statement of the several particulars hereinbefore directed to be entered in the register-book, and in addition thereto an enumeration of any registered mortgages or certificates of mortgage or sale affecting the ships or shares in respect of which such certificates are given.

Rules as to certificates of mortgage.

65. The following Rules shall be observed as to certificates of mortgage; (that is to say):—

(1). The power shall be exercised in conformity with the directions contained in the certificate:

(2). A record of every mortgage made thereunder shall be endorsed thereon by a Registrar:

(3). No mortgage bonâ fide made thereunder shall be impeached by reason of the person by whom the power was given dying before the making of such mortgage:

(4). Whenever the certificate contains a specification of the place or places at which, and a limit of time not exceeding twelve months within which the power is to be exercised, no mortgage bonâ fide made to a mortgagee without notice shall be impeached by reason of the insolvency of the person by whom the power was given:

(5). Every mortgage which is so registered as aforesaid on the certificate shall have priority over all mortgages of the same ship or share, created subsequently to the date of the entry of the certificate in the register-book; and if there be more mortgages than one so indorsed, the respective mortgagees claiming thereunder shall, notwithstanding any express, implied or constructive, notice, be entitled one before the other according to the date at which a record of each instrument is indorsed on the certificate, and not according to the date of the instrument creating the mortgage:

(6). Subject to the foregoing rules, every mortgagee whose mortgage is registered on the certificate shall have the same rights and powers and be subject to the same liabilities, as he would have had and been subject to if his mortgage had been registered in the register-book instead of on the certificate:

(7). The discharge of any mortgage so registered on the certificate may be indorsed thereon by any Registrar, upon the production of such evidence as is hereby required to be produced to the Registrar on the entry of the discharge of a mortgage in the register-book, and upon such indorsement being made, the estate, if any, which passed to the mortgagee shall vest in the same person or persons in whom the same would, having regard to intervening acts and circumstances, if any, have vested if no such mortgage had been made:

(8). Upon the delivery of any certificate of mortgage to the Registrar by whom it was granted he shall, after recording in the Register-book in such manner as to preserve its priority any unsatisfied mortgage registered thereon, cancel such certificate, and enter the fact of such cancellation in the register-book; and every certificate so cancelled shall be void to all intents.

Rules as to certificates of sale.

66. The following Rules shall be observed as to certificates of sale; (that is to say):—

(1). No such certificate shall be granted except for the sale of an entire ship:

(2). The power shall be exercised in conformity with the directions contained in the certificate:

(3). No sale bonâ fide made to a purchaser for valuable consideration shall be impeached by reason of the person by whom the power was given dying before the making of such sale:

(4). Whenever the certificate contains a specification of the place or places at which, and a limit of time not exceeding twelve months within which, the power is to be exercised, no sale bonâ fide made to a purchaser for valuable consideration without notice shall be impeached by reason of the insolvency of the person by whom the power was given:

(5). Any transfer made to a person qualified to be the owner of British ships shall be by bill of sale in the form hereinbefore mentioned, or as near thereto as circumstances permit:

(6). If the ship is sold to a person qualified to hold British ships, the ship shall be registered anew; but notice of all mortgages enumerated on the certificate of sale shall be entered in the register-book:

(7). Previously to such registry anew, there shall be produced to the Registrar required to make the same the bill of sale by which the ship is transferred, the certificate of sale and the certificate of registry of such ship:

(8). Such last-mentioned Registrar shall retain the certificates of sale and registry, and after having endorsed on both of such instruments an entry of the fact of a sale having taken place, shall forward the said certificates to the Registrar of the port appearing on such certificates to be the former port of registry of the ship, and such last-mentioned Registrar shall thereupon make a memorandum of the sale in his register-book, and the registry of the ship in such book shall be considered as closed, except as far as relates to any unsatisfied mortgages or existing certificates of mortgage entered therein.

(9). On such registry anew, the description of the ship contained in her original certificate of registry may be transferred to the new register-book, without her being re-surveyed, and the declaration to be made by the purchaser shall be the same as would be required to be made by an ordinary transferree:

(10). If the ship is sold to a person not qualified to be the owner of a British ship, the bill of sale by which the ship is transferred, the certificate of sale and the certificate of registry shall be produced to some Registrar, who shall retain the certificates of sale and registry, and, having endorsed thereon the fact of such ship having been sold to persons not qualified to be owners of British ships, shall forward such certificates to the Registrar of the port appearing on the certificate of registry to be the port of registry of such ship; and such last-mentioned Registrar shall thereupon make a Memorandum of the sale in his register-book, and the registry of the ship in such book shall be considered as closed, except so far as relates to any unsatisfied mortgages or existing certificates of mortgage entered therein:

(11). If upon a sale being made to an unqualified person default is made in the production of such certificates as are mentioned in the last rule, such unqualified person shall be considered by British law as having acquired no title to or interest in the ship; and further, the party upon whose application such certificate was granted, and the persons exercising the power, shall each incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees:

(12). If no sale is made in conformity with the certificate of sale, such certificate shall be delivered to the Registrar by whom the same was granted; and such Registrar shall thereupon cancel it, and enter the fact of such cancellation in the register-book; and every certificate so cancelled shall be void to all intents.

Power of Local Government in case of loss of certificate of mortgage or sale.

67. Upon proof at any time to the satisfaction of the Local Government that any certificate of mortgage or sale is lost or so obliterated as to be useless, and that the powers thereby given have never been exercised, or if they have been exercised, then, upon proof of the several matters and things that have been done thereunder, it shall be lawful for the Registrar, with the sanction of the said Local Government, as circumstances may require, either to issue a new certificate, or to direct such entries to be made in the register-book, or such other matter or thing to be done as might have been made or done if no such loss or obliteration had taken place.

Revocation of certificates of mortgage or sale.

68. The registered owner for the time being of any ship or share therein in respect of which a certificate of mortgage or sale has been granted, specifying the place or places where the power thereby given is to be exercised, may, by an instrument under his hand made in the form O in the first Schedule hereto, or as near thereto as circumstances permit, authorize the Registrar by whom such certificate was granted, to give notice to the Registrar or Registrars at such place or places, that such certificate is revoked; and notice shall be given accordingly; and all Registrars receiving such notice shall record the same, and shall exhibit the same to all persons who may apply to them for the purpose of effecting or obtaining a mortgage or transfer under the said certificate of mortgage or sale; and after such notice has been so recorded the said certificate shall, so far as concerns any mortgage or sale to be thereafter made at such place, be deemed to be revoked and of no effect. Every Registrar recording any such notice shall thereupon state to the Registrar by whom the certificate was granted, whether any previous exercise of the power to which such certificate refers has taken place.

Equities not excluded by this Act.

69. The expression "beneficial interest," whenever used in this Part, includes interests arising under contract and other equitable interests; and the intention of this Act is that, without prejudice to the provisions herein contained for preventing notice of trusts from being entered in the register-book or received by the Registrar, and without prejudice to the powers of disposition and of giving receipts hereby conferred on registered owners and mortgagee and without prejudice to the provisions herein contained relating to the exclusion of unqualified persons from the ownership of British ships, equities may be enforced against owners and mortgagees of ships in respect of their interest therein, in the same manner as equities may be enforced against them in respect of any other moveable property.

Chapter VIII.

Registry anew, and Transfer of Registry.

Alteration in ship to be registered.

70. Whenever any registered ship is so altered as not to correspond with the particulars relating to her tonnage or description contained in the register-book, then, if such alteration is made at a port where there is a Registrar, the Registrar of such port, but if made elsewhere, the Registrar of the first port having a Registrar at which the ship arrives after her alteration, shall, on application made to him, and on the receipt of a certificate from the proper surveyor specifying the nature of such alteration, either retain the old certificate of registry and grant a new certificate of registry containing a description of the ship as altered, or endorse on the existing certificate a memorandum of such alteration, and subscribe his name to such endorsement. The Registrar to whom such application as aforesaid is made, if he is the Registrar of the port of registry of the ship, shall himself enter in his register-book the particulars of the alteration so made, and the fact of such new certificate having been granted or endorsement having been made on the existing certificate: but if he is not such last-mentioned Registrar, he shall forthwith report such particulars and facts as aforesaid, accompanied by the old certificate of registry in cases where a new one has been granted, to the Registrar of the port of registry of the ship, who shall retain such old certificate (if any), and enter such particulars and facts in his register-book accordingly.

On alteration, registry anew may be required.

71. When the Registrar to whom application is made in respect of any such alteration as aforesaid is the Registrar of the port of registry, he may, if he thinks fit, instead of registering such alteration, require such ship to be registered anew in manner hereinbefore directed on the first registry of a ship, and if he is not such Registrar as last hereinbefore mentioned, he may nevertheless require such ship to be registered anew, but he shall in such last-mentioned case grant a provisional certificate or make a provisional indorsement of the alteration made, in manner hereinbefore directed in cases where no registry anew is required, taking care to add to such certificate or indorsement a statement that the same is made provisionally, and to insert in his report to the Registrar of the port of registry of the ship a like statment.

Grant of provisional certificate in respect of alteration.

72. Every such provisional certificate or certificate provisionally indorsed, shall within ten days after the first subsequent arrival of the ship at her port of discharge in British India, be delivered up to the Registrar thereof, who shall thereupon cause such ship to be registered anew, in the same manner in all respects as hereinbefore required on the first registry of any ship.

Consequence of omission to register anew.

73. On failure of such registry anew, of any ship or registry of alteration of any ship so altered as aforesaid, such ship shall be deemed not duly registered, and shall no longer be recognized as a British ship

On change of owners, registry anew may be granted if required.

74. If upon any change of ownership in any ship the owner or owners desire to have such ship registered anew, although such registry anew is not required by this Act, it shall be lawful for the Registrar of the port at which such ship is already registered, on the delivery up to him of the existing certificate of registry and on the other requisites to registry, or such of them as the Registrar thinks material, being duly complied with, to make such registry anew, and grant a certificate thereof.

Registry may be transferred from port to port.

75. The registry of any ship may be transferred from one port to another upon the application of all parties appearing on the register to be interested in such ship, whether as owners or mortgagees, such application to be expressed by a declaration in writing made and subscribed, if the party so required to make and subscribe the same resides at or within five miles of the Custom House of the port from which such ship is to be transferred, in the presence of the Registrar of such port, but if beyond that distance, in the presence of any Registrar or of any Magistrate.

Manner of transfer of registry.

76. Upon such application being made as is hereinbefore mentioned and upon the delivery to the Registrar of either of the ports next hereinafter mentioned of the certificate of registry, the Registrar of the port at which such ship is already registered shall transmit to the Registrar of the port at which such ship is intended to be registered notice of such application having been made to him, together with a true copy of all particulars relating to such ship, and the names of all the parties appearing by his book to be interested as owners or mortgagees in such ship. Such last-mentioned Registrar shall, upon the receipt of such notice, enter all such particulars and names in his book of registry, and grant a fresh certificate of registry, and thenceforth such ship shall be considered as registered at and belonging to such last-mentioned port, and the name of such last-mentioned port shall be substituted on the stern of such ship in lieu of the name of the port previously appearing thereon.

Transfer of registry not to affect rights of owners.

77. The transfer of the registry of any ship in manner aforesaid shall not in any way affect the rights of the several persons interested either as owners or mortgagees in such ship, but such rights shall in all respects be maintained and continued in the same manner as if no such transfer had been effected.

Chapter IX.

Registry, Miscellaneous.

Inspection of register-books.

78. Every person may, upon payment of a fee to be fixed by the Local Government not exceeding eight annas, have access to the register-book for the purpose of inspection at any reasonable time during the hours of official attendance of the Registrar.

Indemnity to Registrar.

79. No Registrar shall be liable to damages or otherwise for any loss occurring to any person by reason of any act done or default made by him in his character of Registrar, unless the same has happened through his neglect or wilful act.

Returns to be made by Registrars to Local Government.

80. Every Registrar shall without delay, or at such stated times as may be fixed by the Local Government, transmit to such Government a full return in such form as it may direct of all registers, transfers, transmissions, mortgagees, and other dealings with ships which have been registered by or communicated to him in his character of Registrar, and the names of the persons who have been concerned in the same, and such other particulars as may be directed by the same Government.

Application of fees.

81. All fees authorized to be taken under this Part shall be disposed of in such way as the Governor General of India in Council may from time to time direct.

Local Government to provide, and with consent of Governor General in Council may alter forms and issue instructions.

82. The Local Government shall cause the several forms required or authorized to be used by this Part and contained in the first Schedule hereto, to be supplied to all Registrars under such Government, for distribution to the several persons requiring to use the same, either free of charge or at such moderate prices as the Local Government may from time to time direct. The Local Government, with the consent of the Governor General of India in Council, may from time to time make such alterations in the forms contained in the first Schedule hereto as it may deem requisite, but shall, before issuing any altered form, give such public notice thereof as may be necessary in order to prevent inconvenience. The Local Government may also, with such consent as aforesaid, for the purposes of carrying into effect the provisions contained in this Part, give such instructions as to the manner of making entries in the register-book, as to the execution and attestation of powers of attorney, as to any evidence to be required for identifying any person and generally as to any act or thing to be done in pursuance of this Part, as it may think fit.

Forms of instruments.

83. In any case in which any bill of sale, mortgage or other instrument for the disposal or transfer of any ship, or any share or shares therein, or of any interest therein, is made in any form or contains any particulars other than the form and particulars prescribed and approved for the purpose by or in pursuance of this Act, no Registrar shall be required to record the same, without the express direction of the Local Government.

Power to Registrar to dispense with declarations and other evidence.

84. Whenever, in any case in which under this Part any person is required to make a declaration on behalf of himself or of any body corporate, or any evidence is required to be produced to the Registrar, it is shown to the satisfaction of the Registrar that from any reasonable cause such person is unable to make the declaration, or that such evidence cannot be produced, it shall be lawful for the Registrar, with the sanction of the Local Government, and upon the production of such other evidence and subject to such terms as it may think fit, to dispense with any such declaration or evidence.

Power for Local Government in special cases to grant a pass to a ship not registered.

85. In cases where it appears to the Local Government that by reason of special circumstances it would be desirable that permission should be granted to any British ship to pass, without being previously registered, from one port or place in British India to any other port or place in British India, it shall be lawful for the Local Government to grant a pass accordingly, and such pass shall, for the time and within the limits therein mentioned, have the same effect as a certificate of registry.

Provision for cases of minority or other incapacity.

86. If any person interested in any ship or any share therein, is by reason of minority, lunacy, or other inability, incapable of making any declaration or doing any thing required or permitted by this Act to be made or done by such incapable person in respect of registry, then the guardian or committee, if any, of such incapable person, or, if there be none, any person appointed by any Court or Judge possessing jurisdiction in respect of the property of incapable persons, upon the petition of any person on behalf of such incapable person, or of any other person interested in the making such declaration or doing such thing, may make such declaration, or a declaration as nearly corresponding thereto as circumstances permit, and do such thing in the name and on behalf of such incapable person; and all acts done by such substitute shall be as effectual as if done by the person for whom he is substituted.

Liabilities of owners.

87. Whenever any person is beneficially interested, otherwise than by way of mortgage, in any ship or share therein registered in the name of some other person as owner, the person so interested shall, as well as the registered owner, be subject to all pecuniary penalties imposed by this or by any other Act on owners of ships or shares therein, so nevertheless that proceedings may be taken for the enforcement of any such pecuniary penalties against both or either of the aforesaid parties with or without joining the other of them.

National Character.

National character of ship to be declared before clearance.

88. No officer of Customs shall grant a clearance for any ship until the master of such ship has declared to such officer the name of the nation to which he claims that the belongs, and such officer shall thereupon inscribe such name on the clearance, and if any ship attempts to proceed to sea without such clearance, any such officer may detain her until such declaration is made.

Penalties.

89. The offences hereinafter mentioned shall be punishable as follows; (that is to say):—

For unduly assuming a British character.

(1). If any person uses the British flag, and assumes the British national character on board any ship owned in whole or in part by any person not entitled by law to own British ships, for the purpose of making such ship appear to be a British ship, such ship shall be forfeited to Her Majesty, unless such assumption has been made for the purpose of escaping capture by an enemy or by a foreign ship-of-war, in exercise of some belligerent right; and in any proceeding for enforcing any such forfeiture, the burden of proving a title to use the British flag and assume the British national character shall lie upon the person using and assuming the same:

For concealment of British or assumption of foreign character.

(2). If the master or owner of any British ship does or permits to be done any matter or thing, or carries or permits to be carried any papers or documents, with intent to conceal the British character of such ship from any person entitled by British law to enquire into the same, or to assume a foreign character, or with intent to deceive any such person as lastly hereinbefore mentioned, such ship shall be forfeited to Her Majesty; and the master, if he commits or is privy to the commission of the offence, shall incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.

For acquiring ownership, if unqualified.

(3). If any unqualified person, except in the case of such transmitted interests as are hereinbefore mentioned, acquires as owner any interest, either legal or beneficial, in a ship using a British flag and assuming the British character, such interest shall be forfeited to Her Majesty:

For false declaration of ownership.

authority to make the same, of the parties on behalf of whom such declaration is made, be forfeited to Her Majesty. And in order that the above provisions as to forfeitures may be carried into effect, it shall be lawful for any commissioned officer on full pay in the Military or Naval Service of Her Majesty, or any Magistrate or British officer of Customs to seize and detain any ship which has, either wholly or as to any share therein, become subject to forfeiture as aforesaid, and to bring her for adjudication before any Court having Admiralty jurisdiction in British India. Such Court may thereupon make such order in the case as it may think fit, and may award to the officer bringing in the same for adjudication such portion of the proceeds of the sale of any forfeited ship or share as it may think right:

(5) If any person, in any declaration made or subscribed in the presence of or produced to any Registrar of Shipping in pursuance of this Part, or in any documents or other evidence produced to such Registrar, makes any false statement concerning the title to or the ownership of or the interests existing in any ship or any share or shares in any ship, which is false, and which he either knows or believes to be false, or does not believe to be true, or who corruptly uses or attempts to use as true any such statement, knowing the same to be false, shall be deemed to have committed the offence described in Section 199 or Section 200 (as the case may be) of the Indian Penal Code.

Officer not liable for any seizure made on reasonable grounds.

90. No such officer as aforesaid shall be responsible, either civilly or criminally, to any person whomsoever, in respect of the seizure or detention of any ship that has been seized or detained by him in pursuance of the provisions herein contained, notwithstanding that such ship is not brought in for adjudication, or, if so brought in, is declared not to be liable to forfeiture, if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court before whom any trial relating to such ship or such seizure or detention is held that there were reasonable grounds for such seizure or detention; but if no such grounds are shewn, such Court may award payment of costs and damages to any party aggrieved, and make such other order in the premises as it thinks just.

Penalty for carrying improper colours.

91. If any colours usually worn by Her Majesty's ships, or any colours resembling those of Her Majesty, or any distinctive national colours, except the red ensign usually worn by merchant ships, or except the union jack with a white border, or if the pendant usually carried by Her Majesty's ships, or any pendant in anywise resembling such pendant, are or is hoisted on board any ship or boat belonging to any subject of Her Majesty, without warrant for so doing from Her Majesty or from the Admiralty, the master of such ship or boat, or the owner thereof if on board the same, and every other person hoisting or joining or assisting in hoisting the same, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding five thousand rupees. It shall be lawful for any officer on full pay in the Military or Naval Service of Her Majesty, or any Magistrate or British officer of the Customs to board any such ship or boat, and to take away any such jack, colours or pendant; and such jack, colours or pendant shall be forfeited to Her Majesty.

Effect of declaration in the Act that a ship shall not be recognized as a British ship.

92. Whenever it is declared by this Act that a ship belonging to any person or body corporate qualified according to this Act to be owners of British ships shall not be recognized as a British ship, such ship shall not be entitled to any benefits, privileges, advantages or protection usually enjoyed by British ships, and shall not be entitled to use the British flag or assume the British national character; but, so far as regards the payment of dues, the liability to pains and penalties, and the punishment of offences committed on board such ship or by any persons belonging to her, such ship shall be dealt with in the same manner in all respects as if she were a recognized British ship.

Evidence.

Copies of registers and declaration to be admissible in evidence and to be primâ facie proof of certain things.

93. Every register of or declaration made in pursuance of this Part in respect of any British ship may be proved in any Court or before any person having by law or by consent of parties authority to receive evidence, either by the production of the original or by an examined copy thereof, or by a copy thereof, purporting to be certified under the hand of the Registrar or other person having the charge of the original; which certified copies he is hereby required to furnish to any person applying at a reasonable time for the same, upon payment of eight annas for each such certified copy; and every such register or copy of a register, and also every certificate of registry of any British ship, purporting to be signed by the Registrar or other proper officer, shall be received in evidence in any Court or before any person having by law or by consent of parties authority to receive evidence, as primâ facie proof of all matters contained or recited in such register when the register or such copy is produced, and of all the matters contained in or indorsed on such certificate of registry, and purporting to be authenticated by the signature of a Registrar, when such certificate is produced.

Ships of Native States.

Ships of Native States.

94. When any ship duly registered under this Act or under any Statute for the time being in force in the United Kingdom, shall come to be owned by a Native Prince of State, or by any subject of such Native Prince or State, it shall be lawful for the Local Government to continue to such ship the privileges and advantages of a British ship for the purposes aforesaid, by a pass to be issued under the seal of the Local Government and subscribed by a Secretary to such Government, stating the voyage or voyages for which the same is to have effect, and the period for which it is to last. It shall be lawful for the Local Government to issue a similar pass conferring the privileges and advantages of a British ship for the purposes aforesaid under this Act to any ship built within the dominions of such Native Prince or State, and owned by such Prince or State or by any of his or its subjects: Provided always, that the ships belonging to Native Princes or States or their subjects, in respect of which passes may be granted under this Act shall, during the voyage or voyages, or the period for which any such pass shall be granted, be commanded by a subject of Her Majesty for whom the Governor General of India in Council has power to legislate.

Issue of passes to ships of Native States.

15. The passes which, under the last preceding Section of this Act, may be issued for conferring the privileges and advantages of a British ship in certain cases to any ship built within the dominions of a Native Prince or State in subordinate alliance or having subsidiary treaties with the Government of India, may be issued in the like cases and under the same restrictions to any ship belonging to any such Native Prince or State or his or its subjects, wherever the same may have been built.

Coasting Ships.

Coasting ships may be registered and obtain passes.

96. Except as regardes ships whose registration is compulsory under this Act, all ships of whatever rig and of whatever tonnage owned by British subjects, and entitled to registry under this Act, or owned by such Native Princes or States or by their subjects, and entitled to passes under this Act, employed only in coasting voyages or between any port of the Continent of India and the Island of Ceylon, may be registered and obtain passes, and the tonnage may be marked, according to such rules as shall be made from time to time by the Local Government.

Fee for certificate of registry of such coasting ships.

97. The owners of coasting vessels registered under Section 96 shall pay for each certificate of registry—

For a vessel not exceeding the burthen of four tons, one rupee;

Exceeding four tons and not exceeding twenty tons, five rupees;

Exceeding twenty tons and not exceeding eighty tons, seven Rupees;

Exceeding eighty tons, for each ton two annas;

Such fees shall be carried to the credit of the Government of India.

Fees for Certificates and Passes.

Fees to be fixed by Governor General in Council.

98. Subject to the provisions contained in Section 97, fees demandable in respect of the granting any certificate or pass under this Act, shall be fixed from time to time according to the directions of the Governor General of India in Council.

Ships to belong ports at which they shall be registered.

99. All ships being registered, or in respect of which passes may have been granted which are unexpired at the time of passing of this Act, shall, for the purpose of being deemed British ships, be deemed to belong to the ports at which they may have been registered, or when passes shall have been granted which are unexpired, at which such passes may have been respectively granted. Such ships built and owned as required by the Statute 3 & 4 Vic., cap. 56, shall continue subject to all the rules in force at the respective Presidencies before the passing of this Act, touching the registering, measurement, granting passes or other requisitions in respect of the same, and shall not be subject to the provisions of this Act, or any provisions of the Statute Law, a compliance with which may heretobefore have been necessary in order that ships built and owned as aforesaid might be deemed British ships for the purposes of trade.

PART III.

MASTERS AND SEAMEN.

CHAPTER I.

Mercantile Marine Offices.

Mercantile Marine Offices.

100. An office shall be established at each of the ports of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, and at such other ports as the Governor General of India in Council shall hereafter deem necessary. For every such office there shall be a Superintendent to be called the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office of Calcutta, Madras or otherwise, as the case may be, with such necessary Deputy Superintendents, clerks and servants, at such salaries and subject to such regulations as the Local Government shall from time to time, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, direct and appoint. Every act done by or before any Deputy Superintendent duly appointed shall have the same effect as if done by or before a Superintendent.

Appointment, removal, and control of Superintendents and Deputy Superintendents.

101. The Local Government shall have power to appoint and remove such Superintendents and Deputy Superintendents who shall respectively be subject to the control of that Government, or of any intermediate authority which it may appoint.

Business of Superintendents and Deputy Superintendents

102. It shall be the general business of the Superintendents and Deputy Superintendents appointed under this Act to superintend and facilitate the engagement and discharge of seamen in manner hereinafter mentioned, to provide means for securing the presence on board at the proper times of men who are so engaged, and to perform such other duties relating to merchant seamen and merchant ships as are hereby or under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, or as may hereafter under the powers herein contained, be committed to them. It shall also be the duty of the Superintendent and Deputy Superintendents to give to all persons desirous of apprenticing boys to the sea-service, and duly authorized so to do by Act No. XIX. of 1850 (concerning the binding of apprentices), and also to masters and owners of ships requiring apprentices, such assistance as may be in their power for facilitating the making of such apprenticeships.

Fees to be paid upon engagements and discharges.

103. Such fees, not exceeding the sums specified in the Table marked A. in the second Schedule to this Act, as are from time to time fixed by the Local Government, shall be payable upon all engagements and discharges effected before Superintendents as hereinafter mentioned. Scales of the fees payable for the time being shall be conspicuously placed in the Mercantile Marine Offices; and all Superintendents, Deputy Superintendents, clerks and servants may refuse to proceed with any engagement unless the fees payable thereon are first paid. Provided that when any seaman is discharged from a vessel and re-engaged for the same vessel on the day of his discharge, the fees payable in respect of such discharge and re-engagement shall be one-half of the fees which would otherwise have been payable.

Fees by whom to be paid.

104. Every owner or Master of a ship engaging or discharging any seaman in a Mercantile Marine Office or before a Superintendent, shall pay to the Superintendent the whole of the fees hereby made payable in respect of such engagement or discharge, and may, for the purpose of in part reimbusing himself, deduct in respect of each such engagement or discharge from the wages of all persons (except apprentices) so engaged or discharged, and retain any sums not exceeding the sums specified in that behalf in the Table marked B. in the second Schedule hereto. Provided that, if in any cases the sums which the owner is so entitled to deduct exceed the amount of the fee payable by him, such excess shall be paid by him to the Superintendent in addition to such fee. Provided also, that when any seaman is discharged from a vessel and re-engaged for the same vessel on the day of his discharge, the owner or master shall not deduct more than one-half of the sums so specified.

Proviso as to excess.

Penalty on Superintendent taking other remuneration.

105. Any Superintendent, Deputy Superintendent, or any clerk or servant in any Mercantile Marine Office, who demands or receives any remuneration whatever either directly or indirectly, for hiring or supplying any seaman for any merchant ship, excepting the lawful fees payable under this Act, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees, and shall also be dismissed from his office.

Business of Mercantile Marine Office may be transacted at Custom House or elsewhere.

106. The Local Government may direct that, at any place at which no separate Mercantile Marine Office is established, the whole or any part of the business of the Mercantile Marine Office shall be conducted at the Custom House or at the office of the Master Attendant or Harbour Master, or at such other office as the Government shall direct, and thereupon the same shall be there conducted accordingly; and in respect of such business such Custom House or office as aforesaid shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Mercantile Marine Office, and the officer of Customs or other officer there, to whom such business is committed, shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office within the meaning of this Act.

Dispensation with superintendence of Superintendent of Mercantile Marine Office.

107. The Local Government may from time to time dispense with the transaction before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office or in a Mercantile Marine Office of any matters required by this Act to be so transacted, and thereupon such matters shall, if otherwise duly transacted as required by law be as valid as if transacted before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office or in a Mercantile Marine Office.

Chapter II.

Of the Examinations and Certificates of Masters, Mates and Engineers.

Examinations instituted.

108. Examinations shall be instituted for persons who intend to become masters, mates, or engineers of Home-trade ships or steamers of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, or of foreign-going ships or steamers, or who wish to procure certificates of competency hereinafter mentioned.

Local Government to appoint examiners.

109. The Local Government or any Board or officer duly authorized by the Local Government in that behalf shall, from time to time, nominate two or more competent persons for the purpose of examining the qualifications of the applicants for examination. The Local Government may, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, make rules for the conduct of such examinations, and as to the qualifications to be required, and such rules shall be strictly adhered to by all examiners. Fees at the following rates shall be paid by all applicants for examination: For Rules for conduct of examinations.

Fees.

a certificate as master,	twenty Rupees.
Ditto ditto as mate,	ten „
Ditto ditto as first class engineer,	twenty „
Ditto ditto as second class ditto,	ten „

Certificates of competency.

110. The Local Government or such Board or officer as aforesaid, shall deliver to every applicant who is reported by the examiners to have passed the examination satisfactorily, and to have given satisfactory evidence of his sobriety, experience, ability, and general good conduct on board ship, a certificate (hereinafter called a "Certificate of competency") to the effect that he is competent to act as master, mate, first class engineer, or second class engineer of a Home-trade ship or steamer of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, or of a foreign-going ship or steamer, as the case may be.

Certificates of service.

111. Certificates of service, differing in form from certificates of competency, shall be granted as follows; (that is to say): —

(1). Every person who before the passing of this Act, has served as master in the British merchant service, or as master of any foreign-going ship registered under Act No. X of 1841, or who shall attain or has attained the rank of Lieutenant, Master, passed Mate, or Second Mate, or any higher rank, in the service of Her Majesty or of the late East India Company, shall be entitled to a certificate of service as Master for foreign-going ships:

(2). Every person who, before the passing of this Act, has served as mate in the British merchant service or as mate of any such ship as aforesaid, shall be entitled to a certificate of service as mate or foreign-going ships:

(3). Every person who, before the passing of this Act, has served as master or mate of a Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, shall be entitled to a certificate of service as master or mate (according to such previous service) for such Home-trade ships:

(4). Every person who, before the passing of this Act, has served as first engineer in any foreign-going steam ship of one hundred nominal horse-power or upwards, or who has attained or attains the rank of engineer in the service of the late East India Company or of Her Majesty, shall be entitled to a "First Class Engineer's Certificate" of service:

(5). Every person who, before the passing of this Act, has served as second engineer in any foreign-going steam ship of one hundred nominal horse-power or upwards, or as first or only engineer in any other steam ship, or who has attained or attains the rank of first class assistant engineer in the service of Her Majesty, shall be entitled to a "second class engineer's certificate" of service:

And each of such certificates of service shall contain particulars of the name and of the length and nature of the previous service of the person to whom it is delivered; and the Local Government or such other authority as aforesaid shall deliver such certficates of service to the various persons so respectively entitled thereto, upon their proving themselves to have attained such rank or to have served as aforesaid, and upon their giving a full and satisfactory account of the particulars aforesaid.

No Home-trade ship above three hundred tons and no foreign-going ship to go to sea without certificated master, &c.

112. No Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons and no foreign-going ship shall go to sea from any port in British India, unless the master and one officer besides the master have obtained and possess valid and appropriate certificates either of competency or service under this Act or under the Merchant Shipping Act 1854: Every foreign-going steam ship of one hundred nominal horse-power or upwards shall have as its first and second engineers two certificated engineers, the first possessing a "first-class engineer's certificate," and the second possessing a "second-class engineer's certificate" or a certificate of the higher grade: Every foreign-going steam ship of less than one hundred nonimal horse-power shall have as its only or first engineer an engineer possessing a "second-class engineer's certificate" or a certificate of the higher grade: Every sea-going Home-trade passenger steam ship shall have as its only or first engineer an engineer possessing a "second-class engineer's certificate" or a certificate of the higher grade. Whoever having been engaged to serve as master, mate or engineer goes to sea as aforesaid as such master, mate or engineer without being at the time entitled to and possessed of such a certificate as hereinbefore required, and whoever employs any person as such master, mate or engineer without ascertaining that he is at the time entitled to and possessed of such certificate, shall for each such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Certificates for foreign-going ships available for Home-trade ships.

113. Every certificate of competency for a foreign-going ship shall be deemed to be of a higher grade than the corresponding certificate for a Home-trade ship, and shall entitle the lawful holder thereof to go to sea in the corresponding grade in such last-mentioned ship; but no certificate for a Home-trade ship shall entitle the holder to go to sea as master or mate of a foreign-going ship.

Record of grants, cancellations, &c., of certificates of competency or service.

114. All certificates whether of competency or service, shall be made in duplicate, and one part shall be delivered to the person entitled to the certificate, and the other shall be kept and recorded as the Local Government shall direct. A note of all orders made for cancelling, suspending, altering or otherwise affecting any certificate in pursuance of the powers herein contained shall be entered in the record of certificates.

Loss of certificate.

115. Whenever any master, mate or engineer proves to the satisfaction of the Local Government or such other authority as aforesaid, that he has without fault on his part lost or been deprived of any certificate already granted to him, a copy of the certificate to which by the record so kept as aforesaid he appears to be entitled, shall be delivered to him, and shall have all the effect of the original.

Sections 108 to 115 not to apply to ships registered under this Act, under certain circumstances.

116. The Local Government may exempt from the operation of the preceding Sections of this Chapter, ships registered under this Act, when such ships are navigated and manned exclusively by Arabs, Lascars or other Asiatic masters and seamen and are less than two hundred tons in burthen.

Chapter III.

Of the Engagement of Seamen.

Licenses to procure seamen.

117. The Local Government, or any Board or officer duly authorized by the Local Government in this behalf, may grant to such persons as may be deemed fit licenses to engage or supply seamen for merchant ships, to continue for such periods, to be upon such terms, and to be revocable upon such conditions as the Government thinks proper.

Penalties.

118. The following offences shall be punishable as hereinafter mentioned; (that is to say):—

For supplying seamen without license.

(1). If any person not licensed as aforesaid, other than the owner or master or mate of the ship, or some person who is bonâ fide the servant and in the constant employ of the owner or a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office duly appointed as aforesaid, engages or supplies any seamen to be entered on board any ship, he shall for each seamen so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees:

For employing unlicensed persons.

(2). If any person employs any unlicensed person other than persons so excepted as aforesaid, for the purpose of engaging or supplying any seaman to be entered on board any ship he shall for each seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees, and if licensed shall in addition forfeit his license:

For receiving seamen illegally supplied.

(3). If any person knowingly receives or accepts to be entered on board any ship any seamen who has been engaged or supplied contrary to the provisions of this Act, he shall for every seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.

119. If any person demands or receives, either directly or indirectly, from any seaman or from any person seeking employment as a seaman, or from any person on his behalf, any remuneration whatever, other than the fees hereby authorized, for providing him with employment, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees, and if licensed as aforesaid shall in addition forfeit his license.

Penalty for receiving remuneration from seamen for shipping them.

120. The master of every ship except ships of a burden not exceeding three hundred tons employed only in the Home-trade, shall enter into an agreement with every seaman whom he carries to sea from any port in British India as one of his crew, in the manner hereinafter mentioned; and every such agreement shall be in a form sanctioned by the Governor General of India in Council, and shall be dated at the time of the first signature thereof, and shall be signed by the master before any seaman or other person aforesaid signs the same, and shall contain the following particulars as terms thereof; (that is to say) :—

Agreements with seamen and others.

(1). The nature and, as far as practicable, the duration of the intended voyage or engagement :

(2). The number and description of the crew, specifying how many are engaged as sailors :

(3). The time at which each seaman is to be on board or to begin work :

(4). The capacity in which each seaman is to serve :

(5). The amount of wages which each seaman is to receive :

(6). A scale of the provisions which are to be furnished to each seaman :

(7). Any regulations as to conduct on board and as to fines, short allowance of provisions, or other lawful punishments for misconduct, which have been sanctioned by the Government as regulations proper to be adopted, and which the parties agree to adopt :

And every such agreement shall be so framed as to admit of stipulations to be adopted at the will of the master and seaman, in each case (not being inconsistent with the provisions of this Act), as to advance of wages and supply of warm clothing, and may contain any other stipulations which are not contrary to law : Provided that, if the master of any ship belonging to the United Kingdom or any British possession has an agreement with his crew, made in due form according to the law of the place to which such ship belongs, or in which her crew were engaged and engages single seamen in any port in British India, such seaman may sign the agreement so made, and it shall not be necessary for such seaman to sign an agreement under this Act : Provided also that, in the case of lascars or other Native seamen, when it shall be agreed that the service of any such seaman shall end at any port not in British India, the agreement shall contain stipulations for providing for such seaman fit employment on board some other vessel bound to the port at which he was shipped, or such other port as may be agreed on, or for providing for him a passage to some such port as aforesaid free of charge, or on such other terms as may be agreed on; and every such stipulation shall be signed by the owner of the vessel or by the master on his behalf.

Proviso as to forms for British or Colonial ships.

Proviso where lascars, &c., are shipped.

121. It shall be lawful for any master or owner of a ship or his agent to enter into a contract with lascars or Natives of British India, binding them to proceed to any port or ports in the Australian colonies either as seamen or as passengers, and there to engage themselves as seamen in any ship which may happen to be there and to be bound to the United Kingdom or to any other part of Her Majesty's dominions : Provided that every such contract shall be in such form, and shall contain such provisions, and shall be executed in such manner and under such conditions for securing the return of such lascars or Natives to their own country and for other purposes as the Governor General of India in Council or the Local Government may direct. If any lascar or other person who has bound himself by any such contract is, on arriving in any of the said colonies, required to enter into an agreement to serve as a seaman in any ship bound for the United Kingdom or to any other part of Her Majesty's dominions, and if it is certified by some officer appointed for that purpose by the Governor of the said colony that such agreement is a proper agreement in all respects for such lascars or other person to enter into, and is in accordance with the original contract, and that the ship to which such agreement relates is a proper ship for such lascar or other person to serve in, and is properly supplied with provisions, and that there is not, in the opinion of such officer, any objection to the full performance of the said contract, such lascar or other person shall be bound to enter into the said agreement, and to serve as a seaman in the ship to which it relates, and shall thereupon be deemed for all purposes one of the crew of the ship. If he refuses to enter into such agreement, he shall notwithstanding such refusal be liable to the same consequences and be dealt with in all respects in the same manner as if he had voluntorily entered into the same. For every lascar or other person in respect of whom such certificate is applied for, the person applying for the same shall pay to such officer as aforesaid such fee as the Governor of the colony may appoint.

Contracts may be made with lascars binding them to go to Australia, and thence to serve in other ships to the United Kingdom.

122. It shall be lawful for any master or owner of a ship or his agent to enter into agreements with lascars or Natives of British India, binding them to proceed to any port in the United Kingdom, either as seamen or as passengers, and there to enter into a further agreement to serve as seamen in any ship which may happen to be there and to be bound to any port in British India : Provided that every such original agreement shall be made in such form and shall contain such provisions, and shall be executed in such manner and under such conditions for securing the return of such lascars or Natives to their own country and for other purposes, as the Governor General of India in Council or the Local Government may direct: If any lascar or other person who has bound himself by any such original agreement is, on Contracts may be made with lascars binding them to go to the United Kingdom, and there to serve in other ships back to India or elsewhere.

arriving in the United Kingdom, required to enter into a further agreement to serve as a seaman in any ship bound to any port in British India, and if it is certified by some officer appointed for that purpose by the Government of India, that such further agreement is a proper agreement in all respects for such lascar or other person to enter into, and is in accordance with the original agreement, and that the ship to which such further agreement relates is in all respects a proper ship for such lascar or other person to serve in, and that there is not in the opinion of such officer any objection to the full performance of the said original agreement, such lascar or other person shall be deemed to be engaged under such further agreement, and to serve as a seaman in the ship to which it relates, and shall thereupon be deemed to be for all purposes one of the crew of the ship. For every lascar or other person in respect of whom such certificates is applied for, the person applying for the same shall pay to such officer as aforesaid such fee as the Government of India may appoint not exceeding ten shillings.

Rules to be observed with respect to agreements in the case of foreign-going ships.

123. In the case of all foreign-going ships in whatever part of Her Majesty's dominions the same are registered, the following rules shall be observed with respect to agreements; (that is to say) :—

Agreement to be signed by seaman.

(1.) Every agreement made in any Port in British India (except in such cases of agreements with substitutes as are hereafter specially provided for), shall be signed by each seaman in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office:

Superintendent to cause agreement to be explained to seamen.

(2.) Such Superintendent shall cause the agreement to be read over and explained to each seaman in a language understood by him, or shall otherwise ascertain that each seamen understands the same before he signs it, and shall attest each signature.

To be in duplicate.

(3.) When the crew is first engaged, the agreement shall be signed in duplicate, and one part shall be retained by the Superintendent and the other part shall contain a special place or form for the descriptions and signatures of substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship, and shall be delivered to the master:

Provision for substitutes.

(4). In the case of substitutes engaged in the place of seamen who have duly signed the agreement and whose services are lost within twenty-four hours immediately before the ship puts to sea, by death, desertion or other unforeseen cause, the engagement shall, when practicable, be made before same Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office duly appointed in the manner hereinbefore specified. Whenever such last-mentioned engagement cannot be so made, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea if practicable, and if not as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to the seamen; and the seamen shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness who shall attest their signatures.

Engagements between masters of foreign ships and lascars.

124. When the master of a foreign ship being at any port in British India engages any lascar or other Native seamen to proceed to any port in or out of British India, he shall enter into an agreement with such seaman, and the agreement shall be made before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in the manner hereinbefore provided for the making of agreements in the case of Home-trade or foreign-going ship, as the case may be; and all the provisions of Sections 120 and 123 respecting the form of such agreements and the stipulations to be contained in them, and the making and signing of the same, shall be applicable to the engagement of such seaman; and the master of such foreign ship shall give to the Superintendent a bond with the security of some approved person resident in British India for an amount calculated at the rate of one hundred rupees for every such seaman, and conditioned for the due performance of the said agreement and stipulations.

Fees payable in respect of such engagements.

125. The fees prescribed in Section 103 shall be payable in respect of every such engagement, and deductions from the wages of seamen so engaged may be made to the extent and in the manner allowed by the same Section.

Penalty for master of foreign ship engaging lascars otherwise than is allowed by Sections 123 and 125.

126. If any lascar or other Native seaman is engaged by the master of any foreign ship otherwise than is allowed in Sections 124 and 125, such master shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred rupees for every such seaman so engaged. It shall be lawful for the Superintendent by himself or his Depnty to enter on board any foreign ship upon which he shall have reason to believe that any such seaman has been shipped, and the provisions of Section 134 of this Act shall be applicable in respect of every such ship.

Superintendent may board foreign ships suspected of unlawfully shipping lascars.

Foreign-going ships making short voyages may have running agreements.

127. In the case of foreign-going ship making voyages averaging less than six months in duration, running agreements with the crew may be made to extend over two or more voyages, so that no such agreement shall extend beyond the next following thirtieth day of June or thirty-first day of December, or the first arrival of the ship at her port of destination in British India after such date, or the discharge of cargo consequent upon such arrival. Every person entering into such agreement, whether engaged upon the first commencement thereof or otherwise, shall enter into and sign the same in the manner hereby required for other foreign-going ships; and every person engaged thereunder, if discharged in any port in British India, shall be discharged in the manner hereby required for the discharge of seamen belonging to other foreign-going ships.

Engagement and discharge of seamen in the meantime.

128. The master of every foreign-going ship for which such a running agreement as aforesaid is made shall, upon every return to any port in British India before the final termination of the agreement, discharge or engage before the Superintendent at such port any seaman whom he is required by law so to discharge or engage; and shall upon every such return endorse on the agreement a statement (as the case may be), either that no such discharges or engagements have been made or are intended to be made before the ship again leaves port, or that all such discharges or engagements have been duly made as hereinbefore required; and shall deliver the agreemennt so endorsed to the Superintendent. Any master who wilfully makes a false statement in such endorsement, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees. The Superintendent shall also sign an endorsement on the agreement to the effect that the provisions of this Act relating to such agreement have been complied with, and shall re-deliver the agreement so endorsed to the master.

Fees to be paid on such running agreements.

129. For the purpose of determining the fees to be paid upon the engagement and discharge of seamen belonging to foreign-going ships which have running agreements as aforesaid, the crew shall be considered to be engaged when the agreement is first signed, and to be discharged when the agreement finally terminates; and all intermediate engagements and discharges shall be considered to be engagements and discharges of single seaman.

In Home-trade ships, agreement so to be entered into before a Superintendent or other witness.

130. In the case of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, crews or single seaman may, if the master thinks fit, be engaged before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in the manner hereinbefore directed with respect to foreign-going ships. In every case in which the engagement is not so made, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea if practicable, and if not so soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to each seaman, and the seaman shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness who shall attest his signature.

Special agreements for Home-trade ships belonging to same owner.

131. In cases where several Home-trade ships belong to the same owner, the agreement with the seamen may, notwithstanding anything herein contained, be made by the owner instead of by the master, and the seamen may be engaged to serve in any two or more of such ships, provided that the names of the ships and the nature of the service are specified in the agreement; but with the foregoing exception, all provisions herein contained which relate to ordinary agreements for Home-trade ships shall be applicable to agreements made in pursuance of this Section.

Penalty for shipping seamen without agreement duly executed.

132. If in any case a master carries any seaman to sea without entering into an agreement with him in the form and manner and at the place and time hereby in such case required, the master shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees.

Changes in crew of foreign-going ship to be reported.

133. The master of every foreign-going ship of which the crew has been engaged before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, shall, before finally leaving British India, sign and send to the nearest Superintendent a full and accurate statement in the form sanctioned by the Governor General of India in Council, of every change which takes place in his crew before finally leaving British India, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees, and such statement shall be admissible in evidence subject to all just exceptions.

To prevent infraction of Act, Superintendent may board vessels and muster seamen.

134. For the purpose of preventing any seamen from being shipped at any port in India contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Superintendent by himself or his Deputy may enter at any time on board any ship upon which he shall have reason to believe that seamen have been shipped, and may muster and examine the several seamen employed therein. Any person who shall obstruct the said Superintendent or Deputy in such duty, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Rules as to production of agreements and certificates for foreign-going ships and steamers.

135. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the production of agreements and certificates of competency or service for foreign-going ships; (that is to say):—

(1.) The master of every foreign-going ship or steam-ship required by this Act to have a certificated engineer, shall, on signing the agreement with his crew, produce to the Superintendent before whom the same is signed, the certificates of competency or service which the said master, mate and (in the case of any such steam-ship,) engineer, are hereby required to possess; and upon such production being duly made, and the agreement being duly executed as hereby required, the Superintendent shall sign and give to the master a certificate to that effect:

(2.) In the case of running agreements for foreign-going ships or steamers the Superintendent shall before the second and every subsequent voyage made after the first commencement of the agreement, sign and give to the master, on his complying with the provisions herein contained with respect to such arrangements, and producing to the Superintendent the certificate of competency or service of any mate or engineer then first engaged by him, a certificate to that effect:

(3.) The master of every foreign-going ship or steamer shall, before proceeding to sea, produce the certificate so to be given to him by the Superintendent as aforesaid to the Collector of Customs or if there be no Collector of Customs, to the officer whose duty it is to grant a port-clearance. No officer of Customs or other officer shall clear any such ship or steamer outwards without such production; and if any such ship or steamer attempts to go to sea without a clearance, any such officer may detain her until such certificate as aforesaid is produced;

(4.) The master of every foreign-going ship or steamer shall, within forty-eight hours after the ship's or steamer's arrival at her final port of destination in British India or upon the discharge of the crew, whichever first happens, deliver such agreement to a Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at the place, and such Superintendent shall thereupon give to the master a certificate of such delivery; and no officer of Customs or other officer shall clear any foreign-going ship or steamer inwards without the production of such certificate. And if the master of any foreign-going ship or steamer fails to deliver the agreement to a Superintendent at the time and in the manner hereby directed, he shall for every default incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees.

Rules as to production of agreements and certificates for Home-trade ships and steamers.

136. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the production of agreements and certificates of competency or service for Home-trade ships and steamers of a burden exceeding three hundred tons ; (that is to say) :—

(1.) No such agreement shall extend beyond the next following thirtieth day of June or thirty-first day of December, or the first arrival of the ship or steamer at her final port of destination in British India after such date, or the discharge of cargo consequent upon such arrival :

(2.) The master or owner of every such ship or steamer shall, within twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and thirty-first day of December in every year, or (if the ship is not at any port in British India within twenty-one days after either the thirtieth day of June or the thirty-first day of December in any year), within forty-eight hours after her next arrival at any port in British India, transmit or deliver to some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in British India every agreement made within the six calendar months next preceding such days respectively, and shall also produce to the Superintendent the certificates of competency or service which the said master, mate, and (in the case of steam-ships) engineer are hereby required to possess :

(3.) The Superintendent shall thereupon give to the master or owner a certificate of such delivery and production ; and no officer of Customs or other officer authorized to grant a port clearance shall grant a clearance for any such ship or steamer without the production of such certificate ; and if any such ship or steamer attempts to go to sea without such clearance, any such officer may detain her until the said certificate is produced :

And if the agreement for any Home-trade ship is not delivered or transmitted by the master or owner to a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office at the time and in the manner hereby directed, such master or owner shall for every default incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees.

Alterations to be void unless attested to have been made with the consent of all parties.

137. Every erasure, interlineation or alteration in any such agreement with seamen as is required by this Act (except additions so made as hereinbefore directed for shipping substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship) shall be wholly inoperative, unless proved to have been made with the consent of all the persons interested in such erasure, interlineation or alteration by the written attestation (if made in Her Majesty's dominions) of some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, Justice, officer of Customs or other public functionary, or (if made out of Her Majesty's dominions) of a British Consular Officer, or, where there is no such officer, of two respectable British merchants.

Copy of agreement to be made accessible to crew.

138. The master shall at the commencement of every voyage or engagement cause a legible copy of the agreement, and, if necessary, a translation thereof in a language understood by the majority of the crew (omitting the signatures) to be placed or posted up in such part of the ship as to be accessible to the crew, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees.

Seamen discharged before voyage to have compensation.

139. Any seaman who has signed an agreement and is afterwards discharged before the commencement of the voyage, or before one month's wages are earned, without fault on his part justifying such discharge and without his consent, shall be entitled to receive from the master or owner, in addition to any wages he may have earned, due compensation for the damage thereby caused to him, not exceeding one month's wages, and may on adducing such evidence as the Court or Magistrate hearing the case deems satisfactory, of his having been so improperly discharged as aforesaid, recover such compensation as if it were wages duly earned.

Chapter IV.

Of Seamen's Wages.

(a).—Regulation of advances.

Regulation of advances and advance-notes.

140. No advance of wages shall be made or advance-note given to any person but the seaman himself. No advance of wages shall be made or advance-note given for any greater sum than the amount of one month's wages, or unless the agreement contains a stipulation for the same and an accurate statement of the amount thereof. No advance-note shall be given to any seaman who signs the agreement before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office unless in the presence of such Superintendent.

Advances irregularly or improperly made not to be a discharge of wages.

141. If any advance of wages is made or any advance-note given to any seaman in any such manner as to constitute a breach of any of the above provisions, the wages of such seaman shall be recoverable by him as if no such advance had been made or advance-note given, and in the case of any advance-note so given, no person shall be sued thereon under the provisions hereinafter contained, unless he was in person or by his agent a party to the irregular or improper manner of giving the same.

(b).—Allotment of Wages.

Stipulations for allotment to be inserted in the agreement.

142. All stipulations for the allotment of any part of the wages of a seaman during his absence, which are made at the commencement of the voyage, shall be inserted in the agreement, and shall state the amounts and times of the payments to be made. All allotment-notes shall be in forms sanctioned by the Local Government, and shall be made for the benefit only of a relative of the seaman or some member of his family to be named in the note, and shall be payable to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office on account of such relative of the seaman or member of his family. Such allotment shall not in any case exceed one third of the wages of the seaman.

Allotment-notes.

113. The owner or any agent who has authorized the drawing of an allotment-note shall pay to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office on demand the sums allotted by the note, when and as the same are made payable, unless the seaman is shown in manner hereinafter mentioned to have forfeited or ceased to be entitled to the wages out of which the allotment is to be paid.

Owner, &c., to pay to Superintendent the sums allotted.

In the event of such sums not being paid to the Superintendent of a Mercantitle Marine Office on demand, the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office may sue for and recover them with costs. The seaman shall be presumed to be duly earning his wages, unless the contrary is shown to the satisfaction of the Court or Magistrate, either by the official statement of the change in the crew caused by his absence, made and signed by the master, as by this Act is required, or by a duly certified copy of some entry in the official log-book to the effect that he has died or left the ship, or by a credible letter from the master of the ship to the same effect, or by such other evidence, of whatever description, as the Court or Magistrate trying the case considers sufficient to show satisfactorily that the seaman has ceased to be entitled to the wages out of which the allotment is to be paid.

Suits on allotment-notes. Evidence.

114. The Superintendent, on receiving any such sum as aforesaid shall pay it over to the person named in the allotment-note. All such receipts and payments shall be entered in a book, and all entries in the said book shall be authenticated by the signature of the Superintendent or his Deputy-Superintendent, and the said book shall be at all times open to the inspection of the parties concerned.

Receipts and payments by Superintendent on account of allotment-notes.

(c).—Discharge and Payment of Wages.

115. All seamen discharged from any foreign-going ship at any port in British India in whatever part of Her Majesty's dominions the ship is registered shall be discharged and receive their wages in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office duly appointed under this Act, except in cases where some competent Court otherwise directs. And any master or owner of any such ship who discharges any seaman belonging thereto, or, except as aforesaid, pays his wages in any other manner, shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees. In the case of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, seamen may, if the owner or master so desires, be discharged and receive their wages in like manner.

Discharge from foreign-going ships to be made before Superintendent.

116. Every master shall, not less than twenty-four hours before paying off or discharging any seaman, deliver to him, or, if he is to be discharged before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, to such Superintendent, a full and true account, in a form sanctioned by the Local Government, of his wages and of all deductions to be made therefrom on any account whatever, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees. No deduction from the wages of any seamen (except in respect of any matter happening after such delivery) shall be allowed unless it is included in the account so delivered. The master shall during the voyage enter the various matters in respect of which such deductions are made with the amounts of the respective deductions as they occur, in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall, if required, produce such book at the time of the payment of wages and also upon the hearing before any competent authority of any complaint or question relating to such payments.

Master to deliver account of wages.

117. Upon the discharge of any seaman or upon payment of his wages, the master shall sign and give him a certificate of his discharge, in a form sanctioned by the Local Government, specifying the period of his service and the time and place of his discharge. If any master fails to sign and give to any such seaman such certificate of discharge, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees. The master shall also, upon the discharge of every certificated mate whose certificate of competency or service has been delivered to and retained by him, return such certificate, and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees.

On discharge, masters to give seamen certificates of discharge, and return certificates of competency or service to mates.

Leaving Seamen in British India.

118. Whenever any British ship is transferred or disposed of at any place in British India, and any seaman or apprentice belonging thereto does not, in the presence of such officer as the Local Government shall appoint, signify his consent in writing to complete the voyage if continued, the master shall give to each such seaman or apprentice a certificate of discharge in the form sanctioned by the Local Government, and, in the case of any certificated mate whose certificate he has retained, shall return such certificate to him, and shall also, besides paying the wages to which such seaman or apprentice is entitled, either provide him with adequate employment on board some other British ship bound to the port in Her Majesty's dominions at which he was originally shipped, or to such other port in the United Kingdom as is agreed upon by him, or furnish the means of sending him back to such port, or provide him with a passage home, or deposit with such officer as aforesaid such a sum of money as is by such officer deemed sufficient to defray the expenses of his subsistence and passage home; and such officer shall indorse upon the agreement of the ship which the seaman or apprentice is leaving, the particulars of such payment, provision, or deposit. If the master refuse or neglects to comply with the requirements of this Section, such expenses as last aforesaid, if defrayed by such officer shall, unless such seaman or apprentice has been guilty of barratry, be a charge upon the ships to which such seaman or apprentice belonged and upon the owner for the time being thereof, and may be recovered against such owners, with costs, at the suit of the officer defraying such expenses, or, in case the same has been allowed to the officer out of the public monies, as a debt due to the Secretary of State for India, either by ordinary process of law, or in the manner in which seaman are hereby enabled to recover wages: and such expenses, if defrayed by the seaman or apprentice, shall be recoverable as wages due to him.

On discharge of seamen abroad by sale of ship or otherwise, certificates of discharge to be given, and seamen to be sent home at expense of owner.

No seamen to be discharged or left in British India without certificate of a Superintendent.

149. If the master of any British ship does any of the following things; (that is to say):—

(1.) Discharges any seaman or apprentice shipped out of British India in any place situate in British India without previously obtaining the sanction in writing indorsed on the agreement of some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, or (in the absence of any such functionary) of the chief officer of Customs resident at or near the place where the discharge takes place:

(2.) Leaves behind any seaman or apprentice at any place situate in British India on any ground whatever, without previously obtaining a certificate in writing so indorsed as aforesaid from such Superintendent as aforesaid, stating the fact and the cause thereof, whether such cause be unfitness or inability to proceed to sea, or desertion, or disappearance:

He shall for each such default be liable to be punished with imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or with fine or with both, and the said Superintendent shall examine into the grounds of such proposed discharge, or into the allegation of such unfitness, inability, desertion, or disappearance, as aforesaid, in a summary way, and may for that purpose, if they think fit so to do, administer oaths, and may either grant or refuse such sanction or certificate as appears to them to be just.

Proof of such certificate to be upon the master.

150. Upon the trial of any proceeding against any person for discharging or leaving behind any seaman or apprentice contrary to the provisions of this Act, it shall lie upon such person either to produce the sanction or certificate hereby required, or to provide that he had obtained the same previously to having discharged or left behind such seaman or apprentice, or that it was impracticable for him to obtain such sanction or certificate.

Wages to be paid when seamen are left behind on ground of inability.

151. Every master of any British ship who leaves any seaman or apprentice on shore at any place in British India under a certificate of his unfitness or inability to proceed on the voyage, shall deliver to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office a full and true account of the wages due to such seaman or apprentice, and shall pay the same either in money or by a bill drawn upon the owner; and in the case of every bill so drawn, such Superintendent shall by indorsement certify thereon that the same is drawn for money due on account of a seaman's wages, and shall also indorse the amount for which such bill is drawn, with such further particulars in respect of the case as the Board of Trade requires, upon the agreement of the ship; and every such master as aforesaid who refuses or neglects to deliver a full account of such wages, and pay the amount thereof in money or by bill, as hereinbefore required, shall for every such offences or default be liable, in addition to the payment of the wages, to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees; and every such master who delivers a false account of such wages shall for every such offence, in addition to the payment of the wages, incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Such wages to be treated as money due to the seamen, subject to payment of expense of their subsistence and passage home.

152. Every such payment as last aforesaid, whether by bill or in money, shall, if made in British India, be made to the seaman or apprentice himself.

Distressed seamen found abroad may be relieved and sent home at the public expense.

153. The Local Government shall provide for the subsistence of all seamen or apprentices, being subjects of Her Majesty, who have been shipwrecked, discharged, or left behind at any place in British India, whether from any ship employed in the merchant service or from any of Her Majesty's ships, or who have been engaged by any person acting either a principal or agent to serve in any ship belonging to any foreign power or to the subject of any foreign State, and who are in distress in any place in British India, until such time as they are able to provide them with a passage home, and for that purpose shall cause such seamen or apprentices to be put on board some ship belonging to any subject of Her Majesty bound to any port of the United Kingdom, or to the British possession to which they belong (as the case requires), which is in want of men to make up its complement, and in default of any such ship shall provide them with a passage home as soon as possible in some ship belonging to a subject of Her Majesty so bound as aforesaid, and shall indorse on the agreement of any ship on board of which any seaman or apprentice is so taken or sent, the name of every person so sent on board thereof, with such particulars concerning the case as the Board of Trade requires,

Master of British ships compelled to take them.

154. The master of every British ship so bound as aforesaid shall receive and afford a passage and subsistence to all seamen or apprentices whom he is required to take on board his ship under the provisions hereinbefore contained, not exceeding one for every fifty tons burden, and shall during the passage provide every such seaman or apprentice with a proper berth or sleeping place, effectually protected against sea and weather; and if any person having charge of any such ship fails or refuses to receive on board his ship, or to give a passage home, or subsistence to or to provide for any such seaman or apprentice as aforesaid, contrary to the provisions of this Act, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees for each seaman or apprentice with respect to whom he makes such default or refusal.

Powers of Superintendent.

Superintendent may decide questions which parties refer to him.

155. Every Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office shall hear and decide any question whatever between a master or owner and any of his crew which both parties agree in writing to submit to him; and every award so made by him shall be binding on both parties, and shall in any legal proceeding which may be taken in the matter before any Court or Magistrate, be deemed to be conclusive as to the rights of the parties, and any document purporting to be such submission or award shall be primâ facie evidence thereof. An award made by a Superintendent under this Section may be enforced by a Magistrate in the same manner as an order for the payment of wages made by such Magistrate under the provisions of Section 167.

Enforcement of award.

Masters and others to produce ship's papers to Superintendent and give evidence.

156. In any proceeding relating to the wages, claims, or discharge of any seaman carried on before any Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office under the provisions of this Act, such Superintendent may call upon the owner or his agent or upon the master or any mate or other member of the crew, to produce any log books, papers, or other documents in their respective possession or power relating to any matter in question in such proceeding, and may call before him and examine any of such persons being then at or near the place on any such matter. Every owner, agent, master, mate or other member of the crew who, when called upon by the Superintendent, does not produce any such paper or document as aforesaid if in his possession or power, or does not appear and give evidence, shall, unless he shows some reasonable excuse for such default, for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees.

Rules as to settlement of wages.

157. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the settlement of wages; (that is to say):—

Released to be signed before and attested by the Superintendent.

(1.) Upon the completion before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office of any discharge and settlement, the master or owner and each seaman shall respectively, in the presence of the Superintendent, sign, in a form sanctioned by the Local Government, a mutual release of all claims in respect of the past voyage or engagement, and the Superintendent shall also sign and attest the release and shall retain the same:

To be a charge.

(2.) Such release so signed and attested shall operate as a mutual discharge and settlement of all demands between the parties thereto in respect of the past voyage or engagement:

And to be evidence.

(3.) A copy of such release certified under the hand of such Superintendent to be a true copy, shall be given by him to any party thereto requiring the same, and such copy shall be receivable in evidence upon any future question touching such claims as aforesaid, and shall have all the effect of the original of which it purports to be a copy:

No other receipt to be a discharge.

(4.) In cases in which discharge and settlement before the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office are hereby required, no payment, receipt, settlement or discharge otherwise made shall operate or be admitted as evidence of the release or satisfaction of any claim:

Voucher to be given to master and to be evidence.

(5.) Upon any payment being made by a master before the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, the Superintendent shall, if required, sign and give to such master a statement of the whole amount so paid, and such statement shall, as between the master and his employer, be received as evidence that he has made the payments therein mentioned.

Superintendent may withhold sanction to discharge.

158. It shall be lawful for the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office to withhold his sanction to the discharge of any seaman or apprentice in any place situate in British India, although both the seaman or apprentice and the master consent to such discharge, whenever the Superintendent shall not be satisfied that the seaman or apprentice is sufficiently provided with the means of subsistence in such place.

(d.)—Legal Rights to Wages.

Right to wages and provisions when to begin.

159. A seaman's right to wages and provisions shall be taken to commence either at the time at which he commences work, or at the time specified in the agreement for his commencement of work or presence on board, whichever first happens.

Seamen not to give up certain rights.

160. No seaman shall by any agreement forfeit his lien upon the ship, or be deprived of any remedy for the recovery of his wages to which he would otherwise have been entitled; and every stipulation in any agreement inconsistent with any provision of this Act, and everp stipulation by which any seaman consents to abandon his rights to wages in the case of the loss of the ship, or to abandon any right which he may have or obtain in the nature of salvage, shall be wholly inoperative. Nothing contained in the former part of this Section shall apply to the case of any stipulation made by the seamen belonging to any ship, which, according to the terms of the agreement, is to be employed on salvage-service, with respect to the remuneration to be paid to them for salvage-services to be rendered by such ship to any other ship or ships.

Salvage services.

Wages not to be dependent on the earning of freight.

161. No right to wages shall be dependent on the earning of freight. Every seaman and apprentice who would be entitled to demand and recover any wages, if the ship in which he has served had earned freight, shall, subject to all other rules of law and conditions applicable to the case, be entitled to claim and recover the same notwithstanding that freight has not been earned; but in all cases of wreck or loss of the ship, proof that he has not exerted himself to the utmost to save the ship, cargo, and stores shall bar his claim.

In case of death, such wages to be paid as aftermentioned.

162. If any seaman or apprentice to whom wages are due under the last preceding Section dies before the same are paid, they shall be paid and applied in the manner hereinafter specified with regard to the wages of seamen who die during a voyage.

Right to wages in case of termination of service by wreck or illness.

163. In cases where the service of any seaman terminates before the period contemplated in the agreement, by reason of the wreck or loss of the ship, and also in cases where such service terminates before such period as aforesaid by reason of his being left on shore at any place abroad under a certificate of his unfitness or inability to proceed on the voyage, granted under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, such seaman shall be entitled to wages for the time of service prior to such termination as aforesaid, but not for any further period.

Wages not to accrue during refusal to work or imprisonment.

164. No seaman or apprentice shall be entitled to wages for any period during which he unlawfully refuses or neglects to work when required, whether before or after the time fixed by the agreement for his beginning work; nor, unless the Court or Magistrate hearing the case otherwise directs, for any period during which he is lawfully imprisoned for any offence committed by him.

Period within which wages are to be paid.

165. The master or owner of every ship shall pay to every seaman his wages within three days after the cargo has been delivered, or within five days after the seaman's discharge, whichever first happens. The seaman shall, at the time of his discharge, be entitled to be paid on account a sum equal to one-fourth part of the balance due to him. Every master or owner who neglects or refuses to make payment in manner aforesaid without sufficient cause, shall pay to the seaman a sum not exceeding the amount of two day's pay for each of the days not exceeding ten days during which payment is delayed beyond the respective periods aforesaid, and such sum shall be recoverable as wages.

Wages payable in foreign coin to be recoverable at par in the current coin of India.

166. When any monies are payable in British India to any seaman or apprentice for wages or otherwise, under any agreement wherein such monies are expressed to be payable in some denomination of coin other than the current coin of the port or place wherein the same have become payable, the seaman or apprentice shall be entitled to demand and recover, in the current coin of such port or place, the amount due to him estimated according to the established par value of the coin wherein the same is so expressed to be payable.

Seamen may sue summararily before any Magistrate for wages not exceeding 500 rupees.

167. Any seaman or apprentice, or any person duly authorized on his behalf, may sue, in a summary manner, before any Magistrate acting in or near to the place at which the service has terminated, or at which the seaman or apprentice has been discharged, or at which any person upon whom the claim is made is or resides, for any amount of wages due to such seaman or apprentice not exceeding five hundred rupees. Every order made by such Magistrate in the matter shall be final.

Order of Magistrate to be final.

Levy of wages by distress.

168. When an order for the payment of wages is made by a Magistrate under the last preceding Section, and the wages are not paid at the time and in the manner prescribed, the sum mentioned in the order, with such further sum as may be thereby awarded for costs, shall be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the person directed to pay the same, under a warrant to be issued for that purpose by the Magistrate.

No suit for wages under 500 rupees to be instituted in Admiralty Court, &c., except in certain cases.

169. No suit or proceeding for the recovery of wages under the sum of five hundred rupees shall be instituted by or on behalf of any seaman or apprentice in any Court of Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty, or in any Court of Civil Judicature other than the Court of Small Causes, where such Court exists, unless the owner of the ship is adjudged, bankrupt or declared insolvent, or unless the ship is under arrest, or is sold by the authority of any such Court, or unless the Magistrate, acting under the authority of this Act, refers the case to be adjudged by such Court.

Master to have same remedies for wages as seamen.

170. Every master of a ship, whether British or foreign, shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens and remedies for the recovery of his wages (subject to all just deductions) which by this Act or by any law or custom any seaman, not being a master, has for the recovery of his wages; and if in any proceeding in any Court of Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty touching the claim of a master to wages, any right of set-off, or counter-claim is set up, it shall be lawful for such Court to enter into and adjudicate upon all questions, and to settle all accounts then arising or outstanding and unsettled between the parties to the proceeding, and to direct payment of any balance which is found to be due.

Explanation.—A master is entitled, under this Section and Section 165 to double pay for the number of days (not exceeding ten) during which the payment of his wages is improperly withheld; but he is not so entitled if he himself causes the delay by improperly keeping back the accounts of the ship.

Chapters 3 and 4 of Part III not to effect certain agreements.

171. Nothing in Chapters III and IV of this Part shall be deemed to affect the provisions of any agreement to serve as an engineer or as a steward entered into in the United Kingdom by any person not a Native of India: provided that the period of service shall not exceed five years from the date of the agreement, and that the agreement shall contain a stipulation that if the service shall end at any port not in the United Kingdom, the engineer or steward shall be provided with a passage to such port in the United Kingdom as may be agreed on.

Chapter V.

Of the Wages and Effects of deceased Seamen.

Master to take charge of effects of deceased seamen.

172. Whenever a seaman or apprentice, on a voyage which is to terminate at any port in British India, dies during such voyage, the master shall take charge of all money, clothes and effects which he leaves on board, and shall enter in the official log-book a statement of the amount of money, and a description of the effects left by the deceased, and in case of a sale of such effects, the sum received for each article sold.

Effects and wages to be paid to Superintendent with full accounts.

173. The master shall, within forty-eight hours after his arrival at his port of destination in British India, deliver any such effects as aforesaid, and pay any money which he has taken charge of or received, and also the wages due to deceased, to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at such port, and shall give to such Superintendent an account of the effects, money, and wages so to be delivered and paid. No deductions claimed in such account shall be allowed unless verified, if there is an official log-book, by the entry therein hereinbefore required and also by such other vouchers (if any) as may be reasonably required by the Superintendent to whom the account is rendered.

Penalties for not taking charge of or accounting for such monies and effects.

174. If the master fails to take such charge of the money or other effects of a seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage, or to make such entries in respect thereof, or to make such payment or delivery, or to give such account as hereinbefore respectively directed, he shall be accountable for the money, wages, and effects of the seaman or apprentice to the Superintendent as aforesaid, and shall pay and deliver the same accordingly; and such master shall in addition incur a penalty not exceeding treble the value of the money or effects, or if such value is not ascertained, not exceeding five hundred rupees. All money, wages, and effects of any seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage shall be recoverable in the same Courts, and by the same modes of proceeding by which seamen are hereby enabled to recover wages due to them.

Wages and property of deceased seamen may be paid without probate.

175. When money or effects left by or due to any deceased seaman or apprentice are paid or delivered to a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, then, subject to such deductions for expenses incurred in respect of the seaman or apprentice, or of his said money and effects, as the Superintendent thinks proper to allow, the Superintendent may pay and deliver the said money and effects to any claimants who can prove themselves to the satisfaction of the said Superintendent shall be thereby discharged from all further liability in respect of the money and effects so paid and delivered; or if he think fit so to do, the Superintendent may require probate or letters of administration or (in the case of a Hindu, Muhammadan, Buddhist or other person exempted from the operation of the Indian Succession Act, 1865) a certificate under Act XXVII of 1860 (for facilitating the collection of debts on successions, and for the security of parties paying debts to the representatives of deceased persons), to be taken out, and thereupon pay and deliver the said money and effects to the legal representative of the deceased.

Disposal of wages and effects of deceased seamen, not claimed within one year.

176. In cases of wages or effects of deceased seamen or apprentices received by any Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, to which no claim is substantiated within one year from the receipt thereof by such Superintendent, it shall be the duty of the Superintendent to cause such effects to be sold and to pay the proceeds of the sale and the unclaimed wages into the public treasury.

If subsequent claim be made thereto.

If any subsequent claim is made to such money, and is established to the satisfaction of the Superintendent, the amount or so much as shall appear to be due to the claimant shall be paid out of the public treasury. If the claim is not established to the satisfaction of the Superintendent, the claimant may apply by petition in a summary way to the High Court of Judicature at Fort William, Madras or Bombay, as the case may be, and such Court, after taking evidence either orally or on affidavit, shall make such order on the petition as shall seem just:

Proviso.

Provided that, after the expiration of six years from the receipt of such wages or effects by the Superintendent, no such claim shall be entertained without the sanction of the Local Government.

Chapter VI.

Of the Provisions, Health, and Accommodation of Seamen.

Survey of provisions and water on complaint made.

177. Any three or more of the crew of any ship registered at, trading with or being at any port or place in British India, may complain to any Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office or other officer duly appointed in this behalf by the Local Government, that the provisions or water for the use of the crew are at any time of bad quality, unfit for use or deficient in quantity. Such officer may thereupon examine the said provisions or water or cause them to be examined; and if, on examination, such provisions or water are found to be of bad quality and unfit for use, or to be deficient in quantity, the person making such examination shall signify the same in writing to the master of the ship. If such master does not thereupon provide other proper provisions or water in lieu of any so signified to be of a bad quality and unfit for use, or does not procure the requisite quantity of any so signified to be insufficient in quantity, or uses any provisions or water which have been so signified as aforesaid to be of bad quality and unfit for use, he shall, in every such case, incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees. Upon every such examination as aforesaid, the officers making or directing the same shall enter a statement of the result of the examination in the official log, and shall send a report thereof to the Superintendent, and such report, if produced out of the custody of such Superintendent, shall be received in evidence in any legal proceeding.

Forfeiture for frivolous complaint.

178. If the officer to whom any such complaint as last aforesaid is made, certifies in such statement as aforesaid that there was no reasonable ground for such complaint each of the parties so complaining shall be liable to forfeit to the owner out of his wages a sum not exceeding one week's wages.

Allowance for short or bad provisions

179. In the following cases; (that is to say):—

(1). If, during a voyage, the allowance of any of the provisions which any seaman has by his agreement stipulated for is reduced (except in accordance with any regulations for reduction by way of punishment contained in the agreement, and also except for any time during which such seaman wilfully and without sufficient cause refuses or neglects to perform his duty or is lawfully under confinement for misconduct, either on board or on shore):

(2). If it is shown that any of such provisions are or have during the voyage been bad in quality, and unfit for use,

The seaman shall receive by way of compensation for such reduction or bad quality, according to the time of its continuance, the following sums, to be paid to him in addition to and to be recoverable as wages; (that is to say):—

(1). If his allowance is reduced by any quantity not exceeding one-third of the quantity specified in the agreement, a sum not exceeding three annas a day in the case of a European seaman or other person shipped on the same footing as a European seaman, or one anna a day in the case of a lascar or Native seaman:

(2). If his allowance is reduced by more than one-third of such quantity, six annas a day in the case of a European seaman or other person shipped on the same footing as a European seaman, or two annas a day in the case of a lascar or Native seaman:

(3). In respect of such bad quality as aforesaid, a sum not exceeding eight annas a day in the case of a European seaman or other person shipped on the same footing as a European seaman, or three annas in the case of a lascar or Native seaman:

But if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court or Magistrate trying the case, that any provisions, the allowance of which has been reduced, could not be procured or supplied in proper quantities, and that proper and equivalent substitutes were supplied in lieu thereof, such Court or Magistrate shall take such circumstances into consideration and shall modify or refuse compensation as the justice of the case may require.

Medicines, &c., to be provided and kept on board certain ships.

180. All foreign-going ships and all Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, shall have always on board a sufficient supply of medicines and appliances suitable for disease and accidents likely to happen on sea voyages, according to such scale as shall be from time to time issued by the Local Government with the approval of the Governor General of India in Council, and published at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay in the Gazettes; and in default thereof, the owner or master of every such ship shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees: Provided, however, that this Section shall not apply to ships navigating from the United Kingdom and coming within the provisions of Section 224 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854. Nothing herein contained shall interfere with a seaman's right to maintain a suit in respect of a special damage resulting to him from the breach of the duty imposed by this Section.

Proviso.

Masters to keep weights and measures on board.

181. Every master shall keep on board proper weights and measures for the purpose of determining the quantities of the several provisions and articles served out, and shall allow the same to be used at the time of serving out such provisions and articles in the presence of a witness whenever any dispute arises about such quantities, and in default shall for every offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Expense of medical attendance and subsistence in case of illness how to be defrayed.

182. Whenever the master or any seaman of any ship registered at any place in British India shall receive any hurt or injury in the service of the vessel, the expense of providing the necessary surgical and medical advice and attendance with medicines, and of his subsistence, until he shall be cured or shall be brought back to the port from which he was shipped or other port agreed upon, shall be defrayed, with the cost of his conveyance to such port, by the owner of the vessel without any deduction on that account from the wages of such master, officer, or seaman; and if paid by himself, may be recovered as part of his wages; and if paid or allowed out of any monies forming part of the revenues of British India, shall be a charge upon the ship, and may be recovered with full costs of suit by the Secretary of State for India in Council.

Place of shelter to be appropriated.

183. A place or places of shelter shall be provided below a well-caulked and substantial deck for the men engaged under this Act. Such place or places shall be so arranged as to allow for the men the following spaces:—

To European seaman.

(1.) For each European seaman or apprentice, or other person shipped on the same footing as an European seaman, nine superficial feet if the place be not less than six feet in height from deck to deck, or fifty-four cubic feet if the height from deck to deck be less than six feet:—

To lascars or Native seamen.

(2.) For each lascar or Native seaman, or other person shipped on the same footing as a lascar, four superficial feet, and if the place allotted be under the top-gallant forecastle, such forecastle deck shall be not less than four feet six inches above the one below it:

Place to be kept clear.

Every such place shall be kept free from stores or goods of any kind, not being the personal property of the crew in use during the voyage. If any such place in any ship is not in the whole sufficiently large to give such space for each seaman and apprentice as hereinbefore required, or is not properly caulked and in all other respects securely and properly constructed and well ventilated, the owner shall, for every such failure to comply with the provisions of this Section, incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees. If any such space as aforesaid is not kept free from goods and stores as aforesaid, the master shall, for every such failure to comply with the provisions of the Section, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Penalty if place be not properly constructed.

Penalty for not keeping space clear.

Superintendent may board any ship, and inspect provisions, &c.

184. The Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at any port in British India, or the Deputy Superintendent, may enter at any time on board of any ship upon which seamen have been shipped at such port, and inspect the provisions and water provided for the use of the crew, and the medicines and appliances and the accommodation for seamen prescribed by this Act or by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854. If on inspection the provisions or water are found to be of bad quality and unfit for use, or to be deficient in quantity, the Superintendent shall proceed as provided in Section 177, and the penalty prescribed in the said Section shall be incurred by any default of the master of the ship in respect of such provisions or water.

Procedure if provisions, &c., are found to be of bad quality.

Power to inspect ships alleged to be unseaworthy.

185. If any three or more of the crew of any ship being at any port or place in British India complain to any Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office or other officer duly appointed in this behalf by the Local Government, that such ship is unseaworthy, and that the master intends that the ship shall proceed on any voyage in an unseaworthy condition, the Local Government may appoint any person as an Inspector, with such remuneration as such Government shall think fit, to report to the Superintendent or other such officer whether or not the hull, boats and equipments of the ship are sufficient and in good condition. Every such Inspector may go on board the ship and may inspect the same or any part thereof or any of the boats or equipments thereof, not unnecessarily detaining or delaying her from proceeding on any voyage. Every person who wilfully impedes any such Inspector in the execution of his duty, shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees, and may be seized and detained by such Inspector or by any person whom the Inspector may call to his assistance until such offender can be conveniently taken before a Magistrate. If the Inspector finds that the hull, boats or equipments of the ship or any of them are or is not sufficient and in good condition, he shall give to the master or owner notice in writing, pointing out the deficiency, and also what is, in his opinion, requisite in order to remedy the same. Every notice so given shall be communicated in such manner as the Local Government may direct to the Collector of Customs at any port from which such ship may seek to clear; and no Collector to whom such communication is made shall clear such ship outwards or allow her to proceed to sea without a certificate under the hand of the said Inspector to the effect that the hull, boats and equipments of the ship are sufficient and in good condition. If the Inspector finds that there was no reasonable ground for such complaint, each of the persons so complaining shall be liable to forfeit to the owner out of his wages a sum not exceeding one week's wages.

Chapter VII.
Of Complaints by Seamen.

Seamen to be allowed to go ashore to make complaints to a Magistrate.

186. If any seaman or apprentice whilst on board any ship states to the master that he desires to make complaint to a Magistrate, an officer in command of any ship of Her Majesty, a Consular Officer, or a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office against the master or any of the crew, the said master shall, if the ship is then at a place where there is any such Magistrate, Naval or Consular Officer or Superintendent, so soon as the service of the ship will permit, and if the ship is not then at such a place, as soon after her first arrival at such a place as the service of the ship will permit, allow such seaman to go ashore, or send him ashore in proper custody, so that he may be enabled to make such complaint, and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Chapter VIII.
Of Protection of Seamen from Imposition.

Sale of and charge upon wages to be invalid.

187. No wages due or accruing to any seaman or apprentice shall be subject to attachment from any Court. Every payment of wages to a seaman shall be valid in law, notwithstanding any previous sale or assignment of such wages or of any incumbrance thereon. No assignment or sale of such wages, or of salvage made prior to the accruing thereof, shall bind the party making the same. No power of attorney or authority for the receipt of any such wages or salvage shall be irrevocable.

No debt exceeding three rupees to be recoverable till end of voyage.

188. No debt exceeding in amount three rupees, incurred by any seaman after he has engaged to serve, shall be recoverable until the service agreed for is concluded.

Penalty for overcharges by lodging-house-keepers.

189. If any person demands or receives from any seaman or apprentice payment in respect of his board or lodging in the house of such person for a longer period than such seaman or apprentice has actually resided or boarded therein, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Penalty for detaining seamen's effects.

190. If any person receives or takes into his possession or under his control any monies, documents, or effects of any seaman or apprentice, and does not return the same or pay the value thereof when required by such seaman or apprentice, subject to such deduction as may be justly due to him from such seaman or apprentice in respect of board or lodging or otherwise, or absconds therewith, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees. Any Magistrate may, besides inflicting such penalty by summary order, direct the amount or value of such monies, documents or effects, subject to such deduction as aforesaid, to be forthwith paid to such seaman or apprentice.

Persons not to go on board before final arrival of ship without permission.

191. Every person who not being in the service of Her Majesty, and not being duly authorized by law for the purpose, goes on board any ship about to arrive at the place of her destination before her actual arrival at the place of her discharge, without the permission of the master, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees. The master or person in charge of such ship may take any such person so going on board as aforesaid into custody, and deliver him up forthwith to any Police officer, to be by him taken before a Magistrate to be dealt with according to the provisions of this Act.

Penalty for solicitations by lodging-house-keepers.

192. If, within twenty-four hours after the arrival of any ship at any port in British India, any person then being on board such ship solicits any sea man to become a lodger at the house of any person letting lodgings for hire, or takes out of such ship any effects of any seaman except under his personal direction and with the permission of the master, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees.

Chapter IX.
Of Discipline.

Penalty for misconduct, endangering ship, or life or limb.

193. Any master of or any seaman or apprentice belonging to any ship registered at, trading with, or being at any port or place in British India, who by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness, does any act tending to the immediate loss, destruction, or serious damage of such ship, or tending immediately to endanger the life or limb of any person belonging to or on board of such ship, or who by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness, refuses or omits to do any lawful act proper and requisite to be done by him for preserving such ship from immediate loss, destruction or serious damage, or for preserving any person belonging to or on board of such ship from immediate danger to life or limb shall, for every such offence, be liable to simple or rigorous imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years.

Explanation.—To sustain a charge under this Section, it is not necessary that the act done or omitted should be followed by actual loss, destruction, or damage of the ship.

Admiralty Court in British India may in certain cases remove master and appoint a new master.

194. Any Court having Admiralty jurisdiction in British India may, upon application by the owner of any ship being within the jurisdiction of such Court, or by the part owner or consignee, or by the agent of the owner, or by any certificated mate, or by one-third or more of the crew of such ship, and upon proof on oath to the satisfaction of such Court that the removal of the master of such ship is necessary, remove him accordingly; and may also, with the consent of the owner or his agent, or the consignee of the ship, or if there is no owner or agent of the owner or consignee of the ship within the jurisdiction of the Court, then without such consent, appoint a new master in his stead, and may also make such order and may require such security in respect of costs in the matter as it thinks fit.

Court authorized to make enquiry into charges against masters, mates, and engineers, and to report to Local Government.

195. Every Court having Admiralty jurisdiction in British India, and the principal Court of ordinary Criminal Jurisdiction at every port in British India where there is no Court having Admiralty jurisdiction, may, upon application by the Advocate General of the Presidency in which such Court is situate, or by any of the applicants mentioned in Section 194, or by the Magistrate of the District as defined in the Code of Criminal Procedure, or by the master (when the charge is against a mate or engineer) investigate and try charges of incompetency or misconduct on the part of any master, mate, or engineer of any ship, who shall have obtained his certificate from the Board of Trade or from any Local Government, and make enquiry as to shipwreck or other casualties affecting ships, wherever such wreck or casualties may have occurred. If on such investigation it shall appear to any such Court as aforesaid that the loss or abandonment of or any serious damage to any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by the wrongful act or default of any such master, mate or engineer or that any such master, mate or engineer has been guilty of any gross act of misconduct, drunkenness, or tyranny, such Court may suspend, for such period as it shall think fit, or may cancel such certificate, whether of competency or service, of such master, mate or engineer, and the Court shall report the same to the Local Government within whose limits such Court is situated: Provided that no certificate shall be cancelled or suspended, unless a copy of the report, or a statement of the case upon which the investigation is made, shall have been furnished to the owner of the certificate before the commencement of the investigation.

Proviso.

Procedure of Court.

196. Every Court by which any investigation or trial is held under Section 195, shall, at the conclusion of the case or as soon afterwards as possible, state in open Court the decision to which they may have come with respect to cancelling or suspending certificates, and shall, whether the certificate has been granted by the Board of Trade or by a Local Government, send a full report upon the case with the evidence to the Local Government within whose limits the Court is situate; and shall also, if they determine to cancel or suspend any such certificate, forward the same to such Local Government with their report. The Local Government shall thereupon, in cases where the certificate has been granted by the Board of Trade, transmit the report and the evidence to such Board, and in cases where the certificate has been granted by another Local Government, transmit the report and the evidence to such Government; and, if the Court has determined to cancel or suspend the certificate, shall also forward the certificate to the Board of Trade or the other Local Government as the case may be.

Local Government may direct investigation in cases of incompetency and misconduct.

197. If the Local Government, on the information of any Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, or on any other ground, has reason to believe that any master, mate or engineer who has obtained a certificate of competency or service from such Government or from any other Local Government is, from incompetency or misconduct, unfit to discharge his duties, it may direct any Board or officer at or near to the place at which it may be convenient for the parties and witnesses to attend, to institute an investigation; and thereupon such Board or officer shall conduct the investigation into such charge of incompetency or misconduct, and shall, on the conclusion of the investigation, make a report upon the case to the Local Government which ordered the investigation.

Powers of Court, &c., in making enquiries.

198. For the purpose of any investigation under Section 195 or Section 197, the Court, Board or officer may summon the master, mate or engineer, as the case may be, to appear, and shall give him full opportunity of making a defence, either in person or otherwise, and may summon and examine witnesses, and may make such order with respect to the costs of such investigation, and may require such security for costs, as such Court, Board or officer may deem just. Every order in respect of costs under this Section may be enforced in like manner as a fine may be enforced by a Magistrate in the port where such investigation is held.

Local Government may cancel or suspend certificates in certain cases.

199. The Local Government may suspend or cancel the certificate (whether of competency or service) granted by such Government or by any other Local Government under Act No. I of 1859 or this Act, to any master, mate or engineer in the following cases; (that is to say):—

Loss, abandonment, or serious damage by default of master, mate or engineer.

(1.) If upon any investigation conducted under the provisions of Sections 255, 257 and 258, it is reported that the loss or abandonment of or serious damage to any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by his wrongful act or default :

Conviction of any offence.

(2.) If he is shown to have been convicted of any offence.

Master, mate or engineer to deliver up his certificate.

200. Every master, mate or engineer whose certificate is cancelled or suspended under the provisions of this Act, shall deliver it to the Superintendent of a Mercantitle Marine Office, or to such other person as the Court or the Local Government which cancelled or suspended the certificate shall direct ; and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees : Provided that, if the Local Government which cancels or suspends a certificate of a master, mate or engineer is not the Local Government that granted the same, the Local Government which so cancels or suspends the certificate shall report the proceedings and the fact of cancelment or suspension to the Local Government which granted such certificate : Provided also, that it shall be competent to any Local Government at any subsequent time to grant to any person whose certificate has been cancelled, a new certificate of the same or of any lower grade.

Penalty for not delivering it.

Report to other Local Governments.

Saving of powers vested in certain Admiralty Courts

201. Nothing contained in Sections 195 to 200 both inclusive, shall be held to affect the powers of removal vested by Section 240 of the Merchant Shipping Act of 1854, or Section 194 of this Act, in Courts having Admiralty jurisdiction in British India. The said powers may be exercised by the principal Court of ordinary Criminal jurisdiction at any port in British India where there is no Court having Admiralty jurisdiction, if the master or mate shall have received his certificate from any Local Government.

Same powers may be exercised by chief Criminal Court in British Indian Port, where there is no Admiralty Court.

Offences of seamen and apprentices, and their punishments.

202. Whenever any seaman who has been lawfully engaged or any apprentice to the sea-service commits any of the following offences, he shall be liable to be punished summarily by any person exercising the full powers of a Magistrate, or (in the case of an European British subject) by a Justice of the Peace in manner following ; (that is to say) :—

Desertion.

(1.) For desertion he shall be liable to simple or rigorous imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, and also to forfeit all or any part of the clothes and effects he leaves on board, and all or any part of the wages or emoluments which he has then earned ; and also, if such desertion takes place at any port or place not in British India, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit all or any part of the wages or emoluments he may earn in any other ship in which he may be employed until his next return to any port or place in British India, and to satisfy any excess of wages paid by the master or owner of the ship from which he deserts, to any substitute engaged in his place at a higher rate of wages than the rate stipulated so be paid to him :

Explanation.—"Desertion," as here used, means abandoning the ship without the intention of returning, and without just cause.

Neglecting or refusing to join, or to go to sea ; absence within twenty-four hours before sailing, and absence without leave.

(2.) For neglecting or refusing without reasonable cause to join his ship or to proceed to sea in his ship, or for absence without leave at any time within twenty-four hours of the ship's sailing from any port either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, or for absence at any time without leave and without sufficient reason from his ship or from his duty, not amounting to desertion or not treated as such by the master, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding ten weeks, with or without hard labour, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding the amount of two days' pay, and in addition for every twenty-four hours of absence, either a sum not exceeding six days' pay or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute :

Quitting without leave before ship is secured.

(3.) For quitting the ship without leave after her arrival at her port of delivery and before she is placed in security, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding one month's pay :

Act of disobedience.

(4.) For wilful disobedience to any lawful command, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding four weeks, with or without hard labour, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding two days' pay :

Continued disobedience.

(5.) For continued wilful disobedience to lawful commands or continued wilful neglect of duty, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labour, and alo at the discretion of the Court to forfeit for every twenty-four hours' continuance of such disobedience or neglect, either a sum not exceeding six days' pay or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute :

Assault on officers.

(6.) For assaulting any master or mate, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labour :

Combining to disobey.

(7.) For combining with any other or others of the crew to disobey lawful commands, or to neglect duty, or to impede the navigation of the ship, or the progress of the voyage, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labour :

Wilful damage and embezzlement.

(8.) For wilfully damaging the ship, embezzling, or wilfully damaging any of her stores or cargo, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum equal in amount to the loss thereby sustained, and also at the discretion of the Court to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labour :

Act of smuggling, causing loss to owner.

(9.) For any act of smuggling of which he is convicted and whereby loss or damage is occasioned to the master or owner, he shall be liable to pay to such master or owner such a sum as is sufficient to reimburse the master or owner for such loss or damage; and the whole or a proportionate part of his wages may be retained in satisfaction or on account of such liability, without prejudice to any further remedy.

Entry of offences to be made in official log, and to be read over, or a copy given to the offender: his reply, if any, to be also entered.

203. Upon the commission of any of the offences enumerated in the last preceding Section, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and shall be signed by the master, and also by the mate or one of the crew; and the offender, if still in the ship, shall, before the next subsequent arrival of the ship at any port, or if she is at the time in port, before her departure therefrom, either be furnished with a copy of such entry, or have the same read over distinctly and audibly to him, and may thereupon make such reply thereto as he thinks fit. A statement that a copy of the said entry has been so furnished, or that the same has been so read over as aforesaid, and the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall likewise be entered and signed in manner aforesaid. In any subsequent legal proceeding the entries hereinbefore required shall if practicable be produced or proved, and in default of such production or proof, the Court hearing the case may at its discretion refuse to receive evidence of the offence.

Seamen whom masters of ships are compelled to convey, and persons going to sea in ships without leave, to be subject to penalties for breach of discipline.

204. Every seafaring person whom the master of any ship is under the authority of this Act or any law compelled to take on board and convey, and every person who goes to sea in any ship without the consent of the master or owner or other person entitled to give such consent, shall, so long as he remains in such ship, be subject to the same laws and regulations for preserving discipline, and to the same penalties and punishments for offences constituting or tending to a breach of discipline, to which he would be subject if he were a member of the crew and had signed the agreement.

Master or owner may apprehend deserters without warrant.

205. Whenever, either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, any seaman or apprentice neglects or refuses to join, or deserts from or refuses to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is duly engaged to serve, or is found otherwise absenting himself therefrom without leave, the master or any mate, or the owner, ship's husband or consignee, may, with or without the assistance of Police officers, who are hereby directed to give the same if required, apprehend him without first procuring a warrant; and may thereupon in any case, and shall, in case he so requires and it is practicable, convey him before some Court capable of taking cognizance of the matter, to be dealt with according to law; and may for the purpose of conveying him before such Court detain him in custody for a period not exceeding twenty-four hours or such shorter time as may be necessary; or may, if he does not so require or if there is no such Court at or near the place, at once convey him on board. If any such apprehension appears to the Court before which the case is brought to have been made on improper or on insufficient grounds, or if it shall appear that any such neglect, refusal or absence was owing to a reasonable apprehension that the ship is in such a state or so loaded as to endanger the life of the seaman or apprentice, the master, mate, owner, ship's husband or consignee who makes the apprehension or causes the same to be made, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees; but such penalty, if inflicted, shall be a bar to any suit for false imprisonment in respect of such apprehension.

Deserters may be sent on board in lieu of being imprisoned.

206. Whenever any seaman or apprentice is brought before any Court on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join, or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, such Court may, if the master or the owner or his agent so requires, instead of committing the offender to prison, cause him to be conveyed on board for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or deliver him to the master or any mate of the ship, or the owner or his agent to be by him so conveyed, and may in such case order any costs and expenses properly incurred by or on behalf of the master or owner by reason of the offence to be paid by the offender, and if necessary to be deducted from any wages which he has then earned, or which by virtue of his then existing engagement he may afterwards earn.

Seamen imprisoned for desertion or breach of discipline, may be sent on board before termination of sentence.

207. If any seaman or apprentice is imprisoned on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join, or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, or of his having committed any other breach of discipline, and if during such imprisonment and before his engagement is at an end, his services are required on board his ship, any Magistrate may, at the request of the master or of the owner or his agent, cause such seaman or apprentice to be conveyed on board his said ship for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or to be delivered to the master or any mate of the ship, or to the owner or his agent, to be by him so conveyed notwithstanding that the termination of the period for which he was sentenced to imprisonment has not arrived. The officer in charge of the gaol in which such seaman or apprentice is confined, shall obey all orders given by a Magistrate under this Section.

Entries and certificates of desertion abroad to be copied, sent home, and admitted in evidence.

208. In all cases of desertion from any ship registered at a port or place in British India, while such ship is at any place out of British India, the master shall produce the entry of such desertion in the official log-book to the person or persons required by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, to endorse on the agreement a certificate of such desertion. Such person or persons shall thereupon make and certify a copy of such entry and also a copy of the said certificate of desertion. The master shall forthwith transmit such copies to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Officer at the port where such seaman was engaged, who shall, if required, cause the same to be produced in any legal proceeding. Such copies, if purporting to be so made and certified as aforesaid, shall in any legal proceeding relating to such desertion be received as evidence of the entries therein appearing.

Facilities for proving desertion so far as concerns forfeiture of wages.

209. Whenever a question arises whether the wages of any seaman or apprentice are forfeited for desertion, it shall be sufficient for the party insisting on the forfeiture to show that such seaman or apprentice was duly engaged in, or that he belonged to the ship from which he is alleged to have deserted, and that he quitted such ship before the completion of the voyage or engagement, or if such voyage was to terminate at any port or place in British India and the ship has not returned, that he is absent from her, and that an entry of the desertion has been duly made in the official log-book. Thereupon the desertion shall, so far as relates to any forfeiture of wages or emoluments under the provisions hereinbefore contained, be deemed to be proved, unless the seaman or apprentice can produce a proper certificate of discharge, or can otherwise show to the satisfaction of the Court that he had sufficient reasons for leaving his ship.

Explanation.—By desertion the wages for the whole voyage which was not completed at the time of the desertion are forfeited, but not the wages of any other completed voyage.

Costs of procuring imprisonment may to the extent of thirty rupees be deducted from wages.

210. Whenever, in any proceeding relating to seaman's wages, it is shown that any seaman or apprentice has in the course of the voyage been convicted of any offence by any competent tribunal and rightfully punished therefor by imprisonment or otherwise, the Court hearing the case may direct a part of the wages due to such seaman, not exceeding thirty rupees, to be applied in reimbursing any costs properly incurred by the master in procuring such conviction and punishment.

Ascertainment of amount of forfeiture when seamen contract for the voyage.

211. Whenever any seaman contracts for wages by the voyage, or by the run, or by the share, and not by the month or other stated period of time the amount of forfeiture to be incurred under this Act shall be taken to be an amount bearing the same proportion to the whole wages or share as the period hereinbefore mentioned in fixing the amount of such forfeiture (as the case may be) bears to the whole time spent in the voyage. If the whole time spent in the voyage does not exceed the period for which the pay is to be forfeited, the forfeiture shall extend to the whole wages or share.

Application of forfeitures.

212. All clothes, effects, wages and emoluments which under the provisions hereinbefore contained are forfeited for desertion, shall be applied in the first instance in or towards the re-imbursement of the expenses occasioned by such desertion to the master or owner of the ship from which the desertion has taken place, and may, if earned subsequently to the desertion, be recovered by such master, or by the owner or his agent, in the same manner as the deserter might have recovered the same if they had not been forfeited; and in any legal proceeding relating to such wages, the Court may order the same to be paid accordingly; and subject to such re-imbursement, the same shall be paid into the public treasury and carried to the account of Government. In all other cases of forfeiture of wages under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the forfeiture shall, in the absence of any specific directions to the contrary, be for the benefit of the master or owner by whom the wages are payable.

Questions of forfeiture may be decided in suits for wages.

213. Any question concerning the forfeiture or deductions from the wages of any seaman or apprentice, may be determined in any proceeding lawfully instituted with respect to such wages, notwithstanding that the offence in respect of which such question arises, though hereby made punishable by imprisonment as well as forfeiture, has not been made the subject of any criminal proceeding.

Penalty for false statement as to last ship or name.

214. If any seaman, on or before being engaged, wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of the name of his last ship or last alleged ship, or wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of his own name, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees. Such penalty may be deducted from any wages he may earn by virtue of such engagement as aforesaid, and shall, subject to re-imbursement of the loss and expenses (if any) occasioned by any previous desertion, be paid and applied in the same manner as other penalties payable under this Act.

Fines to be deducted from wages and paid to Superintendent.

215. Whenever any seaman commits an act of misconduct for which his agreement imposes a fine, and which it is intended to punish by enforcing such fine, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and a copy of such entry shall be furnished or the same shall be read over to the offender, and an entry of such reading over, and of the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall be made in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinbefore specified with respect to the offences against discipline specified in and punishable under this Act. Such fine shall be deducted and paid over as follows; (that is to say), if the offender is discharged at any port or place in British India, and the offence and other entries in respect thereof as aforesaid are proved, in the case of a foreign-going ship to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office before whom the offender is discharged, and in the case of a home-trade ship to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged, the master or owner shall deduct such fine from the wages of the offender and pay the same over to such Superintendent. If before the final discharge of the crew in British India, any such offender as aforesaid enters into any of Her Majesty's ships or is discharged at any place not in British India, and the offence and such entries as aforesaid are proved to the satisfaction of the officer in command of the ship into which he so enters, or of the Consular Officer, officer of Customs or other person by whose sanction he is so discharged, the fine shall thereupon be deducted as aforesaid, and an entry of such deduction shall then be made in the official log-book (if any) and signed by such officer or other person. On the return of the ship to British India, the master or owner shall pay over such fine, in the case of foreign-going ships to the Superintendent before whom the crew is discharged, and in the case of home-trade ships to the Superintendent at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged. If any master or owner neglects or refuses to pay over any such fine in manner aforesaid, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding six times the amount of the fine retained by him: Provided that no act of misconduct for which any such fine as aforesaid has been inflicted and paid shall be otherwise punished under the provisions of this Act.

Penalty for enticing to desert and harbouring deserters.

216. Every person who by any means whatever persuades or attempts to persuade any seaman or apprentice to neglect or refuse to join or proceed to sea in or to desert from his ship, or otherwise to absent himself from his duty, shall for each such offence, in respect of each such seaman or apprentice, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees. Every person who wilfully harbours or secretes any seaman or apprentice who has deserted from his ship, or who has wilfully neglected or refused to join or has deserted from his ship, knowing or having reason to believe such seaman or apprentice to have so done, shall for every such seaman or apprentice so harboured or secreted incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Penalty for obtaining passage surreptitiously.

217. Any person who secretes himself and goes to sea in any ship without the consent of either the owner, consignee or master, or of a mate or of any person in charge of such ship, or of any other person entitled to give such consent, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees, or be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding four weeks.

On change of masters, documents hereby required to be handed over to successor.

218. If during the progress of a voyage the master of any ship registered at any port or place in British India is superseded, or for any other reason quits the ship and is succeeded in the command by some other person, he shall deliver to his successor the various documents relating to the navigation of the ship and to the crew thereof which are in his custody; and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees. Such successor shall, immediately on assuming the command of the ship, enter in the official log a list of the documents so delivered to him.

CHAPTER X.

Of Official Logs.

Official logs to be kept in forms sanctioned by Local Government.

219. An official log-book of every ship registered at any port or place in British India, except home-trade ships of a burden not exceeding three hundred tons, shall be kept in a form sanctioned by the Local Government; and such official log may, at the discretion of the master or owner, either be kept distinct from the ordinary ship's log or united therewith, so that in all cases all the blanks in the official log be duly filled up.

Entries to be made in due time.

220. Every entry in every official log shall be made as soon as possible after the occurrence to which it relates, and if not made on the same day as the occurrence to which it relates shall be made and dated so as to show the date of the occurrence and of the entry respecting it; and in no case shall any entry therein in respect of any occurrence happening previously to the arrival of the ship at her final port of discharge be made more than twenty-four hours after such arrival.

Entries required in official log.

221. Every master of a ship for which an official log-book is hereby required, shall make or cause to be made therein entries of the following matters; (that is to say):

Convictions and punishments.

(1). Every legal conviction of any member of his crew and the punishment inflicted.

Offences.

(2). Every offence committed by any member of his crew for which it is intended to prosecute, or to enforce a forfeiture, or to exact a fine, together with such statement concerning the reading over such entry, and concerning the reply (if any) made to the charge, as required by Section 203:

Punishments.

(3). Every offence for which punishment is inflicted on board, and the punishment inflicted:

Conduct, &c., of crew.

(4). A statement of the conduct, character, and qualifications of each of his crew, or a statement that he declines to give an opinion on such particulars:

Illness and injuries.

(5). Every case of illness or injury happening to any member of the crew, with the nature thereof and the medical treatment adopted (if any):

Deaths on board.

(6). Every case of death happening on board, and of the cause thereof:

Births on board.

(7). Every birth happening on board, with the sex of the infant, and the names of the parents:

Marriages on board.

(8). Every marriage taking place on board, with the names and ages of the parties:

Quitting ship.

(9). The name of every seaman or apprentice who ceases to be a member of the crew, otherwise than by death, with the place, time, manner, and cause thereof:

Wages of men entering Navy.

(10). The amount of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's service during the voyage:

Wages of deceased seamen.

(11). The wages due to any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, and the gross amount of all deductions to be made therefrom:

Sale of deceased men's effects.

(12). The sale of the effects of any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, including a statement of each article sold and of the sum received for it:

Collisions.

(13). Every collision with any other ship, and the circumstances under which the same occurred.

Entries how to be signed.

222. The entries hereby required to be made in official log-books shall be signed as follows; (that is to say),—every such entry shall be signed by the master and by the mate or some other of the crew, and every entry of illness, injury, death or birth shall be also signed by the surgeon or medical practitioner on board (if any); and every entry of wages due to, or of the sale of the effects of, any seaman or apprentice who dies, shall be signed by the master and by the mate and some other member of the crew; and every entry of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's service shall be signed by the master and by the seaman, or by the officer authorized to receive the seaman into such service.

Penalties in respect of official logs.

223. The following offences in respect of official log-books shall be punishable as hereinafter mentioned; (that is to say):

(2). Every person who makes or procures to be made, or assists in making, any entry in an official log-book, in respect of any occurrence happening previously to the arrival of the ship at her final port of discharge in British India, more than twenty-four hours after such arrival, shall, for each such offence, incur a penalty not exceeding three hundred rupees.

(3). Every person who wilfully destroys or mutilates or renders illegible any entry in any official log-book, or who wilfully makes or procures to be made, or assists in making, any false or fraudulent entry or omission in any such log-book, shall, for each such offence, be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding one year.

Entries in official logs to be received in evidence.

224. All entries made in any official log-book as hereinbefore directed shall be received in evidence in any proceeding in any Court of Justice, subject to all just exceptions.

Official logs to be delivered to Superintendent on ship's arrival at port of destination in India.

225. The master of every foreign-going ship shall within forty-eight hours after the ship's arrival at her final port of destination in British India, or upon the discharge of the crew, whichever first happens, deliver to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office before whom the crew is discharged, the official log-book of the voyage; and the master or owner of every home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons shall, within twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and the 31st day of December in every year, transmit or deliver to some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in British India the official log-book for the preceding half year; and every master or owner who refuses or neglects to deliver his official log-book as hereby required, shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Official logs to be transmitted to Superintendent in case of transfer of ship and in case of loss.

226. If any ship ceases by reason of transfer of ownership or change of employment to fall within the operation of Section 219, the master or owner thereof shall, if such ship is then in any port in British India within one month, and if she is elsewhere within six months, deliver or transmit to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at the port to which the ship belonged, the official log-book duly made out to the time at which she ceased to be within such operation and in default shall, for each offence, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees; and if any ship is lost or abandoned, the master or owner thereof shall, if practicable, and as soon as possible, deliver or transmit to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at the port to which the ship belonged, the official log-book (if any) duly made out to the time of such loss or abandonment, and in default shall, for each offence, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees.

CHAPTER XI.

Hoisting Signals.

Master on arriving within signal distance of signal station to hoist the number of his vessel.

227. The master of every inward or outward bound vessel, on arriving within signal distance of any signal station established within the limits of any channel which may be made subject to the provisions of Act XXII of 1855 (for the regulation of Ports and Port-dues), shall, on the requisition of the pilot who may be in charge of the vessel, signify the name of the vessel by hoisting the number by which she is known, or by adopting such other means to this end as may be practicable and usual, and shall keep the signal flying until it be answered from the signal station.

Penalty for not hoisting signal.

228. Any master of a vessel arriving as aforesaid, who shall refuse or neglect to conform to the above rule, shall be liable on conviction, for each instance of refusal or neglect, to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Pilot to require the master to hoist signal.

229. Every pilot in charge of a vessel shall require the number of the vessel of which he is in charge to be duly signalled as provided under Section 227. When, on a requisition from the pilot to that effect, the master of a vessel not employed in the service of Government shall refuse to hoist the number of a vessel, or to adopt such other means of making her name known as may be practicable and usual, the pilot in charge of such vessel may, on arrival at the first place of safe anchorage, anchor the vessel in question and refuse to proceed on his course until the requisition shall have been complied with.

And if master refuses to do so, pilot may bring the vessel to anchor.

Punishment of pilot disobeying or conniving at disobedience to the provisions of this chapter.

230. Any pilot in charge of a vessel, who may be proved guilty of neglect to obey or of connivance with the master of such vessel in disobeying the provisions of this chapter, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees for each instance of neglect or connivance, and in addition shall be liable to dismissal from his appointment.

PART IV.

SAFETY AND PREVENTION OF ACCIDENTS.

CHAPTER I.

Boats for Sea-going Steam-vessels.

Rules as to boats and life-buoys.

231. The following rules shall be observed with respect to boats and life-buoys; (that is to say):—

(1). No steam-vessel (except steam-vessels used solely as steam-tugs) shall proceed to sea from any place in British India, unless she is provided, according to her tonnage, with boats duly supplied with all requisites for use, and not being fewer in number nor less in their cubic contents than the boats the number and cubic contents of which are specified in the third Schedule hereto annexed for the class to which such ship belongs:

(2). No steam-vessel carrying more than ten passengers shall proceed to sea from any place in British India, unless, in addition to the boats hereinbefore required, she is also provided with a life-boat furnished with all requisites for use, or unless one of her boats hereinbefore required is rendered buoyant after the manner of a life-boat:

(3). No such steam-vessel as last aforesaid shall proceed to sea unless she is also provided with two life-buoys. And such boats and life-buoys shall be kept so as to be at all times fit and ready for use: Provided, that the enactments with respect to boats and life-buoys herein contained shall not apply in any case in which a certificate has been duly obtained under the tenth Section of the "Passengers' Act, 1852."

Penalties on masters and owners, &c., neglecting to provide boats and life-buoys.

232. In any of the following cases; (that is to say):—

(2). If, in case of any of such boats or life-buoys being accidentally lost or injured in the course of the voyage, the master wilfully neglects to replace or repair the same on the first opportunity: or

(3). If such boats and life-buoys are not kept so as to be at all times fit and ready for use;

Then, if the owner appears to be in fault, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees, and if the master appears to be in fault, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Officers of Customs not to clear steam-vessels not complying with the above provisions.

233. No officer of Customs shall grant a clearance for any steam-vessel hereinbefore required to be provided with boats or with life-buoys, unless the same is duly so provided; and if any such steam-vessel attempts to go to sea without such clearance, any such officer may detain her until she is so provided.

Chapter II.

Regulations concerning Lights, Fog-Signals and Sailing Rules.

Owners and masters bound to obey regulations in force.

234. All owners and masters of ships shall be bound to take notice of all such regulations as may from time to time be in force, concerning lights, fog-signals, and steering and sailing rules, and shall, so long as the same continue in force, be bound to obey them, and to carry and exhibit no other lights and to use no other fog-signals than such as are required by the said regulations; and in case of wilful default, the master, or the owner of the ship if it appear that he was in such default, shall, for each occasion upon which such regulations are infringed, be liable to a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Chapter III.

Survey of Passenger Steamers.

Certain steam-vessels liable to be surveyed twice a year.

235. Every steam-vessel plying on the river Hooghly or on any of the rivers or waters of Bengal, or in the harbour of Bombay, or in any of the ports or harbours, or on any of the rivers and waters of the Presidency of Bombay, and every British steam-vessel plying between any British Indian ports, or between any British Indian port and any other port, shall be liable to be surveyed twice in every year, in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

Local Government to appoint one or more surveyors.

236. It shall be lawful for the Local Government to appoint a fit and proper person, or fit and proper persons to be a surveyor or surveyors for the purposes of this Chapter.

Authority to surveyors to go on board steamers for the purpose of surveying.

237. It shall be lawful for the said surveyors in the execution of their duties to go on board any steam-vessel liable to be surveyed under this Chapter, as soon as reasonably may be after the arrival of such steam-vessel in any port, harbour, river or water to which this Chapter applies, but not so as unnecessarily to hinder the loading or unloading of such steam-vessel, or to detain or delay her from proceeding on any voyage or service, and to inspect such steam-vessel or any part thereof and any of the machinery, equipments, or articles on board thereof. The owner, master, and officers serving on board of such vessel shall be bound to afford to the surveyors all reasonable facility for such inspection or survey, and to afford them all such information respecting such vessel and her machinery and equipments, or any part thereof respectively, as may be reasonably required by the surveyors. Any person who shall refuse access to the surveyors, or shall otherwise hinder them in the performance of their duty, or shall refuse or neglect to give any information which may reasonably be required of them and which they have it in their power to give, shall be liable for each offence to a penalty of five hundred rupees, or to one month's imprisonment.

Penalty for hindering them in making the survey, or withholding required information.

Surveyors to grant certificate and declaration when they can with propriety do so.

238. When any survey is made under this Chapter, the surveyors making such survey shall forthwith, if satisfied that they can with propriety do so, and on payment by the owner or master of the fees hereinafter mentioned, give to the owner or master of the steam-vessel surveyed a certificate and declaration signed by them and framed as nearly as the circumstances of each case will admit in the form set forth in the fourth Schedule to this Act.

No clearance to be given to a steamer for a voyage for which she has not got a certificate from the surveyors.

239. No officer of Customs shall grant a clearance, nor shall any pilot be assigned to any steam-vessel liable to be surveyed under this Chapter, which shall not have been duly furnished with a certificate and declaration under the provisions of this Chapter, applicable to the voyage on which she is about to proceed or the service on which she is about to be employed. If any steam-vessel liable to be surveyed under this Chapter shall leave or attempt to leave any port, harbour river or water to which this Chapter applies, without such certificate and declaration applicable to the voyage on which she is about to proceed or the service on which she is about to be employed, the owner or master of such steam-vessel shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees for each offence; and if there be any officer of Customs or any pilot on board of such steam-vessel, he may detain her until she is duly furnished with such certificate and declaration.

Master or officer who is a licensed pilot attempting to take his ship out of port without a proper certificate liable to lose his license.

240. If the commander or any other officer of a tug-steamer or of any other steam-vessel liable to be surveyed under this Chapter, is a licensed pilot, and shall leave or attempt to leave any such port, harbour, river or water, in such tug steamer or steam-vessel without such tug-steamer or steam-vessel being duly furnished with a certificate and declaration under the provisions of this Chapter, applicable to the voyage on which she is about to proceed or the service on which she is about to be employed, such commander or other officer shall be liable to have his license as a pilot taken away from him entirely, or suspended for any period by the Local Government as to such Government may seem fit.

Special survey may be ordered by Government of any British steamer in port.

241. It shall be lawful for the Local Government to give special directions to the surveyors under this Chapter for the survey by them of any British steamer lying in any such port, harbour, river or water and plying between any port in British India and any port or ports whatever, and the provisions of this Chapter shall apply (so far as the same are in any way applicable) to every vessel so specially directed, to be surveyed, and the owner, master, and officers thereof.

Local Government may make rules as to mode and time of conducting survey.

242. The Local Government is hereby empowered to frame rules as to the manner in which the surveys shall be made, and the times and places of such surveys, and the duties of the surveyors: Provided that such rules shall not be inconsistent with the provisions of this Chapter.

Penalty for surveyor who receives fees, &c., for making a survey.

243. Any surveyor demanding or receiving directly or indirectly from the owner, master or officer of any ship surveyed by him under the provisions of this Chapter, any fee or remuneration otherwise than as provided by this Chapter shall be liable to dismissal in addition to any other penalty to which he may by law be liable.

Fees to be paid for every survey made.

244. For every survey made under this Chapter, the owner or master of the steam-vessel surveyed shall pay to the surveyors making the same, a fee calculated on the tonnage of the vessel according to the rates in the fifth Schedule to this Act.

Certificates to be always hung up in conspicuous part of vessel.

245. Each certificate and declaration granted by surveyors under this Chapter shall be hung up and remain at all times suspended in some conspicuous part of the vessel for which the same is granted, where the same may be easily read; and in default of compliance with this provision, every owner or master shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for each offence.

Certificate to be in force only six months: and to be delivered up when expired or revoked.

Proviso in case of vessels absent from port when certificate expires.

246. No certificate or declaration shall be held to be in force for the purposes of this Chapter after the expiration of six calendar months from the date thereof: Provided that, if any steam-vessel is absent when her certificate and declaration expire, no penalty shall be incurred for the want of a certificate and declaration, until she first begins to ply or is about to ply after her next subsequent return to any port, harbour, river or water to which this Chapter applies. And the Local Government, or any officer appointed by such Government for that purpose, may require any certificate and declaration which has expired or has been revoked or cancelled, to be delivered up as may be directed; and any owner or master or other person who, without reasonable cause, neglects or refuses to comply with such requirement, shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for each offence.

Certificate and declaration may be cancelled by Local Government.

247. The Local Government or any officer appointed or authorized by such Government for that purpose, may revoke and cancel any certificate and declaration granted under this Chapter in any case in which such Government or officer has reason to believe—

(1). That the certificate and declaration of the sufficiency and good condition of the hull, equipments, and machinery of any steam-vessel, or either of them, have or has been fraudulently or erroneously given or made: or

(2). That such certificate and declaration or either of them, have or has otherwise been issued upon false or erroneous information: or

(3). That since the giving and making of such certificate and declaration or either of them, the hull, equipments, or machinery of such ship have sustained any injury or are otherwise insufficient:

And in every such case the Local Government or such officer as last aforesaid may, if it or he thinks fit, require the owner or master to have such steam-vessel again surveyed as herein provided.

If the correctness of a survey is doubted, Local Government may order a second survey by other surveyors.

248. If any steam-vessel shall be surveyed under the provisions of this Chapter, and if the surveyors shall decline to give any certificate or declaration, or shall give a certificate or declaration with which the owner or master of the steam-vessel shall be dissatisfied, the Local Government may, on the application of such owner or master appoint two other competent surveyors to survey the said steam-vessel. The surveyors so appointed shall forthwith survey the said steam-vessel, and shall either decline to give any certificate and declaration, or shall give such certificate and declaration as under the circumstances may seem to them proper. Every survey made under this Section shall be made subject to all the provisions and rules both as to thepayment of fees and otherwise which are applicable to surveys made in ordinary cases under this Chapter. If the surveyors appointed under this Section unanimously refuse to give any certificate and declaration, or agree as to the terms of their certificate and declaration, such refusal or such certificate and declaration shall be final and conclusive; but if they do not agree, the refusal orignally made or the certificate and declaration originally granted by the surveyors who surveyed the said steam-vessel in the first instance, shall remain and be of full force and effect.

Fees how recoverable.

249. All fees due under this Chapter shall be recoverable in like manner as penalties are recoverable under this Act.

Surveyor acting alone included in term "Surveyors."

250. The word "Surveyors" as used in this Chapter shall be taken to include any surveyor acting alone when authorized so to do by the Local Government under the provisions of this Chapter, and the 'survey' of steam-vessels contemplated by any part of this Chapter shall be held to include a survey of such steamers' hull, rigging, machinery, boats, equipments, and other appurtenances.

CHAPTER IV.

Rules as to Passengers by Steamers.

Penalties on drunken or disorderly passengers.

251. The following offenders; (that is to say):—

Persistence of such passenger in attempt to enter.

(1). Any person who, being drunken or disorderly, has been on that account refused admission into any duly surveyed passenger steamer by the owner or any person in his employ, and who, after having had the amount of his fare (if he has paid the same) returned or tendered to him, nevertheless persists in attempting to enter such steamer:

Refusal of such passenger to quit ship.

(2). Any person who, being drunken or disorderly on board any such steamer, is requested by the owner or any persons in his employ to leave the same at any place in British India at which he can conveniently so do, and who, having had the amount of his fare (if he has paid the same) returned or tendered to him refuses to comply with such request:

On persons molesting passengers.

(3). Any person on board any such steamer who, after warning by the master or any other officer of the steamer, molests or continues to molest any passenger:

Penalties on persons forcing way on board the ship when full.

(4). Any person who, after having been refused admission into any such steamer by the owner or any person in his employ on account of such steamer being full, and who, after having had the full amount of his fare (if he has paid the same) returned or tendered to him, nevertheless persists in attempting to enter the same:

And on persons refusing to quit the ship when full.

(5). Any person, having got on board any such steamer, who, upon being requested on the like account by the owner or any person in his employ to leave such steamer before the same has quitted the place at which such person got on board, and who, upon having the full amount of his fare (if he has paid the same) returned or tendered to him, refuses to comply with such request.

Penalties for avoiding payment of fares.

(6). Any person who travels or attempts to travel in any such steamer without having previously paid his fare, and with intent to avoid payment thereof.

Proceeding beyond distance for which fare paid.

(7). Any person who, having paid his fare for a certain distance, knowingly and wilfully proceeds in any such steamer beyond such distance without previously paying the additional fare for the additional distance, and with intent to avoid payment thereof:

Refusal to quit on arrival at place to which fare paid.

(8). Any person who knowingly and wilfully refuses or neglects, on arriving at the point to which he has paid his fare, to quit any such steamer; and

Refusal to pay or show receipt.

(9). Any person on board any such steamer who does not, when required by the master or other officer of such steamer, either pay his fare or exhibit such ticket or other receipt (if any) showing the payment of his fare as is usually given to persons travelling by and paying their fare for such steamer;—

Shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees; but such liability shall not prejudice the recovery of any fare payable by him.

Penalty for injuring steamer or molesting crew.

252. Any person on board any such steamer, who wilfully does or causes to be done anything in such a manner as to obstruct or injure any part of the machinery or tackle of such steamer, or to obstruct, impede, or molest the crew or any of them in the navigation or management of such steamer, or otherwise in the execution of their duty upon or about such steamer, shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Manner of apprehending offenders.

253. It shall be lawful for the master or other officer of any duly surveyed passenger steamer, and for all persons called by him to his assistance, to detain any person who has committed any offence against any of the provisions of the two last preceding Sections of this Act, and whose name and address are unknown to such officer, and to convey such offender with all convenient despatch before some Justice without any warrant or other authority than this Act; and such Justice shall have jurisdiction to try the case, and shall proceed with all convenient despatch to the hearing and determining of the complaint against such offender.

Carrying dangerous Goods.

Provisions to prevent the taking dangerous goods on board without due notice.

254. No person shall be entitled to carry in any ship, or to require the master or owner of any ship to carry therein, any aqua-fortis, oil of vitroil, gunpowder, or any other goods which, in the judgment of such master or owner, are of a dangerous nature; and if any person carries or sends by any ship any goods of a dangerous nature, without distinctly marking their nature on the outside of the package containing the same, or otherwise giving notice in writing to the master or owner at or before the time of carrying or sending the same to be shipped, he shall, for every such offence, incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees; and the master or owner of any ship may refuse to take on board any parcel that he suspects to contain goods of a dangerous nature, and may require them to be opened to ascertain the fact.

Part V.

Of Enquiries into Wrecks.

Enquiry may be instituted in cases of wreck and casualty.

255. In any of the cases following; (that is to say):—

Whenever any ship, whether British or foreign, is lost, abandoned or materially damaged on or near the coasts of British India, the Red Sea, Persian Gulf, or any other coast which the Governor General of India in Council may from time to time declare, by notification in the Gazette of India, to be subject to the provisions of this Section:

Whenever any such ship causes loss or material damage to any other such ship on or near such coasts:

Whenever, by reason of any casualty happening to or on board of any such ship on or near such coasts, loss of life ensues:

Whenever any such loss, abandonment, damage, or casualty happens elsewhere to or on board any ship registered at any port or place in British India, under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, or under this Act:—

It shall be the duty of any civil officer of Government residing at or near the place where such loss, abandonment, damage or casualty occurred, if the same occurred in British India, but if elsewhere, at or near the place where such witnesses as hereinafter mentioned arrive or are found, to give notice of the same to the Local Government: It shall be lawful for the Local Government, whether such notice be given or not, if a formal investigation appears to it to be requisite or expedient, to appoint two persons to make the same. The investigation shall be held at such place as the Local Government shall deem best for the convenient examination of the witnesses. One of the persons to be so appointed, shall be such Magistrate as the Local Government shall select in this behalf, and the other may be any person conversant with maritime affairs.

Powers of Chief Commissioner of British Burmah, Commissioner in Sind, Residents at Aden and Bushire, and Consul at Zanzibar.

256. The powers vested in the Local Government by the last preceding Section may be exercised by Chief Commissioner of British Burmah, the Commissioner in Sind; the Political Residents at Aden and Bushire, and Her Majesty's Consul at Zanzibar.

Investigation.

257. The persons appointed shall proceed to make the investigation, and shall for that purpose, so far as relates to compelling the attendance of witnesses and the regulation of the proceedings, have the same powers as if the same were a proceeding relating to an offence or cause of complaint upon which such Magistrate has power to convict summarily, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

Report.

258. Upon the conclusion of the case, the persons appointed to investigate shall send a report to the Local Government containing a full statement of the case and of their opinion thereon, accompanied by such report of or extracts from the evidence, and such observations (if any) as they may think fit.

In case of wreck of foreign ship Consul to be deemed owner's agent.

259. Whenever any articles belonging to or forming part of any foreign ship which has been wrecked on or near the coast of British India, or belonging to or forming part of the cargo thereof, are found on or near such coast or are brought into any port in British India, any Consular Officer of the country to which such ship, or, in the case of cargo, to which the owners of such cargo may have belonged, authorized in that behalf by any treaty or agreement with such country, shall, in the absence of the owner of such ship or articles and of the master or other agent of the owner, be deemed to be the agent of the owner so far as relates to the custody and disposal of such articles.

Power to remove or destroy wrecks at sea.

260. In cases of emergency, the Local Government may at once remove or destroy any wreck, timber or raft floating or being in any part of the seas adjacent to the territories under such Government, and which shall in its opinion impede or endanger the free navigation of such seas. In cases not of an emergent nature the Local Government shall publish a notice in the official Gazette to the effect that if the wreck, timber or raft is not removed or destroyed within a time to be therein mentioned, the Local Government will itself remove or destroy such wreck, timber or raft; and the Local Government may on or after the expiration of such time remove or destroy the wreck, timber or raft accordingly; and the owner of any such wreck, timber or raft shall be liable to pay the reasonable expenses of such removal or destruction. The Local Government shall have power to declare what shall, for the purposes of this Section, be deemed to be a case of emergency and a wreck.

Recovery of expenses of such removal or destruction.

261. If the owner of any such wreck, timber or raft as last aforesaid shall neglect to pay the expense of the removal or destruction thereof within one week after demand, or within fourteen days after its removal or destruction shall have been notified in the official Gazette, such expenses may be recovered in the same manner as any penalty under this Act; and the Local Government may cause such wreck, timber or raft, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be sold by public auction, and may retain all the expenses of such removal and sale out of the proceeds of such sale; and shall pay the surplus of such proceeds, or deliver so much of the said wreck, timber or raft as shall remain unsold, to the owner or other person entitled to receive the same; and if no such person appear, shall cause the same to be kept and deposited in such manner as the Local Government shall direct, and may, if necessary, from time to time realize the expenses of keeping the same, together with the expenses of the sale next hereinafter mentioned, by a further sale of so much of the said wreck, timber or raft as may remain unsold.

PART VI.

OF PASSENGERS.

Chapter I.

Of Native Passengers.

What shall be deemed a Native Passenger Ship.

262. Every vessel carrying passengers being Natives of Asia or Africa, in a proportion greater than one passenger to every four tons of the burden of such vessel, which may make any of the following voyages:—

(a). From any Port or place within British India, to any port or place in the Red Sea or Persian Gulf:

(b). From any port or place in the Red Sea or Persian Gulf, to any port or place in British India:

(c). From any port or place in the Presidency of Fort St. George, or from Chittagong, or from any port in the province of Orissa, to any port or place on the eastern coast of the Bay of Bengal, or in the Straits of Malacca or in Ceylon:

(d). From any port or place on the eastern cost of the Bay of Bengal, or in the Straits of Malacca, to any port or place in the Presidency of Fort St. George, or to Chittagong, or to any port in the Provnice of Orissa:

(e). From any port or place in Ceylon, to any port or place in the Presidency of Fort St George:

(f). From or to such places in British India as the Governor General in Council shall from time to time appoint, to or from such places beyond the limits of British India as he shall from time to time appoint—

Shall be deemed a Native Passenger Ship within the meaning of this Chapter.

Native Passenger Ship to sail only from ports appointed by Local Government.

263. No Native Passenger Ship shall depart or proceed upon any voyage to which this Chapter extends, from any port or place within British India other than such ports or places as the Local Government may from time to time appoint; and after any Native Passenger Ship has departed or proceeded upon any such voyage from a port or place so to be appointed, no person whatsoever shall be received on board as a passenger, except at some other duly appointed port or place, and the master or tindal of any ship, who shall take on board passengers for such voyage from any other port or place in a greater proportion to the burden of the vessel than is mentioned in Section 262, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for each passenger embarked.

Native Passenger Ship not to sail without obtaining a certificate.

264. No Native Passenger Ship shall depart or proceed upon any such voyage from any port or place appointed under this Chapter, until the master shall have obtained a certificate from an officer authorized to grant the same. Provided that such certificates shall not be granted, except for vessels within the exceptions in Section 271, till vessels have been surveyed according to such directions as shall be given from time to time by the Local Government. The certificate shall describe the vessel, her tonnage and rig; the number of her boats, anchors and cables, and what instruments for the purpose of navigation she is supplied with; also the name of the owner and of the master or tindal and the number and composition of the crew; and shall specify the number of passengers she may carry, and the space to be assigned for their accomodation.

Appointment of officers.

265. The Local Government shall appoint such persons as it may deem proper to grant certificates, and to exercise and perform the other powers and duties conferred and imposed by this Chapter.

Quantity of provisions and water to be shipped.

266. Every Native Passenger Ship, at the time of departure from the port or place at which passengers shall be embarked under this Chapter, shall have on board good and wholesome provisions for the use and consumption of the passengers, over and above the victualling of the crew, to the amount or in the proportion following; that is to say, a supply of water to the amount of seven gallons to every week of the computed voyage for every passenger on board, such water being carried in tanks or sweet casks; and a supply of rice, flour, oatmeal, or bread-stuffs to the amount of seven pounds weight to every week of the computed voyage for every such passenger. Provided always that, when any such shall be destined to call at a port or place in the course of her voyage for the purpose of filling up her water-casks, a supply of water at the rate before mentioned for every week of an average voyage to such port or place of calling, shall deemed to be a compliance with this Chapter. The provision of this Section regarding food shall be deemed to have been complied with in any case where it shall appear that, by the special authority of the Local Government, any other articles of food were substituted for the articles above enumerated as being equivalent thereto.

Officer to be satisfied before giving certificate.

267. The officer aforesaid shall not give his certificate unless he shall be satisfied—

That the ship is sea-worthy.

(1.) That the ship is sea-worthy and properly manned, equipped, fitted and ventilated; and has not on board any cargo likely from its quality, quantity or mode of stowage, to prejudice the health or safety of the passengers:

That the space between-decks for passengers is sufficient.

(2.) That the space appropriated to the passengers in the between-decks contains at the least ten superficial and seventy-two cubic feet of space for every adult passenger on board; that is to say, for every passenger above twelve years of age, and for every two passengers between the ages of one year and twelve years:

That the space on the upper deck is sufficient.

(3.) That a space of four superficial feet per adult is left clear on the upper deck for the use of the passengers:

That there is a due supply of provisions.

(4.) That provisions, fuel and water have been placed on board, of good quality, properly packed and sufficient to supply the passengers on board during the declared duration of the intended voyage, according to such scale as shall be from time to time laid down by the Local Government and published in the Local Gazette:

(5.) And in the case of a ship of more than three hundred tons burthen, that she shall have on board a properly qualified European or Native surgeon, and such quantity and kinds of medicines as may from time to time be prescribed by the Local Government.

Master to give notice of day of sailing, &c.

268. The master of any Native Passengers Ship sailing from any port or place appointed under Section 263 shall give notice to the proper officer that the ship is to carry Native passengers, and of her destination, and of the proposed day of sailing. Such notice shall be given not less than three days before the proposed day of sailing.

Power to enter and inspect ship.

269. After receiving such notice, the officer aforesaid or any person authorized by him shall be at liberty at all times to enter and inspect the ship and the fittings, provisions and stores therein.

Ship may be surveyed.

270. The officer aforesaid may, if he think fit, cause the ship to be surveyed at the expense of the master by a competent surveyor, who shall report whether the ship is in his opinion sea-worthy and fit for her intended voyage.

Number of passengers.

271. No such ship shall carry any greater number of passengers than, together with the master and crew, shall amount to the proportion of two persons for every three tons of the registered or estimated tonnage of the ship: Except a ship

First exception.

proceeding in ballast from any part of the coast of the Gulf of Manaar or Palks Strait to any port or place in Ceylon, which may be licensed to carry a number of passengers not exceeding the proportion of two and a half to every ton of her burden: Provided that the whole of the space usually allotted for cargo and not occupied by ballast be kept for the accommodation of the passengers, and for storing the provisions and water for their use, and that the space left clear for the accommodation of the passengers on the deck or decks of the vessel be not less than four superficial feet for each passenger: And except a ship carrying

Second exception.

Native passengers between Chittagong and any port or place on the coast of Arracan, which may be licensed to carry a number of passengers not exceeding the proportion of two and a half to every ton of her burden subject to such regulations as the Government of Bengal may prescribe.

List o passengers.

272. The master of any such ship, before departing or proceeding on any such voyage from any port or place within British India, shall sign two lists, specifying (as accurately as may be) the names of all the passengers and stating the number of the crew; and shall deliver them to the officer aforesaid, who shall thereupon (after having first mustered the passengers and compared the number and names of such passengers with the lists) countersign and return to the master one of such lists. The master shall note in writing on such lastmentioned list and on any additional list to be made under Section 273, the date and supposed cause of death of any passenger who may die on the voyage, and shall forthwith, on the arrival of the ship at her destination or at any port in the said territories at which it may be proposed to land passengers and before any passengers are landed, produce the list with any additions thereto made, to any person lawfully exercising consular authority on behalf of Her Majesty at the port of arrival if it be a foreign port, or to the chief officer of Customs or the officer (if any) appointed under this Chapter at any port or place within British India at which it shall be intended to land the passengers or any of them.

Ship taking additional passengers and touching at intermediate port.

273. If, after the ship shall have departed or proceeded on any such voyage, any additional passengers are taken on board at a port or place within British India appointed under this Chapter for the embarkation of passengers, or if such ship shall upon her voyage touch or arrive at any such port, having previously received on board additional passengers at any place out of British India, the master shall obtain a fresh certificate from the officer at such port, and lists of all such additional passengers shall be made; and all the provisions hereinafter contained in that behalf shall be applicable to any certificate to be granted, or any list to be made under this Section.

Information to be transmitted to ports of embarkation.

274. The chief officer of Customs or the officer (if any) appointed under this Act, at any port or place within British India at which the ship shall touch or arrive shall, with advertence to the requirements of this Chapter, transmit any particulars which he may deem important respecting the ship and the passengers conveyed therein, to the officer at the port from which the ship commenced her voyage, and also to the officer at any other port in British Indian where the passengers or any of them embarked.

Report of Consul, &c., to be admissible in evidence.

275. In any proceeding for the adjudication of any penalty incurred under this Chapter, any document purporting to be a report of such particulars as are referred to in the last preceding Section, or a copy of the proceedings of any Court of Justice duly authenticated, and also any like document purporting to be made and signed by any person lawfully exercising Consular authority on behalf of Her Majesty in any foreign port, shall be received in evidence, if the same appears to have been officially transmitted to any officer at or near the place where the proceeding under this Chapter is had.

Length of voyage to be fixed by proclaimation.

276. It shall be lawful for the Local Government, by any proclamation to be from time to time issued for that purpose and published in the Gazette or in one of the public newspapers, to declare what shall be deemed, for the purposes of this Chapter, the duration of the voyage of any Native passenger ship from any port or place to any other port or place.

Penalty for breach of provisions in Sections 263 and 264.

277. If any Native passenger ship departs or proceeds upon a voyage from any port or place within British India, or if any person is received as a passenger on board a Native passenger ship, in contravention of the provisions of Sections 263 and 264, the owner or master shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees for every passenger conveyed on a ship unlawfully departing or proceeding on such voyage, or for every passenger unlawfully received on board; and the ship, if found within two years in any place within British India, may be seized and detained by any chief officer of Customs until the penalties incurred under this Chapter have been adjudicated, and the payment thereof with all costs have been enforced under the provisions of Section 290.

Power to enter and inspect ship.

278. Any person impeding or refusing to allow such entry or inspection as provided under Section 269 shall be liable on conviction to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees for each offence.

Penalty on master of licensed vessel.

279 The master or tindal of any certificated vessel which shall carry on any such voyage a greater number of passengers than is specified in the certificate, or in which the accommodation therein required shall not be afforded, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for each passenger in excess of such number, or for each passenger who is not provided with accommodation agreeably to the certificate. In case of non-compliance with any of the requirements of this Chapter as to the list of passengers, or if any false entry be made in any such list as aforesaid, the master or tindal shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees for each offence.

Penalty on ships bringing excessive number of passengers from Red Sea or Persian Gulf to Indian ports.

280. If any ship bringing Native passengers from any port or place in the Red Sea or Persian Gulf, or from any foreign European settlement situate on the coast of British India, to any port or place in British India, shall have on board a greater number of passengers or persons than in the proportion prescribed by this Chapter, the master or tindal of such ship shall, in addition to any other penalty which he may have incurred under the provisions of this Chapter, be liable on conviction to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for each person in excess of such proportion.

Penalty for fraudulent alteration in ship after certificate obtained.

281. If any master of a ship, after having obtained a certificate under Section 264 or Section 273, shall fraudulently do or suffer to be done any act or thing whereby such certificate shall be come inapplicable to the altered state of the ship, its passengers or other matters to which such certificate relates, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two thousand rupees.

Penalty for omitting to supply passengers with prescribed allowance of food and water.

282. The master or tindal of any vessel licensed to carry passengers as aforesaid, who shall wilfully and without satisfactory excuse omit to supply to every passenger the prescribed allowance of food and water shall be liable for such omission to a fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every passenger who has suffered privation thereby.

Penalty for landing passengers at a place other than that at which they have contracted to land.

283. If any Native passenger in any ship upon any voyage under this Chapter shall be landed at any port or place other than the port or place at which he may have contracted to land, unless with his previous consent, or unless such landing is made necessary by perils of the sea or other unavoidable accident, the master shall for each offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Native passengers' right of suit preserved.

284. Nothing in this Chapter shall take away or abridge any right of suit which may accrue to any Native passengers or to any other person, in respect of the breach or non-performance of any contract made with the master or owner of the ship or his agent. Nothing hereinbefore contained in this Chapter shall apply to any ship under contract with the Government of ony European State, nor to any sea-going steam vessel regularly employed in the conveyance of the public mails under a contract, nor to any passenger steamer certified under Part IV. of this Act.

Chapter II.

Of forwarding certain Passengers taken of a Ship or picked up at Sea.

Recital of Passengers' Act, 1855, Section 99.

285. Whereas by Section 99 of an Act of the Imperial Parliament, called "The Passengers' Act, 1855," it is enacted that "it shall be lawful for the Governor General of India in Council, from time to time, by any Act or Acts to be passed for that purpose, to declare that this Act or any part thereof shall apply to the carriage of passengers upon any voyage, from any ports or places within the territories of British India, to be specified in such Act or Acts, to any other places whatsoever to be also specified in such Act or Acts:" and it is thereby also enacted that, "on the passing of such Indian Act or Acts, and whilst the same shall remain in force, all such parts of this Act as shall be adopted therein shall apply to and extend to the carriage of passengers upon such voyages as in the said Indian Act or Acts shall be specified, and the provisions of such Indian Act shall be enforced in all Her Majesty's possessions in like manner as the provisions of this Act may be enforced." And whereas it is expedient to make certain parts of the said Act of Parliament applicable to the carriage of passengers upon the voyages hereinafter specified; It is enacted as follows:—

Sections 286 and 287 applicable to passengers upon certain voyages.

The provisions contained in Sections 286 and 287 apply to the carriage of passengers upon the following voyages:—

Voyages from the ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay under Act No. XIII. of 1864 (to consolidate and amend the laws relating to the emigration of Native labourers), to the Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, Trinidad, Saint Lucia, and Grenada:

Voyages from ports in British India, under Chapter I of this Part, to ports in the Red Sea or Persian Gulf.

Governors or Consuls may pay expenses of passengers taken off a passenger ship.

286. If the passengers on any such voyage as is specified in Section 285 shall be taken off from the ship carrying such passengers, or shall be picked up at sea from any boat, raft or otherwise, it shall be lawful, if the port or place to which they shall be conveyed shall be in any of Her Majesty's colonial possessions, for the Governor of such colony or for any person authorized by him for the purpose, or, if in any foreign country, for Her Majesty's Consular Officers at such port or place therein, to defray all or any part of the expenses thereby incurred.

Governors or Consuls may send on passengers if master of ship fail to do so.

287. If any passenger of any such passenger ship as aforesaid shall, without any neglect or default of his own, find himself within any colonial or foreign port or place other than that at which he may have contracted to land, it shall be lawful for the Governor of such colony or for any person authorized by him for the purpose, or for Her Majesty's Consular Officer at such foreign port of place, as the case may be, to forward such passenger to his intended destination, unless the master of such ship shall, within forty-eight hours of the arrival of such passenger, give to the Governor or Consular Officer, as the case may be, a written undertaking to forward or carry on within six weeks thereafter such passenger to his original destination, and unless such master shall accordingly forward or carry him on within that period.

Expenses incurred under Sections 286 and 287 to be a Crown debt.

288. All expenses incurred under the last two preceding Sections or either of them, by or by the authority of such Governor or Consular Officer as aforesaid including the cost of maintaining the passengers until forwarded to their destination, and of all necessary beddings, provisions and stores shall become a debt to Her Majesty, and Her Successors from the owner, charterer and master of such ship, and shall be recoverable from them or from any one or more of them, at the suit and for the use of Her Majesty, in like manner as in the case of other Crown debts; and a certificate purporting to be under the hand of any such Governor or Consular Officer (as the case may be), stating the total amount of such expenses shall in any suit or other proceeding for the recovery of such debt be received in evidence without proof of the hand-writing or of the official character of such Governor or Consular Officer, and shall be deemed sufficient evidence of the amount of such expenses and that the same were duly incurred; Provided, nevertheless, that in no case shall any larger sum be recovered on account of such expenses than a sum equal to twice the total amount of passage money received by the owner, charterer or master of such passenger ship or any of them, from or on account of the whole number of passengers who may have embarked in such ship, which total amount of passage money shall be proved by the defendant if he will have the advantage of this limitation of the debt: but if any such passengers are forwarded or conveyed to their intended destination under the provisions of the last preceding Section, they shall not be entitled to the return of their passage money or to any compensation for loss of passage.

Passengers forwarded under Section 287 not to be entitled to compensation.

Part VII.

Of Procedure and Penalties.

Depositions to be received in evidence when witnesses cannot be produced.

289. Whenever, in the course of any legal proceedings instituted at any port or place in British India before any Judge or Magistrate, or before any person authorized by law or by consent of parties to receive evidence, the testimony of any witness is required in relation to the subject-matter of such proceeding, any deposition that such witness may have previously made in relation to the same subject-matter before any Justice or Magistrate in Her Majesty's dominions (including all parts in British India other than those subject to the same Local Government as the port or place where such proceedings are instituted), or any British Consular Officer elsewhere, shall, if authenticated by the signature of the Justice, Magistrate or Consular Officer, be admissible in evidence on due proof that such witness cannot be found within the jurisdiction of the Court in which such proceedings are instituted: Provided that, if the proceeding is criminal, such deposition shall not be admissible unless it was made in the presence of the person accused, and the fact that it was so made is certified by the Justice, Magistrate or Consular Officer. It shall not be necessary in any case to prove the signature or official character of the person appearing to have signed any such deposition; and in any criminal proceeding, such certificate as aforesaid shall, unless the contrary is proved, be sufficient evidence of the accused having been present in manner hereby certified.

Proviso.

Adjudication of offences, and recovery of penalties.

290. All penalties imposed by this Act may be recovered, if for offences committed outside the local limits of the towns of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, in the manner prescribed by the Code of Criminal Procedure, and if for offences committed within those limits, in the manner prescribed by any Act regulating the Police of such towns in force for the time being.

Wages, penalties, &c., payable by master or owner, may be levied by distress of ship.

291. In all cases where any Court or Magistrate has power to make an order directing payment to be made of any seaman's wages, penalties or other sums of money, then, if the party so directed to pay the same is the master or owner of a ship, and the same is not paid at the time and in manner prescribed in the order, the Court or Magistrate who made the order may, in addition to any other powers which such Court or Magistrate may have for the purpose of compelling payment direct the amount remaining unpaid to be levied by distress and sale of the said ship, her tackle, furniture and apparel.

Jurisdiction.

292. For the purpose of the adjudication of penalties under Chapter I of Part VI, any offence shall be deemed to have been committed within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Magistrate or the place where the offender is found.

By whom proceedings for penalties under Chapter I of Part VI to be instituted.

293. The penalties to which masters and owners of ships are liable by Chapter I of Part VI shall be enforced only at the instance of the officers appointed to grant certificates under this Act, or at any port or place where there is no such officer, by the chief officer of Customs.

Application of penalties.

294. Any Magistrate imposing any penalties under Chapter I of Part VI may, if he thinks fit, direct the whole or any part thereof to be applied in compensating any person for any wrong or damage which he may have sustained by the act or default in respect of which such penalty is imposed, or in or towards payment of the expenses of the proceedings.

Punishment of forgery.

295. Whoever forges, or attempts to forge, or abets the forgery of any documents, certificate, entry or endorsement required by this Act or by the Merchant Shipping Act of 1854, to be made by any Registrar, or Superintendent, or Deputy Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, Inspector or Surveyor, or purporting to be made by any such Registrar, Superintendent, Inspector or Surveyor, shall be deemed to have committed the offence described in Section 466 of the Indian Penal Code.

Offences under this Act to be "offences" within meaning of Penal Code.

296. All offences under this Act shall be "offences" within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

Government of Bengal.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 27th April 1867, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon within a fortnight:—

A Bill to amend Act III. of 1864 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act III of 1864 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, by providing some effective means for the recovery of the assessment thereby imposed upon houses, buildings, and lands, and by providing that the Inspector-General of Jails and the District Superintendent of Police in each District shall be ex-officio Municipal Commissioners; It is enacted as follows:—

Interpretation. I. The following words and expressions in this Act shall have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, except where a different intention shall appear from the context, that is to say:—

"Municipality." The word "Municipality" shall mean any town, suburb, station, bazar, village, or tract of country to which the said Act III of 1864 shall have been extended,

Gender. Words importing the masculine gender shall include the feminine.

Number. Words importing the singular number shall include the plural, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular.

Service of Notices. II. Every notice, schedule, summons, or notice of demand regarding any assessment, rate or tax, or any money due in respect of the same, may be served personally upon the person to whom the same is addressed, or be left at his usual place of abode with some adult male member or servant of his family, or, if it cannot be so served, may be put up on some conspicuous part of such place of abode, and shall thereby be deemed to be duly served. Provided that, if the place of abode of the owner of any house, building, or land in respect of which a rate is assessed be unknown, or if the owner of any such house, building, or land be not resident within the limits of the Municipality, every such notice, summons, or notice of demand shall be deemed to be duly served, if put up on some conspicuous part of the house, building, or land in respect of which the rate is assessed.

Proviso.

Rate due from non-resident owner may be recovered from occupier, and deducted by him from his rent. III. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any house, building, or land remains unpaid after the notice of demand has been duly served, and such owner be not resident within such Municipality, or the place of abode of such owner be unknown, the Municipal Commissioners may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of such house, building, or land, and, on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any goods and chattels found on the premises; and whenever such rate shall be paid by or recovered from such occupier, he may deduct from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from him. Provided that no arrear of rate, which has remained due from the owner of any house, building, or land for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof.

Inspector-General of Jails and District Superintendent of Police to be ex-officio Municipal Commissioners.

IV. In addition to the Municipal Commissioners mentioned in the said Act III of 1864, the person for the time being filling the office of Inspector-General of Jails in the Lower Provinces shall be ex-officio a Municipal Commissioner for every Municipality within the said Provinces, and the person for the time being filling the office of District Superintendent of Police in any District within which there may be a Municipality, shall be ex-officio a Municipal Commissioner for such Municipality.

Construction.

V. This Act shall be construed with and as part of the said Act III of 1864.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Commissioners of some Municipal Towns have found it difficult or impossible to collect the Municipal rates payable in respect of houses the owners of which do not live in those Towns: one of the objects of this Bill is to facilitate the collection of rates under such circumstances.

It is also intended by this Bill to nominate District Superintendents of Police ex-officio Commissioners of all Municipal Towns within their respective districts, and to make the Inspector-General of Jails an ex-officio Commissioner of all Municipal Towns in Bengal.

The 13th April 1867.

J. PITT KENNEDY,
Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Department.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th May 1867, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon within a week:—

A Bill to amend Act VI of 1863 and Act VI of 1866 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act VI of 1863 and Act VI of 1866 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council; It is enacted as follows:—

On payment of tax Justices to grant licenses.

I. Whenever any person shall pay to the Justices the amount of the tax which, under the provisions of Section XXXVII of the said Act VI of 1863, and of the Schedule A to the said Act, annexed, or of Section V of Act VI of 1866, shall be payable by such person in respect of all carriages, horses, ponies, and mules kept within the said Town of which such person may be owner, the Justices shall grant to such person a license to keep within the said Town such carriages, horses, ponies, and mules during the current half-year ending upon the first day of January, or the first day of July, which shall occur next after the grant of such license.

License to be produced.

II. Every person to whom a license to keep any carriage, horse, pony, or mule may have been granted under this Act shall, at all reasonable times, while such license shall remain in force, if thereunto required by the said Justices, or any person duly authorised by them, produce such license to the Justices, or to such person as they shall by writing thereunto appoint, and in default of such production shall be liable to a fine which may extend to one hundred Rupees.

Penalty on keeping carriages, &c., without a license.

III. Every person who, after the passing of this Act, shall be owner of any carriage, horse, pony, or mule kept within the Town, for keeping which within the said Town such person shall not have any license under the provisions of the said Act VI of 1863 or of the said Act VI of 1866, or of this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount of the tax which would have been payable by such person for all carriages, hores, ponies, and mules kept without a license within the said Town of which such person may for the time being be owner, and not less than the amount of such tax. And upon the payment of such fine the Justices shall grant to such person such license as in Section I is mentioned to keep within the Town the carriages, horses, ponies, and mules in respect of which such fine shall have been calculated.

Possession of carriages, &c., to be prima facie evidence of ownership.

IV. Whoever personally or by his servants may be in possession of any carriage, horse, pony, or mule, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the owner thereof, and to have been the owner thereof from the first day of January or the first day of July then next preceding, unless and until the contrary shall be proved.

Power to compel production of the books of livery stable-keepers.

V. It shall be lawful for the Justices, by a notice in writing under their common seal, to require any person who shall carry on the trade or business of a livery stable-keeper, to produce, for the inspection of the said Justices, or of such person as they shall by such writing appoint, all books, papers, accounts, and documents, relating to the business of a livery stable-keeper carried on by such person. In case any person upon whom any such notice in writing may have been served shall, without reasonable cause, neglect or refuse to produce any such books, papers, accounts, or documents as aforesaid, he shall be liable to a penalty which may extend to one hundred Rupees.

Power to compel return of inhabitants of a house and of their professions.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Justices, by a notice in writing under their common seal, to require the person who, for the time being shall occupy any house as owner or tenant thereof, to forward to the said Justices, a list in writing signed by him of the names of all persons for the time being residing in such house and of their respective professions, trades, and occupations. Any person who shall so occupy any house, and shall, without reasonable cause, neglect or refuse to forward such list to the said Justices for the space of ten days after such notice shall have been served upon him, or shall wilfully forward an incorrect or untrue list to such Justices, shall be liable to a fine which may extend to one hundred Rupees.

Power to purchase land without the Town.

VII. It shall be lawful for the Justices, with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal, to purchase any such land without the limits of the Town as may be required by them for the better effectuating any purpose for which the said Justices may purchase land within the Town.

Power to demise lands vested in Justices.

VIII. It shall be lawful for the Justices, with the sanction of the said Lieutenant-Governor, to demise or lease any lands or buildings vested in them by virtue of the said Act VI of 1863, or acquired by them for the purposes thereof, or of this Act; and all rents and reservations in any such demise or lease shall be applied to the purposes of the said Act VI of 1863.

Justices not to borrow more than 55 lacs of Rupees.

IX. It shall not be lawful for the Justices to borrow, by way of debenture or otherwise, any sum of money which, together with the amount which may for the time being be due on account of any debentures issued by the said Justices in pursuance of Section XCIII of the said Act VI of 1863, shall exceed the sum of fifty lacs of Rupees. Provided always that no sum which may be for the time being due to the Secretary of State for India in Council on account of any loan from such Secretary of State in Council to the Justices for the purpose of effecting the supply of water to Calcutta, shall be included in the calculation of such sums of fifty-five lacs of Rupees.

Power to determine prosecutions in absence of accused.

X. Whenever any prosecution shall be instituted before any Justice of the Peace under the provisions of the said Act VI of 1863, or of the said Act VI of 1866, or of this Act, he may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons, and if such person shall not appear according to the tenor of the summons, the Justice of the Peace before whom such summons shall be returnable may, upon proof of the service, if no sufficient cause shall be shewn for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence.

The Justices to provide water-supply.

XI. The Justices shall provide a full supply of water within the Town, and shall for that purpose cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of water in all the chief public streets, lanes, and thoroughfares of the Town, and shall also erect, in all the aforesaid chief public streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, sufficient and convenient stand-pipes for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the Town. The said stand-pipes shall be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any of the said chief public streets, lanes, and thoroughfares at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe, and such stand-pipes shall, as far as practicable, at all times be kept charged with water.

Justices to notify the completion of arrangements for water-supply.

XII. When the Justices shall have provided all arrangements for the supply of water in the Town, or in any division, portion, or street thereof, and such convenient mains and stand-pipes as aforesaid, the Justices shall, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, declare by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, that the supply is complete within the Town, or any such division, portion, or street thereof.

Imposition of water-rate.

XIII. After it has been notified as aforesaid that the water-supply in any division, portion, or street of the Town has been completed, it shall be lawfull for the Justices to assess a water-rate upon all occupied houses and premises within such division, portion, or street of the Town. Such water-rate shall not exceed four per centum upon the annual value of the said houses and premises, and shall be payable at the times and levied from the persons and in the manner provided by Act VI of 1863 for the payment and levy of the water-rate for the imposition of which authority is thereby given. Provided that no rate shall be levied on houses or premises situate more than one hundred and fifty yards in a direct line from a stand-pipe duly charged with water as aforesaid.

Power to construct Railway.

XIV. It shall be lawful for the Justices, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, upon any of the public roads or streets in the Town of Calcutta or upon any land within or without the said Town which may be or become vested in the Justices, to construct or maintain any Railway which to the said Justices may appear to be useful or necessary for the purposes of the said Acts VI of 1863 and VI of 1866, or of either of them, and with the like sanction to use and employ upon any such Railway, by them heretofore constructed or hereafter to be constructed, such locomotive engines or other moving power and such carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, and to carry and convey upon such Railway all such passengers and goods as shall be offered to them for that purpose, and to make such reasonable charges in respect thereof as they may from time to time with the like sanction determine upon.

Power to permit carriages of Railway Company to run.

XV. It shall be lawful for the Justices from time to time, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to enter into any contract with any Railway Company, for the passage over any Railway already constructed by the said Justices or hereafter to be constructed by them, of the engines, coaches, wagons, or other carriages of such Company, or which shall pass over such Company's line of Railway, upon the payment of such tolls or rent and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon.

Power to demise Railway.

XVI. It shall be lawful for the Justices, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to demise or lease any Railway constructed or to be constructed by them under the provisions aforesaid, to any Railway Company upon such terms and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon, and every Company to which any such Railway shall be so demised or leased by such Justices, shall have all such and the same powers for maintaining the same and for using and employing thereupon locomotive engines and other moving power and carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, and for carrying and conveying thereupon passengers and goods and making charges in respect thereof, as the said Justices would have had if such Railway had not been demised or leased.

Town Hall vested in Justices.

XVII. From the passing of this Act, the building called the Town Hall of Calcutta, situate on the north side of Esplanade Row in the said Town, together with all houses, out-houses, grounds, buildings, lights, members, and appurtenances whatsoever to the said Town Hall belonging, or in any wise appertaining or now or at any time heretofore occupied, possessed or enjoyed, together with or as part of the same shall be and the same are hereby absolutely vested in the Justices Provided, however, that the net profits and emoluments of, or derived from the said Town Hall, shall be taken to be a portion of the Municipal Fund of the said Town.

Lands in Fort William and Hastings to be exempt from rates.

XVIII. Houses, buildings, and lands situate in Fort William, on the Esplanade of the Fort, or in Cooley Bazar, now called Hastings, shall be exempt from all rates and taxes which the Justices have authority to impose upon houses, buildings, or lands within the Town under any Act heretofore passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Repeal of Acts.

XIX. The various portions of Acts mentioned in the Schedule hereto, shall from and after the passing of this Act be repealed, save as to any rights theretofore acquired or liabilities theretofore incurred, under them respectively, and save as to any Acts or portions of Acts which may have been repealed by them respectively.

Construction.

XX. This Act shall be read with and taken as part of the said Acts VI of 1863 and VI of 1866.

SCHEDULE of Laws repealed—referred to in Section XIX.

Number and date of Act.	Title.	Extent of Repeal.
[redacted]I of 1863 ..	An Act to vest the property of the Town of Calcutta, and the management of its Municipal affairs, in a Corporation; and to make better provision for the Conservancy and Improvement of the Town, and for the levying of Rates and Taxes therein	Section 39.
Act VI of 1866...	An Act to amend Act VI of 1863	Sections 6, 11, 12, and 16.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to amend Act VI of 1863 and Act VI of 1866, as the Chairman of the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta has reported that, under the existing law, it is not possible effectively to collect some of the taxes.

It is also proposed to modify the provisions of the law requiring the Justices of the Peace to provide a complete supply of water for the whole Town of Calcutta, so as to allow the Justices a discretion in the selection of the streets, lanes, and thoroughfares through which mains and pipes for the supply of water are to be laid, as the Justices are by the present law compelled to lay pipes through every street, lane, or thoroughfare, and to erect stand-pipes, at an interval not exceeding 100 yards apart, through all such streets, lanes, and thoroughfares. To guard against persons not residing within a reasonable distance of stand-pipes being required to pay the water-rate, the Bill provides for exempting such persons from the rate,

With a view to placing the credit of the Corporation of Calcutta on a more firm footing, it is proposed to limit their power of borrowing, by way of debenture on the security of the rates, taxes, and dues imposed and levied on account of the Municipal Fund, to 55 lacs of Rupees, exclusive of such loans as they may require to raise to enable them to carry out a complete water-supply for the Town of Calcutta.

The Bill also empowers the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta to construct and maintain a Railway within the Town for Municipal and such other purposes as they may, with the sanction of the Local Government, think proper, and it also removes certain legal difficulties connected with the transfer of the Town Hall from the Government of Bengal to the Justices.

At present the Esplanade, Fort, and Hastings, late Cooly Bazar, are nominally within the jurisdiction of the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta, but are practically managed by the Commissioner of Police under the orders of Government.

These places are "specially exempted" from the house rate, but not from any other rates. By this Bill these places are excluded from the definition of "Town of Calcutta" as used in Act VI of 1863.

Relief Operations in Maunbhoom.

FROM A. B. SHILLETON, ESQ., Honorary Secretary to the Orissa Famine Relief Fund, to H. L. HARRISON, ESQ., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 18th April 1867.)

I AM directed by the "Executive Committee" of the "Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Fund," to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No 1304, dated the 29th ultimo, and its enclosures, reporting on the measures taken by the Maunbhoom Committee for affording relief to paupers in that District during the month of February, and enquiring if the General Famine Relief Committee will undertake the control of relief operations in Maunbhoom, should it be found necessary to continue them after the close of the current month.

The Committee have carefully considered the recommendation of the Board of Revenue, and have come to the conclusion that, as they have no Establishment in Maunbhoom, and as it is so distant from the field of their present operations, it would be better not to disturb the existing arrangements, more especially as the Local Committee appear to have done, and to be doing, everything that could be desired to relieve the distress.

If, however, His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that there is, or that there is likely to be, the same necessity as in Cuttack, for placing Famine Relief Operations in Maunbhoom under the supervision of the Committee, on the same principle as that obtaining in Orissa, the Committee will be prepared to adopt the Board's suggestion; but if otherwise, they would prefer not to extend further their present operations, which are already of considerable magnitude.

FROM H. L HARRISON, ESQ., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department,—(No. 1752, dated the 29th April 1867.)

I AM directed to forward herewith, for the information of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, a copy of the correspondence cited in the margin,* on the subject of relief to paupers in the Maunbhoom District.

* From Board of Revenue Lower Provinces, No. 5304., dated 25th March 1867
To the Chairman of the General Famine Relief Committee, No. 1301, dated 29th March 1867
From the Honorary Secretary of the Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Fund, No — dated 18th April 1867.
To Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, No. 1751 of this day's date.

2. It will be observed that the General Famine Relief Committee decline to accede to the proposal made by the Board of Revenue, and urged by this Government to undertake the control of relief operations in Maunbhoom, unless it is considered absolutely necessary for them to do so. Under these circumstances, the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to leave the relief operations in this District under the direction of the Board of Revenue as heretofore.

Descriptive Sketch of Dalimkote, from the Diary of the Deputy Commissioner of Western Dooars.

Ambioe and Dalimkote.—The evening was far advanced and still no signs of Ambioe nor of the new road,—in whose existence I had learned to believe,—were to be seen For many miles I had stumbled up the steep-rocky road by which traffic passed, when first we entered the country, and as this road remains much as it was in the Bhootea time, progress was painful and slow. Suddenly, however, a good smooth broad road was seen to emerge from the forest on our right, and this I recognized as my new road. I asked the guide where it came from. He said he did not know. I asked him where it led to; he said no where. I ordered him to follow it nevertheless, but this he strictly refused to do and adhered to his refusal. I however entered the new road and followed it for about half a mile. I found it broad enough for carts rising by an easy gradient, and at least so far free from stones that a careful carter need have no fear for his axles About the half mile I came to a turn at which stands a newly-painted post. This post informs the traveller that the road on which it stands, is the "southern road." The road is so named to distinguish it from the Laha road, which branches off to the north-west at this point. I regret that my official duties did not afford a pretext for exploring this road. It seems, however, to be a continuation of the southern road, on a somewhat smaller scale.

2. Passing there, the road post, I came in sight of Ambioe. As is well known, Ambioe lies in a tolerably level plain or plateau of considerable size, surrounded on three sides by mountain and commanded by the now abandoned Fort of Dalimkote It is situated about 1,000 feet below the fort. I had not seen it for fifteen months, and the changes which have been carried out are numerous and striking.

1*st.*—The good road runs up to the furthest corner of the bazar, and is well provided with side and cross drainage.

2*nd.*—Smaller roads have been made in various parts of the plateau, to suit the convenience of the people.

3*rd.*—The whole neighbourhood has been thoroughly cleared of jungle, and regular rows of trees have been planted, which will in time give a pleasing garden-like appearance to the place.

4*th.*—A regular bazar has been laid out, and in it are to be had goods adapted to the requirements of natives, and some things serviceable even for Europeans. Thus there are several native grocery shops, cloth merchants are numerous, while shining brass vessels of various kinds tempt those who are dainty in household-ware. An excise shop provides wholesome liquor for those who choose to buy. Each shop has its number exposed on a sign board in front. The whole place looks in a certain degree "finished" and comfortable, as it is, with ample space to admit of its further development as a centre of trade.

5*th.*—Good quarters have been provided for the Police.

6*th.*—The place has been supplied with fine sweet water, brought by means of a wooden aqueduct from the hill to the north. This water has been so arranged as to supply a "fountain" at the head of the town. The action of the water causes the "fountain" to revolve, and as the jets leave the main stem by eight apertures, and ever turn as they fall and splash, the effect is pleasing and refreshing. Arrangements had been made for an illumination of the town in prospect of the once intended visit of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

3. The inhabitants of Ambioe are of a mixed kind. Hill-men are very numerous, they work chiefly as coolies, or else they are merely halting at Ambioe on their way with merchandize to the plains. A considerable number passed down a few days ago with a drove of ponies, a number of dogs, a quantity of blankets and other such hill commodities. I bought a pony and a dog from them, and they found a ready market for much of their goods at Mynagoree. With the remainder they started for Rungpore. As it is only the more daring of the hill-men who venture into the plains even in the cold weather, the value of Ambioe as a centre of trade is great, but it is to be feared that, notwithstanding the really fine road between it and the plains, Ambioe will become a thing of the past as soon as the head-quarters of the sub-division are removed to Dumsong, and the work of the last two years will go for nothing.

4. Passing Ambioe, then, the road begins to wind up the steep side of the mountain-peak on which Dalim stands. Between Ambioe to the plateau the road is very like that between Punkabaree and Kurseong. Those who know this road, and who know the kind of road which existed between Ambioc and the plateau before the works were taken up by the Civil authorities, will understand how much has been accomplished. The gradients here are necessarily much steeper than those below Ambioc, but for a mountain road up an almost perpendicular ascent they must be considered easy. Any four-footed animal will go up with pleasure. Drainage has been well attended to, and streams, in crossing which on my last visit I had to bound from rock to rock like a mountain goat, are now bridged by strong uncemented masonry and timber work.

5. I did not go up to the fort which is now dismantled and uninhabited, but passing by the "neck" (or crest of the mountain some 150 feet below the fort where the road turns south-east towards the "plateau,") I began the gentle descent which leads to Captain Lance's residence, which is situated a furlong or so from the fort.

6. Night had by this time closed in, so that further inspection was reserved till next day.

7. In the morning, accompanied by Captain Lance, Assistant Commissioner, I inspected the "plateau." It is called the plateau, but in truth the mountains abound in plateaux, and this one is remarkable for nothing except its nearness to the fort and to Ambioc. The best idea I can give of it to one who has not seen it, is to ask him to suppose the crest of Jullapahar cut off from about Mr. Eden's house upwards to the Artillery Mess-house in such a manner as to leave a flat surface with a rise of about three feet in a hundred, let him suppose further that this surface is nicely planted with trees, while the soil remains a rich vegetable mould, and a very good idea of the plateau of Dalimkote will be obtained,—what would Darjeeling give for such a plateau?

8. Formerly a road, or rather a jungle-clearing, ran down the whole length of the plateau, but changes and rumours of changes have caused this road to be neglected. At the N. W. end stands Captain Lance's house, a good substantial building of planks. To the S. E. the plateau ends suddenly in a precipice, by whose sides, doubtless the shortest road to the plains is to be found.

9. The view from the plateau over mountain and dale and down is beautiful, while by no means the least interesting objects in the landscape are the clearings of the settlers. On the mountain slopes water is abundant. The situation is on all hands allowed to be healthy. Two European children live there and these remind one of children as they exist at home.

10. I would fain have visited some of the Munduls of the Sub-division, but its recent severance from my jurisdiction precluded me from doing so, my object in visiting the place officially was to make sure that the road works in progress from the Dalimkote end, and those from the Mynagoree end would dovetail into each other.

11. I therefore left Dalimkote in the afternoon, accompanied by Captain Lance, who kindly undertook to show me the new road, which my guide of yesterday, either from ignorance or from perversity, had failed to find.

12 We left the old track at the point at which I had suddenly come on the new road the preceding evening. A few words will suffice to describe this new road:—

1*st*.—It runs from Ambioc, I might almost say from the plateau, to the first crossing of the Cheyle six miles north of Chukla. Of this distance a few hundred yards (on nearly level ground) remain to be finished at the southern end.

2*nd*.—Its length is about five miles, its breadth at most places ten or twelve feet.

3*rd*.—The gradient is easy, a horse could canter up the whole way without distress.

4*th*.—Its course runs throughout its whole length on the Dalimkote side of the Cheyle, so that this impetuous stream has never to be crossed in the mountains.

5*th*.—Such streams as do cross the road are all bridged. These are its good points; while—

6*th*.—A good deal of blasting remains to be done before the road can be considered as open to carts (dependence for blasting was placed on a body of Sappers and Miners, but somehow the arrangement failed).

7*th*.—Some terraces have been constructed which depend, wholly or partially, for their support on beams let into the soil horizontally. Such places are dangerous and might be rendered unnecessary by excavations (with blasting, if need be) back into the mountain side.

13. Captain Lance (speaking approximately) stated that the works had cost up to date a little under Rupees 2,000 a mile. They have been executed, I believe, in about six months.

14. To complete the description of the communication between Dalimkote and the plains, I may add that the road between the Teesta and the point where the mountain section ends is now being cleared of jungle, thoroughly repaired, raised where necessary, and bridged throughout with strong, light salwood bridges. At my inspection I took my carts as far as Chukla. If blasting operations be carried on in the mountain section, carts will be able to go to Ambioc in a month or two from this date. Without blasting they will have to stop where the mountain road now ends, some five miles below Ambioc.

15. In conclusion, I may add that I was accompanied on my trip by a friend who was on a visit at my house from Darjeeling. He has been for two or three years intimately connected with tea. His opinion is that the neighbourhood of Ambioe is admirably suited for tea planting, compared with Darjeeling—the following advantages struck him:—

At Dalimkote.	At Darjeeling.
1. The country abounds with level land.	1. The land is all precipice.
2. There is a deep loamy soil.	2. There is no depth of soil.
3. There is a complete absence of grass under-jungle.	3. Tea plants are choked by grass-jungle which cannot be eradicated. 1*st*.—Because of its own strength of root; and 2*nd*, because if the jungle were rooted out the soil would be washed down the khud.
4. Carriage to the plains is easy and cheap, and the distance is short.	4. These are difficult, expensive, and tedious.
5. Carriage from the plains by water is obtainable at a point not far from where the gardens would be.	5. Water-carriage is not available nearer than Caragola.
6. The terms of grant (a rent-free lease and thereafter a settlement) are favorable.	6. Purchase outright of land, some good, some bad, some indifferent, has been the commencement of difficulties to many planters.

16. Other points he considered to be the same at Dalimkote as at Darjeeling:—as local supply of labor, abundance of water, timber for fuel, boxes, &c., suitability of climate for European residents and so forth. On a few of these subjects (e. g., the supply of labor) his opinion had to be formed on the basis of information given by me In regard to most of them however, as roads, soil, jungle, distance, water, timber, his opinion was based on what he saw for himself.

From CAPTAIN W. H J. LANOE, Assistant Commissioner, Daling Sub-Division, to the Personal Assistant to the Chief Commissioner, Cooch Behar Division,—(No. 28, dated the 6th March 1867.)

IN reply to memorandum No. 123T., dated 28th February, I have the honor to state that the blasting of rocks on the road has now been going on for some time past. At one period I had a few trained men at my disposal, and reserved the blasting for them as an operation requiring more care to avoid accidents.

I have never depended on any deparment for the least assistance.

2. No part of the road consists entirely of a gallery and building up has been resorted to as sparingly as circumstances permitted.

3. The portion supposed to be unfinished is in reality not so.

As shewn in the accompanying small diagram, the road has been carried on till it met a plan one at "A," the part colored green* was made in excess by mistake, but will now be continued as suggested.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1867.

Government of Bengal.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th May 1867, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon within a week:—

A Bill to amend Act VI of 1863 and Act VI of 1866 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Preamble.

Whereas it is expedient to amend Act VI of 1863 and Act VI of 1866 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council; It is enacted as follows:—

On payment of tax Justices to grant license.

I. Whenever any person shall pay to the Justices the amount of the tax which, under the provisions of Section XXXVII of the said Act VI of 1863, and of the Schedule A to the said Act annexed, or of Section V of Act VI of 1866, shall be payable by such person in respect of all carriages, horses, ponies, and mules kept within the said Town of which such person may be owner, the Justices shall grant to such person a license to keep within the said Town such carriages, horses, ponies, and mules during the current half-year ending upon the first day of January, or the first day of July, which shall occur next after the grant of such license.

License to be produced.

II. Every person to whom a license to keep any carriage, horse, pony, or mule may have been granted under this Act shall, at all reasonable times, while such license shall remain in force, if thereunto required by the said Justices, or any person duly authorised by them, produce such license to the Justices, or to such person as they shall by writing thereunto appoint, and in default of such production shall be liable to a fine which may extend to one hundred Rupees.

Penalty on keeping carriages, &c., without a license.

III. Every person who, after the passing of this Act, shall be owner of any carriage, horse, pony, or mule kept within the Town, for keeping which within the said Town such person shall not have any license under the provisions of the said Act VI of 1863 or of the said Act VI of 1866, or of this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount of the tax which would have been payable by such person for all carriages, hores, ponies, and mules kept without a license within the said Town of which such person may for the time being be owner, and not less than the amount of such tax. And upon the payment of such fine the Justices shall grant to such person such license as in Section I is mentioned to keep within the Town the carriages, horses, ponies, and mules in respect of which such fine shall have been calculated.

Possession of carriages, &c., to be prima facie evidence of ownership.

IV. Whoever personally or by his servants may be in possession of any carriage, horse, pony, or mule, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the owner thereof, and to have been the owner thereof from the first day of January or the first day of July then next preceding, unless and until the contrary shall be proved.

Power to compel production of the books of livery stable-keepers.

V. It shall be lawful for the Justices, by a notice in writing under their common seal, to require any person who shall carry on the trade or business of a livery stable-keeper, to produce, for the inspection of the said Justices, or of such person as they shall by such writing appoint, all books, papers, accounts, and documents, relating to the business of a livery stable-keeper carried on by such person. In case any person upon whom any such notice in writing may have been served shall, without reasonable cause, neglect or refuse to produce any such books, papers, accounts, or documents as aforesaid, he shall be liable to a penalty which may extend to one hundred Rupees.

Power to compel return of inhabitants of a house and of their professions.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Justices, by a notice in writing under their common seal, to require the person who, for the time being shall occupy any house as owner or tenant thereof, to forward to the said Justices, a list in writing signed by him of the names of all persons for the time being residing in such house and of their respective professions, trades, and occupations. Any person who shall so occupy any house, and shall, without reasonable cause, neglect or refuse to forward such list to the said Justices for the space of ten days after such notice shall have been served upon him, or shall wilfully forward an incorrect or untrue list to such Justices, shall be liable to a fine which may extend to one hundred Rupees.

Power to purchase land without the Town.

VII. It shall be lawful for the Justices, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to purchase any such land without the limits of the Town as may be required by them for the better effectuating any purpose for which the said Justices may purchase land within the Town.

Power to demise lands vested in Justices.

VIII. It shall be lawful for the Justices, with the sanction of the said Lieutenant-Governor, to demise or lease any lands or buildings vested in them by virtue of the said Act VI of 1863, or acquired by them for the purposes thereof, or of this Act; and all rents and reservations in any such demise or lease shall be applied to the purposes of the said Act VI of 1863.

Justices not to borrow more than 55 lacs of Rupees.

IX. It shall not be lawful for the Justices to borrow, by way of debenture or otherwise, any sum of money which, together with the amount which may for the time being be due on account of any debentures issued by the said Justices in pursuance of Section XCIII of the said Act VI of 1863, shall exceed the sum of fifty lacs of Rupees. Provided always that no sum which may be for the time being due to the Secretary of State for India in Council on account of any loan from such Secretary of State in Council to the Justices for the purpose of effecting the supply of water to Calcutta, shall be included in the calculation of such sums of fifty-five lacs of Rupees.

Power to determine prosecutions in absence of accused.

X. Whenever any prosecution shall be instituted before any Justice of the Peace under the provisions of the said Act VI of 1863, or of the said Act VI of 1866, or of this Act, he may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons, and if such person shall not appear according to the tenor of the summons, the Justice of the Peace before whom such summons shall be returnable may, upon proof of the service, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence.

The Justices to provide water-supply.

XI. The Justices shall provide a full supply of water within the Town, and shall for that purpose cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of water in all the chief public streets, lanes, and thoroughfares of the Town, and shall also erect, in all the aforesaid chief public streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, sufficient and convenient stand-pipes for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the Town. The said stand-pipes shall be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any of the said chief public streets, lanes, and thoroughfares at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe, and such stand-pipes shall, as far as practicable, at all times be kept charged with water.

Justices to notify the completion of arrangements for water-supply.

XII. When the Justices shall have provided all arrangements for the supply of water in the Town, or in any division, portion, or street thereof, and such convenient mains and stand-pipes as aforesaid, the Justices shall, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, declare by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, that the supply is complete within the Town, or any such division, portion, or street thereof.

Imposition of water-rate.

XIII. After it has been notified as aforesaid that the water-supply in any division, portion, or street of the Town has been completed, it shall be lawfull for the Justices to assess a water-rate upon all occupied houses and premises within such division, portion, or street of the Town. Such water-rate shall not exceed four per centum upon the annual value of the said houses and premises, and shall be payable at the times and levied from the persons and in the manner provided by Act VI of 1863 for the payment and levy of the water-rate for the imposition of which authority is thereby given. Provided that no rate shall be levied on houses or premises situate more than one hundred and fifty yards in a direct line from a stand-pipe duly charged with water as aforesaid.

Power to construct Railway.

XIV. It shall be lawful for the Justices, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, upon any of the public roads or streets in the Town of Calcutta or upon any land within or without the said Town which may be or become vested in the Justices, to construct or maintain any Railway which to the said Justices may appear to be useful or necessary for the purposes of the said Acts VI of 1863 and VI of 1866, or of either of them, and with the like sanction to use and employ upon any such Railway, by them heretofore constructed or hereafter to be constructed, such locomotive engines or other moving power and such carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, and to carry and convey upon such Railway all such passengers and goods as shall be offered to them for that purpose, and to make such reasonable charges in respect thereof as they may from time to time with the like sanction determine upon.

XV. It shall be lawful for the Justices from time to time, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to enter into any contract with any Railway Company, for the passage over any Railway already constructed by the said Justices or hereafter to be constructed by them, of the engines, coaches, wagons, or other carriages of such Company, or which shall pass over such Company's line of Railway, upon the payment of such tolls or rent and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon.

Power to permit carriages of Railway Company to run.

XVI. It shall be lawful for the Justices, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to demise or lease any Railway constructed or to be constructed by them under the provisions aforesaid, to any Railway Company upon such terms and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon, and every Company to which any such Railway shall be so demised or leased by such Justices, shall have all such and the same powers for maintaining the same and for using and employing thereupon locomotive engines and other moving power and carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, and for carrying and conveying thereupon passengers and goods, and making charges in respect thereof, as the said Justices would have had if such Railway had not been demised or leased.

Power to demise Railway.

XVII. From the passing of this Act, the building called the Town Hall of Calcutta, situate on the north side of Esplanade Row in the said Town, together with all houses, out-houses, grounds, buildings, lights, members, and appurtenances whatsoever to the said Town Hall belonging, or in any wise appertaining or now or at any time heretofore occupied, possessed or enjoyed, together with or as part of the same shall be and the same are hereby absolutely vested in the Justices. Provided, however, that the net profits and emoluments of, or derived from the said Town Hall, shall be taken to be a portion of the Municipal Fund of the said Town.

Town Hall vested in Justices.

XVIII. Houses, buildings, and lands situate in Fort William, on the Esplanade of the Fort, or in Cooley Bazar, now called Hastings, shall be exempt from all rates and taxes which the Justices have authority to impose upon houses, buildings, or lands within the Town under any Act heretofore passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Lands in Fort William and Hastings to be exempt from rates.

XIX. The various portions of Acts mentioned in the Schedule hereto, shall from and after the passing of this Act be repealed, save as to any rights theretofore acquired or liabilities theretofore incurred, under them respectively, and save as to any Acts or portions of Acts which may have been repealed by them respectively.

Repeal of Acts.

XX. This Act shall be read with and taken as part of the said Acts VI of 1863 and VI of 1866.

Construction.

SCHEDULE of Laws repealed—referred to in Section XIX.

Number and date of Act.	Title.	Extent of Repeal.
Act VI of 1863...	An Act to vest the property of the Town of Calcutta, and the management of its Municipal affairs, in a Corporation; and to make better provision for the Conservancy and Improvement of the Town, and for the levying of Rates and Taxes therein	Section 39.
Act VI of 1866...	An Act to amend Act VI of 1863	Sections 6, 11, 12, and 13.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to amend Act VI of 1863 and Act VI of 1866, as the Chairman of the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta has reported that, under the existing law, it is not possible effectively to collect some of the taxes.

It is also proposed to modify the provisions of the law requiring the Justices of the Peace to provide a complete supply of water for the whole Town of Calcutta, so as to allow the Justices a discretion in the selection of the streets, lanes, and thoroughfares through which mains and pipes for the supply of water are to be laid, as the Justices are by the present law compelled to lay pipes through every street, lane, or thoroughfare, and to erect stand-pipes, at an interval not exceeding 100 yards apart, through all such srteets, lanes, and thoroughfares. To guard against persons not residing within a reasonable distance of stand-pipes being required to pay the water-rate, the Bill provides for exempting such persons from the rate.

With a view to placing the credit of the Corporation of Calcutta on a more firm footing, it is proposed to limit their power of borrowing, by way of debenture on the security of the rates, taxes, and dues imposed and levied on account of the Municipal Fund, to 55 lacs of Rupees, exclusive of such loans as they may require to raise to enable them to carry out a complete water-supply for the Town of Calcutta.

The Bill also empowers the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta to construct and maintain a Railway within the Town for Municipal and such other purposes as they may, with the sanction of the Local Government, think proper, and it also removes certain legal difficulties connected with the transfer of the Town Hall from the Government of Bengal to the Justices.

At present the Esplanade, Fort, and Hastings, late Cooly Bazar, are nominally within the jurisdiction of the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta, but are practically managed by the Commissioner of Police under the orders of Government.

These places are specially exempted from the house rate, but not from any other rates. By this Bill these places are excluded from the definition of "Town of Calcutta" as used in Act VI of 1863.

„ Omesh Chunder Dutt.

The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to accept the resignation tendered by Mr. F. Schiller of his appointment as a Member of the Committee of the Justices for the improvement of the Port of Calcutta, under Section 4, Act X. (B. C.) of 1866.

Mr. W. W. Daly, Assistant Superintendent of Police, Cachar, is permitted to avail himself of the three months' privilege leave of absence, which was granted to him under orders of the 25th March last, from the date following that on which the last half-yearly examination of Assistants closed.

The 13th May 1867.—Mr. H. R. Madocks, Judge of Bhaugulpore, having resumed charge of his office on the 7th instant, the unexpired portion of the leave, granted to him under orders of the 29th January last, is cancelled.

The following Order issued by the Government of India, in the Home Department, is re-published for general information:—

No. 3626.—The 10th April 1867.—The following amended Notice is published for general information, in supersession of Notification No. 149, dated the 8th January last:—

Government Notice No. 1, 1867.

His Excellency the Administrator of the Government directs the publication, for general information, of the following amended Notice of the erection of a Light-house on the Bluff, at the south side of the entrance of Port Natal, in correction of the Notification given in Government Notice No. 122, 1866.

By His Excellency's Command,

D. Erskine,
Colonial Secy.

Colonial Office, Natal,
The 4th January 1867.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

A Light-house has been erected on the Bluff, at the south side of the entrance of Port Natal, at an elevation of 292 feet above high water, a light from which will be exhibited on the 23rd January 1867.

The Light-house is in Latitude 29° 52′ 50″ S., and Longitude 31° 3′ 35″ E.

The building is an iron tower, in the form of a frustrum of a cone, 81 feet high, painted white, centre of light being 70 feet above the base, exhibiting a revolving white light of the second class (dioptric), attaining its greatest brilliancy once every minute.

It is visible in all directions from North (round by East and South) to S. 59° W., and can be seen from a ship's deck 24 miles in clear weather.

The above light is not visible from the Aliwal shoal, which is 25 miles S., 53° W., from the Light-house; vessels should not, therefore, when coming from the southward and westward approach the shore nearer than four miles, or shoal their water under 10 fathoms, using the lead freely until they make the light well out from the deck, when they may stand in until it bears N. 59° E.,—which bearing will keep them outside all known danger—unti they are abreast of the Umlazi River (about 9¼ miles below the Light-house), when they must keep it more to the northward, as the land trends more to the eastward, giving the shore a good berth of a mile; and when the light bears about W. N. W., they can haul into the northward for the anchorage; anchoring in 8½ to 10 fathoms, with the Light-house bearing S. W. to S. W. ½ S. distant one mile.

W. E. ARCHDEACON, Master, R N.,
Admiralty Surveyor.

N. B.—The above bearings are magnetic.

The following Order issued by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, North-Western Provinces, is re-published for general information:—

No. 1360*A.*, dated the 27*th April* 1867.—The services of Third Grade Sub-Assistant Surgeon Gobind Chunder Chatterjee, at present attached to the Charitable Dispensary at Jounpore, are placed at the disposal of the Government of Bengal.

Report from the Special Famine Commissioner

From A. B. SHEKLETON, Esq., Honorary Secretary to the Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Fund, to H. L HARRISON, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 41, dated the 27th April 1867)

I AM directed to forward, for the information of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, copies of correspondence and annexures, noted in the margin, received from Mr. Molony, the Special Famine Commissioner.

From Pooree, dated April 16th.
From Cuttack, No. 261, dated April 22nd, and annexures.

POOREE, April 16th 1867.

I CAME in here on a tour which I have been taking, partly through Cuttack, and partly through this District. I left this Station on Tuesday last, and travelled to Machgaon, near the mouth of the Davee River, which I crossed after visiting Panchpilly in Bishenpore, and came on to Pooree, via Kakatpore (Kulkutpore on the map) and Gope. I visited the centres of Nuhara, Juggutsingpore, and Panchpilly, in the Cuttack District, and Bonomalleepore, Kakatpore, and Gope, in the Pooree District. The Cuttack centres are more advanced in all necessary arrangements than those here. This is in a great measure owing to things having been commenced upon a system sooner there. There is a want of sleeping and Hospital accommodation now, which I have requested Mr. Toynbee to have supplied as soon as possible. I noted, however, that in places where sleeping sheds are available, the paupers prefer sleeping under trees, and in other places of shelter they can find, in the neighbourhood of the Chutter. This is very well now, but during the rains, good shelter must be provided for them. Every centre should have a Rice Golah, a cookhouse, an enclosure in which the meals are distributed, sleeping sheds according to requirement, and, if possible, separate for men and women. A Hospital and a separate shed for contageous disease If a place where cotton relief is given, there should, if required, be a separate godown for cotton and thread. I was much pleased with the show of cultivation in the Hurriarpore Pergunnah, through a great part of which I passed on the first day, to near Juggutsingpore. From there I took a tripe across the country to Bonomalleepore, (near a place marked on the map as Sullye, in the Daogong Pergunnah.) I passed through the Pergunnahs of Saibeer and Daogong. The former is generally cultivated, but it suffered much from last year's inundations, and the people no doubt are badly off If seed is forthcoming with a favorable season, I think this Pergunnah will recover itself in a great measure. The habitations were bad, and the mortality last year was very great. In Daogong the devastation has been even greater, and I should be afraid that a great portion of land will be uncultivated, and indeed the people say there is no protection from inundation, and that they have lost their crops for three years. From the appearance of the land, I should say this was likely to be the case There have been good cold-whether crops however, and there is a little tobacco (very inferior) being now got in. The state of the habitations in Daogong was worse than in Saibeer. I should be afraid there will be great distress there this year. At Bonomalleepore there were a great number of paupers; I was, however, informed that 850 had, only the day before, been struck off as capable of working upon the road, just commenced by the Public Works Department, in the neighbourhood There are many others that may be put into light labor gangs, when they can be organized, but there is at present a great want of tools, which have only lately been landed at False-Point owing to thier not having been advised, and having been stored under a stock of rice on board the hulk. Here, as at other places, there is a great proportion of women and children. There is no doubt that these centres are used extensively by necessitous ryots and others, who send women and children to have their meals there. There are a number of weavers in the neighbourhood who are very much distressed, but are only driven to the Chutters by extreme necessity. It will, I think, be necessary to try and employ these people at their own trade, and I shall send some of our thread there, to be made up. I shall allow them an advance of thread in the first instance, and recover the value gradually, if possible. I found rice selling at Bonomalleepore, at about eleven seers, Cuttack weight I was informed that a great deal of rice in husk came from Ganjam by the Chilka Lake to this Haut, which is one of those that supplies the Saibeer and Daogong Pergunnahs, and that the ryots of Kothdes Pergunnah, where they have a really good crop, were holding up stocks at present, and had been so, ever since the pressure of the demand for rent had been taken off, and that the market went up from sixteen to eleven seers at once. It is very difficult to rely upon these statements, but I am inclined to believe it, and if so, I think it augurs favorably for prices not going up very high, or at all events getting low, if there is a prospect of a fair harvest. There is no doubt that ryots that have grain, prize it more than money at the present time. A great many of the paupers at Bonomalleepore, are from the Cuttack side.

The Pergunnah of Kataye to the south, and Sylow on the north of Daogong, also suffered very severely. I passed through very little of the former, and none of the latter. In going to Panchpilly, I passed through Hurrichpore, and part of Bishenpore. In the former Pergunnah, the zemindars have commenced the manufacture of salt, which is a great assistance. They have not had good rains yet, but I fear the cultivation will be very short. In Bishenpore also it was backward. They say the mortality in these parts has been very great. The ryots' houses were in much better order, and the roofs had been repaired a good deal; there was no scarcity of grass for thatching. Across the river, in Pergunnah Khodar, the inundation was very much felt, and the mortality has been very great. There was a lamentable want of effort at cultivating any but, the high lands near the villages. I imagine labor, for cultivation purposes, is short here, and in the Chutters there were hardly any men, but some 300 women and children. They were in good case, and but little sickness. Mr. Raban informs me that I saw the worst part of Khodar, and that the northern part is better. In Doomarkhund and Untrood, though I passed through small portions of the Pergunnahs, the cultivation was forward, particularly in the former. In Banchass, on the contrary, there is little being done. This may partly be ascribed, I believe, to want of rain, but there has been great loss in it by inundation and famine last year, and the habitations are very bad. At Gope I visited the centre where the people were in good case, and came on during the day to Pooree. On the banks of the Sur Lake, there are now on the ground good crops of Dallooa rice, and some has already come into the market. It sells at one seer cheaper than the other rice, and at Bantaligram, where we (?) are storing rice, the prices were, eleven seers old, twelve seers new rice, Cuttack weight, for the rupee. I am glad to say, that with the exception of a few cases in Daogong, and that neighbourhood, and at Bonomalleepore, the people have not a starved appearance at all, and I do not believe that deaths from starvation occur in any numbers. Light labor gangs have been started at this station, where they were very much required, and small supplies of cotton have been sent to many of the centres, for distribution. The people in the neighbourhood of the Chilka, to the east of it, are said not to understand the art of spinning. I have not met any one who could offer even a suggestion of what is feasible to keep these people: the land, it is said, will not produce rice to feed them, and until the zemindars open the manufacture of salt, there is no way of providing them with funds, to purchase. No one will undertake salt manufacture, while the large stores of Government salt are in existence. The people might get work on the Rumba Canal, for which I am told sufficient labor cannot be procured, but, like all people of this country, they won't leave home to seek it. The numbers at the centres in the Pooree District generally, have increased. In the Cuttack District, Mr. Kirkwood has been very busy in the interior, travelling about, and organizing light labor gangs, and generally in making arrangements to supply the relief depôts. I believe, by his exertions, things will be quickly working in a regular system. One other native Deputy Collector has arrived, and will be probably posted to Cuttack District, and sent out immediately on my return, the day after to-morrow. Mr. Kirkwood gives a bad account of southern Coojung. Rice is with difficulty procured at eight Cuttack seers in the bazaars, and supplies are quite inadequate: some ten or twelve bags are sold a day at the Balcetood Depôt. I have authorized sales here, at the rate at which relief sales were made before, which is, I think, twelve Cuttack seers per rupee, or fifteen seers, twelve chittacks, Calcutta. The people had been emigrating largely, and but a small proportion of the population are left. Between Kendrapara, Mohura, and Faldundah, there is some cultivation reported.

Baboo Juggut Chunder Gangowlee is likely to be a useful officer, as also is Mr. Ellis and Mr. Sinclair, but I am sorry to say, Mr. Jones is very delicate and unfitted for the work, as he cannot stand exposure to the sun. I am told he has suffered at one time from sun-stroke.

Mr. Rampini is at present at Bhuddruck; both he and Mr. Sinclair have been out on inspection in that sub-division. He reports the cultivation in Pergunnah Bheruh, to be very backward, and this is also the case in Pergunnah Sumnauth, through a portion of which he travelled. Mr. Sinclair reports now favourably of Pergunnahs Byang and Dhammuggur.

Rice is, however, cheap; sixteen seers (Calcutta) for the rupee, in the Hauts.

Mr. Rampini reports that he is busy at present in introducing light labor and cotton relief, and in arranging for stocking rice at the sub-depôts, in the Bhuddruck sub-division. It is not intended to store any of the importation rice, at places beyond the Bhuddruck sub-division. I shall return to Cuttack the day-after-to-morrow, inspecting the Piplee Orphanage on my way.

From E. W. MOLONY, Esq., Special Famine Commissioner, to A. B. SHEKLETON, Esq., Honorary Secretary, Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Committee, Calcutta,—(No. 261, dated the the 22nd April 1867.)

I HAVE the honor to forward, for information of the Committee, the Prices Current of the Cuttack District for the weeks ending, the 8th and 18th instant, and those for Balasore up to the 15th, with copies of the Reports of the Collectors. The Pooree returns* have not yet been received.

* Since received to 18th instant as per enclosure.

2. The importations reported by the Assistant Collector of Jajepore are on a large scale, and the grain is finding its way into Purgunnahs where stocks were, it is supposed, nearly exhausted. It is hoped that those who had good Rubbee crops, are laying in a stock to carry them through the rains.

3. I have requested the Special Assistant of Balasore, to open sales at the standard rates at Motoh, if he has not already done so.

4. The sales of Government rice to the public, have not been on at all an extended scale as yet.

5. Sales will be opened at the Bhuddruck sub-depôts as soon as they can be stocked. For the present there would be no demand, as the rates are lower than the Government rates.

General Narrative of the week ending Monday, April 15th 1867.

PRICES continue unchanged and rice is still imported from Ganjam, and finds its way, viâ, Telidumoodarpore or Pooree, even to Hurishpore and Bonomalleepore. Rice is easily procurable in Khordah, and in the western part of the District; it is more scarce to the eastward.

The spring crop is fair in most places, though the want of rain, about a fortnight ago, has done harm. The crop in Khordah has suffered generally, and is said to be little more than a half crop; while in Bulbhudderpore and Sevain, where distress was showing itself, a good crop has relieved the people for the present. The mungoe crop has been good in Banpore and Panchgurh. The late heavy rains give good promise for the later crops. The ryots are breaking up land freely in most places, but about Kukutpore, the loss of population and general poverty, seem likely to lead to restricted cultivation.

The zemindars and under-tenants do not come forward to take Tuccavy advances. I have deputed a Deputy Collector to Kakutpore, and requested him to see to this, and endeavour to induce the people to help themselves; and have personally communicated with the zemindars, to see how we can induce them to co-operate with us.

The people of Malood are very much depressed, and are beginning to feel that that tract cannot support its present population by agriculture alone. They are, I am glad to say, migrating to more fertile parts. There seems to be plenty of work for those who can and will work, and they look well fed and thriving, but it is very sad to notice that in many cases the men are well fed and well clothed, while the women of their family are almost starving and half clad. This is specially the case with the families of those who seek work at a distance from home. The Assistant Collector of Khordah reports that fevers are prevalent, but I have not heard of much sickness in other parts.

Officiating Collector.

REMARKS.

PRICES in the north of the District have remained unchanged during the week. The price of ordinary rice at Bhuddruck is reported as three seers per rupee cheaper, but no explanation is as yet furnished by the Deputy Collector of the cause of the fall. Thursday and Friday brought heavy storms of rain, apparently over some extent of country; nearly four inches was recorded in the two days.

The Deputy Collector of Bhuddruck remarks on the necessity for opening sales of Government rice at Dhamnuggur, Kotea, Dolgram, but at none of these places the rate at present appears to have risen higher than Rupees 3-4 per maund. In Byang, the Dalloa crop is said to have partially suffered from the recent storms and hail.

BALASORE COLLECTORATE,
The 15th April 1867.

Deputy Collector in charge.

WEEKLY REPORT.

Nothing new or of any importance has transpired since my last report. The price of rice is slighly dearer in the town of Cuttack, but importations from Sumbulpore and the Gurjats still continue, and the rice is being conveyed into the interior. Crime is not increasing, and I have received no unfavorable reports from any part of the District.

The Assistant Collector at Jajcepore reports that, rice is a seer dearer in the town than at any other place in the sub-division, except into where it is difficult to get at all. The importation into the sub-district from the south and west of Balasore and Keangur, have been on a larger scale than before. An average of about 2,500 pack-bullocks passing Jajcepore and its neighbourhood each day. The rice finds its way to Aul, Aitee, Darahpee and Kendraparah. From Kendraparah I have received no specific report, but am told that the country generally presents a far more favorable appearance than it did some weeks back, the greater portion of it having been ploughed in the late rain.

In the south-eastern portion of the District, I am also informed that ploughing has been carried on to a fair extent.

I have heard of no particular rise in prices in any part of the District. A copy of the Jajcepore Assistant Collector's letter is annexed.

CUTTACK, COLLECTOR'S OFFICE,
The 8th April 1867.

From G. SMEATON, ESQ., Assistant Collector of Cuttack, to the Collector of Cuttack,—(No. A5, dated the 2nd April 1867.)

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to enclose the bazaar rate for the week ending 30th March 1867. Rice, it will be observed, is a seer dearer in Jajcepore bazaar. I forward, however, a detailed list, shewing the rates prevailing in the various bazaars throughout the sub-division. From this it appears that the Jajcepore rate is the highest in the sub-division, with the exception of Motoh where I am informed it is got with difficulty at any price. The Dhola crop has not been an average one, according to reports from the Mofussil, but I am inclined to think that this is a mistake, perhaps from an unconscious tendency on the part of such men as Unmolutter Darogas, and others similarly employed, to look at things in as gloomy a way as possible.

In Burmeah again, the stock in the hands of the people is estimated, by the Canongoe, at 24,000 maunds, which would only suffice for the support of the people of that Pergunnah, for about one month and a half. This again, I think, an under-statement, but still I think it my duty to inform you of what is reported.

I am glad to be able to report that, contrary to the expectation I have expressed in forwarding the bazaar rates for the last two or three weeks, the importations from the south and west of Balasore District, Sohroh, Konjur, and elsewhere, have, this last week, been on a larger scale than in almost any week I have observed. I should estimate the daily number of pack-bullocks, which have passed Jajcepore and its neighbourhood, for four or five miles in either direction, at from 2,000 to 3,000, say 2,500. Each bullock may take a load of about a maund and a quarter. They are going to Aul, Altee, Darahepee, Kendraparah, Apeeripeur, Pattamoondie, Jodpore, &c. The inhabitants of these places have taken up for sale to Possee Monkolme mustard, millstones, and bamboo pegs. This certainly ought scarcely to be at a time when the late rains have greatly facilitated cultivation.

WEEKLY REPORT.

Prices in the Cuttack market much the same as last week, with a tendency to rise; there is also, I believe, a similar tendency throughout the District. The importatation from the Gurjats and Sumbulpore are less than before, and as the cultivating season advances, there is every probability of a still further decrease. I have passed through a good portion of the southern Pergunnahs, during the last week; in most places the ryots were busy ploughing; to the eye, the people seemed well fed, and there were no symptoms of present distress, though all plainly expressed their fears for the future, and the general impression seems to be that the stocks, except in those places where there was a large crop, are nearly exhausted. Sales were commenced at Machgong, but only from six to nine bags a day are disposed of. The high price at which the rice is sold, is generally complained of. Mr. Smeaton of Jajcepore says he has nothing new to report, but that he has observed importation going on, almost on the same scale as past week; these importations were principally to the western portion of the sub-division, viz., Altee, Alungir, Baruna, &c. No report has been received from Kendrapaiah.

CUTTACK, COLLECTOR'S OFFICE
The 15th April 1867

(Sd.) W. MACPHERSON, Collector

From H. L. DAMPIER, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Honorary Secretary to the Orissa Famine and Orphan Relief Fund,—(No. 1892, dated the 8th May 1867.)

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 41 of the 27th ultimo, and its enclosures, and am directed in reply to inform you that the Lieutenant-Governor observes with satisfaction that the local officers are alive to the importance of providing shelter at all the centres. The necessity of providing such shelter without delay should be pressed on their attention, as the want of it, when the early rains set in last year, led to much lamentable loss of life.

2. The Commissioner of Cuttack has been called upon to report to Government the extent to which the 350 paupers pronounced fit for work at Bonomalleepore have taken employment on the works of the Public Works Department, and the Officiating Master Attendant has been called upon to explain the circumstances under which due intimation of the despatch of tools to False Point was not given to the local officers.

3. With reference to the miserable position of the population in the Salt tracts in which capitalists are deterred from undertaking the manufacture of Salt by the large stores which are still in hand, and where the land is unsuited to the produce of rice, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that, under present circumstances, the migration of the people from this part of the district should be encouraged and even assisted.

4. The Commissioner of Cuttack has been already addressed on the subject of Mr. Jones, who seems physically unsuited for the exposure which his present duties entail, and arrangements will be made as soon as possible for relieving him from such duties.

License Tax.

From T. B. LANE, ESQ., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 2089B., dated the 3rd May 1867.)

I AM directed to report, for the information of the Lieutenant-Governor, that up to the 1st instant 878 Licenses have been issued by the Collector of Calcutta under Act XXI. of 1867, and the sum of Rupees 86,452-2-8 collected. The Board suggest the expediency of publishing these particulars weekly in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

High Court, Original Jurisdiction;
Registrar's Office,
Calcutta, the 14th May 1867.

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

First.—Every bidder shall, if required, sign his name opposite the sum he bids, and the highest bidder shall be declared the purchaser, provided the Registrar of this Court shall think a sufficient sum has been offered.

Second.—If any dispute shall arise as to the last or highest bidder, the property shall be put up again at the last undisputed bidding and re-sold.

Third.—No person shall advance a less sum on a bidding than the amount fixed by the said Registrar at the time of the sale, and no bidding shall be retracted.

Fourth.—One-fourth of the purchase money shall be immediately paid down by the purchaser, in default the property may be immediately put up again if the said Registrar shall think proper to do so.

Fifth.—Purchasers must satisfy themselves as to the title before the sale, as no objections will be entertained or allowed after the sale.

Sixth.—The conveyance to the purchaser shall be prepared and shall be approved of by the Solicitor of the Plaintiff at the purchaser's expense.

Seventh.—Whatever deeds, documents, other evidences of title relate to other premises of greater value, the purchaser shall not be entitled to the possession of the original thereof, but will be furnished with attested copies thereof, and also with a covenant to produce the original, such attested copies and deed of covenant to be supplied to the purchaser at his expense.

Eighth.—The residue of the purchase money shall be paid, and the purchase completed within one month from the date of the sale, with interest on balance from date of sale to date of payment at 6 per cent per annum.

Ninth.—If the purchase shall not be completed as last above stipulated within one month from the date of sale, through any default of the purchaser, he shall pay interest from that day on the residue of the purchase money until payment at 12 per cent per annum.

Tenth.—If the purchaser shall fail to comply with any of these conditions, his deposit money shall be absolutely forfeited, and the said Registrar shall be at liberty to re-sale the premises with or without notice either by public or private contract, and the deficiency (if any) occasioned by such second sale, together with all expenses attending it, shall immediately after the re-sale be paid and made good by such first purchaser to the Plaintiff, and in case of non-payment shall be recoverable as and by way of liquidated damages.

Eleventh.—That no errors in description or as to measurements shall in any way invalidate the sale nor entitle the purchaser to recover damages or compensation, the property being open to inspection before sale.

License Tax.

From T. B. LANE, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 2310B, dated the 11th May 1867.)

IN continuation of my No. 2089B. of the 3rd instant, I am directed to report, for the information of Government, that during the week ending 4th May, 615 Licenses were issued by the Collector of Calcutta, under Act XXI of 1867, and the sum of Rupees 71,548-8 collected. This amount, added to Rupees 31,310-2-8 collected in the weeks preceding, shows that a totol sum of Rupees 1,02,858-10-8 has been realized, the total number of Licenses issued being 906.

Analysis of the fifth Remittance of Bark from India, by J. E. Howard, Esq., F. L. S.

To the Under-Secretary of State for India, dated the 4th February 1867.

I HAVE to report that the specimens of bark removed from trees in September and October 1866 reached me in good condition. The No. 1 specimen shows at once its superiority, and approaches nearly in appearance to the fine red bark grown in South America. No. 2 does not differ much at first sight, except in the absence of lichens, from No. 3. Amongst the barks of this parcel suited for sale at public auction, the broker at once selected the specimen of C. Pahudiana, as the most likely to give satisfaction, and as likely to realize at the present time from 1*s.* 6*d.* to 1*s.* 8*d.* per pound. Next to this, and at about the same value, comes No. 6, which is very much like the original specimen of this bark, as gathered by Mr. Cross, and now in my possession, together with a very well preserved specimen of a flowering branch of this sort, the Colorada del Rey of Pavon, and now named C. officinalis, var Bonplandiana. (See "Mr. Markham's Memorandum, at p. 5 of the Parliamentary Return (Chinchona) of June 18th 1866.) I make this correction on the strength of the corresponding appearance with the specimen brought by Mr. Cross, and beg to direct particular attention to the discrimination of the varieties of C. officinalis, which, though classed together in some returns, and in others declared to be "not distinguishable," will be seen to be of totally different value for cultivation. Of this the C. officinalis, var. crispa, is a remarkable illustration. I pointed out in 1852 the great inferiority of produce in alkaloids of this, the "fine Loja bark" of modern commerce, to the original Loja barks. This characteristic is not altered by the new place of growth, and this sort also preserves its peculiarly black appearance, and its very crisp fracture, from which peculiarities it was called Cascarilla crespilla negra by the Spanish dealers. It is, however, no longer noted in its new place of growth for the aroma (compared by Professor Guibourt to that of tobacco), nor has it the same pleasing appearance as when grown on the mountains of Loja. It would fetch probably 1*s.* 4*d.* to 1*s.* 5*d.* per pound in the market. The remaining parcels would not at first command a ready sale, as they differ so widely in appearance from any now in the market.

The quantity sent this time, especially of the earlier numbers, was more favourable for examination, affording the opportunity of correction by a second or third analysis of any point left obscure, an opportunity which I should desire for a future re-examination of No. 6, though I do not suppose that the result would be more favourable than it is this time.

(See Pereira's "Mat. Med.," Vol. II., Part II, p, 1639, and "Pharmaceutical Journal," August 1854.)

I trust that these trials will be useful in the guidance of the cultivation in India. It is evident that the plan adopted in No. 1 is the best. This was practised to some extent in the old times of collection of the Loja barks (as described by Ruiz in a M. S. in the British Museum, under the name of Cascarillas resacadas), but unless the bark is covered with moss immediately, as discovered by Mr. M'Ivor, the subjacent woody portion suffers serious injury. On the other hand, if this is attended to, the operation may be repeated with advantage, increasing, as it would seem, for every time of renewal. Not only is the gross percentage of alkaloids larger in the last decortication, but of this a more considerable percentage consists of quinine, and that less intimately combined with the yellow colouring matter, so as to be more easily purified. The structure reminds of the granulated formation of flesh over a wound, and does not exhibit the customary liber fibres, or at least in a very much smaller proportion to the mass of the bark. This great richness in alkaloids does not seem to consist, therefore, with the views entertained by Wigand and others, that these liber fibres are the seat of the alkaloids. The improvement is less apparent in the present sample of the C. officinalis (No. 4), but it is probable that some slight alteration might add a large portion of the at present uncrystallized 1·35 per cent. of alkaloid soluble in ether to the previous amount of crystallized sulphates. In the meantime, the examination of No. 4 and No. 5 discloses a most gratifying success, in the excellence of what I conclude to be the predominant variety cultivated in India.* It is only in very few instances that the best Bolivian bark approaches the good quality which this Colorada del Rey has already attained in India.

I have not yet had specimens for examination of the East Indian C. officinalis var. Uritusinga, but have reason to suppose this must also be a valuable species, whilst it must be evident that the var. crispa should not be propagated, as it will not repay the expense of cultivation. The same remark, in my opinion, applies to the C. Calisaya, var. Frutex (as the sort hitherto chiefly cultivated is very properly named by Mr. M'Ivor*); also to the C. Pahudiana, which yields me much the same amount of alkaloid soluble in ether that it has done to Dr. De Vry. It is a pity to plant this sort; but where, as in Java, it is so extensively grown, it were equally a pity, as I think, not to turn the bark to some useful purpose in the way of decoctions.

I think the variety of C. officinalis, which bore the name of Cascarilla amarilla del Rey, and which would now be C. officinalis, var. Bonplandiana lutea, should also be introduced into the Indian cultivation. The bark of this sort fetches a high price in the market, as it is excellent for pharmaceutical preparations, and contains quinine in a very pure state.

It seems to me, that none of the small quill barks intended for sale to the druggists should be mossed, as the natural appearance of the bark would be more acceptable to the general dealer.

The effect of the application of moss for a few months to No. 2 does not show, as compared with the original unmossed bark of No. 3, so much real advantage as might have been expected. There is an increase in alkaloid, but this bears more upon the uncrystallizable portion of the quinine (as I ascertained by repeated experiment), and also upon the chinchonine, which was apparently doubled in the mossed bark at the expense of the chinchonicine. I cannot account for this fact, but perhaps Mr. M'Ivor may gain some light upon it.

The chinchonine in these two samples was obtained in a beautifully crystalline form as alkaloid, and afterwards in its characteristic crystallization as sulphate. Chinchonicine, the residuary product, insoluble in ether and of rather uncertain composition.

On the whole, the present remittance of barks is unquestionably the most instructive and the most encouraging that I have had the opportunity of examining from India.

MILITARY. No. 98.

INDIA OFFICE; London, the 8th April 1867.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

SIR,—I have to inform you that the Queen has approved of a proposal to substitute a Royal Crown on the colors of Regiments of Native Infantry for the Lion and Crown—the badge of the East India Company.

2. This alteration will be made as demands for new colors are received.

I have, &c.,

(Sd.) STAFFORD H. NORTHCOTE.

No. 516.—The 15th May 1867.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to publish, for general information, the following extract from a Despatch from the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for India, No. 95, dated 30th March 1867, paragraphs 1, 2, 3 and 4 :—

1. My attention has been drawn to the large number of Officers of all grades belonging to the Indian Army who have availed themselves of the opportunity offered them to join the several Staff Corps under Lord Cranborne's Despatch No. 159, dated the 8th August 1866, and to the probable effect which will result from the continued operation of the rule laid down in paragraphs 79 and 80 of Military letter to India, No. 194 of 17th June 1864, by expediting the regimental promotion of the comparatively small number who may have preferred to remain on the list of the Indian Army, and of the Officers of the General List, who have hitherto had considerable advantages in promotion.
2. It seems certain that the promotion of both these classes of Officers will be now greatly accelerated by the operation of the rule in question, so that they will probably gain an advantage in this respect over the Officers who have joined the Staff Corps. The probability of such a result was not lost sight of in the preparation of the Despatch of the 8th August last ; but it was not thought advisable in giving to the Officers of the Indian Army the choice of either remaining on the list of that Army or of joining the Staff Corps, to interfere with the free exercise of that option between the two lines of promotion as then standing, by the withdrawal of a concession which had been deliberately granted to the Officers of the Indian Army.
3. It was, therefore, not proposed in that Despatch to interfere with the rule under which the names of Officers of the several Staff Corps, on being brought up to the position of Lieutenant-Colonels on the regimental list of the Arm of the service to which they formerly belonged, are removed from that list, and promotions made in their places.
4. Whatever may be the effect of the continued operation of this rule upon the relative rate of promotion among the Officers who have and those who have not joined the Staff Corps, under the conditions of Lord Cranborne's Despatch No. 159 of the 8th August 1866, the choice on both sides has been freely made, and I do not propose to make any alteration.

The foregoing decision does not apply to the Officers of the General List, regarding whose promotion a special reference has been made by Her Majesty's Government, the result of which will be hereafter promulgated.

High Court, Original Jurisdiction;
Registrar's Office,
Calcutta, the 14th May 1867.

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

First.—Every bidder shall, if required, sign his name opposite the sum he bids, and the highest bidder shall be declared the purchaser, provided the Registrar of this Court shall think a sufficient sum has been offered.

Second.—If any dispute shall arise as to the last or highest bidder, the property shall be put up again at the last undisputed bidding and re-sold.

Third.—No person shall advance a less sum on a bidding than the amount fixed by the said Registrar at the time of the sale, and no bidding shall be retracted.

Fourth.—One-fourth of the purchase money shall be immediately paid down by the purchaser, in default the property may be immediately put up again if the said Registrar shall think proper to do so.

Fifth.—Purchasers must satisfy themselves as to the title before the sale, as no objections will be entertained or allowed after the sale.

Sixth.—The conveyance to the purchaser shall be prepared and shall be approved of by the Solicitor of the Plaintiff at the purchaser's expense.

Seventh.—Whatever deeds, documents, other evidences of title relate to other premises of greater value, the purchaser shall not be entitled to the possession of the original thereof, but will be furnished with attested copies thereof, and also with a covenant to produce the original, such attested copies and deed of covenant to be supplied to the purchaser at his expense.

Eighth.—The residue of the purchase money shall be paid, and the purchase completed within one month from the date of the sale, with interest on balance from date of sale to date of payment at 6 per cent per annum.

Ninth.—If the purchase shall not be completed as last above stipulated within one month from the date of sale, through any default of the purchaser, he shall pay interest from that day on the residue of the purchase money until payment at 12 per cent per annum.

Tenth.—If the purchaser shall fail to comply with any of these conditions, his deposit money shall be absolutely forfeited, and the said Registrar shall be at liberty to re-sale the premises with or without notice either by public or private contract, and the deficiency (if any) occasioned by such second sale, together with all expenses attending it, shall immediately after the re-sale be paid and made good by such first purchaser to the Plaintiff, and in case of non-payment shall be recoverable as and by way of liquidated damages.

Eleventh.—That no errors in description or as to measurements shall in any way invalidate the sale nor entitle the purchaser to recover damages or compensation, the property being open to inspection before sale.

Report on the Cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling during the month of March 1867.

From T. ANDERSON, ESQ., M. D., Superintendent, Botanical Gardens and in Charge of Cinchona cultivation in Bengal, to the Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 21, dated the 6th May 1867.)

I HAVE the honor to forward the Report on the cultivation of Cinchona at Darjeeling, for the month of March 1867.

Report on the cultivation of Cinchona at Darjeeling during the month of March 1867.

ALL the steps of the cultivation have been successfully conducted during the month. The greatest advance has necessarily been in the clearing and preparation of ground for permanent plantations. A continuous clearance for permanent planting has been made from No. 5 at 5,000 feet above the sea to the base of the Rungbee Spur, below the lowest plantation, except in one or two spots which are too rugged to be fit for planting.

The burning of the jungle has been retarded by damp weather, but notwithstanding, the clearance is nearly finished. A plantation of C. Succirubra of about eighty acres has been opened out near the Teesta Valley, at heights between 600 and 1,200 feet above the sea. Advantage was taken of favorable weather for open-air planting, to plant about fifteen acres of land with C. Succirubra and C. Officinalis. The total number of plants placed in these bark yielding plantations during the month, was 20,673. 21,000 plants of C. Succirubra have been transferred to open air beds. 50,350 cuttings were made during the month, and 13,150 seedlings have been added to the Seedlings and Cuttings Beds. The total increase of seedlings and cuttings during the month is 63,500, making the total number of plants and cuttings in all stages of growth 7,82,048.

The weather during March has been damper than usual, 4·1 inches of rain were recorded at the 2nd plantation.

I have recently received from London a satisfactory account of the analysis by Mr. Howard, of a small piece of bark of C. Succirubra taken from a branch one year old, which was accidently broken last November. This sample has yielded, Mr. Markham informs me, 3½ per cent of alkaloids. The result of this analysis, it is stated, will be communicated to His Excellency the Governor General, by the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India.

T. Anderson, M. D.,

Superintendent of the Botanical Gardens, and in Charge of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal.

State of the Bhuddruck Sub-Division.

From T. B. Lane, Esq , Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No 889J., dated the 10th May 1867.)

In forwarding herewith, for the consideration and orders of Government, copy of a letter from the Commissioner of Cuttack, I am directed to observe that although Public Works, whether under the Public Works Department or the Local Authorities, are not within the cognizance of the Board, the Commissioner has been requested to keep them informed of the progress thereon, as the means of labor afforded on all public works has an immediate bearing on the requirements of the Province in the way of importation and relief measures.

2. I am further to observe that the Rooknadaipore Import Golah is well situated for the supply of Pergunnahs Bhera and Ankoora, and that of Chaudballee for the Pergunnahs Bayang, Bowtea, and Kymah, mentioned in paragraph 7 of the Commissioner's letter.

3. The Commissioner has been directed to establish Government-Sale Golahs at Gamnuggur, Jajipore, and Bhuddruck, if he considers such a measure necessary.

4. The proposition to change the Government Golah from Dhamrah to South Baliapal can only be carried out on the clearest proof of its expediency, as great expense has been incurred in the construction of golahs at Dhamrah, and as South Baliapal is within comparatively easy reach of both Dhamrah and Rooknadaipore golahs.

5. With regard to paragraph 11 of the Commissioner's letter, I am to observe that, in accordance with paragraph 67 of Junior Member's last Minute upon the importation operations in Cuttack, the Sub-Divisional Officer of Bhuddruck should, in regard to all matters connected with those operations, have been placed in direct communication with, and under the direct supervision of, the Commissioner, and this change will be again ordered.

From T. E Ravenshaw Esq , Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 496, dated the 30th April 1867)

In continuation of my No. 190, dated 29th April, I have the honor to submit the following information respecting Bhuddruck Sub-Division, as extracted from the Special Collector's Diaries: —

2. The road from Jajipore, passing through Pergunnah Munsooree and joining the main Trunk Road at Chunderbanpore, is reported as in a very bad state, and requiring extensive repair and bridging. It is said to be hardly passable for carts; a sum of money was provided for this road last year from the District Road Fund, and being contiguous to Jajipore, though in Balasore District, it was placed under the management of the Jajipore Deputy Magistrate. A further sum will be appropriated to this road from the present year's allotment, and instructions have already issued for its proper repair and completion.

3. The Trunk Road between Chunderbanpore and Bhuddruck is reported as in a very wretched condition, and as contrasting most unfavorably with the other part of the line within Cuttack District. A quantity of metal has been collected at side of the road, and I trust this will be spread and the road made passable through the rains. I have called attention of the Superintending Engineer to the absolute necessity of the main Trunk Road being kept open. The metal, if collected now, can be best spread during the rains, and will then afford labor when ordinary earth-work is impossible. Some of the bridges also are being repaired or renewed, but the road-work was stated by Mr. Assistant Engineer Hyde to be unpopular owing to delay in paying work people.

4. Of the feeder roads in hand in Bhuddruck—

1.—The Sobrang and Baneetaloo road is finished with exception of one mile.

2.—The road from Baneetaloo viâ Aroroopea towards Koparee was in hand and four or five miles finished.

3.—The branch road connecting Ayas through Dhamnugger with the Grand Trunk Road at Bareepore was in hand, the supply of labor moderate, and the road expected to be complete before the rain.

4.—The branch road from the Agurpara line to Kaparee on the Salundee has had some work finished, but has been delayed on account of a dispute with the contractor.

5. The following roads are ready to commence as soon as there may be a demand for labor :—

1.—From Aroroopea to Koparee.

2.—From Koparee to Agurpara.

3.—From Koparee to Tooragurrea.

I am not satisfied with the progress made on these works, more particularly as a special officer, Mr. Glosson, was employed to look after them, and subsequently Mr. Assistant Engineer Hyde was deputed to superintend. I have called for a full report and explanation of delay; about 600 men only are at present employed.

6. Under the Executive Engineer of Balasore, the following works are in progress in Bhuddruck :—

1.—Raising and remodelling the Grand Trunk Road.

2.—Repairing and renewing about half a dozen large bridges.

3.—Construction of the road from Mutoh to Kolha.

4.—Construction and repair of the river and sea embankments to the east and south of the Bhuddruck Sub-Division. The embankments on the upper part of the Byturnee and Khursooa are said to be finished and raised two feet above last year's flood, but the want of sufficient supply of labor will prevent more than repair of breaches in embankments on either river as noted in my last report. Mr. Windle notes that excellent dalloa crops have been gathered in this tract, where the people look mainly to their bealee and dalloa crops, constant and yearly inundations rendering the sarud crop at all times precarious. Mr. Windle had some time previous to Mr. Geddes' visit 10,000 coolies at work, but recently the supply of labor has much fallen off owing to extensive ploughing now being carried on, and to the reaping of the dalloa crop. The difficulty in procuring labor was greatest towards the coast, where much illicit salt-making is stated to be going on.

7. Generally throughout Bhuddruck the purely agricultural classes are well off and have supplies of rice, but in the south of the Sub-Division non-agriculturists, weavers, and coolies have difficulty in getting rice to purchase, as those who hold grain are very unwilling to part with it. Between Bhuddruck and Jajipore Mr. Geddes met 80 bullocks carrying rice south into Cuttack, and about the same number returning. They take kulye and castor seed from the south and exchange for rice in the direction of Sohro Pergunnah. Several Zemindars and the Tehsildar of Nooanund stated that they had no complaint to make about seed which was procurable, and that the ryots would be fully supplied. The information generally obtained leads to belief that the following Pergunnahs have suffered most and have much prospect of distress:—Pergunnah Bheera, half of Pergunnah Aukoora, Bayang, Bowtea and Kymah. The Zemindars spoke of the hopeless degradation of the people who had resorted to Relief Centres, and no wish was expressed for their extension. They advocated the employment of the people on tanks and roads where they can earn a living. There appears no need of projecting new works in Bhuddruck, but it will be necessary to prosecute with more vigour those works already in hand. The great difficulty appears to be the prompt and punctual periodical payment to contractors for work done, and I have again written to the Special Assistant Engineer to insist on this being done, employing, if necessary, additional supervising agency.

8. Rice in Bhuddruck sells in ordinary week-days at about 4 pice a seer, or 14 to 16 seers per rupee. On market days at 5 pice the seer. Towards the coast prices are said to average about ten Calcutta seers per rupee. To the west of the Trunk Road the whole country has been, or is being, cultivated, but to the coast and towards the coast, it is said that not more than one-fourth will be cultivated.

9. Mr. Geddes, in communication with the Assistant Collector, advocates the establishment of an additional Government golah at Dhamnugger, and the removal of the Dhamra golah to south Baliapal, and the opening of Government sales also at the Bhuddruck Sub-Divisional Station, in order to be able to meet any heavy calls for sales which could not be supplied from Relief Centres. Mr. Smeaton, Deputy Collector, who had recently visited the neighbourhood of Dhamnugger and Kothar Relief Centres, found rice in that locality selling at 14 Calcutta seers per rupee, and Mr. O'Reilly, Deputy Collector, reported that in the neighbourhood of Ayas the price of rice was 11¼ Calcutta seers, and Mr. Windle, Executive Engineer, found rice selling in the low country between the Khursooa and Byturnee at about 12 Calcutta seers per rupee. Mr. Sinclair, whose Head-Quarters are at Barripore on the Trunk Road half way between Jajipore and Bhuddruck, and who is in charge of the Kola, Motoh, Kotar, and Barripore Relief Centres, had found difficulty in procuring transport for rice from Government golah at Chandbalee, and had been purchasing rice for his centres from the local moodies; but as there is a free passage for boats up the Byturnee to a place called Roormalee, within four miles of Kothar centre, he might, without difficulty, cart the rice from thence to Kothar and Besipore.

10. At Bhuddruck Relief Centre there were 268 infirm paupers, non-laborers 130 sick and in hospital, and 33 children, orphans, who are about to be transferred to the Balasore Orphanage. Besides these, there were 720 paupers working on the light labor gang. At the other Bhuddruck Relief Centres there were at Panpore in Pergunnah Bhera 900 paupers. These are stated to require weeding out—

At Kolah 600,
At Motoh lately taken over from Cuttack 300,
At Barripore 150,

making a total of 3,101 paupers in the whole of Bhuddruck Sub-Division, though in a recent report published in the Englishman, the number of paupers in Balasore was given as 1,17,000—an evident mistake. Cotton relief was being carried out, and cotton procured at 9 annas a seer.

11. Some difficulty and delay appears to arise from a double system of importation accounts kept both at Bhuddruck and at Balasore; Bhuddruck is so remote from Balasore, the Collector's supervision must be nominal. The Assistant Collector, Mr. Irwin, has now acquired some experience and knowledge of importation business, which he is competent to conduct under direct supervision from this Office, which will save delay. There are now no arrear accounts from Bhuddruck; the stock statements have been received and the cash accounts for March have also been forwarded to this Office.

12. The Conqueror, which was aground in the Dhamrah, has been got afloat and will be ready to assist unloading the Alfred's cargo. The weather at Dhamrah had been very unfavorable, a strong south-west wind constantly blowing. This latter information I have just received by telegram, dated 30th April, from Bhuddruck, so that she probably floated as was expected on the high tide of Sunday.

From H. L. Harrison, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No 2041, the 22nd May 1867.)

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 880J., dated the 10th instant, submitting copy of a letter from the Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, reporting the condition of the Bhudruck Sub-Division and the progress made in public works there, and in reply I am directed by the Lieutenant-Governor to make the following remarks.

3. The question of checking the illicit manufacture of Salt, referred to at the end of Mr. Ravenshaw's 6th paragraph, is being dealt with in a separate correspondence.

4. It appears that the agricultural operations which are now going on, have the effect of restricting the demand for employment on public works at present, but the Board should impress on the Commissioner and the Superintending Engineer the necessity of looking forward to the time when those operations shall have ceased; and of making every arrangement which can be made by forethought, for affording employment after the commencement of the rains. His Honor is aware of the difficulty of providing employment on a large scale at that season, but relies on the local authorities to do all that is in their power.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor has lately called* on the Commissioner to submit regular information as to the number of laborers employed in each fortnight, with apparently much the same object as the Board had in view in making a similar call. A copy of the letter is annexed, as the Board may wish to have the information furnished to them in precisely the same form.

The mean Temperature and the mean Wet Bulb are derived from the twenty-four hourly Observations made during the day.

The Dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1 foot 2 inches, and that of the Anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground.

No. 23.] [995]

The Calcutta Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1867.

Government of Bengal.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 30th April 1867, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General on the 21st May 1867, is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. IV OF 1867.

An Act to explain and amend Act VI of 1862 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, and to give validity to certain judgments.

Preamble.

WHEREAS certain appeals under Act X of 1859 of the Governor General of India in Council, entitled an Act to amend the Law relating to the recovery of rent in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, and under Act VI of 1862 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, entitled an Act to amend Act X of 1859, have been referred to Deputy Collectors by Collectors under the belief that power so to refer such appeals is conferred by Section XIX of the said Act VI of 1862, and whereas some of the said appeals so referred have been heard and determined by such Deputy Collectors : And whereas certain appeals have been heard and determined by Deputy Collectors placed in charge of Sub-divisions of districts under the belief that they had power to hear and determine such appeals ; And whereas it is expedient that the judgments passed by such Deputy Collectors on such appeals should be made valid, and that provision should be made for the more speedy determination of appeals in certain cases ; It is hereby declared and enacted as follows :—

Interpretation.

I. Words importing the singular number shall include the plural, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular.

Orders made by Deputy Collectors on referred appeals confirmed.

II. Save as hereinafter appears, every judgment, decree, and order, before the passing of this Act passed or made on any appeal by any Deputy Collector to whom such appeal may have been referred by the Collector having jurisdiction to decide such appeal, shall be as valid and binding and have the same force and effect as if the same had been passed or made by such Collector.

Orders on appeals made by Deputy Collectors in charge of Sub-divisions confirmed.

III. Save as hereinafter appears, every judgment, decree, and order, before the passing of this Act, passed or made by any Deputy Collector placed in charge of any Sub-division of a District, upon any appeal from any judgment, decree, or order made under the said Act X of 1859 or the said Act VI of 1862 by any Officer within such Sub-division, shall be as valid and binding as if such judgment, decree, or order of such Deputy Collector had been made by the Collector of the District within which such Sub-division is situate.

Proviso when appeals have been reheard by a Collector.

IV. Provided always that, in case any appeal upon which a judgment, decree, or order may have been passed or made by any Deputy Collector, shall, before the passing of this Act, have been reheard by a Collector, the judgment, decree, or order of such Deputy Collector upon such appeal shall not become valid or binding under or by virtue of anything hereinbefore contained.

Appellate jurisdiction may be exercised by officers specially appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

V. From and after the passing of this Act, it shall be competent to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal specially to appoint any fully qualified Revenue Officer to exercise the powers of the Collector of a District for the purpose of enabling him to hear and determine appeals under the said recited Acts, and such person so specially appointed shall have and exercise all such and the same powers in regard to the hearing of such appeals, as the Collector of the District, within which such person shall be so appointed, might have and exercise.

Read the following Despatch from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India :—

Financial. India Office;

No. 88. London, the 23rd March 1867.

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

Sir,—Para. 1. I have considered in Council your Financial letter dated the 10th January last, No. 12, submitting, for favorable consideration, an application from Mr. M. J. Shaw Stewart, Bombay Civil Service, requesting that Civil Servants who, at the date of the publication of the Financial Despatch dated the 25th November 1862, No. 193, "were entitled to leave of absence on urgent private "affairs, and had not previously availed themselves of it, "should be permitted to count the time of such leave of "absence, when afterwards granted, as part of their period "of residence."

2 As special leave on private affairs was only to be granted by the several Governments in India on very urgent grounds, and could never be claimed as a matter of right, I do not consider that any officer can be held to have been "entitled" to such leave at any specified period, and I must decline to sanction a modification of the rule which provides that leave of absence, taken under Section 9 of the Civil Absentee Rules, shall not be counted as residence.

I have, &c.,
(Sd.) Stafford H Northcote.

Order.—Ordered, that the foregoing Despatch be published in the Gazette of India, and that copies of it be forwarded to the Foreign and Home Departments, and the—Government of Bombay, in continuation of letter from this Department, No. 147, dated the 10th January 1867;

Governments of Bengal, Madras, the North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab;
Comptroller-General of Accounts;
Accountants-General, Bengal, Madras, Bombay, North-Western Provinces, Punjab, and British Burmah; and

Read the following :—

Financial. India Office;

No. 18. London, the 7th February 1867.

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor in Council, Fort St. George.

My Lord,—I have considered in Council your Revenue letter dated the 11th December last, No. 67, forwarding a memorial from N. C. Gopala Charry, late Treasurer in the Office of the Collector of Bellary, praying that he may either be allowed a furlough for one year in continuation of the two years' leave on medical certificate granted to him by your Government, or that those two years may be allowed to reckon as service qualifying for pension.

2. Both of the requests made by the memorialist are inadmissible under the Rules for the grant of leave of absence and pensions to Uncovenanted Servants in India, and I concur in the opinion expressed by you that there are no special grounds for relaxing them in his favor.

I have, &c.,
(Sd.) Cranborne.

Ordered, that the foregoing Despatch be communicated to the several Secretariats; the various Local Governments and Administrations (the Government of Madras excepted); the Director-General of the Post Office of India; the Officiating Mint Master, Calcutta; the Officiating Head Commissioner of Paper Currency; the Comptroller-General of Accounts, and the Local Officers of Account in the Civil Department.

2. Also that it be published in the Gazette of India.

Read the following Despatch from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India :—

FINANCIAL. INDIA OFFICE;
No. 148. London, the 25th April 1867.

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

SIR,—PARA. 1. I have considered in Council your Financial letter dated the 29th January last, No. 37, proposing the abolition of the rule that a subordinate, acting for his principal or for any superior Officer in the same office or establishment at the same station, shall not be entitled to deputation allowance until after the expiration of one month and that then the allowance is not to be drawn in arrear.

2. As you are of opinion that it is undesirable to continue this rule, I will not object to its abolition as proposed.

I have, &c.,
(Sd.) STAFFORD H. NORTHCOTE.

ORDERED, that the foregoing Despatch be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

E. H. LUSHINGTON,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

The following Orders issued by the Government of India, Military Department, are re-published for information:—

No. 541.—Simla, the 21st May 1867.—The services of Assistant Surgeon W. D. Stewart, are placed temporarily at the disposal of the Government of Bengal.

No. 545.—With reference to G. G. O. No. 190, dated 20th February 1867, the following letter from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, is published for general information :—

MILITARY. INDIA OFFICE;
No. 113. London, the 18th April 1867

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

SIR,—I have received and considered in Council your Military letter dated 28th February 1867, No. 40, having reference to Lord Cranborne's Despatch No. 288 of the 24th December 1866, extending to all Officers of the Bengal and Madras Armies holding permanent appointments situated above Allahabad and north of the Kistnah respectively, the rule which allows Regimental Officers whose corps are similary situated to land at Bombay, and to enjoy, on reporting their arrival at that Presidency, the same advantages as they are entitled to on arrival at Calcutta or Madras; and suggesting for consideration further modifications of the existing rules affecting Officers proceeding to, or returning from, England on leave.

2. In consideration, mainly, of the improvement that has taken place in the facility for Officers to travel throughout India, your Government propose—

1*st*.—That the existing restrictive limit, as to the part of India whereat an Officer returning from England shall report his return to duty, be altogether removed, and that "an Officer's return be considered to commence "on the date of his report of arrival at whatever port "he may, in good faith, disembark with that object."

2*nd*.—That in order to place all Officers serving in India on a fair and equal footing, the present regulation may be so far modified, that "Officers who may be absent "on sick leave at other than their own Presidencies, "may proceed thence direct to Europe, if granted "leave on medical certificate by the local Government, such leave being reckoned to commence from "the date of embarkation, or that on which the "pilot quits the vessel, as the case may be, according to the practice of the Presidency from which "they embark."

3. I approve of the existing rules being modified in the manner proposed by your Government in both the above cases: the revised rule in the latter case being brought into operation from the date of publication of your General Order upon the subject, and made applicable to all Officers whose leave to Europe may be published in the Gazette upon a date subsequent to that order.

I have, &c.,
(Sd.) STAFFORD H. NORTHCOTE.

No. 547.—With reference to G. G. O. No. 76, dated 23rd January 1866, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the station of Darjeeling be re-transferred from the Eastern Frontier Brigade to the Presidency Division; and that of Dacca, from the latter to the former.

No 556.—The 23rd May 1867.—Under instructions from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, it is hereby notified that the provisions of G. G. O. No. 899 of the 25th October 1866, do not apply to Officers of the Staff Corps, who are required to continue to subscribe to the Service Funds as heretofore.

No. 559.—The undermentioned Officers are permitted to proceed to Europe on leave of absence on sick certificate :—

Lieutenant-Colonel Herbert Raban, of the Bengal Staff Corps, Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Bengal ...	For six months.

DECLARATION.

The 27th May 1867.—It is hereby declared that a piece of land, measuring 3 beegahs and 18 cottahs, more or less, is required to be taken up at the public expense, for a public purpose, viz, for a Station house and Barracks for the Police of the Municipality of Howrah, in the District of Howrah. It is bounded as follows :—

On the North by the land of Mr. Chew.
On the East by the public road.

APPENDIX TO

The Calcutta Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1867.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the sale of the Proprietary right of Government to the Estates enumerated in the following Advertisements of Sale will be made subject to these

CONDITIONS OF SALE:

1*st.*—The Estates to be sold, subject to the Government Revenue against each, to the highest bidder above the upset price.

2*nd.*—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and laws in force, and Purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the Schedule of Assessment made by the Revenue Authorities.

3*rd.*—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rupees 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4*th.*—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rupees 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding Office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the Estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting Purchaser after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

5*th.*—In addition to the ordinary Government Revenue fixed on the Estates, the Purchasers shall be bound to pay for the construction of roads and improvement of communications one per cent. on the Government Revenue assessed from the date of entry upon the purchase. This sum will be leviable in the same manner as other arrears of Revenue.

By Order of the Board of Revenue, L. P.,

R. B. CHAPMAN,

Secretary.

The mean Temperature and the mean Wet Bulb are derived from the twenty-four hourly Observations made during the day.

The Dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1 foot 2 inches, and that of the Anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground.

LEGISLATIVE.

THE following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 29th May 1867, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to make their report thereon in a week :—

No. 14 OF 1867.

A Bill to render penal certain offences committed by servants of Railway Companies.

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend certain provisions of the Indian Penal Code relating to public servants to persons in the employment of Railway Companies; It is hereby enacted as follows :— Preamble.

1. In this Act "Railway Company" means the proprietors for the time being of every Railway or Tramway situate in the territories vested in Her Majesty or her successors under the Statute 21 and 22 Vic., Cap. 106 (an Act for the better Government of India), or (so far only as regards British subjects within the dominions hereinafter mentioned) situate in the dominions of Princes and States in the East Indies in alliance with Her Majesty or Her successors, and the lessees, representatives and assigns of such proprietors. Interpretation clause.

2. Every officer and servant of a Railway Company shall be deemed a public servant within the meaning of Sections 161, 162, 163, 164, and 165 of the Indian Penal Code. Railway Officers and servants to be "public servants" within meaning of Penal Code.

3. This Act shall be called "The Railway Servants' Act, 1867." Short Title.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to put a stop to the bribing of Station-masters and other Railway servants, a practice which has lately increased, and which must obviously be injurious to the mercantile community as well as to the Railway Companies. The Bill, in order to effect this object, simply declares that persons in the employ of Railway Companies shall be deemed to be "public servants" within the meaning of Sections 161-165 of the Indian Penal Code. This declaration forms a section of a Bill now before the Council, for Consolidating the Railway Law of India, which has been submitted to the Boards of the various Companies. No objection has been taken to the clause in question: on the contrary, there is a general concurrence of opinion in its favour. The Bill extends to persons employed on all Railways and Tramways in British India, and also (as to British subjects) in the dominions of allied Princes and States.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 30th April 1867, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General on the 21st May 1867, is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. IV OF 1867.

An Act to explain and amend Act VI of 1862 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, and to give validity to certain judgments.

WHEREAS certain appeals under Act X of 1859 of the Governor General of India in Council, entitled an Act to amend the Law relating to the recovery of rent in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, and under Act VI of 1862 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, entitled an Act to amend Act X of 1859, have been referred to Deputy Collectors by Collectors under the belief that power so to refer such appeals is conferred by Section XIX of the said Act VI of 1862, and whereas some of the said appeals so referred have been heard and determined by such Deputy Collectors: And whereas certain appeals have been heard and determined Preamble.

by Deputy Collectors placed in charge of Sub-divisions of districts under the belief that they had power to hear and determine such appeals; And whereas it is expedient that the judgments passed by such Deputy Collectors on such appeals should be made valid, and that provision should be made for the more speedy determination of appeals in certain cases; It is hereby declared and enacted as follows :—

Interpretation.

I. Words importing the singular number shall include the plural, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular.

Orders made by Deputy Collectors on referred appeals confirmed.

II. Save as hereinafter appears, every judgment, decree, and order, before the passing of this Act passed or made on any appeal by any Deputy Collector to whom such appeal may have been referred by the Collector having jurisdiction to decide such appeal, shall be as valid and binding and have the same force and effect as if the same had been passed or made by such Collector.

Orders on appeals made by Deputy Collectors in charge of Sub-divisions confirmed.

III. Save as hereinafter appears, every judgment, decree, and order, before the passing of this Act, passed or made by any Deputy Collector placed in charge of any Sub-division of a District, upon any appeal from any judgment, decree, or order made under the said Act X of 1859 or the said Act VI of 1862 by any Officer within such Sub-division, shall be as valid and binding as if such judgment, decree, or order of such Deputy Collector had been made by the Collector of the District within which such Sub-division is situate.

Proviso when appeals have been reheard by a Collector.

IV. Provided always that, in case any appeal upon which a judgment, decree, or order may have been passed or made by any Deputy Collector, shall, before the passing of this Act, have been reheard by a Collector, the judgment, decree, or order of such Deputy Collector upon such appeal shall not become valid or binding under or by virtue of anything hereinbefore contained.

Appellate jurisdiction may be exercised by officers specially appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

V. From and after the passing of this Act, it shall be competent to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal specially to appoint any fully qualified Revenue Officer to exercise the powers of the Collector of a District for the purpose of enabling him to hear and determine appeals under the said recited Acts, and such person so specially appointed shall have and exercise all such and the same powers in regard to the hearing of such appeals, as the Collector of the District, within which such person shall be so appointed, might have and exercise.

Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,

Legislative Dept.

THE following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 23rd May 1867, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General on the 30th idem, is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. V OF 1867.

An Act for shortening the language used in Acts passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Preamble.

WHEREAS certain provisions are commonly inserted in Acts passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council for the interpretation of such Acts, and it is expedient to avoid the frequent repetition of such provisions; It is declared and enacted as follows :—

Interpretation of certain words in future Acts.

I. In all Acts passed after the commencement of this Act, and containing nothing expressly to the contrary, words importing the masculine gender shall be deemed and taken to include females, and the singular to include the plural, and the plural the singular; the word "Magistrate" shall include all persons exercising all or any of the powers of a Magistrate; the word "person" shall include any incorporated Company or incorporated association of persons; the word "month" shall be taken to mean calendar month, unless words be added showing lunar month to be intended; the word "land" shall include houses and buildings and corporeal hereditaments and tenements of any tenure, unless where there are words to exclude houses and buildings or to restrict the meaning to tenements of some particular tenure; and the words "oath," "swear," and "affidavit" shall include affirmation, declaration, affirming, and declaring, in the case of persons by law allowed to declare or affirm instead of swearing.

Repealed Acts not to be revived.

II. Wherever any Act shall, after the time fixed for the commencement of this Act, be passed repealing in whole or in part any former Act or Regulation, and such Act shall itself be repealed, such last repeal shall not revive the Act or Regulation or provisions before repealed, unless words be added reviving such Act, Regulation, or provisions.

Repealed provisions to continue in force till substituted provisions come into operation.

III. Wherever any Act shall, after the time fixed for the commencement of this Act, be passed repealing in whole or in part any former Act, and substituting some provision or provisions instead of the provision or provisions so repealed, the provision or provisions so repealed shall remain in force until the substituted provision or provisions shall come into operation by force of the last mentioned Act.

Provision for the recovery of fines.

IV. The provisions of Sections 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, and 70 of the Indian Penal Code, and of Section 61 of the Code of Criminal Procedure shall apply to all fines which may be imposed under the authority of any Act hereafter to be passed.

Commencement of Act.

V. This Act shall commence and take effect upon the first day of June now next ensuing.

From British Indian Association, dated 21st May 1867, and enclosures.

3. Many verbal alterations have been introduced into the Bill, especially in those Sections which have been retained from the existing Acts; and the language of the Bill has been revised throughout with reference to the interpretation Section, in which we have introduced definitions of "Recruiter," "Employer," and "Laborer."

4. The first substantial alteration which we have made in the Bill will be found in the present Section 7, which empowers the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to establish a Central Depôt. It is intended that this Central Depôt may be used by Contractors for the collection and temporary accommodation of intending laborers in the same way as the private depôts are used, and all the provisions of the Bill with regard to the existing establishments, will apply to the Central Depôt, which will also be maintained and superintended under the instructions of the Local Government.

5. In Section 12 we have provided that every Recruiter shall, in addition to the badge required by Act III of 1863, be provided with a written pass signed by his Contractor.

6. We have omitted Section 13 of the Bill, which constituted every building occupied by natives of India engaged by a Recruiter, a local depôt. The Section, as it appears to us, would have had no practical effect, and the desired object is gained by Section 15 of the Bill, which we have now made Section 14.

7. In Section 16 of the Bill (one of the most important) we have introduced a more specific enumeration of the matters on which the native laborer on his first engagement by the Recruiter is to be examined by the Magistrate. Under the existing Acts the only thing which the Magistrate can do, in case of his finding that the native has been recruited by means of fraud or misrepresentation, is to refuse to register the name. We have therefore introduced a new Section (17) empowering the Magistrate to impose a fine in any such cases; and as the procuring a native to proceed to a District where he is not resident, with the view of prevailing on him to enter into an engagement there, would be a fraud, we have omitted Section 17 of the Bill as unnecessary.

8. Under Section 23 of the original Bill, in the case of any recruited native being pronounced by the Medical Inspector in an unfit state of health to proceed to the District of Assam, &c., the Contractor might be ordered to cause such native to be reconveyed to the place at which he was registered. It would be so very difficult, if not impossible, to ascertain whether and to what extent such an order had been carried out, that we have thought it better to confine the Section to requiring the Contractor to pay the native a sufficient sum to enable him to return.

9. We have made certain alterations as regards the arrangement of the Sections of the Bill relating to the proceedings from the time the native inhabitant is brought before the Superintendent with the view of his entering into a contract, to the time when he becomes a laborer. The provisions regarding this part of the subject are now all brought together in consecutive order in what are now Sections 25 to 29 of the Bill as amended. Among these we have dealt with the cases of recruited natives refusing, without reasonable cause, to sign the contract, and of Contractors neglecting to tender contracts for execution. And we have provided by one Section (29) for the enforcement in all cases of orders on Contractors to pay money.

10. The Bill as it originally stood provided (Sections 26 to 29) for the appointment by the Local Government of Committees to determine the daily tasks which laborers were to perform within the several Districts, and to frame Schedules of these tasks to be determined: which Schedules were to be part of the laborers' contracts. We have had a good deal of discussion on this part of the subject, and considering the importance of not interfering unnecessarily with freedom of labor, and how much the determination of the proper nature and amount of the daily tasks must be dependent on and affected by local circumstances, to say nothing of differences as regards the strength and ability of the individual laborers, we have thought it preferable to substitute a different system. According to this (Sections 30 to 32 of the amended Bill) the daily tasks will be fixed by the employer, subject, on the complaint of the laborer, to revision by a Committee consisting of the Inspector, an employer nominated by him, and a nominee of the laborer's employers. We have not interfered with the provision as to the maximum contract term being three years, and the weekly days and daily hours of labor.

11. Under Section 39 of the original Bill, (Section 41 of the Bill as amended), laborers are not to be allowed finally to leave the steamer or boat, except at the place of destination mentioned in their pass. It has been represented to us that the operation of this Clause, which has been taken from the Act of 1863, (Section 27) has been in many cases to necessitate the landing of laborers at places inconveniently distant from the estates for which they are bound. We have therefore introduced a new Section (48 of the amended Bill), empowering the Magistrate at the place of destination named in the pass of any laborers, to allow such laborers to proceed to and land at some point intermediate between that place and the next authorized place of destination.

12. As it appears to us quite unnecessary to require that every boat, however small a number of laborers it conveys, should have a Medical Officer on board, we have limited the power of the Superintendent to require the presence of such Officer to cases where not less than fifty laborers are conveyed in one body (Section 49 of the amended Bill.) We have also thought it right to omit the provisions which the original Bill contained throwing the expense of providing Medical Officers, Cooks, &c., for the voyage on the Contractors.

13. On consideration, we have thought it advisable to omit from the Bill the Clause as to the proportion in which each party of laborers was to consist of females.

14. It has appeared to us to be sufficient security to the laborer that arrears of his wages (to the extent of 4 months) should be made a charge on the lands on which he has been engaged to work; and that there would be an injustice in making the general property of the owner of the lands for the time being liable for all breaches of the contract, whether they occurred before or after he became owner. We have therefore (Section 56 of the Bill as amended) modified the provisions of Section 54 of the original Bill. We have also omitted as unnecessary the Clause providing for transfer of contract.

15. We have provided (Sections 59 and 60 of the Bill as amended) for the appointment of Assistant Inspectors to exercise such powers as the Inspectors may depute to them. We have raised the maximum rate payable to provide for the salaries of the Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors, from one rupee to two rupees per laborer, as we have reason to conclude that the higher rate will not bear too hardly on the employers, and is not higher than the requisite expenditure may require. In place of rendering the estates liable to be sold by the Collector for nonpayment of the rate, we have thought it preferable to enact (Section 66 of the Bill as amended) that the Collector may recover the arrears from the owner by a regular civil suit.

16. On consideration, we have come to the conclusion that the time during which a laborer's employment is temporarily suspended, ought not to count as part of his contract term, inasmuch as the employer contracts for his actual services for that term. See accordingly Section 70 of the Bill as amended.

17. By Section 74 of the Bill as amended, we have given the employer an opportunity of showing cause, if he can, why the laborer should not be allowed to purchase his discharge, and we have (Section 76) empowered the laborer who has purchased his discharge to enter into a new contract as he chooses, whether with or without reference to the provisions of the Act.

18. As it originally stood, the Bill (Section 93) provided that, where a laborer had twice undergone sentence of imprisonment amounting in the whole to sixty days for desertion, the contract might be cancelled on the laborer's application. This provision has had our most careful consideration; and finding ourselves unable to reconcile its principle with the general scope and object of the Bill, we in the first instance had determined simply to omit the Clause, and in this way raise the question for the determination of the whole Council. We have since decided on the introduction of Clauses (Sections 92 and 93 of the amended Bill,) by which a laborer who deserts under reasonable apprehension of danger to his life or health will, on proof of that fact, escape punishment, and inasmuch as, by Section 99 of the Amended Bill, there may be an inspection and enquiry held as to the climate and situation of any estate which may appear to the Inspector unfit for human residence, and the cancellation of the laborers' contracts will follow in the event of the Committee of Enquiry reporting the estate unfit or residence, we conceive that the combined effect of these Clauses ought to render quite unnecessary the provision as to two imprisonments for desertion to which we have before referred.

19. There are certain other formal amendments which we need not particularize in this Report.

AMENDED BILL.

A Bill to amend Act III of 1863 and Act VI of 1865, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Preamble.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law regulating the transport of native inhabitants of India from or though the Provinces subject to the Government of Bengal, to the Districts of Assam, Cachar, and Sylhet, and the manner of engaging and contracting with native inhabitants of the said Provinces, to proceed to the said Disrricts, and providing for the protection of the persons so proceeding, and for the enforcement of the contracts of service entered into by them: It is enacted as follows:—

Interpretation.

I. The following words in this Act shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction, (that is to say)—

"Magistrate."

The word "Magistrate" in this Act shall include any Magistrate of Police for the Town of Calcutta.

"Contractor."

The word "Contractor" in this Act shall be taken to mean a person licensed under the provisions of this Act as a contractor.

"Recruiter."

The word "Recruiter" shall be taken to mean any person licensed under the provisions of this Act as a Recruiter.

"Employer."

The word "Employer" shall mean the chief persons in charge of any lands upon which laborers may be employed.

"Superintendent."

The word "Superintendent" shall mean any Officer appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to perform all or any of the duties of a Superintendent of labor transport under this Act.

"Steamer."

The word "Steamer" shall include any vessel propelled by steam, and any flat or barge towed by a steamer.

"India."

The word "India" shall mean any of the territories which are or may become vested in Her Majesty by the Statute 21 and 22 Vic., cap 106, entitled "An Act for the better Government of India."

"Laborer."

The word "Laborer" shall mean any person who has heretofore under the provisions of Act III of 1863, and Act VI of 1865, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, entered into, or shall hereafter, under the provisions of this Act, enter into a contract by which he has been or is to be conveyed to the place of labor at the expense of the employer contracting with him, and whose contract shall not have been completed, dissolved, or suspended.

"Inspector."

The term "Inspector" shall include any Officer appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to perform all or any of the duties of an Inspector under this Act, and any Protector appointed under the said last mentioned Acts.

"The said Districts"

The expression "The said Districts" shall mean the Districts of Assam Cachar, and Sylhet.

Native of India shall not be engaged to proceed to Assam, &c., or be conveyed there save under this Act.

II. From and after the commencement of this Act, whoever shall, otherwise than under the provisions of this Act, engage any native inhabitant of India in any of the Provinces subject to the Government of Bengal, to proceed to any or either of the said Districts for the purpose of laboring there for hire; and whoever shall, otherwise than under the provisions of this Act, convey any native inhabitant of India through any of the said Provinces to any or either of the Districts aforesaid for the purpose of laboring there for hire, shall be liable to a fine for every person so engaged or conveyed.

Penalty.

Proviso

Provided always that, save as hereinafter is expressly enacted, nothing in this Act shall apply to any engagement made in any or either of the said Districts.

Lieutenant-Governor may appoint Superintendents of Labor Transport and Medical Inspectors of Laborers.

III. For the purposes of this Act, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to appoint Superintendents of Labor Transport, and Medical Inspectors of Laborers, at any places where he may think proper: and whenever any Superintendent or Medical Inspector shall be so appointed, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, define the local limits within which such Superintendent or Medical Inspector shall exercise the powers and authority conferred on him by this Act. When such local limits shall have been so defined, no other Superintendent or Medical Inspector shall, within those limits, exercise any of the powers vested in a Superintendent or Medical Inspector by this Act.

No person not licensed as a Contractor or Recruiter, may engage or contract to supply laborers.

IV. Whoever, not being a Contractor or Recruiter shall engage, save through or by the agency of a Contractor, any native inhabitant of India to proceed to any of the said Districts for the purpose of laboring therein for hire; and whoever, not being a Contractor, shall enter into any contract to supply, or shall supply, any such native inhabitants for the purpose of laboring for hire in any of those Districts; and whoever, not being a contractor or Recruiter, shall enter into any contract to engage, or shall attempt to engage, any such native inhabitants to proceed to any of those Districts for the purpose aforesaid—shall be liable for each offence to fine, and in default of payment thereof, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.

Penalty.

Superintendent may grant licenses to Contractors

V. It shall be lawful for any Superintendent appointed under this Act to grant to such persons as he may think fit, licenses, in the form set forth in Schedule (A) to this Act annexed, to act as Contractors for engaging and supplying persons for the purpose of laboring for hire in the said Districts or any or either of them. For every such license a fee not exceeding one hundred Rupees (the amount of which shall from time to time be fixed by the Government of Bengal) shall be paid to the Superintendent granting the same; and every such license shall be in force for one year and no longer.

Contractors shall keep up depôts and receive and maintain laborers therein.

VI. Every Contractor shall, forthwith upon obtaining his license, unless and until there shall be some central depôt established under the provisions of the next succeeding Section, establish a depôt in a place to be approved of by such Superintendent. Every such depôt shall be maintained by such Contractor for the reception of native inhabitants of India to be supplied or forwarded by or through him. All such native inhabitants shall, on their arrival at or in the neighbourhood of the depôt so established by the Contractor by, through, or for, whom they shall have been engaged or forwarded, or of any such central depôt to be established as is mentioned in the next succeeding Section, be forthwith by such Contractor taken thereto, and shall be received therein, and shall receive in such depôt, at the expense of such Contractor, suitable lodging, food, clothing, and medical attendance, until such native inhabitants shall be declared by the Superintendent to be no longer thereto entitled. Every such depôt as aforesaid shall be under the supervision of the Superintendent, and shall be open to his inspection, and to the inspection of the Medical Inspector at all times, and shall be managed and regulated by the Contractor in accordance with such rules as the Superintendent may, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, from time to time, make and publish in the Calcutta Gazette in that behalf.

VII. It shall be lawful to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, if he shall so think fit, by order notified in the Calcutta Gazette, to authorize the establishment of a central depôt at such place as he may think proper. Such central depôt shall be constructed and maintained in accordance with such instructions and shall be under the charge of such persons as the said Lieutenant-Governor shall from time to time in that behalf direct. From and after the time that the said Lieutenant-Governor shall, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare such central depôt to be ready for the reception of native inhabitants as aforesaid, it shall not be lawful for any Contractor to maintain a depôt under the last preceding Section within such distance of any such central depôt as the Lieutenant-Governor shall by such order direct. All native inhabitants of India to be supplied or forwarded by any Contractor shall and may, on their arrival at or in the neighbourhood of the Central Depôt, be taken by the Contractor thereto subject to such instructions as aforesaid.

Power to establish a Central Depôt.

VIII. It shall be the duty of every Contractor to afford such information to the Superintendent by whom he is licensed, and to make such returns and reports to him, as such Superintendent, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, may from time to time require; and for the purposes of this Section, every Superintendent shall be deemed to be an officer in the service of Government.

Contractor to give Superintendent such information as he may require.

IX. It shall not be lawful to employ any person other than a Recruiter or Contractor to act as an Agent for engaging natives of India to proceed from or through any of the Provinces subject to the Government of Bengal, to any of the said Districts, for the purpose of their laboring for hire, and any person committing a breach of the provisions of this Section shall be liable to fine.

It shall not be lawful to employ an unlicensed Recruiter or Agent.

X. It shall be lawful for any Superintendent to grant, to such persons as he may think fit, licenses, in the form set forth in the Schedule (B) to this Act annexed, to act on behalf of some Contractor as Recruiters for engaging persons to proceed to the said Districts, for the purpose of laboring for hire. For every such license a fee not exceeding sixteen Rupees (the amount of which shall from time to time be fixed by the Government of Bengal) shall be paid to the Superintendent granting the same, and every such license shall be in force for one year and no more.

Superintendent may license Recruiters.

XI. It shall be lawful for any Superintendent, in case of the misconduct or of the disobedience to or neglect of any of the provisions of this Act by a Contractor or Recruiter, to cancel any license which he may have granted to such Contractor or Recruiter.

Superintendent may cancel the license of a Contractor or Recruiter.

XII. Every Recruiter shall wear a badge having legibly inscribed thereupon in the Oordoo and Bengalee languages, the name of the District or Districts to which he is licensed to engage laborers to proceed, and shall hold a written pass signed by the Contractor on whose behalf he is licensed to act.

Recruiter to wear a badge.

XIII. No Recruiter shall in any District engage or attempt to engage native inhabitants of India to become laborers without having first exhibited his license to the Magistrate in charge of such District and obtained his counter-signature thereon: nor shall he engage or attempt to engage such native inhabitants in the Town of Calcutta, without having first exhibited his license to the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of Police for the said Town, and obtained his counter-signature thereon.

Recruiter to obtain counter-signature of Magistrate.

XIV. No Magistrate, or Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of Police, to whom any such license shall have been exhibited for counter-signature, shall countersign the same until the Recruiter exhibiting the same shall have satisfied such Magistrate that sufficient accommodation for the native inhabitants of India to be engaged by such Recruiter to become laborers has been provided, and is available; and, subject to the aforesaid provision, every license shall be countersigned which is presented for counter-signature during such time as such license is to be in force.

Magistrate to require accommodation to be provided before counter-signing license of Recruiter.

XV. The Magistrate in charge of any District or Sub-Divison of a District in which there may be any such accommodation provided shall have, for the supervision, management, and regulation of such accommodation, all such and the same powers and authorities as are vested in a Superintendent of Labor Transport, for the supervision, management, and regulation of depôts subject to the powers and authority of such Superintendent.

Magistrate to have powers of Superintendent over accommodation provided.

XVI. Every native inhabitant of India who shall, in any place within the said Provinces other than the Town of Calcutta, enter into any engagement with a Recruiter to proceed to any of the said Districts for the purpose of laboring for hire, shall appear with the Recruiter before any Magistrate in the District within which the engagement was entered into. Upon so appearing, the Recruiter shall state to such Magistrate the name of the Contractor by whom such Recruiter is employed and to whom such native inhabitant is to be forwarded, and such Magistrate shall thereupon examine such native inhabitant with reference to his proposed contract to labor and the Contractor to whom he is to be forwarded; and if it appears that he understands the nature of his proposed contract as regards the locality, period, and nature of service and minimum of wages, and that he is willing to fulfil the same, the Magistrate shall register, in a book to be kept for the purpose in such form as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall prescribe, the name of such native inhabitant and the depôt to which it is intended he shall proceed; but if the Magistrate shall be of opinion that such native inhabitant does not understand the nature of his proposed contract, or that he has been recruited by fraud or misrepresentation, he shall refuse to register the name of such native inhabitant. An authentic copy of every registration made under this Section shall be forthwith forwarded by the Magistrate to the Superintendent within the local limits of whose authority the depôt to which such native inhabitant is about to proceed may be situate.

Copy of Register to be sent to the Superintendent.

XVII. If, upon any examination made in accordance with the last preceding Section, it shall appear that the person so examined has been recruited by means of any fraud or misrepresentation, it shall be lawful for such Magistrate to fine the Recruiter by whom such person shall have been brought before such Magistrate, and by or out of such fine to defray the expense of sending such person to the place in which he usually resided.

Penalty on Recruiter inducing by misrepresentation laborers to engage.

XVIII. Every native inhabitant of India who shall be by any Recuiter brought or induced to come from any Province or District not under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, for the purpose of entering into a contract in a District under such control, shall be taken by the Recuiter, for the purpose of registry under Section XVI of this Act, before a Magistrate exercising jurisdiction within the District subject to the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, into which such native inhabitant shall first come after having been recruited.

Registration of laborers coming from a District not within Bengal.

XIX. Every native inhabitant of India who shall, in the Town of Calcutta, enter into any engagement with a Contractor or Recruiter to proceed to any depôt for the purpose of making any contract under this Act, shall within forty-eight hours after making such engagement, appear with such Contractor or Recuiter before the Superintendent having authority in the said Town. Upon so appearing, such Contractor or Recruiter shall state to the Superintendent to what depôt he intends that such native inhabitant shall proceed, and the Superintendent shall thereupon examine such native inhabitant with reference to his engagement; and if it appears that the understands the nature of the proposed contract, and that he is willing to enter into the same, the Superintendent shall register the name of such native inhabitant and the depôt to which it is intended he shall proceed, in a book to be kept for the purpose in such form as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall prescribe; but if the Superintendent shall be of opinion that such native inhabitant does not understand the nature of his proposed contract or that he has been recruited by any fraud or misrepresentation, the Superintendent shall refuse to register the name of such person.

Registration of laborers recruited in Calcutta.

XX. Every Contractor or Recruiter who shall forward or send any native inhabitant of India from the District or Town in which he may have been recruited until he shall have been duly registered according to the provisions contained in Sections XVI and XIX; or who shall induce or knowingly permit any such native inhabitant to leave such District or Town, for the purpose of proceeding to any of the said Districts without being so duly registered; and every Contractor or Recruiter who shall forward, send, induce, or knowingly permit any such native inhabitant to proceed to any depôt other than the depôt registered under those Sections, or a Central Depôt under this Act, shall be liable to a fine for every such native inhabitant so forwarded or sent, or induced or permitted.

Penalty for forwarding laborers or allowing them to go without being duly registered, &c.

XXI. All native inhabitants of India engaged by any Contractor or Recruiter to proceed to any of the said Districts shall, after they have been registered as aforesaid, and while they are proceeding to a depôt, be accompanied throughout the journey, either by the Contractor or Recruiter himself, or by a competent person appointed by him with the approval of the Magistrate by whom such native inhabitants may have been registered. Every Contractor or Recruiter by or through whom such native inhabitants may be forwarded to a depôt, shall, throughout their journey, provide them with proper and suitable lodging and food. Whenever any such native inhabitant shall not be so provided with lodging or food, the Contracter or Recruiter shall, whether he may or may not have personally accompanied such native inhabitant, be liable to fine.

Laborers shall be accompanied to depot by Recruiter or person approved by Magistrate.

Recruiter to provide suitable food and lodging, &c.

XXII. Every Contractor shall, within twenty-four hours after the arrival at any depôt of any native inhabitant of India forwarded to him for the purpose of proceeding to any of the said districts, give to the Superintendent a notice in writing of such arrival, which notice shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars as the Superintendent shall prescribe. Every such native inhabitant shall, as soon as may be after his arrival, be examined by the Medical Inspector, who shall give to the Superintendent a certificate of the state of health of every such native inhabitant examined.

Contractor to give to the Superintendent notice of arrival of laborers at depôt.

Medical Inspector to inspect laborers on arrival.

XXIII. If the Medical Inspector shall certify that any native inhabitant so examined is in such state of health that his journey to any of the said Districts would be dangerous to himself or to others, the Superintendent may order the Contractor by whom such laborer may have been taken to such depôt to pay to such native inhabitant such sum as shall to the Superintendent seem necessary, to enable him to return to the place at which he was registered. Provided always that any such native inhabitant who, from his state of health, is, in the Medical Inspector's opinion, unfit to undertake the journey back to the place where he was registered, shall, until he is reported by the Medical Inspector fit to undertake such journey, be fed, clothed, and lodged by and at the expense of such Contractor, in the depôt.

If unable to proceed to Assam, &c., from bad health, Contractor to send laborer back to where he was registered.

XXIV. If upon the arrival of any native inhabitant at a depôt it shall appear to the Superintendent that such native inhabitant has suffered any ill-treatment on the journey, the Superintendent may cause him to be removed from the depôt, and may thereupon order the Superintendent to examine all laborers as to their treatment on their journey.

Contractor, by or from whom such native inhabitant shall have been taken to such depôt, to pay him such sum of money as to the Superintendent shall seem reasonable by way of compensation, or such sum as to the Superintendent shall seem necessary in order to enable such native inhabitant to return to the place where he was registered. In the latter case the native inhabitant shall not be bound to enter into a contract.

Every laborer to enter into a written contract to serve for some period not exceeding three years.

XXV. It shall not be lawful for any native inhabitant of India to be conveyed from any depôt to any of the said Districts unless and until he shall have entered into a duly registered contract with some person, to serve such person there for a fixed period, which shall in no case exceed the term of three years. Every such contract shall be reduced to writing, and shall specify the rate of wages, the period of service, and the name of the District in which the service is to be performed, and the price at which rice is to be supplied to the laborer, and shall be in such form as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall prescribe.

Contract to be explained by Superintendent and executed in duplicate, and abstract to be entered in a book by Superintendent.

XXVI. Every such contract shall, in the presence of the Superintendent, be signed in duplicate both by such native inhabitant and by the person with whom he intends to contract or his Agent. Before such native inhabitant signs the contract, the Superintendent shall personally explain it to him, and shall attest such contract and certify at the foot thereof that he has personally explained the same. An abstract of every such contract shall be entered by the Superintendent in a Register to be kept by him for the purpose: and after such abstract has been so entered, one of the duplicates so duly signed and attested as hereinbefore provided shall be given to the laborer, and the other to the person with whom he has contracted or his Agent.

Penalty on laborer refusing to execute contract.

XXVII. If any native inhabitant of India who may, under the provisions hereinbefore contained, have been received into any depôt shall, without reasonable cause, refuse to execute such contract as shall be tendered to him for execution in conformity with the provisions of the last preceding Section, such native inhabitant shall be punished with a fine equal in amount to the entire cost incurred by or on behalf of such Contractor in and about bringing such native inhabitant to such depôt, and in default of payment of such fine, with imprisonment with or without hard labor which may extend to two months, and such native inhabitant shall forthwith be discharged from such depôt. Every fine levied under the provisions of this Section shall be paid to the Contractor by whom or on whose behalf the person from whom such fine shall have been levied may have been received into such depôt.

Penalty on Contractor not providing an employment for laborer.

XXVIII. If within thirty days after the arrival of any native inhabitant of India at a depôt, the Contractor by whom or on whose behalf such native inhabitant shall have been received into such depôt, shall not tender to him for execution such contract as under the provisions of the preceding Sections he would be bound to execute, the Superintendent may order the Contractor to pay such native inhabitant such sum of money as to the Superintendent shall seem necessary to enable such native inhabitant to return to the place where he was registered, and in such case such native inhabitant shall not be bound to execute any contract.

Power to enforce payment of monies ordered by Superintendent to be paid.

XXIX. If any Contractor who may be ordered under the provisions of Sections XXIII, XXIV, or XXVIII to pay any sum of money, shall, for twenty-four hours, omit to comply with such order, it shall be lawful for the Superintendent to advance the amount so ordered to be paid to the person named in such order, and to recover from such Contractor the sum so advanced with interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the date of such advance, and no further proof shall be required by any Court in any suit for the recovery of money so advanced, than that the Superintendent made such order as aforesaid, and advanced the money as aforesaid.

Power to fix daily tasks

XXX. It shall be lawful for every employer to fix the daily tasks to be executed by the laborers employed by such employer, and to frame a Schedule of such daily tasks, and to publish the same by posting a copy thereof in the Bengalee language upon the door of each place of payment of the laborers employed by such employer, and by sending a copy thereof in the English language to the Inspector.

On complaint of any laborer, Inspector to submit Schedule to a Committee.

XXXI. In case any laborer employed by such employer shall deem any such Schedule of daily tasks or any part thereof excessive, it shall be lawful for such laborer to complain thereof to the Inspector; and in case the Inspector shall consider such Schedule of daily tasks or any part thereof to be unreasonable, he shall refer the consideration of such Schedule to a Committee consisting of the Inspector, of some employer to be nominated by him, and of some person to be nominated by the employer whose Schedule is to be considered, or on his default by the Inspector.

Committee to revise Schedule.

XXXII. In case the said Committee or the majority in number thereof shall be of opinion that the daily tasks in such Schedule contained or any of them are unreasonable, they shall modify and reduce such daily tasks in such manner as they shall deem reasonable, and such Schedule so modified shall be published in manner aforesaid, and every Schedule published as aforesaid shall have effect as between the employer and laborers in substitution for any former Schedule.

Maximum amount of compulsory labor.

XXXIII. No laborer shall be bound to serve under his contract for a longer period than three years from the time at which he shall have arrived at the place whereupon he is to be employed, nor to work on more than six days in one week, nor for more than six hours consecutively, nor for more than nine hours on any one day.

Copy of abstract to be sent to Magistrate of District where service is to be performed. Abstracts and copies to be evidence.

XXXIV. The Superintendent shall send by post a copy, authenticated under his hand, of every abstract entered by him as in Section XXVI provided, to the Magistrate of the District in which the service is in such contract agreed to be performed. Every such copy shall be dispatched by the Superintendent within seven days after the entry of the abstract. Every abstract and every such copy shall, without further proof thereof, be receivable as primary evidence in every Court, whether Civil or Criminal, as fully as the original contract might or could be.

Laborers whose contracts are duly executed and entered, may be despatched with consent of Superintendent.

XXXV. Any laborers whose contracts shall have been executed and entered as hereinbefore provided, may be despatched from time to time to any of the said Districts by the Contractors in whose depôts they may be, or by the persons whom they may have agreed to serve respectively, but subject always to the provisions of this Act. No laborer shall be so despatched, unless the permission of the Superintendent shall have been first obtained and the laborer shall have received a pass from the Superintendent as hereinafter mentioned.

Steamer or boat to be licensed to carry laborers.

XXXVI. It shall not be lawful for the Master of any steamer, or the Manjee of any boat, without a license granted by the Superintendent within the local limits of whose authority a laborer may embark, to convey the said laborer to any of the said Districts. A fee, not exceeding four annas per laborer, (the amount of which fee shall from time to time be fixed by the Government of Bengal), shall be paid for every such license, which fee shall be carried to the credit of the said Government, and it shall be in the discretion of the Superintendent to whom application is made to grant or with hold any such license. Every such license shall apply only to one voyage or trip to the said Districts or any one or more of those Districts, and shall specify the number of persons (including the crew) other than laborers, whom such steamer or boat is licensed to carry.

Penalty for conveying laborers in a steamer or boat without a license.

XXXVII. The Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat in which any such laborer shall be conveyed without a license having been obtained as aforesaid, shall be liable to a fine for every laborer so illegally conveyed.

Penalty for fraudulent acts, whereby a steamer or boat becomes unfit for the accommodation of the laborers mentioned in a license.

XXXVIII. If the Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat shall, after having obtained a license as aforesaid, fraudulently do or suffer to be done any act or thing whereby the state of the steamer or boat may be altered so that such steamer or boat may be unfit for the accommodation of the number of laborers mentioned in such license, such Master or Manjee shall be liable to fine.

Penalty for taking on board greater number of passengers than specified in license.

XXXIX. The Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat licensed to carry laborers, who shall receive on board his steamer or boat a greater number of laborers, or of other persons, than is specified in his license, shall be liable to a fine for every laborer and other person so received in excess of the licensed number. In computing under this Act the number of laborers or other persons on board of any steamer or boat, two children under the age of ten years shall be reckoned as one person only.

Two children under ten to count as one person.

XL. If the Master of any steamer, or the Manjee of any boat, licensed as aforesaid, shall take on board any such laborer as aforesaid, unless such laborer shall have in his possession, and shall shew, a pass given to him and signed by some Superintendent, stating his name and age, and the name of his father, and certifying the place of his destination such Master or Manjee shall be liable to a fine, for every laborer so taken on board.

No laborer to be taken on board unless he has a pass signed by the Superintendent.

XLI. If the Master of any steamer, or the Manjee of any boat, licensed as aforesaid, shall, except in case of accident or unavoidable necessity, (to be immediately reported to the Superintendent by whom the license was granted, and to the Magistrate of the District in which such accident or necessity shall occur,) cause or permit any such laborer as aforesaid finally to leave such steamer or boat at any place other than that named as the destination of such laborer in the pass signed by the Superintendent, such Master or Manjee shall be liable to fine for each such offence. No place shall be named in any such pass as the destination of any laborer, except a place which shall have been declared by the Lieutenant-Governor to be a place for the disembarkation of laborers under this Act.

No laborer to be allowed finally to leave steamer or boat, at any place other than that mentioned in his pass.

Proviso.

Provided always that this Section shall not be deemed to prevent the Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat from permitting laborers to disembark at any place or places on the voyage, so long as such disembarkation is not intended, or known to be likely to be final.

A list of the laborers on board to be delivered to Superintendent.

XLII. Before any steamer or boat, licensed as aforesaid, shall proceed upon any voyage for the said Districts, the Master or Manjee thereof shall deliver to the Superintendent a list in duplicate, in a form to be prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, specifying the names, ages, occupations, and destination of all and every the laborers on board such steamer or boat. The Superintendent shall keep one of the said lists, and shall sign the other (if it be in his opinion correct) and deliver it back to the Master or Manjee. If the Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat shall, after having commenced his voyage or after having delivered such list to the Superintendent, knowingly take on board any laborer whose name shall not have been entered in the list aforesaid, he shall be liable to a fine for every laborer so illegally taken on board.

Penalty for afterwards taking on board laborers not entered in list.

Notice to be given, and copy of list delivered, to Magistrate, or Officer appointed by him, immediately on arrival of steamer or boat at place of destination.

XLIII. The Master of any steamer, or the Manjee of any boat, licensed as aforesaid, having laborers on board, shall, immediately on the arrival of the steamer or boat at the place of destination, and previously to the disembarkation of any of the laborers, give notice of such arrival to the nearest Magistrate or such Officer as shall be appointed by such Magistrate in that behalf, and shall exhibit to him the list in the last preceding Section mentioned, and deliver to him a copy thereof so far as the same relates to the laborers who may disembark at such place. Every omission to comply with this Section shall be punishable with fine.

Laborers to be landed under supervision of Magistrate, &c.

XLIV. The laborers shall thereupon be landed under the supervision of the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid, who shall make such provision as he may consider necessary for the reception of the laborers and for their food, lodging, and clothing while they remain in the place or station at which they may have disembarked.

Magistrate may require Surgeon to inspect laborers and make a report.

XLV. The Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid may, if he think fit, cause the laborers to be inspected at the place of disembarkation by the Civil Surgeon of the Station, or other qualified Medical Officer. It shall be the duty of such Civil Surgeon, or other Medical Officer, to make such inspection when called on by the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid so to do; and after making such inspection, he shall prepare and sign a report in which he shall certify as to the state of health and general condition of every laborer inspected.

Magistrate, &c., to forward a report to Superintendent.

XLVI. The Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid shall despatch, without delay, to the Superintendent, by whose permission they were forwarded, a detailed report of the number of laborers who may have arrived, together with a copy of the report (if any) of the Civil Surgeon or other Medical Officer, and any observations which such Civil Surgeon or other Medical Officer, or such Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid, may think fit to make as to their state of health and general condition.

Magistrate, &c., to give notice, to the person importing laborers, of their arrival.

XLVII. On the arrival of any laborers at the place of disembarkation, the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid shall at once give notice of their arrival to the persons with whom they shall be under contract to labor, or to the Agents of such persons, who shall forthwith take charge of the laborers with whom they may have contracted respectively. It shall be the duty of the Magistrate, or other Officer aforesaid, to ascertain whether reasonable provision has been made for the support and lodging of such laborers from the time of disembarkation till they reach their final destination; and if the persons with whom they may have contracted shall fail to make such reasonable provision, the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid may order such arrangements to be made, and incur such expenses, as under the circumstances may seem to him necessary: and the amount of such expenses incurred by him in the disembarkation, or in respect of the food, lodging, medicines, hospital attendance, or clothing of the laborers, or of any of them, shall, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, be recoverable by the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid from the respective employers with whom such laborers may have contracted.

If proper means are not provided for conveyance of laborers to place of final destination, Magistrate, &c., to make arrangements and incur necessary expenses.

Such expenses how to be recovered.

Power to allow laborers to disembark between places of disembarkation.

XLVIII. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate or other Officer appointed as aforesaid at the place named in any pass as the destination of any laborers, to permit them to proceed in the steamer or boat in which they may have been brought thereto, to any place intermediate between such place named as the destination of laborers and the place for the disembarkation of laborers next adjoining thereto, upon such Magistrate or other Officer being satisfied that the transport of such laborers to the estate upon which they are to be employed can thereby be more conveniently accomplished, and that suitable provision for the reception of the laborers at such intermediate place and for their support and lodging until they shall reach the estate upon which they are to be employed has been provided, and anything which shall be done in pursuance of such authority shall be deemed to have been done in compliance with the provisions of Section XLI.

Sufficient quantity of provision to be carried on every steamer or boat.

XLIX. There shall be laden, under the supervision of the Superintendent, on board of every steamer or boat carrying laborers to any of the said Districts, at the time of the embarkation of such laborers, good and wholesome provisions for the consumption of the laborers, to the amount or in the proportion which shall be prescribed by the Superintendent with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor. And any Master or Manjee who shall commence the voyage without having on board such provisions as aforesaid, or without having on board such Medical and other Officers, Cooks and other attendants, as the Superintendent shall order, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred Rupees, and in default of payment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months: Provided always that it shall not be lawful for the Superintendent to order that a Medical Officer shall proceed with any number of laborers less than fifty who may go together to the said Districts or any of them.

And Medical and other Officers to be carried.

Provisions of Sections XXI, XLIV, XLV, XLVI and XLIX to apply to children, &c., accompanying laborers.

L. The provisions with regard to native inhabitants of India and registered laborers contained in Sections XXI, XLIV, XLV, XLVI, and XLIX, of this Act, shall be applicable to such women, children, and aged relatives of such native inhabitants, and laborers as may, with the consent of a Contractor or Recruiter, and with the written permission of the registering Magistrate or Superintendent, accompany them.

Magistrate of a District may board and inspect steamer or boat.

LI. It shall be lawful for the Magistrate of any District, through which a steamer or boat having laborers on board shall be passing, to go on board such steamer or boat, and to inspect the same or any part thereof, and the Master and Officers of every such steamer and the Manjee of every such boat shall be bound to afford to the Magistrate all reasonable facility for such inspection, and to give him all such information respecting such steamer or boat and the equipments thereof, and respecting the laborers and other persons on board thereof, as may be reasonably required by the Magistrate, and in default of compliance with the provision aforesaid, may be punished with a fine.

Magistrate shall report to Superintendent, if, after boarding, he find provisions of Act not complied with.

LII. In any case in which, on making such inspection as is in the last preceding Section provided, the Magistrate shall find that any of the provisions of this Act have not been complied with, he shall report the same to the Superintendent by whom the license to carry the laborers was granted to such steamer or boat; and if the circumstances of the case are such as in the Magistrate's opinion make it necessary so to do, he may detain the said steamer or boat until the provisions of this Act have been complied with, so far as to make it possible for the voyage to be further prosecuted with safety and reasonable comfort to the laborers.

And may detain steamer or boat if necessary.

Power to prevent emigration of laborers.

LIII. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, in case he shall be of opinion that the emigration of native inhabitants of India from any District for the purpose of becoming laborers, is at any time from any special circumstances likely to be attended with danger to the health of any native inhabitants so emigrating, to prohibit, by an order under his hand, the emigration of such native inhabitants from such District during such time as to such Lieutenant-Governor shall seem fit, and from time to time to revoke or vary any such order; and every such order, or variation or revocation thereof, shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Penalty on engaging emigrant contrary to such order.

LIV. Any person who shall engage any native inhabitant so to emigrate from any District while emigration from such District may have been so prohibited, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty Rupees for every laborer who may have been so engaged.

Magistrate may, after consulting a Medical Officer, stop laborers on voyage, if violent sickness exist among them.

LV. If disease shall exist among laborers or intending laborers while passing through any District, whether by land or by water on their journey either to a depôt or to any of the said Districts, any Magistrate having jurisdiction in such District may, if in the opinion of a Medical Officer it may be advisable, detain the laborers until such time as they shall be able to proceed with safety. In any case in which laborers or intending laborers may be detained as aforesaid by a Magistrate, he shall cause all necessary arrangements to be made for their accommodation and welfare, and all expenses incurred by him in so doing shall be recoverable, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, from the Contractor by, through, or for whom the laborers shall have been engaged or forwarded, as money paid to the use of such Contractor.

Contracts to be a charge on and to pass with the land.

LVI. Every contract made with any laborer in pursuance of the said Acts III of 1863 and VI of 1865 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, or of this Act, and all arrears of wages under any such contract, shall be recoverable on a summary application before a Magistrate, and shall be a charge upon the lands upon which such laborer shall have been engaged to work; and the owner of such lands for the time being, shall have all rights and remedies against such laborer as if such owner for the time being had been originally the party executing such contract as employer; Provided that no greater arrears of wages than four months shall be recovered under this Section, and no person, after he shall have ceased to be owner of such lands, nor his property nor effects, shall be in any wise liable or responsible for any breach of such contract which may have occurred after he shall have ceased to be such owner.

Hospital Medicines, and Medical Officer to be provided for laborers.

LVII. Whenever any laborers shall be employed, there shall be provided such sufficient Hospital accommodation for the laborers so employed and such medicines of such quality and descriptions, and according to such scale, as shall from time to time be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and if three hundred or more laborers shall be employed by any employer, it shall be the duty of such employer to place in medical charge of such laborers a Medical Officer holding a medical diploma from some Indian or European Collegiate Institution authorized to grant diplomas, or an Officer for the time being licensed by the Local Government to act in such medical charge.

Penalty for breach of last Section.

LVIII. Whenever any laberors are employed, and the employer of such laborers shall not have provided such Hospital accommodation as aforesaid, or shall not have provided for the use of such laborers medicine of such quality and descriptions and according to such scale as aforesaid, such employer shall be liable to a fine. And whenever there shall be three hundred or more laborers employed under such employer, and it shall be found that no such Medical Officer as aforesaid is in medical charge of such laborers, such employer shall be liable to a fine.

Appointment of Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors, and powers of Inspectors.

LIX. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to appoint, in any District in which this Act may be in force, so many Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors of Laborers as he may think proper, and to define, by Notification in the Calcutta Gazette, the local limits within which each such Inspector and Assistant Inspector shall exercise the powers and authorities conferred, and perform the duties imposed on him by this Act. Such Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors may be by the said Lieutenant-Governor vested with all or any of the powers of a Magistrate.

Establishment of Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors, and powers of Assistant Inspectors.

LX. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to assign to such Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors as may be requisite such establishment as may be thought fit; and such Assistant Inspectors shall perform all the duties and exercise all the powers of an Inspector, which they shall be authorized in writing by an Inspector to perform or exercise.

Return of laborers to be sent in half-yearly by employer, &c., to Inspector.

LXI. Every employer shall, on or before the last day of January and the last day of July in each and every year, make out in writing, and deliver to the Inspector of Laborers of the District, a Return of the number of laborers employed by such employer on the last day of the preceding month, and such Return shall be in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal by an order to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Power to require Returns of sickness and mortality.

LXII. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, by an order to be published in the Calcutta Gazette to require each employer annually to forward to the Inspector of Laborers of the District Returns of the sickness and mortality of the laborers employed by such employer, at such time and in such form as shall from time to time be directed by the said Lieutenant-Governor.

Penalty for refusing or omitting to send in Return, or sending in incorrect Return.

LXIII. If any employer shall refuse, or wilfully omit, duly to send in any such Return as mentioned in Section LXI or in Section LXII of this Act, or shall knowingly send in an incorrect Return, such employer shall, on conviction thereof before the Magistrate of the District, be liable to fine, and a Certificate under the hand of the Inspector to whom such Return ought to have been sent, stating that such Return has not been sent or is incorrect as aforesaid, shall be received as primâ facie evidence of the truth of the fact stated in such Certificate.

Yearly rate payable to provide for expenses of Act.

LXIV. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal from time to time, by order published as aforesaid, to fix a yearly sum, not exceeding two Rupees per laborer, as a rate for the purpose of providing for the salaries and emoluments of the officers to be appointed under this Act, and of defraying the expense of carrying out the purposes of this Act, and the sum or rate so fixed shall be paid half-yearly by each employer on the last day of July and last day of January in each year according to the Return next before such payment shall be due.

Employer failing to send in the rate in due time, how to be dealt with.

LXV. If any employer shall fail to comply with the provisons of the last preceding Section, it shall be the duty of the Collector to notify such default to him; and if, within one month from the receipt of such notification, or such longer period as may, under special circumstances, appear to the Collector reasonable, such employer shall not so comply, the Collector shall, by distress and sale of any moveable property which may be found in the possession or under the charge of such employer, levy the sums so payable.

Power to sue for rate.

LXVI. If there shall be no such moveable property or insufficient moveable property so found, the Collector may, by a civil regular suit, recover the sum which shall be so payable from the person for whose benefit the laborers in respect of whom such sum may be payable shall have been employed, and in every such suit the cause of action shall be taken to have arisen within the limits of the jurisdiction of any Court having jurisdiction at any place where any such laborers may have been employed by such employer.

Books to be kept, and periodical visits and Reports made, by Inspector.

LXVII. Every Inspector of Laborers shall, once within each of such periods as may be fixed for such purpose by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, visit all lands, within the limits of his authority, on which there shall be employed any laborers, and inspect every hospital, tent, camp, or building in any way used by any such laborer, and investigate the condition of the laborers employed, and for such purpose the Inspector may require that any laborer shall be produced before him with his contract, and may make such enquiries as may to him seem proper. Every such Inspector shall keep books, in which, from time to time, shall be entered the number of laborers then under contract with each employer, the number who shall then be sick or missing, or who shall have complained of ill-treatment, the particulars of such complaints, and such other particulars regarding the laborers as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall from time to time direct. Each Inspector shall annually make a written Report to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, through the Commissioner of the Division, of the aforesaid particulars; and every such Report, as regards the laborers under any particular employer, shall, at all reasonable times, be open to the inspection of such employer or any person by him appointed in writing in that behalf, and the person so inspecting shall be entitled to take a copy of the Report so far as it relates to such laborers.

Magistrate, or person authorized by him, may inspect any estate at any time.

LXVIII. It shall be lawful for the Magistrate of the District, or any person authorized by him in writing in that behalf, at any time, to enter and inspect any hospital, camp, tent, or building wholly or partially used by or for laborers, and to require that any laborer shall be brought before him, and to make any enquiries which he may think proper touching the condition or treatment of any laborer.

Penalty on person obstructing inspection, &c.

LXIX. If any employer, or other person acting for or under such employer, shall wilfully obstruct or impede any entry, inspection, or enquiry made under either of the two preceding Sections, such employer or other person as aforesaid shall be liable to a fine.

Inspector may suspend contract of any laborer temporarily unfitted for labor.

LXX. Is shall be lawful for the Inspector of Laborers within the local limits of whose authority any laborer may be employed, to suspend, for such period as he shall consider advisable, the contract of such laborer, or any particular term thereof, if such laborer shall be, in the judgment of such Inspector, temporarily unfitted for the performance thereof by reason of sickness, pregnancy, or other sufficient cause. Provided that every such suspension shall be endorsed by the Inspector on the contract. Provided, also, that every such laborer shall, during such incapacity, receive such subsistence money from his employer as shall be considered sufficient by the Inspector, and that the time during which the suspension continues shall not be reckoned as part of the term for which the laborer is bound to serve

Penalty for compelling laborer to perform work for which he is unfit.

LXXI. If it shall be found that any laborer has been compelled to perform any species of labor for which he was at the time unfit, the employer by whom he was so employed shall be liable to fine.

Power to discharge laborers permanently unfitted for labor.

LXXII. If, in the opinion of the Inspector of Laborers, any laborer shall be permanently unfitted for the performance of his contract or any material part thereof, the Inspector shall certify to that effect in writing, and deliver such Certificate to the employer of such laborer or some one on his behalf, and from the date of such Certificate the contract of such laborer shall wholly cease and determine. The Inspector shall make a Return of all such cases of determination of contract in his Report under Section LXVII of this Act. Every laborer, whose contract shall have been determined as aforesaid, shall be entitled to receive from his employer such sum, not exceeding three months' wages, as the Inspector may award, and such sum shall be recoverable before a Magistrate in the manner hereinafter provided for the recovery of wages.

Laborer who has completed his contract, to be permitted to have such completion registered.

LXXIII. Every laborer who shall have completed the term of his contract, shall be forthwith permitted by his employer to appear before the Inspector, to have the completion of his contract registered. If such employer shall fail to give notice of such completion to the Inspector, within one month after the date of such completion, such employer shall be liable to fine.

Power to redeem contract.

LXXIV. If any laborer shall be able and desirous to redeem the unexpired term of his contract of service by payment of a sum equivalent to the value thereof according to the prices in the Schedule (C) hereto set forth, such laborer may demand to be taken or allowed to go before the Inspector of Laborers within the local limits of whose authority he may be employed, and on his depositing such sum in the hands of such Inspector, such Inspector shall give notice to the employer that such laborer requires him within one week to show cause why the contract of such laborer should not be released, and in case no sufficient cause shall be shown, such Inspector shall require the production of the contract of such laborer and endorse thereon a Certificate of release by purchase, and shall hold the sum in deposit on account of the employer of such laborer. If any employer or other person authorizrd to act for the employer, shall neglect to comply with such demand as aforesaid, such employer, or other person as aforesaid, shall be liable to fine.

A Certificate to be given to laborer whose contract has determined or been completed, or who has purchased release therefrom.

LXXV. Every laborer whose contract shall have been completed, determined, released by purchase as aforesaid, or rescinded by the mutual assent of the parties thereto, shall be entitled to receive forthwith from the Inspector, a Certificate of Release in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal by an order to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Laborer who has completed his contract or been released therefrom, may enter into a fresh contract.

LXXVI. Every laborer, the completion of whose contract or whose release therefrom shall have been certified as aforesaid, shall be entitled to enter into a fresh contract before the District Magistrate, in the manner hereinbefore prescribed for contracts entered into before the Superintendent of Labor Transport, and in case of his so entering into such fresh contract, all the provisions of this Act respecting contracts shall apply to such contract. Provided always that nothing hereinbefore contained shall prevent any such laborer entering into any contract or agreement to labor in any different or other form or manner, nor shall make the provisions of this Act applicable to any contract into which such laborer may have entered in such other or different form or manner.

If laborer desire to complain, employer to give notice to Inspector.

LXXVII. If any laborer shall state to his employer, or to any person acting for such employer, that he desires to make a complaint to the Inspector of Laborers of personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act on the part of such employer or other person, the person to whom such statement shall have been made shall, within forty-eight hours, send notice thereof in writing to the Inspector, and in default of so doing, such person shall be liable to fine.

Inspector how to proceed on receipt of notice of complaint.

LXXVIII. Whenever any Inspector of Laborers shall receive such notice in writing as aforesaid, or whenever any complaint of personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act as aforesaid, shall be made to him by any laborer against his employer or any person acting for such employer, or whenever the Inspector shall have other reasonable grounds for believing that any such personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act as aforesaid has been suffered by a laborer, such Inspector shall forthwith, if the place in which such offence has been committed is not situate within the limits of his own authority, give notice thereof in writing to the Inspector within the limits of whose authority such place is situated: and if such place be situated within the limits of his own authority, then such Inspector shall, so soon as conveniently may be, proceed to some place not more than ten miles in a direct line from the principal place of business of such employer, and make full enquiry into the matter complained of.

Inspector may summon the complainant and his witnesses. Penalty for obstructing service of, or obedience to, summons.

LXXIX. For the purposes of such enquiry, it shall be lawful for any Inspector, if he think fit, to summon such laborer as aforesaid, as well as any witnesses; and if any employer shall in any way obstruct the service of, or obedience to, such summons, or if any witness summoned shall neglect to attend, such employer or witness shall be liable to fine.

Inspector how to proceed if the complaint be untrue or frivolous.

LXXX. If, upon such enquiry made on the complaint of a laborer, the Inspector shall be of opinion that the complaint is untrue or frivolous, he shall enter in his book the particulars of such complaint, and a short statement of the grounds of his opinion respecting it, and shall dismiss the complaint and in such case shall endorse on the contract of such complaint the number of days during which such complainant has been absent from work in consequence of such enquiry, and such number of days shall be added to the period for which such complainant had contracted to serve, and every such endorsement shall be conclusive evidence that such laborer has absented himself from his labor without sufficient cause during the number of days which shall be so endorsed.

Inspector how to proceed if the complaint be well founded

LXXXI. If, upon such enquiry as aforesaid, any Inspector not being a Magistrate shall be of opinion that the complaint is well founded but not within his own cognizance under the powers conferred upon him under this Act, he shall without delay send the complainant and his witnesses to the nearest Magistrate, and such Magistrate shall thereupon deal with the case in due course of law.

Compensation to be given if wages for more than two months are due.

LXXXII. If, upon the complaint of any laborer, it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the wages of such laborer have not been paid to him for a period of more than two months after they have become due, it shall be lawful for such Magistrate to award to such laborer the amount which shall appear to be then due to him: and also, by way of compensation, such further sum, not exceeding that amount, as shall appear to the Magistrate to be just; and, in case of default, the Collector shall, upon the requisition of the Magistrate, levy the entire sum in the manner prescribed in Section LXV.

Contract to be cancelled if employer be convicted by the Court of Session, or be twice convicted by a Magistrate, of an offence against the laborer, or if wages be not paid for more than four months, or if laborer have been grossly ill-used.

LXXXIII. If any employer, or any person placed in authority over any laborer by such employer, shall be convicted of any offence causing injury to the person or property of such laborer triable under the Code of Criminal Procedure by the Court of Session; or if any such employer, or other person as aforesaid, shall be twice convicted of any such offence against such laborer triable, under the said Code, by a Magistrate; or if it shall be proved before a Magistrate that the wages of such laborer have not been paid for a period of more than four months after they shall have become due; or if the Magistrate of the District shall, on the report of the Inspector, and after due enquiry, upon oath, in the presence of the parties, be satisfied that any laborer has been compelled to perform any labor while he was unfit for it, or has been subjected to gross ill-usage by such employer or any other person placed in authority over the laborer by such employer—it shall be lawful for the Magistrate, on the application of the laborer, in each of such cases, to cancel the contract of such laborer, and to award to him such compensation, not exceeding thirty Rupees, as the Magistrate shall think fit, and every such cancelment shall be certified by the Magistrate on the back of such contract, and such laborer shall then be at liberty either to enter into a fresh contract with any other employer, or to return to the District from which he was recruited.

Penalty on laborer for absenting himself without sufficient cause.

LXXXIV. Any laborer, who shall absent himself from his labor without sufficient cause, may, on conviction, be sentenced to lose all claim to wages or allowances during the period of such absence, and also to forfeit to his employer a sum not exceeding four annas for each day during which such absence shall have continued; and in case such absence shall have exceeded seven days, or in case such laborer shall have been already convicted of the same offence within a period of three months, such laborer shall be furthermore sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for fourteen days.

Laborer deserting may be apprehended without a warrant.

LXXXV. If any laborer shall desert or attempt to desert from his employer's service, such employer or any other person acting in his behalf may, without first procuring a warrant and without the assistance of any Police Officer (who, nevertheless, shall be bound to give such assistance if called upon to do so), apprehend such laborer wherever he may be found. Provided, nevertheless, that if such laborer be found in the service of another employer, he shall not be arrested without a warrant.

Proviso.

Further Proviso.

Provided, also, that if such employer or other person shall not, within a reasonable time from the time of such apprehension, give the said laborer in charge at the nearest Police station, and there enter the charge upon which he shall have apprehended such laborer, the person so apprehending shall be liable to fine.

Laborer, when made over to the Police, to be taken before the nearest Magistrate.

LXXXVI. Any laborer so given in charge shall be made over to a Police Officer, who shall convey him, without delay, to the nearest Magistrate; and if the place from which such laborer is charged with having deserted be within the jurisdiction of such Magistrate, he shall himself adjudicate upon the charge; but if not, he shall forward the said laborer, under custody, to the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction such place may be situated, who shall adjudicate upon such charge.

Enquires to be made on trial of charge of desertion.

LXXXVII. In adjudicating on the charge, the Magistrate shall enquire into the cause of the alleged desertion, and for that purpose shall summon such witnesses as he may think necessary. If on such enquiry it shall appear to the Magistrate that the laborer deserted under a reasonable apprehension that his continuing to work in the place from which he deserted would be attended with risk to his life or health, the Magistrate shall (if satisfied that the ground for such apprehension has ceased to exist, or that the laborer may safely work elsewhere under his contract than at the place from which he deserted) make over such laborer to his employer. If on the enquiry the Magistrate shall be satisfied that the laborer could not continue to labor under his contract, whether at the place from which he deserted or elsewhere, without risk to his life or health, the Magistrate shall declare the contract of such laborer at an end, and the contract shall thenceforth absolutely cease and determine, save as re-guards the laborer's right to recover any arrears of wages due to him at the time of his desertion.

Penalties for desertion and wrongful apprehension.

LXXXVIII. If it be proved to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that such laborer has deserted from his employer's service without such reasonable apprehension as aforesaid, he shall be convicted and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months. If it be proved that the laborer deserted under such resonable apprehension as aforesaid, but was otherwise wrongfully charged with desertion, the employer by whom or on whose charge or by whose order he shall have been apprehended, shall be liable to a fine, any portion of which may be awarded to such laborer.

Provisions regarding desertion and unlawful absence to apply to desertion in transit.

LXXXIX. All the provisions of this Act regarding the desertion or unlawful absence of laborers, shall be held applicable to laborers who shall desert while in transit to the District in which they have contracted to labor for hire; and such laborers may be tried either in the District in which they may be apprehended, or in the District in which under their contracts they are bound to labor for hire.

Penalty for enticing away, harboring, or employing, laborers under contract to another person.

XC. Any person who shall knowingly and wilfully entice away, harbour, or employ any laborer, before such laborer shall have been lawfully released from his contract, shall be liable to a fine the whole or any portion of which may be awarded to the employer of such laborer.

Expense of restoring a deserting laborer to be borne by his employer.

XCI. Every employer who shall obtain a warrant for the arrest and return, or an order for the forwarding, of any laborer who may have deserted, shall pay the expense of the arrest and return of such laborer, and shall, before the said warrant is executed, deposit with the Magistrate who may issue such warrant or make such order, such sum as such Magistrate may in his discretion deem to be sufficient for defraying the expense of such arrest and return or forwarding.

Portion of sentence may be cancelled if employer apply for return of laborer.

XCII. It shall be lawful for the employer, or any person authorised to act for the employer of any laborer imprisoned for any offence under this Act, to apply to the Magistrate, at any time previous to the expiry of such sentence, that such laborer be made over to him for the purpose of completing his contract, and the Magistrate shall, in such case, make over such laborer, and shall cancel the remainder of the sentence passed on him, and shall endorse on the contract of such laborer a memorandum signed by him of such cancellation.

Conviction not to operate as a release, but on expiry of sentence laborer to be made over to employer.

XCIII. On the expiry of any sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, it shall be the duty of the Magistrate to make over such laborer to any person appointed on the part of his employer to receive charge of him; and no conviction under this Act, or imprisonment under such conviction, shall be held to operate as a release to any laborer from the terms of his contract. Provided, nevertheless, that the period of imprisonment shall in no case be prolonged by reason of there being no person present on the part of the employer to take charge of the laborer at the expiry of his sentence, but such laborer shall, in that case, be sent to the principal place of business of such employer, and the expense of such conveyance shall be levied from the employer in the manner provided under this Act for the recovery of the rates imposed under this Act.

Sentence to be endorsed on contract. Periods of imprisonment and unlawful absence to be added to term of service.

XCIV. The term of every unlawful absence from labor for which a sentence shall be imposed, and of every sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, shall be endorsed on the contract, at the time of such sentence being passed, by the Officer passing it; and no such period of imprisonment or unlawful absence, so endorsed, shall be reckoned as part of the term for which the laborer is bound to serve: but such term shall extend to such further period as shall be equivalent to the aggregate amount of the imprisonments and unlawful absences so endorsed.

If the Inspector believe any estate or part thereof to be unfit for habitation, a Committee shall be summoned.

XCV. If an Inspector of Laborers shall at any time have reason to believe that any estate or portion of an estate situated within the limits of his jurisdiction, is by reason of climate or situation unfit for human habitation, such Inspector shall give notice in writing of his opinion to the Magistrate of the District, and such Magistrate shall forthwith summon a Committee to enquire into the fitness of such estate or portion thereof for human habitation. Such Committee shall consist of the Magistrate, the Inspector of Laborers, the Medical Officer of the District, and at least one Employer of Laborers resident in the District. Such Committee shall proceed, with as little delay as possible, to inquire into the healthiness of the estate or portion thereof to which the Inspector's Report has reference, and shall hear such evidence on the subject as the owner of such estate or portion of the estate as aforesaid, or the Employer or Inspector, may desire to place before it; and, if such Committee shall be of opinion that such estate or any portion thereof is unfit for human habitation, it shall record a finding to that effect; and the contract of every laborer who shall have contracted to serve on such estate shall thereupon be null and void as regards such estate or such portion thereof. Provided, however, that every such contract shall continue valid with regard to any other portion of such estate, or to any other estate of the same Employer.

Act not to apply to domestic servants or to laborers proceeding alone.

XCVI. None of the provisions of this Act shall apply to domestic servants, nor to any laborer proceeding alone, or accompanied by his family only, to the said Districts, nor to any number, less than twenty, of persons intending to serve for hire in the said Districts, proceeding together to the said Districts without the intervention, direct or indirect, of a Recruiter, or of a Contractor.

Penalty for any offence not specially provided for.

XCVII. For every offence against the provisions of this Act for which no special amount of fine is hereinbefore appointed, the offender shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees. Wherever in this Act no special term of imprisonment is appointed in default of payment of the fine, the offender shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one month.

Procedure.

XCVIII. All offences against this Act committed without the town of Calcutta, shall be heard and determined according to the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and all offences against this Act committed within the said town, shall be heard and determined by a Police Magistrate of the said Town according to the provisions of the Law regulating the hearing and determination of offences within the said Town, which shall for the time being be in force.

Levy of penalties.

XCIX. The provisions of Sections 64, 67, 68, and 69 of the Indian Penal Code, and of Section 61 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, shall apply to all fines for the imposition of which authority is given by this Act, and this Act shall be read as if the same Sections had been re-enacted herein.

Repeal of Acts.

C. Act III of 1863 and Act VI of 1865 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council shall, from and after the commencement of this Act, stand and be repealed except as to any rights or liabilities accrued before the commencement of this Act.

Commencement of Act.

CI. This Act shall commence and take effect from the 1st day of July 1867.

NOTIFICATIONS.

The 3rd June 1867.—It is hereby notified under Section 6 of the Indian Registration Act No. XX. of 1866, that the Lieutenant Governor has been pleased to declare the Sub-Division of Bishnath in the District of Durrung to be a Sub-District for the purpose of that Act. The limits of the Sub-District will be conterminous with those of the Sub-Division as defined in the Government Notifications of the 20th March and the 8th April last, published respectively in the Calcutta Gazette of the 27th March and 17th April last.

The 7th June 1867.—With the sanction of the Government of India, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to publish the following revised Code of Rules for the Port of Calcutta:—

REGULATIONS OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA AND THE NAVIGABLE RIVER AND CHANNELS LEADING THERETO UNDER ACT XXII. OF 1855.

No. 401.

Orders by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Notification.—The 1st July 1867.—With the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, it is hereby declared that the Port of Calcutta and the navigable river and channels leading to that Port are subject to Act No. XXII. of 1855.

The limits of the said Port of Calcutta are as follows:—Northern limits from the boundary pillar at the Cossipore Gun Foundry Ghaut, and a point on the opposite side of the river at Goosery.

The southern limits of the Port of Calcutta are extended to a point called Pachparah on the West, and a creek called Nardukhal on the East.

The limits of the navigable river and channels leading to the said Port of Calcutta, made subject to the said Act, are as follows:

So much of Tolly's Nullah as lies to the west of a line drawn across the Nullah between the two boundary pillars 300 yards within Hastings Bridge.

The limits of the said Port include to the East and West so much of the River Hooghly and of the shores thereof, and so much of Tolly's Nullah and of the shores thereof, as are within 50 yards of high water mark spring-tides.

To the North, the Port of Calcutta as above defined.

To the South, a line drawn East and West from the Lower Floating Light.

All parts of the navigable channels called the Eastern and the Western Channels, and of the River Hooghly between the said limits and below high-water line at spring-tides, are subject to the said Act.

PORT RULES.

With the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, the following Port Rules have been made, and are hereby promulgated for general information and guidance:

Rule 1.—No vessel, if above 200 tons, shall enter within the limits of the Port of Calcutta, or move from one place to another within the Port, between sunset and sunrise, without the special permission of the Master Attendant.

Rule 2.—As the Harbour Master is held responsible for the movements of all vessels in the Port, the Officers of his Department are not to be interfered with in the execution of such important duty. After a vessel is moored in a clear and safe berth in the stream, she is not to be shifted, unless for the purpose of hauling into dock, or to the Government moorings, and except in cases of emergency.

Rule 3.—All vessels within the Port of Calcutta shall be bound to take up such berth as may be appointed for them by the Master Attendant, the Harbour Master, or their Assistants, and shall change their berths or remove when required by such Authorities.

Rule 4.—All applications to take in or cast off from the moorings, or for other assistance, are to be made in writing to the Harbour Master. Applications will be complied with according to priority of date.

Rule 5.—All vessels arriving in the Port of Calcutta shall rig in their jib and driver booms; and all vessels within the Port of Calcutta shall, on the requisition of the Master Attendant or the Harbour Master, strike their yards and masts, if required so to do by either of those Officers. The jib and driver booms to be so kept until the sea Pilot takes charge of the vessel at Garden Reach, for the purpose of taking the vessel to sea.

Rule 6.—Vessels lying in the stream, or at the Government moorings, shall have at least one anchor at the bow, with a cable bent and ranged ready for letting go at all times when possible.

Rule 7.—Every ship or vessel within the Port of Calcutta shall remove any anchor or spars or other substance projecting from her side, when required to do so by the Master Attendant or the Harbour Master.

Rule 8.—Vessels taking in or discharging ballast, or any particular kind of cargo within the Port of Calcutta, shall be bound to take up such berth as the Master Attendant or the Harbour Master may direct.

Rule 9.—A free channel of 240 yards width is to be kept for ships moving up or down the river within the Port, and also free passages to piers, jetties, landing places, wharves, quays, docks and moorings: and all vessels shall be bound to move when required to clear such channels or passages.

Rule 10.—All vessels within the Port of Calcutta shall anchor, moor and unmoor, when and where required by the Master Attendant and the Harbour Master.

Rule 11.—All vessels moored in the stream are to keep a clear hawse to prevent accident occurring.

Rule 12.—No vessel shall use any of the Government moorings, whether fixed or swinging, without permission of the Master Attendant or the Harbour Master.

Rule 13.—All vessels occupying Government moorings, fixed or swinging, shall be liable to pay for the same according to the following scale, but no more:—

	From 1st November to 31st May per diem.			From 1st June to 31st October per diem.

Rule 14.—No vessels within the limits of the Port of Calcutta shall boil any pitch, rosin, or dammer on board, or shall draw off spirits by candle or other artificial lights.

Rule 15.—All vessels within the limits of the channels leading to the Port of Calcutta shall, when at anchor between sunset and sunrise, have a good light hoisted at the starboard fore-yard arm; and all vessels under way at night shall shew a good light at the fore-royal or upper fore-mast head; and when under way in tow of a steamer shall, in addition to the mast head light, shew a good light at each fore-yard arm, the steamer shewing the usual light prescribed by the Admiralty Regulations.

Rule 16.—All steam vessels occupying Government moorings are strictly prohibited from turning their screw or paddles, without giving sufficient warning of the intention to boats in the vicinity to enable them to get out of the way; and they are also strictly prohibited from putting full power on their engines when trying in the moorings, as serious accidents might occur from so doing.

Rule 17.—No steamer shall steam up on the flood-tide among the shipping; and no steamer shall go among the shipping at a greater speed than one mile an hour over the ground, unless by express permission of the Master Attendant.

Rule 18.—Smoking and the use of, or possession of lighted chillums in any part of a ship except the upper deck are strictly prohibited.

Rule 19.—No naked light of any description is to be taken into the hold of any ship. Closed lanterns secured by lock and key of such description, and in charge of such Officers of the ship as the Conservator of the Port may select and appoint, shall alone be taken into the hold of any ship.

20.—Fires are permitted only in galleys or fire-places regularly constructed for the purpose, and must in every case be extinguished by 8 P. M.

Rule 21.—The three preceding rules shall apply to ships in dock as far as possible.

Rule 22.—All gunpowder and combustible matter, such as blue-light composition, rockets, and other fire-works, shall be landed before a vessel is put into dock.

Rule 23.—The proprietor of every dock shall keep on the premises a good fire-engine, with serviceable hose and fire buckets, ready for use at a moment's warning, with a supply of water at hand, in case of the tide being low and there being no water in the dock when a fire breaks out.

Rule 24.—When fire is known to have broken out in any vessel, the Officers in charge of all vessels in neighbouring moorings or anchorages shall furl their awning, get their force pumps ready for use, and prepare for slipping their cables and chains, seeing especially that the pins of the shackles can be immediately knocked out.

Rule 25.—The Conservator of the Port, or any person subordinate to him, may, at any time, board any vessel, in order to ascertain that the above rules are carried out.

Rule 26.—From the 1st day of May until the 10th day of June, and from the 30th day of September until after the full moon of November, all vessels within the limits of the Port of Calcutta shall have their top-gallant masts and yards on the deck, and shall send down their top sail yards, and house their top masts when required to do so by the Master Attendant or Harbour Master.

Rule 27.—Any infringement of the above rules will, under Section 9 of Act XXII. of 1855, subject the offending party to a penalty not exceeding 100 Rupees for every offence.

Rule 28.—The Master of any vessel shall not suffer any warp or hawser attached to his vessel to be left out in the Port after sunset, in such a manner as to endanger the safety of any boat or other vessel navigating in the said Port.

Rule 29.—The Master of any vessel in the Port, shall, when required to do so by the Conservator, permit warps to be made fast to such vessel for the purpose of warping any other vessel in the Port, and shall not allow any such warp to be let go until required so to do.

Rule 30.—Vessels meeting with any accident, or causing damage to others, while in charge of an Officer under the authority of the Master Attendant or Harbour Master, have no claim on Government for such damage; but the parties concerned are to represent the case to the Master Attendant, who will take such cognizance of the same as the merits of the case may appear to require.

Rule 31.—In order to avoid misconception as to the responsibility of Government for the safety of vessels making use of the Government moorings, the Governor General in Council has been pleased to direct that it be explicitly notified to the public that Government does not guarantee the safety of any vessel which may use those moorings.

Rule 32.—Vessels are prohibited from throwing overboard ballast or rubbish of any kind detrimental to the bed of the river: all Pilots and Officers of the Harbour Masters' Department are strictly enjoined to see that this regulation is observed, and to report any infraction of it. As in other cases of breaches of the Port regulations to which any penalty attaches, whenever and as often as the penalty is incurred, a bill will be made out against the Commander for the amount, and no Pilot will be granted to the vessel on board of which the offence has been committed until such fine be paid.

Rule 33.—With a view to the extinction of fires on boardships when they unfortunately break out, all vessels in the Port are required to be provided with a proper force pump and hose, in accordance with Section 28, Act XXII of 1855, and five buckets in the proportion of five to every one hundred tons of registered burthen, one-half of which are to be left constantly hung up on the quarter-deck or other convenient place, with lanyards attached ready for drawing water under penalty of 500 Rupees. The Deputy Harbour Master will visit the vessels to see that this regulation is complied with; and on his reporting any vessel to be without the proper force pump, &c., &c., the Commander will become liable to the penalty specified, unless it can be proved that the Deputy Harbour Master is in error, and that the vessel really is provided with the force pump, &c., &c., required.

Rule 34.—The Conservator of the Port shall, for the purpose of preventing or extinguishing fire in any Port, direct the Master of any ship of more than five hundred tons burthen, and not belonging to Her Majesty's Navy or to the Navy of any Foreign State, to place at his disposal such number as he shall require, not exceeding three-fourths of the crew then under the orders of such Master.

Rule 35.—Any such Master and any Seamen then under the orders of such Master, who shall refuse or neglect to obey the orders of the Conservator for the purpose aforesaid, shall be liable to be punished with a fine not exceeding 500 Rupees and 25 Rupees respectively.

Rule 36.—When a vessel has more than 40 gallons of inflammable oil on board a certificate to that effect be signed by the Preventive Officer on board, and forwarded to the Master Attendant, before such vessel can be moved above the lower boundary of the Port, which is a line drawn between Pachpurah on the West, and a creek called Nardukhal on the East.

Rule 37.—The Master Attendant on receiving such certificate may, if he see sufficient reason for so doing, direct that the vessel shall not proceed beyond a certain part of the Port until such oil is discharged.

Rule 38.—Inflammable oil may be landed in any covered cargo boat, but no fire shall be lighted in any such boat during the time that such oil is on board.*

* N B—The words "Inflammable Oil" include Petroleum, Benzole, kerosene, and any oil, or product of oil, that gives off an inflammable vapour at a temperature of less than one hundred degrees of Farenheit's Thermometer.

Rule 39.—The Pilot is forbidden to quit a ship in any part of the river in the Port unless she is properly moored, without being duly relieved by an Officer of the Harbour Master's Department. He is also forbidden to move her at night above Bishop's College, or to pass that point in tow of a steamer on a flood-tide.

Rule 40.—The Pilots of all vessels having troops on board are directed to hoist the Union Jack at mizzen on arriving at Saugor, and this flag is to be kept flying till the troops are landed.

Rule 41.—When a vessel has Government horses on board, the rendezvous flag will be hoisted at the mizzen at Saugor, and kept flying till the horses are disembarked. On the arrival of such vessel off Hastings, she must be hauled into the moorings, under the directions of the Harbour Master, for the purpose of landing the horses in safety.

Rule 42.—Before fixing on a berth for ships carrying troops or Government horses, it will be the duty of the Harbour Master or his Deputy, to obtain from the Commander a report of any accident that may have occurred to the ship during the voyage particularly grounding or collision.

The provisions of Sections 12, 28, 37 and 40 of the said Act XXII of 1855 have been and are hereby specially extended to the Port of Calcutta.

Article 1.

The two Governments hereby agree to act upon a system of strict reciprocity as hereinafter mentioned.

Article 2.

Neither Government shall be bound in any case to surrender any person not being a subject of the Government making the requisition. If the person claimed should be of doubtful nationality, he shall, with a view to promote the ends of justice, be surrendered to the Government making the requisition.

Article 3.

Neither Government shall be bound to deliver up debtors or civil offenders, or any person charged with any offence not specified in Article 4.

Article 4.

Subject to the above limitations, any person who shall be charged with having committed within the territories belonging to, or administered by the Government making the requisition, any of the undermentioned offences, and who shall be found within the territories of the other, shall be surrendered:—the offences are, mutiny, rebellion, murder, attempting to murder, rape, great personal violence, maiming, dacoity, thuggee-robbery, burglary, knowingly receiving property obtained by dacoity, robbery, or burglary, thefts of property exceeding 100 Rupees in value, cattle-stealing, breaking and entering a dwelling house and stealing therein, setting fire to a village, house or town, forgery, or uttering forged documents, counterfeiting current coin, knowingly uttering base or counterfeit coin, embezzlement whether by public officers or other persons, and being an accessory to any of the above-mentioned offences.

Article 5.

In no case shall either Government be bound to surrender any person accused of any offence, except upon requisition duly made by, or by the authority of the Government within whose territories the offence shall be charged to have been committed, and also upon such evidence of criminality as, according to the laws of the country in which the person accused shall be found, would justify his apprehension and sustain the charge, if the offence had been there committed.

Article 6.

The above Treaty shall continue in force until either one or the other of the high contracting parties shall give notice to the other of its wish to terminate it, and no longer.

Article 7.

All existing engagements and agreements shall continue in full force.

APPENDIX TO

The Calcutta Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12, 1867.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the sale of the Proprietary right of Government to the Estates enumerated in the following Advertisements of Sale will be made subject to these

CONDITIONS OF SALE:

1*st.*—The Estates to be sold, subject to the Government Revenue against each, to the highest bidder above the upset price.

2*nd.*—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and laws in force, and Purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the Schedule of Assessment made by the Revenue Authorities.

3*rd.*—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rupees 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4*th.*—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rupees 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding Office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the Estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting Purchaser after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

5*th.*—In addition to the ordinary Government Revenue fixed on the Estates, the Purchasers shall be bound to pay for the construction of roads and improvement of communications one per cent. on the Government Revenue assessed from the date of entry upon the purchase. This sum will be leviable in the same manner as other arrears of Revenue.

By Order of the Board of Revenue, L. P.,

R. B. Chapman,

Secretary.

State of the Salt market during the Fourth Quarter of 1866-67.

From R. L. MANGLES, Esq., Officiating Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 1311, dated the 18th May 1867.)

I AM directed by the Board of Revenue to submit the following report on the state of the salt market during the fourth quarter of 1866-67 :—

2. The quantity of Government salt sold under rowanahs amounted to maunds 5,67,672, as shewn in the margin, giving a monthly average of maunds 1,89,224, or about maunds 1,48,431 more than the monthly average of the corresponding quarter of 1865-66, and maunds 40,985 more than that of the last quarter.

	Mds
January 1867	2,25,120
February „	1,01,622
March „	2,40,930
Total	5,67,672

3. The following are the details of the above-mentioned sales, viz., at the Tumlook Depôt, maunds 1,100 against maunds 8,250, and maunds 5,375 in the preceding quarter and corresponding quarter of 1865-66 respectively; at the Hidgelee Depôt maunds 28,990 against maunds 21,135 in the previous quarter, and maunds 9,235 in the fourth quarter of 1865-66; at Sulkea maunds 3,60,817 against maunds 1,15,332, and maunds 1,04,470 in the preceding quarter and the corresponding quarter of 1865-66; and at Ghoosery maunds 1,76,460 against maunds 3,150 in the fourth quarter of the past year. There were no sales from Ghoosery during the previous quarter.

4. The sales of excise salt during the quarter amounted to maunds 400 against maunds 200 in the preceding quarter, and maunds 1,157 in the corresponding quarter of 1865-66. The manufacture under excise licences amounted in Cuttack and in Balasore, up to the 31st March last, to maunds 27,171 and maunds 24,421 respectively. No portion of this salt has as yet been sold.

5. The total importations and clearances of sea-imported salt during the quarter are shewn comparatively in the following Statement :

The decline in both importations and clearances, as compared with the results of the corresponding quarter of 1865-66, may be attributed, as stated in the last report, to the reduction in the prices of Government salt, which took effect from the 1st December last; compared however with the transactions of the preceding quarter, there is an improvement under both heads, the importations and clearances having then amounted to maunds 11,48,059 and maunds 12,69,615 respectively.

6. The following are the details of the importations and clearances of Indian Kurkutch given above :—

7. The quantities of salt which have been despatched into the interior of the country west of the Hooghly, viâ the border Chowkeys of Ballikhal and Sankrail, and by the East Indian Railway, are shewn in the following Comparative Statement :—

8. The shipments at Liverpool appear, from published market reports and private advices, to have been in—

February „	...	...	„	7,617
March „	...	...	„	19,586
		Total	Tons	38,417

9. The price of Liverpool salt which fell from Rupees 129 to Rupees 98 at the close of the last quarter, rose again gradually until it reached a sum of Rupees 113 towards the end of January, when it declined somewhat in the following month. In March it ranged between Rupees 105 and Rupees 114 during the first week, and between Rupees 110 and Rupees 107 during the remainder of the month. It is satisfactory to find that, notwithstanding the reduction in December last in the price of Government salt, and the large sales that have in consequence been effected, the price of Liverpool salt has remained firm throughout the quarter.

10. Madras Kurkutch kept steady at Rupees 40 until the end of February, when it fell to Rupees 37, and continued at that figure until the close of the quarter. Bombay Kurkutch rose from Rupees 37 in the beginning of January to Rupees 40 about the end of that month, and continued to sell at that price until the middle of February, when it began to fall, the quarter closing with Rupees 33.

11. Referring to paragraph 24 of my letter No. 1373, dated 25th September last,* I am directed to report that a further quantity of maunds 4,716 has been sanctioned by the Board to be written off the accounts of the Chittagong depôt, on account of golah-wastage, being within the allowance to which the golah darogah was entitled, under the terms of his contract, in a total storage of maunds 82,790.

* Board's Annual Report for 1865-66.

12. The total quantity of salt that was available for export on private trade at the several Madras Depôts, on the first day of each of the three months of the quarter under review, and of the corresponding quarter of the two previous years, is exhibited below :—

Month.	1864-65.	1865-66.	1866-67.
January	7,30,206	5,87,020	11,35,778
February	3,35,398	6,67,398	11,01,665
March	7,25,326	6,10,858	10,84,910

The quantity of salt that was available for export on the 1st December 1866 amounted to maunds 11,62,074. This information was wanting when the last quarterly report was submitted by the Board.

13. The importations into the ports of Chittagong and Balasore during the quarter under review amounted to maunds 21,828 of Liverpool Pungah, and maunds 7,591 of Madras Kurkutch at Chittagong, and to maunds 4,764 of Kurkutch salt only at Balasore.

The mean Temperature and the mean Wet Bulb are derived from the twenty-four hourly Observations made during the day.

The Dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1 foot 2 inches, and that of the Anemometer 7·0 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground.

LEGISLATIVE.

THE following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 29th May 1867, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to make their report thereon in a week:—

No. 14 OF 1867.

A Bill to render penal certain offences committed by servants of Railway Companies.

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend certain provisions of the Indian Penal Code relating to public servants to persons in the employment of Railway Companies; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

1. In this Act "Railway Company" means the proprietors for the time being of every Railway or Tramway situate in the territories vested in Her Majesty or her successors under the Statute 21 and 22 Vic., Cap. 106 (an Act for the better Government of India), or (so far only as regards British subjects within the dominions hereinafter mentioned) situate in the dominions of Princes and States in the East Indies in alliance with Her Majesty or Her successors, and the lessees, representatives and assigns of such proprietors.

Interpretation clause.

2. Every officer and servant of a Railway Company shall be deemed a public servant within the meaning of Sections 161, 162, 163, 164, and 165 of the Indian Penal Code.

Railway Officers and servants to be "public servants" within meaning of Penal Code.

3. This Act shall be called "The Railway Servants' Act, 1867."

Short Title.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to put a stop to the bribing of Station-masters and other Railway servants, a practice which has lately increased, and which must obviously be injurious to the mercantile community as well as to the Railway Companies. The Bill, in order to effect this object, simply declares that persons in the employ of Railway Companies shall be deemed to be "public servants" within the meaning of Sections 161-165 of the Indian Penal Code. This declaration forms a section of a Bill now before the Council, for Consolidating the Railway Law of India, which has been submitted to the Boards of the various Companies. No objection has been taken to the clause in question: on the contrary, there is a general concurrence of opinion in its favour. The Bill extends to persons employed on all Railways and Tramways in British India, and also (as to British subjects) in the dominions of allied Princes and States.

THE following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 30th April 1867, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General on the 21st May 1867, is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. IV OF 1867.

An Act to explain and amend Act VI of 1862 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, and to give validity to certain judgments.

WHEREAS certain appeals under Act X of 1859 of the Governor General of India in Council, entitled an Act to amend the Law relating to the recovery

Preamble.

of rent in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, and under Act VI of 1862 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, entitled an Act to amend Act X of 1859, have been referred to Deputy Collectors by Collectors under the belief that power so to refer such appeals is conferred by Section XIX of the said Act VI of 1862, and whereas some of the said appeals so referred have been heard and determined by such Deputy Collectors: And whereas certain appeals have been heard and determined by Deputy Collectors placed in charge of Sub-divisions of districts under the belief that they had power to hear and determine such appeals; And whereas it is expedient that the judgments passed by such Deputy Collectors on such appeals should be made valid, and that provision should be made for the more speedy determination of appeals in certain cases; It is hereby declared and enacted as follows:—

Interpretation.

I. Words importing the singular number shall include the plural, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular.

Orders made by Deputy Collectors on referred appeals confirmed.

II. Save as hereinafter appears, every judgment, decree, and order, before the passing of this Act passed or made on any appeal by any Deputy Collector to whom such appeal may have been referred by the Collector having jurisdiction to decide such appeal, shall be as valid and binding and have the same force and effect as if the same had been passed or made by such Collector.

Orders on appeals made by Deputy Collectors in charge of Sub-divisions confirmed.

III. Save as hereinafter appears, every judgment, decree, and order, before the passing of this Act, passed or made by any Deputy Collector placed in charge of any Sub-division of a District, upon any appeal from any judgment, decree, or order made under the said Act X of 1859 or the said Act VI of 1862 by any Officer within such Sub-division, shall be as valid and binding as if such judgment, decree, or order of such Deputy Collector had been made by the Collector of the District within which such Sub-division is situate.

Proviso when appeals have been reheard by a Collector.

IV. Provided always that, in case any appeal upon which a judgment, decree, or order may have been passed or made by any Deputy Collector, shall, before the passing of this Act, have been reheard by a Collector, the judgment, decree, or order of such Deputy Collector upon such appeal shall not become valid or binding under or by virtue of anything hereinbefore contained.

Appellate jurisdiction may be exercised by officers specially appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

V. From and after the passing of this Act, it shall be competent to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal specially to appoint any fully qualified Revenue Officer to exercise the powers of the Collector of a District for the purpose of enabling him to hear and determine appeals under the said recited Regulation, or provisions. Acts, and such person so specially appointed shall have and exercise all such and the same powers in regard to the hearing of such appeals, as the Collector of the District, within which such person shall be so appointed, might have and exercise.

THE following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 23rd May 1867, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General on the 30th idem, is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. V OF 1867.

An Act for shortening the language used in Acts passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Preamble.

WHEREAS certain provisions are commonly inserted in Acts passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council for the interpretation of such Acts, and it is expedient to avoid the frequent repetition of such provisions; It is declared and enacted as follows:—

Interpretation of certain words in future Acts.

I. In all Acts passed after the commencement of this Act, and containing nothing expressly to the contrary, words importing the masculine gender shall be deemed and taken to include females, and the singular to include the plural, and the plural the singular; the word "Magistrate" shall include all persons exercising all or any of the powers of a Magistrate; the word "person" shall include any incorporated Company or incorporated association of persons; the word "month" shall be taken to mean calendar months unless words be added showing lunar month to be intended; the word "land" shall include house, and buildings and corporeal hereditaments and tenements of any tenure, unless where there are words to exclude houses and buildings or to restrict the meaning to tenements of some particular tenure; and the words "oath," "swear," and "affidavit" shall include affirmation, declaration, affirming, and declaring, in the case of persons by law allowed to declare or affirm instead of swearing.

Repealed Acts not to be revived.

II. Wherever any Act shall, after the time fixed for the commencement of this Act, be passed repealing in whole or in part any former Act or Regulation, and such Act shall itself be repealed; such last repeal shall not revive the Act or Regulation or provisions before repealed, unless words be added reviving such Act, Regulation, or provisions.

III. Wherever any Act shall, after the time fixed for the commencement of this Act, be passed repealing in whole or in part any former Act, and substituting some provision or provisions instead of the provision or provisions so repealed, the provision or provisions so repealed shall remain in force until the substituted provision or provisions shall come into operation by force of the last mentioned Act.

Repealed provisions to continue in force till substituted provisions come into operation.

IV. The provisions of Sections 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, and 70 of the Indian Penal Code, and of Section 61 of the Code of Criminal Procedure shall apply to all fines which may be imposed under the authority of any Act hereafter to be passed.

Provision for the recovery of fines.

V. This Act shall commence and take effect upon the first day of June now next ensuing.

Commencement of Act.

Repeal of Clauses.

IV. From and after the commencement of this Act, every District Superintendent of Police, on or before the first day of November in each year, shall prepare, in such form as may from time to time be directed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, a Budget or estimate of the income and expense of the Police Force in every Town and Municipality within his District, for the year to commence on the first day of January next after the preparation of such Budget, and present the Budget of every such Town or Municipality to the Magistrate thereof.

District Superintendent of Police to prepare a Budget

Contents of Budget.

V. Every such Budget shall shew the number, constitution, and salaries of the Police Force to be maintained in any such Town or Municipality, and shall state whether the whole or some and what part of such expense is to be borne by rates to be levied in the Town or Municipality to which the same refers. Provided that the expense so to be borne in any Town shall not exceed the average rate of two annas per mensem for each house, and that the expense so to be borne in any Municipality shall not exceed five Rupees per centum of the annual value of all houses, buildings, and lands within the local limits of such Municipality.

Magistrate to consider Budget.

VI. The Magistrate of every such Town or Municipality shall, forthwith after the receipt of such Budget, lodge the same in his Office, and shall cause the same to be translated into the language usually spoken in such Town or Municipality, and shall cause the same or the translation thereof to be laid before the Municipal Commissioners of such Municipality at their next General Meeting, or before the Punchayet appointed under the said Act XX. of 1856 of such Town, and shall, during fourteen days after such Budget shall have been so received, permit the same and the translation thereof to be inspected at all reasonable times and seasons by any rate-payer of such Town or Municipality who may desire to inspect the same.

Budget to be transmitted to Lieutenant Governor.

VII. Immediately after the expiration of fourteen days from the receipt of any such Budget, the Magistrate, who shall have received the same, shall transmit to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal such Budget, together with any remarks or objections made by the said Municipal Commissioners or the said Punchayet, as the case may be.

Lieutenant-Governor to decide on Budget.

VIII. It shall be lawful for the said Lieutenant-Governor to consider such Budget so transmitted to him, and to approve, or to reject, or modify and approve as modified, such Budget or any part thereof.

Amount of estimat in Budget to be deemed expense of Police Force.

IX. So much of the estimates in such approved Budget as may thereby be directed to be borne by the rates to be levied in such Town or Municipality, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be the expense of the Police to be borne by such Town or Municipality for the year for which such Budget shall have been presented.

Municipal Commissioners to pay amount of expense to Lieutenant-Governor.

X. The Municipal Commissioners in every Municipality shall, out of the annual rates of such Municipality, cause to be paid to the said Lieutenant-Governor the expense of the Police Force of such Municipality, by equal quarterly instalments, which said instalments shall respectively be payable upon such quarterly days of payment as shall from time to time be fixed by the said Lieutenant-Governor for the payment thereof by such Municipal Commissioners.

Magistrate to raise amount of expense.

XI. The Magistrate of every Town shall, by the ways and means in and by the said Act XX. of 1856 provided for raising the amount of the expense of Chowkeydars appointed under the same Act, cause to be levied and raised in such Town the amount of the expense of the Police to be borne under this Act by such Town and the costs of raising such amount.

Saving of powers of Police Commissioner in Calcutta.

XII. Nothing in this Act shall deprive the Commissioner of Police for the Town of Calcutta of any power or authority over the Police within the Town of Calcutta and the Suburbs thereof, in him vested by Act IV. of 1866 or Act II. of 1866 of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council or otherwise; and the Inspector-General of Police shall not exercise over the Police within the said Town or Suburbs any of the powers or authorities to him confided by the said Act V. of 1861.

Deputy Commissioner to perform duties of District Superintendent under this Act.

XIII. The Deputy Commissioner of Police for the Suburbs of Calcutta shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the District Superintendent of the said Suburbs.

Commencement of Act.

XIV. This Act shall, so far as respects the preparation, presentation, inspection, consideration, and approval of Budgets, commence and take effect upon the first day of September now next ensuing, and as to the residue thereof, shall commence and take effect upon the first day of January 1868.

From Commissioner of Assam, dated 9th April 1867, and enclosures.
From British Indian Association, dated 31st May 1867, and enclosures.

3. Many verbal alterations have been introduced into the Bill, especially in those Sections which have been retained from the existing Acts; and the language of the Bill has been revised throughout with reference to the interpretation Section, in which we have introduced definitions of "Recruiter," "Employer," and "Laborer."

4. The first substantial alteration which we have made in the Bill will be found in the present Section 7, which empowers the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to establish a Central Depôt. It is intended that this Central Depôt may be used by Contractors for the collection and temporary accommodation of intending laborers in the same way as the private depôts are used, and all the provisions of the Bill with regard to the existing establishments, will apply to the Central Depôt, which will also be maintained and superintended under the instructions of the Local Government.

5. In Section 12 we have provided that every Recruiter shall, in addition to the badge required by Act III of 1863, be provided with a written pass signed by his Contractor.

6. We have omitted Section 13 of the Bill, which constituted every building occupied by natives of India engaged by a Recruiter, a local depôt. The Section, as it appears to us, would have had no practical effect, and the desired object is gained by Section 15 of the Bill, which we have now made Section 14.

7. In Section 16 of the Bill (one of the most important) we have introduced a more specific enumeration of the matters on which the native laborer on his first engagement by the Recruiter is to be examined by the Magistrate. Under the existing Acts the only thing which the Magistrate can do, in case of his finding that the native has been recruited by means of fraud or misrepresentation, is to refuse to register the name. We have therefore introduced a new Section (17) empowering the Magistrate to impose a fine in any such cases; and as the procuring a native to proceed to a District where he is not resident, with the view of prevailing on him to enter into an engagement there, would be a fraud, we have omitted Section 17 of the Bill as unnecessary.

8. Under Section 23 of the original Bill, in the case of any recruited native being pronounced by the Medical Inspector in an unfit state of health to proceed to the District of Assam, &c., the Contractor might be ordered to cause such native to be reconveyed to the place at which he was registered. It would be so very difficult, if not impossible, to ascertain whether and to what extent such an order had been carried out, that we have thought it better to confine the Section to requiring the Contractor to pay the native a sufficient sum to enable him to return.

9. We have made certain alterations as regards the arrangement of the Sections of the Bill relating to the proceedings from the time the native inhabitant is brought before the Superintendent with the view of his entering into a contract, to the time when he becomes a laborer. The provisions regarding this part of the subject are now all brought together in consecutive order in what are now Sections 25 to 29 of the Bill as amended. Among these we have dealt with the cases of recruited natives refusing, without reasonable cause, to sign the contract, and of Contractors neglecting to tender contracts for execution. And we have provided by one Section (29) for the enforcement in all cases of orders on Contractors to pay money.

10. The Bill as it originally stood provided (Sections 26 to 29) for the appointment by the Local Government of Committees to determine the daily tasks which laborers were to perform within the several Districts, and to frame Schedules of the tasks to be determined: which Schedules were to be part of the laborers' contracts. We have had a good deal of discussion on this part of the subject, and considering the importance of not interfering unnecessarily with freedom of labor, and how much the determination of the proper nature and amount of the daily tasks must be dependent on and affected by local circumstances, to say nothing of differences as regards the strength and ability of the individual laborers, we have thought it preferable to substitute a different system. According to this (Sections 30 to 32 of the amended Bill) the daily tasks will be fixed by the employer, subject, on the complaint of the laborer, to revision by a Committee consisting of the Inspector, an employer nominated by him, and a nominee of the laborer's employers. We have not interfered with the provision as to the maximum contract term being three years, and the weekly days and daily hours of labor.

11. Under Section 39 of the original Bill, (Section 41 of the Bill as amended), laborers are not to be allowed finally to leave the steamer or boat, except at the place of destination mentioned in their pass. It has been represented to us that the operaton of this Clause, which has been taken from the Act of 1863, (Section 27) has been in many cases to necessitate the landing of laborers at places inconveniently distant from the estates for which they are bound. We have therefore introduced a new Section (48 of the amended Bill), empowering the Magistrate at the place of destination named in the pass of any laborers, to allow such laborers to proceed to and land at some point intermediate between that place and the next authorized place of destination.

12. As it appears to us quite unnecessary to require that every boat, however small a number of laborers it conveys, should have a Medical Officer on board, we have limited the power of the Superintendent to require the presence of such Officer to cases where not less than fifty laborers are conveyed in one body (Section 49 of the amended Bill.) We have also thought it right to omit the provisions which the original Bill contained throwing the expense of providing Medical Officers, Cooks, &c., for the voyage on the Contractors.

13. On consideration, we have thought it advisable to omit from the Bill the Clause as to the proportion in which each party of laborers was to consist of females.

14. It has appeared to us to be sufficient security to the laborer that arrears of his wages (to the extent of 4 months) should be made a charge on the lands on which he has been engaged to work; and that there would be an injustice in making the general property of the owner of the lands for the time being liable for all breaches of the contract, whether they occurred before or after he became owner. We have therefore (Section 56 of the Bill as amended) modified the provisions of Section 54 of the original Bill. We have also omitted as unnecessary the Clause providing for transfer of contract.

15. We have provided (Sections 59 and 60 of the Bill as amended) for the appointment of Assistant Inspectors to exercise such powers as the Inspectors may depute to them. We have raised the maximum rate payable to provide for the salaries of the Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors, from one rupee to two rupees per laborer, as we have reason to conclude that the higher rate will not bear too hardly on the employers, and is not higher than the requisite expenditure may require. In place of rendering the estates liable to be sold by the Collector for nonpayment of the rate, we have thought it preferable to enact (Section 66 of the Bill as amended) that the Collector may recover the arrears from the owner by a regular civil suit.

16. On consideration, we have come to the conclusion that the time during which a laborer's employment is temporarily suspended, ought not to count as part of his contract term, inasmuch as the employer contracts for his actual services for that term. Sec accordingly Section 70 of the Bill as amended.

17. By Section 74 of the Bill as amended, we have given the employer an opportunity of showing cause, if he can, why the laborer should not be allowed to purchase his discharge, and we have (Section 76) empowered the laborer who has purchased his discharge to enter into a new contract as he chooses, whether with or without reference to the provisions of the Act.

18. As it originally stood, the Bill (Section 93) provided that, where a laborer had twice undergone sentence of imprisonment amounting in the whole to sixty days for desertion, the contract might be cancelled on the laborer's application. This provision has had our most careful consideration; and finding ourselves unable to reconcile its principle with the general scope and object of the Bill, we in the first instance had determined simply to omit the Clause, and in this way raise the question for the determination of the whole Council. We have since decided on the introduction of Clauses (Sections 92 and 93 of the amended Bill,) by which a laborer who deserts under reasonable apprehension of danger to his life or health will, on proof of that fact, escape punishment, and inasmuch as, by Section 99 of the Amended Bill, there may be an inspection and enquiry held as to the climate and situation of any estate which may appear to the Inspector unfit for human residence, and the cancellation of the laborers' contracts will follow in the event of the Committee of Enquiry reporting the estate unfit or residence, we conceive that the combined effect of these Clauses ought to render quite unnecessary the provision as to two imprisonments for desertion to which we have before referred.

19. There are certain other formal amendments which we need not particularize in this Report, save as hereinafter [illegible] in this Act shall apply to any engagement [illegible] in any or either of the said Districts.

Lieutenant-Governor may appoint Superintendents of Labor Transport and Medical Inspectors of Laborers.

III. For the purposes of this Act, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to appoint Superintendents of Labor Transport, and Medical Inspectors of Laborers, at any places where he may think proper: and whenever any Superintendent or Medical Inspector shall be so appointed, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, define the local limits within which such Superintendent or Medical Inspector shall exercise the powers and authority conferred on him by this Act. When such local limits shall have been so defined, no other Superintendent or Medical Inspector shall, within those limits, exercise any of the powers vested in a Superintendent or Medical Inspector by this Act.

No person not licensed as a Contractor or Recruiter, may engage or contract to supply laborers.

IV. Whoever, not being a Contractor or Recruiter shall engage, save through or by the agency of a Contractor, any native inhabitant of India to proceed to any of the said Districts for the purpose of laboring therein for hire; and whoever, not being a Contractor, shall enter into any contract to supply, or shall supply, any such native inhabitants for the purpose of laboring for hire in any of those Districts; and whoever, not being a contractor or Recruiter, shall enter into any contract to engage, or shall attempt to engage, any such native inhabitants to proceed to any of those Districts for the purpose aforesaid—shall be liable for each offence to fine, and in default of payment thereof, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.

Penalty.

Superintendent may grant licenses to Contractors

V. It shall be lawful for any Superintendent appointed under this Act to grant to such persons as he may think fit, licenses, in the form set forth in Schedule (A) to this Act annexed, to act as Contractors for engaging and supplying persons for the purpose of laboring for hire in the said Districts or any or either of them. For every such license a fee not exceeding one hundred Rupees (the amount of which shall from time to time be fixed by the Government of Bengal) shall be paid to the Superintendent granting the same; and every such license shall be in force for one year and no longer.

Contractors shall keep up depôts, and receive and maintain laborers therein.

VI. Every Contractor shall, forthwith upon obtaining his license, unless and until there shall be some central depôt established under the provisions of the next succeeding Section, establish a depôt in a place to be approved of by such Superintendent. Every such depôt shall be maintained by such Contractor for the reception of native inhabitants of India to be supplied or forwarded by or through him. All such native inhabitants shall, on their arrival at or in the neighbourhood of the depôt so established by the Contractor by, for, whom they shall have been en- [illegible] of any such central depôt [illegible] in the next and shall re[illegible] such Contractor, s[illegible] and medical attendance, until such na[illegible] tants shall be declared by the Superintendent to be no longer thereto entitled. Every such depôt as aforesaid shall be under the supervision of the Superintendent, and shall be open to his inspection, and to the inspection of the Medical Inspector at all times, and shall be managed and regulated by the Contractor in accordance with such rules as the Superintendent may, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, from time to time, make and publish in the Calcutta Gazette in that behalf.

Power to establish a Central Depôt.

VII. It shall be lawful to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, if he shall so think fit, by order notified in the Calcutta Gazette, to authorize the establishment of a central depôt at such place as he may think proper. Such central depôt shall be constructed and maintained in accordance with such instructions and shall be under the charge of such persons as the said Lieutenant-Governor shall from time to time in that behalf direct. From and after the time that the said Lieutenant-Governor shall, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare such central depôt to be ready for the reception of native inhabitants as aforesaid, it shall not be lawful for any Contractor to maintain a depôt under the last preceding Section within such distance of any such central depôt as the Lieutenant-Governor shall by such order direct. All native inhabitants of India to be supplied or forwarded by any Contractor shall and may, on their arrival at or in the neighbourhood of the Central Depôt, be taken by the Contractor thereto subject to such instructions as aforesaid.

Contractor to give Superintendent such information as he may require.

VIII. It shall be the duty of every Contractor to afford such information to the Superintendent by whom he is licensed, and to make such returns and reports to him, as such Superintendent, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, may from time to time require; and for the purposes of this Section, every Superintendent shall be deemed to be an officer in the service of Government.

It shall not be lawful to employ an unlicensed Recruiter or Agent.

IX. It shall not be lawful to employ any person other than a Recruiter or Contractor to act as an Agent for engaging natives of India to proceed from or through any of the Provinces subject to the Government of Bengal, to any of the said Districts, for the purpose of their laboring for hire, and any person committing a breach of the provisions of this Section shall be liable to fine.

Superintendent may license Recruiters.

X. It shall be lawful for any Superintendent to grant, to such persons as he may think fit, licenses, in the form set forth in the Schedule (B) to this Act annexed, to act on behalf of some Contractor as Recruiters for engaging persons to proceed to the said Districts, for the purpose of laboring for hire. For every such license a fee not exceeding sixteen Rupees (the amount of which shall from time to time be fixed by the Government of Bengal) shall be paid to the Superintendent granting the same, and every such license shall be in force for one year and no more.

Superintendent may cancel the license of a Contractor or Recruiter.

XI. It shall be lawful for any Superintendent, in case of the misconduct or of the disobedience to or neglect of any of the provisions of this Act by a Contractor or Recruiter, to cancel any license which he may have granted to such Contractor or Recruiter.

Recruiter to wear a badge.

XII. Every Recruiter shall wear a badge having legibly inscribed thereupon in the Oordoo and Bengalee languages, the name of the District or Districts to which he is licensed to engage laborers to proceed, and shall hold a written pass signed by the Contractor on whose behalf he is licensed to act.

Recruiter to obtain counter-signature of Magistrate.

XIII. No Recruiter shall in any District engage or attempt to engage native inhabitants of India to become laborers without having first exhibited his license to the Magistrate in charge of such District and obtained his counter-signature thereon: nor shall he engage or attempt to engage such native inhabitants in the Town of Calcutta, without having first exhibited his license to the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of Police for the said Town, and obtained his counter-signature thereon.

Magistrate to require accommodation to be provided before counter-signing license of Recruiter.

XIV. No Magistrate, or Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of Police, to whom any such license shall have been exhibited for counter-signature, shall countersign the same until the Recruiter exhibiting the same shall have satisfied such Magistrate that sufficient accommodation for the native inhabitants of India to be engaged by such Recruiter to become laborers has been provided, and is available; and, subject to the aforesaid provision, every license shall be countersigned which is presented for counter-signature during such time as such license is to be in force.

Magistrate to have powers of Superintendent over accommodation provided.

XV. The Magistrate in charge of any District or Sub-Divison of a District in which there may be any such accommodation provided shall have, for the supervision, management, and regulation of such accommodation, all such and the same powers and authorities as are vested in a Superintendent of Labor Transport, for the supervision, management, and regulation of depôts subject to the powers and authority of such Superintendent.

Laborer recruited in the Mofussil shall appear before Magistrate for examination and registration.

XVI. Every native inhabitant of India who shall, in any place within the said Provinces other than the Town of Calcutta, enter into any engagement with a Recruiter to proceed to any of the said Districts for the purpose of laboring for hire, shall appear with the Recruiter before any Magistrate in the District within which the engagement was entered into. Upon so appearing, the Recruiter shall state to such Magistrate the name of the Contractor by whom such Recruiter is employed and to whom such native inhabitant is to be forwarded, and such Magistrate shall thereupon examine such native inhabitant with reference to his proposed contract to labor and the Contractor to whom he is to be forwarded; and if it appears that he understands the nature of his proposed contract as regards the locality, period, and nature of service and minimum of wages, and that he is willing to fulfil the same, the Magistrate shall register, in a book to be kept for the purpose in such form as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall prescribe, the name, of such native inhabitant and the depôt to which it is intended he shall proceed; but if the Magistrate shall be of opinion that such native inhabitant does not understand the nature of his proposed contract, or that he has been re-recruited by fraud or misrepresentation, he shall refuse to register the name of such native inhabitant. An authentic copy of every registration made under this Section shall be forthwith forwarded by the Magistrate to the Superintendent within the local limits of whose authority the depôt to which such native inhabitant is about to proceed may be situate.

Copy of Register to be sent to the Superintendent.

XVII. If, upon any examination made in accordance with the last preceding Section, it shall appear that the person so examined has been recruited by means of any fraud or misrepresentation, it shall be lawful for such Magistrate to fine the Recruiter by whom such person shall have been brought before such Magistrate, and by or out of such fine to defray the expense of sending such person to the place in which he usually resided.

Penalty on Recruiter inducing by misrepresentation laborers to engage.

XVIII. Every native inhabitant of India who shall be by any Recruiter brought or induced to come from any Province or District not under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, for the purpose of entering into a contract in a District under such control, shall be taken by the Recruiter, for the purpose of registry under Section XVI of this Act, before a Magistrate exercising jurisdiction within the District subject to the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, into which such native inhabitant shall first come after having been recruited.

Registration of laborers coming from a District not within Bengal.

XIX. Every native inhabitant of India who shall, in the Town of Calcutta, enter into any engagement with a Contractor or Recruiter to proceed to any depôt for the purpose of making any contract under this Act, shall within forty-eight hours after making such engagement, appear with such Contractor or Recruiter before the Superintendent having authority in the said Town. Upon so appearing, such Contractor or Recruiter shall state to the Superintendent to what depôt he intends that such native inhabitant shall proceed, and the Superintendent shall thereupon examine such native inhabitant with reference to his engagement; and if it appears that the understands the nature of the proposed contract, and that he is willing to enter into the same, the Superintendent shall register the name of such native inhabitant and the depôt to which it is intended he shall proceed, in a book to be kept for the purpose in such form as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall prescribe; but if the Superintendent shall be of opinion that such native inhabitant does not understand the nature of his proposed contract or that he has been recruited by any fraud or misrepresentation, the Superintendent shall refuse to register the name of such person.

Registration of laborers recruited in Calcutta.

XX. Every Contractor or Recruiter who shall forward or send any native inhabitant of India from the District or Town in which he may have been recruited until he shall have been duly registered according to the provisions contained in Sections XVI and XIX; or who shall induce or knowingly permit any such native inhabitant to leave such District or Town, for the purpose of proceeding to any of the said Districts without being so duly registered; and every Contractor or Recruiter who shall forward, send, induce, or knowingly permit any such native inhabitant to proceed to any depôt other than the depôt registered under those Sections, or a Central Depôt under this Act, shall be liable to a fine for every such native inhabitant so forwarded or sent, or induced or permitted.

Penalty for forwarding laborers or allowing them to go without being duly registered, &c.

XXI. All native inhabitants of India engaged by any Contractor or Recruiter to proceed to any of the said Districts shall, after they have been registered as aforesaid, and while they are proceeding to a depôt, be accompanied throughout the journey, either by the Contractor or Recruiter himself, or by a competent person appointed by him with the approval of the Magistrate by whom such native inhabitants may have been registered. Every Contractor or Recruiter by or through whom such native inhabitants may be forwarded to a depôt, shall, throughout their journey, provide them with proper and suitable lodging and food. Whenever any such native inhabitant shall not be so provided with lodging or food, the Contractor or Recruiter shall, whether he may or may not have personally accompanied such native inhabitant, be liable to fine.

Laborers shall be accompanied to depot by Recruiter or person approved by Magistrate.

Recruiter to provide suitable food and lodging, &c.

XXII. Every Contractor shall, within twenty-four hours after the arrival at any depôt of any native inhabitant of India forwarded to him for the purpose of proceeding to any of the said districts, give to the Superintendent a notice in writing of such arrival, which notice shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars as the Superintendent shall prescribe. Every such native inhabitant shall, as soon as may be after his arrival, be examined by the Medical Inspector, who shall give to the Superintendent a certificate of the state of health of every such native inhabitant examined.

Contractor to give to the Superintendent notice of arrival of laborers at depôt.

Medical Inspector to inspect laborers on arrival.

XXIII. If the Medical Inspector shall certify that any native inhabitant so examined is in such state of health that his journey to any of the said Districts would be dangerous to himself or to others, the Superintendent may order the Contractor by whom such laborer may have been taken to such depôt to pay to such native inhabitant such sum as shall to the Superintendent seem necessary to enable him to return to the place at which he was registered. Provided always that any such native inhabitant who, from his state of health, is, in the Medical Inspector's opinion, unfit to undertake the journey back to the place where he was registered, shall, until he is reported by the Medical Inspector fit to undertake such journey, be fed, clothed, and lodged by and at the expense of such Contractor, in the depôt.

If unable to proceed to Assam, &c., from bad health, Contractor to send laborer back to where he was registered.

XXIV. If upon the arrival of any native inhabitant at a depôt it shall appear to the Superintendent that such native inhabitant has suffered any ill-treatment on the journey, the Superintendent may cause him to be removed from the depôt, and may thereupon order the Superintendent to examine all laborers as to their treatment on their journey.

Contractor, by or from whom such native inhabitant shall have been taken to such depôt, to pay him such sum of money as to the Superintendent shall seem reasonable by way of compensation, or such sum as to the Superintendent shall seem necessary in order to enable such native inhabitant to return to the place where he was registered. In the latter case the native inhabitant shall not be bound to enter into a contract.

Every laborer to enter into a written contract to serve for some period not exceeding three years.

XXV. It shall not be lawful for any native inhabitant of India to be conveyed from any depôt to any of the said Districts unless and until he shall have entered into a duly registered contract with some person, to serve such person there for a fixed period, which shall in no case exceed the term of three years. Every such contract shall be reduced to writing, and shall specify the rate of wages, the period of service, and the name of the District in which the service is to be performed, and the price at which rice is to be supplied to the laborer, and shall be in such form as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal shall prescribe.

Contract to be explained by Superintendent and executed in duplicate, and abstract to be entered in a book by Superintendent.

XXVI. Every such contract shall, in the presence of the Superintendent, be signed in duplicate both by such native inhabitant and by the person with whom he intends to contract or his Agent. Before such native inhabitant signs the contract, the Superintendent shall personally explain it to him, and shall attest such contract and certify at the foot thereof that he has personally explained the same. An abstract of every such contract shall be entered by the Superintendent in a Register to be kept by him for the purpose: and after such abstract has been so entered, one of the duplicates so duly signed and attested as hereinbefore provided shall be given to the laborer, and the other to the person with whom he has contracted or his Agent.

Penalty on laborer refusing to execute contract

XXVII. If any native inhabitant of India who may, under the provisions hereinbefore contained, have been received into any depôt shall, without reasonable cause, refuse to execute such contract as shall be tendered to him for execution in conformity with the provisions of the last preceding Section, such native inhabitant shall be punished with a fine equal in amount to the entire cost incurred by or on behalf of such Contractor in and about bringing such native inhabitant to such depôt, and in default of payment of such fine, with imprisonment with or without hard labor which may extend to two months, and such native inhabitant shall forthwith be discharged from such depôt. Every fine levied under the provisions of this Section shall be paid to the Contractor by whom or on whose behalf the person from whom such fine shall have been levied may have been received into such depôt.

Penalty on Contractor not providing an employment for laborer.

XXVIII. If within thirty days after the arrival of any native inhabitant of India at a depôt, the Contractor by whom or on whose behalf such native inhabitant shall have been received into such depôt, shall not tender to him for execution such contract as under the provisions of the preceding Sections he would be bound to execute, the Superintendent may order the Contractor to pay such native inhabitant such sum of money as to the Superintendent shall seem necessary to enable such native inhabitant to return to the place where he was registered, and in such case such native inhabitant shall not be bound to execute any contract.

Power to enforce payment of monies ordered by Superintendent to be paid.

XXIX. If any Contractor who may be ordered under the provisions of Sections XXIII, XXIV, or XXVIII to pay any sum of money, shall, for twenty-four hours, omit to comply with such order, it shall be lawful for the Superintendent to advance the amount so ordered to be paid to the person named in such order, and to recover from such Contractor the sum so advanced with interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the date of such advance, and no further proof shall be required by any Court in any suit for the recovery of money so advanced, than that the Superintendent made such order as aforesaid, and advanced the money as aforesaid.

Power to fix daily tasks.

XXX. It shall be lawful for every employer to fix the daily tasks to be executed by the laborers employed by such employer, and to frame a Schedule of such daily tasks, and to publish the same by posting a copy thereof in the Bengalee language upon the door of each place of payment of the laborers employed by such employer, and by sending a copy thereof in the English language to the Inspector.

On complaint of any laborer, Inspector to submit Schedule to a Committee.

XXXI. In case any laborer employed by such employer shall deem any such Schedule of daily tasks or any part thereof excessive, it shall be lawful for such laborer to complain thereof to the Inspector; and in case the Inspector shall consider such Schedule of daily tasks or any part thereof to be unreasonable, he shall refer the consideration of such Schedule to a Committee consisting of the Inspector, of some employer to be nominated by him, and of some person to be nominated by the employer whose Schedule is to be considered, or on his default by the Inspector.

Committee to revise Schedule.

XXXII. In case the said Committee or the majority in number thereof shall be of opinion that the daily tasks in such Schedule contained or any of them are unreasonable, they shall modify and reduce such daily tasks in such manner as they shall deem reasonable, and such Schedule so modified shall be published in manner aforesaid, and every Schedule published as aforesaid shall have effect as between the employer and laborers in substitution for any former Schedule.

Maximum amount of compulsory labor.

XXXIII. No laborer shall be bound to serve under his contract for a longer period than three years from the time at which he shall have arrived at the place whereupon he is to be employed, nor to work on more than six days in one week, nor for more than six hours consecutively, nor for more than nine hours on any one day.

Copy of abstract to be sent to Magistrate of District where service is to be performed. Abstracts and copies to be evidence.

XXXIV. The Superintendent shall send by post a copy, authenticated under his hand, of every abstract entered by him as in Section XXVI provided, to the Magistrate of the District in which the service is in such contract agreed to be performed. Every such copy shall be dispatched by the Superintendent within seven days after the entry of the abstract. Every abstract and every such copy shall, without further proof thereof, be receivable as primary evidence in every Court, whether Civil or Criminal, as fully as the original contract might or could be.

Laborers whose contracts are duly executed and entered, may be despatched with consent of Superintendent.

XXXV. Any laborers whose contracts shall have been executed and entered as hereinbefore provided, may be despatched from time to time to any of the said Districts by the Contractors in whose depôts they may be, or by the persons whom they may have agreed to serve respectively, but subject always to the provisions of this Act. No laborer shall be so despatched, unless the permission of the Superintendent shall have been first obtained and the laborer shall have received a pass from the Superintendent as hereinafter mentioned.

Steamer or boat to be licensed to carry laborers

XXXVI. It shall not be lawful for the Master of any steamer, or the Manjee of any boat, without a license granted by the Superintendent within the local limits of whose authority a laborer may embark, to convey the said laborer to any of the said Districts. A fee, not exceeding four annas per laborer, (the amount of which fee shall from time to time be fixed by the Government of Bengal), shall be paid for every such license, which fee shall be carried to the credit of the said Government, and it shall be in the discretion of the Superintendent to whom application is made to grant or with hold any such license. Every such license shall apply only to one voyage or trip to the said Districts or any one or more of those Districts, and shall specify the number of persons (including the crew) other than laborers, whom such steamer or boat is licensed to carry.

Penalty for conveying laborers in a steamer or boat without a license

XXXVII. The Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat in which any such laborer shall be conveyed without a license having been obtained as aforesaid, shall be liable to a fine for every laborer so illegally conveyed.

Penalty for fraudulent acts, whereby a steamer or boat becomes unfit for the accommodation of the laborers mentioned in a license.

XXXVIII. If the Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat shall, after having obtained a license as aforesaid, fraudulently do or suffer to be done any act or thing whereby the state of the steamer or boat may be altered so that such steamer or boat may be unfit for the accommodation of the number of laborers mentioned in such license, such Master or Manjee shall be liable to fine.

Penalty for taking on board greater number of passengers than specified in license

XXXIX. The Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat licensed to carry laborers, who shall receive on board his steamer or boat a greater number of laborers, or of other persons, than is specified in his license, shall be liable to a fine for every laborer and other person so received in excess of the licensed number. In computing under this Act the number of laborers or other persons on board of any steamer or boat, two children under the age of ten years shall be reckoned as one person only.

Two children under ten to count as one person

XL. If the Master of any steamer, or the Manjee of any boat, licensed as aforesaid, shall take on board any such laborer as aforesaid, unless such laborer shall have in his possession, and shall shew, a pass given to him and signed by some Superintendent, stating his name and age, and the name of his father and certifying the place of his destination such Master or Manjee shall be liable to a fine, for every laborer so taken on board.

No laborer to be taken on board unless he has a pass signed by the Superintendent.

XLI. If the Master of any steamer, or the Manjee of any boat, licensed as aforesaid, shall, except in case of accident or unavoidable necessity, (to be immediately reported to the Superintendent by whom the license was granted, and to the Magistrate of the District in which such accident or necessity shall occur,) cause or permit any such laborer as aforesaid finally to leave such steamer or boat at any place other than that named as the destination of such laborer in the pass signed by the Superintendent, such Master or Manjee shall be liable to fine for each such offence. No place shall be named in any such pass as the destination of any laborer, except a place which shall have been declared by the Lieutenant-Governor to be a place for the disembarkation of laborers under this Act

No laborer to be allowed finally to leave steamer or boat, at any place other than that mentioned in his pass.

Proviso

Provided always that this Section shall not be deemed to prevent the Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat from permitting laborers to disembark at any place or places on the voyage, so long as such disembarkation is not intended, or known to be likely to be final.

A list of the laborers on board to be delivered to Superintendent.

XLII. Before any steamer or boat, licensed as aforesaid, shall proceed upon any voyage for the said Districts, the Master or Manjee thereof shall deliver to the Superintendent a list in duplicate, in a form to be prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, specifying the names, ages, occupations, and destination of all and every the laborers on board such steamer or boat. The Superintendent shall keep one of the said lists, and shall sign the other (if it be in his opinion correct) and deliver it back to the Master or Manjee. If the Master of any steamer or the Manjee of any boat shall, after having commenced his voyage or after having delivered such list to the Superintendent, knowingly take on board any laborer whose name shall not have been entered in the list aforesaid, he shall be liable to a fine for every laborer so illegally taken on board.

Penalty for afterwards taking on board laborers not entered in list

Notice to be given, and copy of list delivered, to Magistrate, or Officer appointed by him, immediately on arrival of steamer or boat at place of destination.

XLIII. The Master of any steamer, or the Manjee of any boat, licensed as aforesaid, having laborers on board, shall, immediately on the arrival of the steamer or boat at the place of destination, and previously to the disembarkation of any of the laborers, give notice of such arrival to the nearest Magistrate or such Officer as shall be appointed by such Magistrate in that behalf, and shall exhibit to him the list in the last preceding Section mentioned, and deliver to him a copy thereof so far as the same relates to the laborers who may disembark at such place. Every omission to comply with this Section shall be punishable with fine.

Laborers to be landed under supervision of Magistrate, &c.

XLIV. The laborers shall thereupon be landed under the supervision of the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid, who shall make such provision as he may consider necessary for the reception of the laborers and for their food, lodging, and clothing while they remain in the place or station at which they may have disembarked.

Magistrate may require Surgeon to inspect laborers and make a report.

XLV. The Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid may, if he think fit, cause the laborers to be inspected at the place of disembarkation by the Civil Surgeon of the Station, or other qualified Medical Officer. It shall be the duty of such Civil Surgeon, or other Medical Officer, to make such inspection when called on by the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid so to do; and after making such inspection, he shall prepare and sign a report in which he shall certify as to the state of health and general condition of every laborer inspected.

Magistrate, &c., to forward a report to Superintendent.

XLVI. The Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid shall despatch, without delay, to the Superintendent, by whose permission they were forwarded, a detailed report of the number of laborers who may have arrived, together with a copy of the report (if any) of the Civil Surgeon or other Medical Officer, and any observations which such Civil Surgeon or other Medical Officer, or such Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid, may think fit to make as to their state of health and general condition.

Magistrate, &c., to give notice, to the person importing laborers, of their arrival.

XLVII. On the arrival of any laborers at the place of disembarkation, the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid shall at once give notice of their arrival to the persons with whom they shall be under contract to labor, or to the Agents of such persons, who shall forthwith take charge of the laborers with whom they may have contracted respectively. It shall be the duty of the Magistrate, or other Officer aforesaid, to ascertain whether reasonable provision has been made for the support and lodging of such laborers from the time of disembarkation till they reach their final destination; and if the persons with whom they may have contracted shall fail to make such reasonable provision, the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid may order such arrangements to be made, and incur such expenses, as under the circumstances may seem to him necessary: and the amount of such expenses incurred by him in the disembarkation, or in respect of the food, lodging, medicines, hospital attendance, or clothing of the laborers, or of any of them, shall, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, be recoverable by the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid from the respective employers with whom such laborers may have contracted.

If proper means are not provided for conveyance of laborers to place of final destination, Magistrate, &c., to make arrangements and incur necessary expenses.

Such expenses how to be recovered.

Power to allow laborers to disembark between places of disembarkation.

XLVIII. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate or other Officer appointed as aforesaid at the place named in any pass as the destination of any laborers, to permit them to proceed in the steamer or boat in which they may have been brought thereto, to any place intermediate between such place named as the destination of laborers and the place for the disembarkation of laborers next adjoining thereto, upon such Magistrate or other Officer being satisfied that the transport of such laborers to the estate upon which they are to be employed can thereby be more conveniently accomplished, and that suitable provision for the reception of the laborers at such intermediate place and for their support and lodging until they shall reach the estate upon which they are to be employed has been provided, and anything which shall be done in pursuance of such authority shall be deemed to have been done in compliance with the provisions of Section XLI.

Sufficient quantity of provision to be carried on every steamer or boat.

XLIX. There shall be laden, under the supervision of the Superintendent, on board of every steamer or boat carrying laborers to any of the said Districts, at the time of the embarkation of such laborers, good and wholesome provisions for the consumption of the laborers, to the amount or in the proportion which shall be prescribed by the Superintendent with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor. And any Master or Manjee who shall commence the voyage without having on board such provisions as aforesaid, or without having on board such Medical and other Officers, Cooks and other attendants, as the Superintendent shall order, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred Rupees, and in default of payment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months: Provided always that it shall not be lawful for the Superintendent to order that a Medical Officer shall proceed with any number of laborers less than fifty who may go together to the said Districts or any of them.

And Medical and other Officers to be carried.

Provisions of Sections XXI, XLIV, XLV, XLVI and XLIX to apply to children, &c., accompanying laborers.

L. The provisions with regard to native inhabitants of India and registered laborers contained in Sections XXI, XLIV, XLV, XLVI, and XLIX of this Act, shall be applicable to such women, children, and aged relatives of such native inhabitants, and laborers as may, with the consent of a Contractor or Recruiter, and with the written permission of the registering Magistrate or Superintendent, accompany them.

Magistrate of a District may board and inspect steamer or boat.

LI. It shall be lawful for the Magistrate of any District, through which a steamer or boat having laborers on board shall be passing, to go on board such steamer or boat, and to inspect the same or any part thereof, and the Master and Officers of every such steamer and the Manjee of every such boat shall be bound to afford to the Magistrate all reasonable facility for such inspection, and to give him all such information respecting such steamer or boat and the equipments thereof, and respecting the laborers and other persons on board thereof as may be reasonably required by the Magistrate, and in default of compliance with the provision aforesaid, may be punished with a fine.

Magistrate shall report to Superintendent, if, after boarding, he find provisions of Act not complied with.

LII. In any case in which, on making such inspection as is in the last preceding Section provided, the Magistrate shall find that any of the provisions of this Act have not been complied with, he shall report the same to the Superintendent by whom the license to carry the laborers was granted to such steamer or boat; and if the circumstances of the case are such as in the Magistrate's opinion make it necessary so to do, he may detain the said steamer or boat until the provisions of this Act have been complied with, so far as to make it possible for the voyage to be further prosecuted with safety and reasonable comfort to the laborers.

And may detain steamer or boat if necessary.

Power to prevent emigration of laborers.

LIII. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, in case he shall be of opinion that the emigration of native inhabitants of India from any District for the purpose of becoming laborers, is at any time from any special circumstances likely to be attended with danger to the health of any native inhabitants so emigrating, to prohibit, by an order under his hand, the emigration of such native inhabitants from such District during such time as to such Lieutenant-Governor shall seem fit, and from time to time to revoke or vary any such order; and every such order, or variation or revocation thereof, shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Penalty on engaging emigrant contrary to such order.

LIV. Any person who shall engage any native inhabitant so to emigrate from any District while emigration from such District may have been so prohibited, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty Rupees for every laborer who may have been so engaged.

Magistrate may, after consulting a Medical Officer, stop laborers on voyage, if violent sickness exist among them.

LV. If disease shall exist among laborers or intending laborers while passing through any District, whether by land or by water on their journey either to a depôt or to any of the said Districts, any Magistrate having jurisdiction in such District may, if in the opinion of a Medical Officer it may be advisable, detain the laborers until such time as they shall be able to proceed with safety. In any case in which laborers or intending laborers may be detained as aforesaid by a Magistrate, he shall cause all necessary arrangements to be made for their accommodation and welfare, and all expenses incurred by him in so doing shall be recoverable, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, from the Contractor by, through, or for whom the laborers shall have been engaged or forwarded, as money paid to the use of such Contractor.

Contracts to be a charge on and to pass with the land.

LVI. Every contract made with any laborer in pursuance of the said Acts III of 1863 and VI of 1865 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, or of this Act, and all arrears of wages under any such contract, shall be recoverable on a summary application before a Magistrate, and shall be a charge upon the lands upon which such laborer shall have been engaged to work; and the owner of such lands for the time being, shall have all rights and remedies against such laborer as if such owner for the time being had been originally the party executing such contract as employer; Provided that no greater arrears of wages than four months shall be recovered under this Section, and no person, after he shall have ceased to be owner of such lands, nor his property nor effects, shall be in any wise liable or responsible for any breach of such contract which may have occurred after he shall have ceased to be such owner.

Hospital Medicines, and Medical Officer to be provided for laborers.

LVII. Whenever any laborers shall be employed, there shall be provided such sufficient Hospital accommodation for the laborers so employed and such medicines of such quality and descriptions, and according to such scale, as shall from time to time be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and if three hundred or more laborers shall be employed by any employer, it shall be the duty of such employer to place in medical charge of such laborers a Medical Officer holding a medical diploma from some Indian or European Collegiate Institution authorized to grant diplomas, or an Officer for the time being licensed by the Local Government to act in such medical charge.

Penalty for breach of last Section.

LVIII. Whenever any laborers are employed, and the employer of such laborers shall not have provided such Hospital accommodation as aforesaid, or shall not have provided for the use of such laborers medicine of such quality and descriptions and according to such scale as aforesaid, such employer shall be liable to a fine. And whenever there shall be three hundred or more laborers employed under such employer, and it shall be found that no such Medical Officer as aforesaid is in medical charge of such laborers, such employer shall be liable to a fine.

Appointment of Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors, and powers of Inspectors.

LIX. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to appoint, in any District in which this Act may be in force, so many Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors of Laborers as he may think proper, and to define, by Notification in the Calcutta Gazette, the local limits within which each such Inspector and Assistant Inspector shall exercise the powers and authorities conferred, and perform the duties imposed on him by this Act. Such Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors may be by the said Lieutenant-Governor vested with all or any of the powers of a Magistrate.

Establishment of Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors, and powers of Assistant Inspectors.

LX. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to assign to such Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors as may be requisite such establishment as may be thought fit; and such Assistant Inspectors shall perform all the duties and exercise all the powers of an Inspector, which they shall be authorized in writing by an Inspector to perform or exercise.

Return of laborers to be sent in half-yearly by employer, &c., to Inspector.

LXI. Every employer shall, on or before the last day of January and the last day of July in each and every year, make out in writing, and deliver to the Inspector of Laborers of the District, a Return of the number of laborers employed by such employer on the last day of the preceding month, and such Return shall be in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal by an order to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Power to require Returns of sickness and mortality

LXII. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, by an order to be published in the Calcutta Gazette to require each employer annually to forward to the Inspector of Laborers of the District Returns of the sickness and mortality of the laborers employed by such employer, at such time and in such form as shall from time to time be directed by the said Lieutenant-Governor.

Penalty for refusing or omitting to send in Return, or sending in incorrect Return

LXIII. If any employer shall refuse, or wilfully omit, duly to send in any such Return as mentioned in Section LXI or in Section LXII of this Act, or shall knowingly send in an incorrect Return, such employer shall, on conviction thereof before the Magistrate of the District, be liable to fine, and a Certificate under the hand of the Inspector to whom such Return ought to have been sent, stating that such Return has not been sent or is incorrect as aforesaid, shall be received as primâ facie evidence of the truth of the fact stated in such Certificate.

Yearly rate payable to provide for expenses of Act

LXIV. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal from time to time, by order published as aforesaid, to fix a yearly sum, not exceeding two Rupees per laborer, as a rate for the purpose of providing for the salaries and emoluments of the officers to be appointed under this Act, and of defraying the expense of carrying out the purposes of this Act, and the sum or rate so fixed shall be paid half-yearly by each employer on the last day of July and last day of January in each year according to the Return next before such payment shall be due.

Employer failing to send in the rate in due time, how to be dealt with.

LXV. If any employer shall fail to comply with the provisons of the last preceding Section, it shall be the duty of the Collector to notify such default to him; and if, within one month from the receipt of such notification, or such longer period as may, under special circumstances, appear to the Collector reasonable, such employer shall not so comply, the Collector shall, by distress and sale of any moveable property which may be found in the possession or under the charge of such employer, levy the sums so payable.

Power to sue for rate.

LXVI. If there shall be no such moveable property or insufficient moveable property so found, the Collector may, by a civil regular suit, recover the sum which shall be so payable from the person for whose benefit the laborers in respect of whom such sum may be payable shall have been employed, and in every such suit the cause of action shall be taken to have arisen within the limits of the jurisdiction of any Court having jurisdiction at any place where any such laborers may have been employed by such employer.

Books to be kept, and periodical visits and Reports made, by Inspector.

LXVII. Every Inspector of Laborers shall, once within each of such periods as may be fixed for such purpose by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, visit all lands, within the limits of his authority, on which there shall be employed any laborers, and inspect every hospital, tent, camp, or building in any way used by any such laborer, and investigate the condition of the laborers employed, and for such purpose the Inspector may require that any laborer shall be produced before him with his contract, and may make such enquiries as may to him seem proper. Every such Inspector shall keep books, in which, from time to time, shall be entered the number of laborers then under contract with each employer, the number who shall then be sick or missing, or who shall have complained of ill-treatment, the particulars of such complaints, and such other particulars regarding the laborers as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall from time to time direct. Each Inspector shall annually make a written Report to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, through the Commissioner of the Division, of the aforesaid particulars; and every such Report, as regards the laborers under any particular employer, shall, at all reasonable times, be open to the inspection of such employer or any person by him appointed in writing in that behalf, and the person so inspecting shall be entitled to take a copy of the Report so far as it relates to such laborers.

Magistrate, or person authorized by him, may inspect any estate at any time.

LXVIII. It shall be lawful for the Magistrate of the District, or any person authorized by him in writing in that behalf, at any time, to enter and inspect any hospital, camp, tent, or building wholly or partially used by or for laborers, and to require that any laborer shall be brought before him, and to make any enquiries which he may think proper touching the condition or treatment of any laborer.

Penalty on person obstructing inspection, &c.

LXIX. If any employer, or other person acting for or under such employer, shall wilfully obstruct or impede any entry, inspection, or enquiry made under either of the two preceding Sections, such employer or other person as aforesaid shall be liable to a fine.

Inspector may suspend contract of any laborer temporarily unfitted for labor.

LXX. It shall be lawful for the Inspector of Laborers within the local limits of whose authority any laborer may be employed, to suspend, for such period as he shall consider advisable, the contract of such laborer, or any particular term thereof, if such laborer shall be, in the judgment of such Inspector, temporarily unfitted for the performance thereof by reason of sickness, pregnancy, or other sufficient cause. Provided that every such suspension shall be endorsed by the Inspector on the contract. Provided, also, that every such laborer shall, during such incapacity, receive such subsistence money from his employer as shall be considered sufficient by the Inspector, and that the time during which the suspension continues shall not be reckoned as part of the term for which the laborer is bound to serve.

Penalty for compelling laborer to perform work for which he is unfit.

LXXI. If it shall be found that any laborer has been compelled to perform any species of labor for which he was at the time unfit, the employer by whom he was so employed shall be liable to fine.

Power to discharge laborers permanently unfitted for labor.

LXXII. If, in the opinion of the Inspector of Laborers, any laborer shall be permanently unfitted for the performance of his contract or any material part thereof, the Inspector shall certify to that effect in writing, and deliver such Certificate to the employer of such laborer or some one on his behalf, and from the date of such Certificate the contract of such laborer shall wholly cease and determine. The Inspector shall make a Return of all such cases of determination of contract in his Report under Section LXVII of this Act. Every laborer, whose contract shall have been determined as aforesaid, shall be entitled to receive from his employer such sum, not exceeding three months' wages, as the Inspector may award, and such sum shall be recoverable before a Magistrate in the manner hereinafter provided for the recovery of wages.

Laborer who has completed his contract, to be permitted to have such completion registered.

LXXIII. Every laborer who shall have completed the term of his contract, shall be forthwith permitted by his employer to appear before the Inspector, to have the completion of his contract registered. If such employer shall fail to give notice of such completion to the Inspector, within one month after the date of such completion, such employer shall be liable to fine.

Power to redeem contract.

LXXIV. If any laborer shall be able and desirous to redeem the unexpired term of his contract of service by payment of a sum equivalent to the value thereof according to the prices in the Schedule (C) hereto set forth, such laborer may demand to be taken or allowed to go before the Inspector of Laborers within the local limits of whose authority he may be employed, and on his depositing such sum in the hands of such Inspector, such Inspector shall give notice to the employer that such laborer requires him within one week to show cause why the contract of such laborer should not be released, and in case no sufficient cause shall be shown, such Inspector shall require the production of the contract of such laborer and endorse thereon a Certificate of release by purchase, and shall hold the sum in deposit on account of the employer of such laborer. If any employer or other person authorized to act for the employer, shall neglect to comply with such demand as aforesaid, such employer, or other person as aforesaid, shall be liable to fine.

A Certificate to be given to laborer whose contract has determined or been completed, or who has purchased release therefrom.

LXXV. Every laborer whose contract shall have been completed, determined, released by purchase as aforesaid, or rescinded by the mutual assent of the parties thereto, shall be entitled to receive forthwith from the Inspector, a Certificate of Release in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal by an order to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Laborer who has completed his contract or been released therefrom, may enter into a fresh contract.

LXXVI. Every laborer, the completion of whose contract or whose release therefrom shall have been certified as aforesaid, shall be entitled to enter into a fresh contract before the District Magistrate, in the manner hereinbefore prescribed for contracts entered into before the Superintendent of Labor Transport, and in case of his so entering into such fresh contract, all the provisions of this Act respecting contracts shall apply to such contract. Provided always that nothing hereinbefore contained shall prevent any such laborer entering into any contract or agreement to labor in any different or other form or manner, nor shall make the provisions of this Act applicable to any contract into which such laborer may have entered in such other or different form or manner.

If laborer desire to complain, employer to give notice to Inspector.

LXXVII. If any laborer shall state to his employer, or to any person acting for such employer, that he desires to make a complaint to the Inspector of Laborers of personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act on the part of such employer or other person, the person to whom such statement shall have been made shall, within forty-eight hours, send notice thereof in writing to the Inspector, and in default of so doing, such person shall be liable to fine.

Inspector how to proceed on receipt of notice of complaint.

LXXVIII. Whenever any Inspector of Laborers shall receive such notice in writing as aforesaid, or whenever any complaint of personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act as aforesaid, shall be made to him by any laborer against his employer or any person acting for such employer, or whenever the Inspector shall have other reasonable grounds for believing that any such personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act as aforesaid has been suffered by a laborer, such Inspector shall forthwith, if the place in which such offence has been committed is not situate within the limits of his own authority, give notice thereof in writing to the Inspector within the limits of whose authority such place is situated: and if such place be situated within the limits of his own authority, then such Inspector shall, so soon as conveniently may be, proceed to some place not more than ten miles in a direct line from the principal place of business of such employer, and make full enquiry into the matter complained of.

Inspector may summon the complainant and his witnesses. Penalty for obstructing service of, or obedience to, summons.

LXXIX. For the purposes of such enquiry, it shall be lawful for any Inspector, if he think fit, to summon such laborer as aforesaid, as well as any witnesses; and if any employer shall in any way obstruct the service of, or obedience to, such summons, or if any witness summoned shall neglect to attend, such employer or witness shall be liable to fine.

Inspector how to proceed if the complaint be untrue or frivolous.

LXXX. If, upon such enquiry made on the complaint of a laborer, the Inspector shall be of opinion that the complaint is untrue or frivolous, he shall enter in his book the particulars of such complaint, and a short statement of the grounds of his opinion respecting it, and shall dismiss the complaint and in such case shall endorse on the contract of such complaint the number of days during which such complainant has been absent from work in consequence of such enquiry, and such number of days shall be added to the period for which such complainant had contracted to serve, and every such endorsement shall be conclusive evidence that such laborer has absented himself from his labor without sufficient cause during the number of days which shall be so endorsed.

Inspector how to proceed if the complaint be well founded.

LXXXI. If, upon such enquiry as aforesaid, any Inspector not being a Magistrate shall be of opinion that the complaint is well founded but not within his own cognizance under the powers conferred upon him under this Act, he shall without delay send the complainant and his witnesses to the nearest Magistrate, and such Magistrate shall thereupon deal with the case in due course of law.

Compensation to be given if wages for more than two months are due.

LXXXII. If, upon the complaint of any laborer, it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the wages of such laborer have not been paid to him for a period of more than two months after they have become due, it shall be lawful for such Magistrate to award to such laborer the amount which shall appear to be then due to him: and also, by way of compensation, such further sum, not exceeding that amount, as shall appear to the Magistrate to be just; and, in case of default, the Collector shall, upon the requisition of the Magistrate, levy the entire sum in the manner prescribed in Section LXV.

Contract to be cancelled if employer be convicted by the Court of Session, or be twice convicted by a Magistrate, of an offence against the laborer, or if wages be not paid for more than four months, or if laborer have been grossly illused.

LXXXIII. If any employer, or any person placed in authority over any laborer by such employer, shall be convicted of any offence causing injury to the person or property of such laborer triable under the Code of Criminal Procedure by the Court of Session; or if any such employer, or other person as aforesaid, shall be twice convicted of any such offence against such laborer triable, under the said Code, by a Magistrate; or if it shall be proved before a Magistrate that the wages of such laborer have not been paid for a period of more than four months after they shall have become due; or if the Magistrate of the District shall, on the report of the Inspector, and after due enquiry, upon oath, in the presence of the parties, be satisfied that any laborer has been compelled to perform any labor while he was unfit for it, or has been subjected to gross ill-usage by such employer or any other person placed in authority over the laborer by such employer—it shall be lawful for the Magistrate, on the application of the laborer, in each of such cases, to cancel the contract of such laborer, and to award to him such compensation, not exceeding thirty Rupees, as the Magistrate shall think fit, and every such cancelment shall be certified by the Magistrate on the back of such contract, and such laborer shall then be at liberty either to enter into a fresh contract with any other employer, or to return to the District from which he was recruited.

Penalty on laborer for absenting himself without sufficient cause.

LXXXIV. Any laborer, who shall absent himself from his labor without sufficient cause, may, on conviction, be sentenced to lose all claim to wages or allowances during the period of such absence, and also to forfeit to his employer a sum not exceeding four annas for each day during which such absence shall have continued; and in case such absence shall have exceeded seven days, or in case such laborer shall have been already convicted of the same offence within a period of three months, such laborer shall be furthermore sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for fourteen days.

Laborer deserting may be apprehended without a warrant.

LXXXV. If any laborer shall desert or attempt to desert from his employer's service, such employer or any other person acting in his behalf may, without first procuring a warrant and without the assistance of any Police Officer (who, nevertheless, shall be bound to give such assistance if called upon to do so), apprehend such laborer wherever he may be found. Provided, nevertheless, that if such laborer be found in the service of another employer, he shall not be arrested without a warrant.

Proviso.

Further Proviso

Provided, also, that if such employer or other person shall not, within a reasonable time from the time of such apprehension, give the said laborer in charge at the nearest Police station, and there enter the charge upon which he shall have apprehended such laborer, the person so apprehending shall be liable to fine.

Laborer, when made over to the Police, to be taken before the nearest Magistrate.

LXXXVI. Any laborer so given in charge shall be made over to a Police Officer, who shall convey him, without delay, to the nearest Magistrate; and if the place from which such laborer is charged with having deserted be within the jurisdiction of such Magistrate, he shall himself adjudicate upon the charge; but if not, he shall forward the said laborer, under custody, to the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction such place may be situated, who shall adjudicate upon such charge.

Enquires to be made on trial of charge of desertion.

LXXXVII. In adjudicating on the charge, the Magistrate shall enquire into the cause of the alleged desertion, and for that purpose shall summon such witnesses as he may think necessary. If on such enquiry it shall appear to the Magistrate that the laborer deserted under a reasonable apprehension that his continuing to work in the place from which he deserted would be attended with risk to his life or health, the Magistrate shall (if satisfied that the ground for such apprehension has ceased to exist, or that the laborer may safely work elsewhere under his contract than at the place from which he deserted) make over such laborer to his employer. If on the enquiry the Magistrate shall be satisfied that the laborer could not continue to labor under his contract, whether at the place from which he deserted or elsewhere, without risk to his life or health, the Magistrate shall declare the contract of such laborer at an end, and the contract shall thenceforth absolutely cease and determine, save as regards the laborer's right to recover any arrears of wages due to him at the time of his desertion.

Penalties for desertion and wrongful apprehension.

LXXXVIII. If it be proved to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that such laborer has deserted from his employer's service without such reasonable apprehension as aforesaid, he shall be convicted and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months. If it be proved that the laborer deserted under such resonable apprehension as aforesaid, or was otherwise wrongfully charged with desertion, the employer by whom or on whose charge or by whose order he shall have been apprehended, shall be liable to a fine, any portion of which may be awarded to such laborer.

Provisions regarding desertion and unlawful absence to apply to desertion in transit.

LXXXIX. All the provisions of this Act regarding the desertion or unlawful absence of laborers, shall be held applicable to laborers who shall desert while in transit to the District in which they have contracted to labor for hire; and such laborers may be tried either in the District in which they may be apprehended, or in the District in which under their contracts they are bound to labor for hire.

Penalty for enticing away, harbouring, or employing, laborers under contract to another person.

XC. Any person who shall knowingly and wilfully entice away, harbour, or employ any laborer, before such laborer shall have been lawfully released from his contract, shall be liable to a fine the whole or any portion of which may be awarded to the employer of such laborer.

Expense of restoring a deserting laborer to be borne by his employer.

XCI. Every employer who shall obtain a warrant for the arrest and return, or an order for the forwarding, of any laborer who may have deserted, shall pay the expense of the arrest and return of such laborer, and shall, before the said warrant is executed, deposit with the Magistrate who may issue such warrant or make such order, such sum as such Magistrate may in his discretion deem to be sufficient for defraying the expense of such arrest and return or forwarding.

Portion of sentence may be cancelled if employer apply for return of laborer.

XCII. It shall be lawful for the employer, or any person authorised to act for the employer of any laborer imprisoned for any offence under this Act, to apply to the Magistrate, at any time previous to the expiry of such sentence, that such laborer be made over to him for the purpose of completing his contract, and the Magistrate shall, in such case, make over such laborer, and shall cancel the remainder of the sentence passed on him, and shall endorse on the contract of such laborer a memorandum signed by him of such cancellation.

Conviction not to operate as a release, but on expiry of sentence laborer to be made over to employer.

XCIII. On the expiry of any sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, it shall be the duty of the Magistrate to make over such laborer to any person appointed on the part of his employer to receive charge of him; and no conviction under this Act, or imprisonment under such conviction, shall be held to operate as a release to any laborer from the terms of his contract. Provided, nevertheless, that the period of imprisonment shall in no case be prolonged by reason of there being no person present on the part of the employer to take charge of the laborer at the expiry of his sentence, but such laborer shall, in that case, be sent to the principal place of business of such employer, and the expense of such conveyance shall be levied from the employer in the manner provided under this Act for the recovery of the rates imposed under this Act.

Sentence to be endorsed on contract. Periods of imprisonment and unlawful absence to be added to term of service.

XCIV. The term of every unlawful absence from labor for which a sentence shall be imposed, and of every sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, shall be endorsed on the contract, at the time of such sentence being passed, by the Officer passing it; and no such period of imprisonment or unlawful absence, so endorsed, shall be reckoned as part of the term for which the laborer is bound to serve: but such term shall extend to such further period as shall be equivalent to the aggregate amount of the imprisonments and unlawful absences so endorsed.

If the Inspector believe any estate or part thereof to be unfit for habitation, a Committee shall be summoned.

XCV. If an Inspector of Laborers shall at any time have reason to believe that any estate or portion of an estate situated within the limits of his jurisdiction, is by reason of climate or situation unfit for human habitation, such Inspector shall give notice in writing of his opinion to the Magistrate of the District, and such Magistrate shall forthwith summon a Committee to enquire into the fitness of such estate or portion thereof for human habitation. Such Committee shall consist of the Magistrate, the Inspector of Laborers, the Medical Officer of the District, and at least one Employer of Laborers resident in the District. Such Committee shall proceed, with as little delay as possible, to inquire into the healthiness of the estate or portion thereof to which the Inspector's Report has reference, and shall hear such evidence on the subject as the owner of such estate or portion of the estate as aforesaid, or the Employer or Inspector, may desire to place before it; and, if such Committee shall be of opinion that such estate or any portion thereof is unfit for human habitation, it shall record a finding to that effect; and the contract of every laborer who shall have contracted to serve on such estate shall thereupon be null and void as regards such estate or such portion thereof. Provided, however, that every such contract shall continue valid with regard to any other portion of such estate, or to any other estate of the same Employer.

Act not to apply to domestic servants or to laborers proceeding alone.

XCVI. None of the provisions of this Act shall apply to domestic servants, nor to any laborer proceeding alone, or accompanied by his family only, to the said Districts, nor to any number, less than twenty, of persons intending to serve for hire in the said Districts, proceeding together to the said Districts without the intervention, direct or indirect, of a Recruiter, or of a Contractor.

Penalty for any offence not specially provided for.

XCVII. For every offence against the provisions of this Act for which no special amount of fine is hereinbefore appointed, the offender shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees. Wherever in this Act no special term of imprisonment is appointed in default of payment of the fine, the offender shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one month.

Procedure.

XCVIII. All offences against this Act committed without the town of Calcutta, shall be heard and determined according to the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and all offences against this Act committed within the said town, shall be heard and determined by a Police Magistrate of the said Town according to the provisions of the Law regulating the hearing and determination of offences within the said Town, which shall for the time being be in force.

Levy of penalties.

XCIX. The provisions of Sections 64, 67, 68, and 69 of the Indian Penal Code, and of Section 61 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, shall apply to all fines for the imposition of which authority is given by this Act, and this Act shall be read as if the same Sections had been re-enacted herein.

Repeal of Acts.

C. Act III of 1863 and Act VI of 1865 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council shall, from and after the commencement of this Act, stand and be repealed except as to any rights or liabilities accrued before the commencement of this Act.

Commencement of Act.

CI. This Act shall commence and take effect from the 1st day of July 1867.

2 The Barrackpore, Benares, and Scalkote Circles are abolished, and the stations on the Arracan Coast transferred to the Pegu Circle of Medical Superintendence.

3. The arrangements now notified will have effect from the dates on which the Deputy Inspectors-General may assume charge of their respective circles.

4. With advertence to paragraphs 7 and 13 of the General Order of the 26th October 1866, the distribution of duties between the Deputy Inspectors-General of the two services will be regulated as follows:—

I.—Duties strictly connected with the British Troops, whether professional, economic, or sanitary, will be vested solely in the Administrative or Senior Officers of the British Medical Service; and those connected with the Native Army, and bodies of men belonging to it, in the Senior Medical Officers of the Indian Service.

No returns or reports connected with such duties, will consequently be required by Officers of one service from those of the other, excepting those referred to in Rule VIII. below.

II.—The Senior Medical Officers of the two services on the spot, whatever their rank may be, will act as the Sanitary Officers and advisers of the Officer Commanding the station, in all matters relating to their respective departments, or duties, as above indicated; and they will have the entire superintendence of the sanitation of the lines, bazars, and establishments attached to them, of the regiments belonging to their respective services.

III. Questions relating to the general health of the station as a whole, or those in regard to which there is any doubt as to the jurisdiction, should be considered and reported on by the Cantonment Board of Health, of which the Senior Medical Officers present of the two services, should be ex-officio members; or, if the question be a purely medical one, it may be considered by a Board of Medical Officers of both services, the senior presiding.

IV. The President of any Medical Board, or Officers or soldiers of either service always, if practicable,—and the members also of such Boards as far as can conveniently be arranged,—should belong to that service.

V. The arrangements for hospital servants for British Troops will be carried out by the Deputy Inspector-General, or Senior Medical Officer, British Service, in communication with the Commissariat Department, under the rules which have hitherto guided the Deputy Inspectors-General of the Indian Army in similar matters.

VI. The Subordinate Medical Department will be as heretofore under the control of the Inspector-General of Hospitals,* Indian Service, Calcutta, who will at once transfer to the control of the Inspector-General of Hospitals, British Service, all who are now employed with British Troops; and also place at his disposal, from time to time, such numbers of each grade as may be necessary to meet actual requirements, including one or two to be available for emergencies in each circle.

* Hitherto designated Principal Inspector-General, Medical Department.

VII. When a medical subordinate is nominated by the Inspector-General, Indian Service, Calcutta, for duty with British Troops, the Deputy Inspector-General, or Senior Medical Officer, British Service of the Division or District in which the individual may be serving, should, either himself or by a board of Medical Officers, ascertain his fitness for the duties expected of him; and all medical subordinates, when once placed at the disposal of the Medical Department of the British Service, will be entirely under the control of the Deputy Inspector-General, or Senior Medical Officer of that service in whose circle they may be serving. They will not be removed without previous reference to the Inspector-General of Hospitals, British Service, who should be at the same time informed how those removed will be re-placed.

VIII. Returns of all these medical subordinates will be regularly rendered by the Deputy Inspectors-General to the Inspector-General of Hospitals, Indian Service, Calcutta (as well as to the head of their own Department), and be accompanied by full information as to the conduct, merits, and professional capacity of each individual.

5. When troops are assembled for field service, all the medical arrangements, for the formation of depot hospitals, the supply of medical stores, the transport of the sick, &c., &c., will rest with the Medical Officer of either service, who may be specially appointed principal medical officer to the force; but in other respects the spirit of all the foregoing orders will hold good.

6. Orders will be hereafter issued regarding the distribution of duties between two Inspectors-General of Hospitals of the Indian Service in this Presidency.

No. 604.—With advertence to the foregoing order, the undermentioned Medical Officers are brought on the Bengal Establishment to complete the administrative medical staff of Her Majesty's British Forces from the date of their arrival in India, and are appointed to the Meerut and Lahore Circles, respectively:—

	Date of arrival at Fort William.
Deputy Inspector-General H. G. Gordon, M. D.	11th May 1867.
Deputy Inspector-General W. H. Jephson, M. D.

The following Medical Officers, already in India, are appointed to the circles of superintendence opposite their names:—

Deputy Inspector-General J. Summers, M. D. ...	Peshawur.
Deputy Inspector-General W. Munro, M. D., C. B.	Umballa.
Staff Surgeon-Major E. Menzies ...	Gwalior.
Staff Surgeon-Major J. A. W. Thompson, M. D.	Allahabad.

No. 605.—With reference to the accompanying copy of a Resolution of the Government of India, in the Home Department, by which all the Marine business of the Government of India is transferred from the Home to the Military Department, it is announced that the Secretary, Deputy Secretary, and Assistant Secretaries in the Military Department, will hold the same positions ex-officio in the Marine Department, and that the Marine Orders and Notifications will be published, as such, entirely separate from those of the Military Department:—

No. 627.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Home Department,—dated Simla, the 27th May 1867.

Read the undermentioned papers regarding the new Troop Transport system between England and India vid Egypt,—

From the Secretary of State, No. 36, dated 31st August 1866, with enclosures.

Endorsement to Military Department, No. 5302, dated 11th October 1866.

From the Secretary of State, No. 2, dated 17th January 1867, with enclosures.

Endorsements to Military and Financial Departments, Nos. 3021 and 3022, dated 23rd March 1867.

RESOLUTION.—The result of the introduction of the new Troop Transport system will be that the most numerous and most important references to the Government of India on Marine subjects will be of a partly military character. On this account, and also with a view to relieve the Home Department, in some degree, from its present great pressure of work, His Excellency in Council determines that, from and after the 1st proximo, all Marine business coming before the Government of India shall be conducted in the Military, instead of in the Home Department.

ORDER.—Ordered, that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Military Department.

APPENDIX TO

The Calcutta Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1867.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the sale of the Proprietary right of Government to the Estates enumerated in the following Advertisements of Sale will be made subject to these

CONDITIONS OF SALE:

1*st.*—The Estates to be sold, subject to the Government Revenue against each, to the highest bidder above the upset price.

2*nd.*—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and laws in force, and Purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the Schedule of Assessment made by the Revenue Authorities.

3*rd.*—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rupees 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4*th.*—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rupees 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding Office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the Estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting Purchaser after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

5*th.*—In addition to the ordinary Government Revenue fixed on the Estates, the Purchasers shall be bound to pay for the construction of roads and improvement of communications one per cent. on the Government Revenue assessed from the date of entry upon the purchase. This sum will be leviable in the same manner as other arrears of Revenue.

By Order of the Board of Revenue, L. P.,

R. B. CHAPMAN,

Secretary.

Report on Cinchona Bark grown at Darjeeling.

From A. H. HARINGTON, Esq., Officiating Under-Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department,—(No. 827, dated Simla, the 31st May 1867.)

COPY forwarded, together with 48 copies of Mr. Howard's Report, to the Government of Bengal with reference to special Narrative No. 3, dated 20th December 1866.

From the RIGHT HON'BLE STAFFORD H. NORTHCOTE, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council, to His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council,—(No. 38, dated India Office, London, the 25th April 1867.)

WITH reference to your Excellency's Despatch dated January 5th (No. 3) 1867, transmitting specimens of Cinchona Bark grown on the Government plantations at Darjeeling for analysis, I now transmit fifty copies of Mr. Howard's Report on these specimens.

2. You will perceive that the result of Mr. Howard's analysis has been very satisfactory; and that the bark of the trees of this species grown at Darjeeling, when two years old, contains 3½ per cent. of febrifuge alkaloids. Mr. Howard expresses an opinion that the varieties of C. Officinalis holds out the best prospect of successful and profitable cultivation in the climate of Darjeeling.

Report on Specimens of Cinchona Bark sent from Darjeeling for Analysis.

BY J. E. HOWARD, ESQ., F. L. S.

March 1867.

I HAVE to report that the specimens of Cinchona Bark, grown under care of Dr. Anderson, reached me in good condition. The bark, both as to its general appearance and as examined under the micro-scope, presents features of considerable diversity from that grown at Ootacamund, showing, no doubt, the influence of a different climate, but I am not prepared to say that the yield in alkaloid is less promising than in bark grown in other localities.

I obtained from No. 1 specimen (viz., from the lower part of the stem),—

Sulphate of quinine	...	1·75
Alkaloid soluble in ether, part cryst. as cinchonidine, the rest quinine	...	1·30
Alkaloid insoluble in ether, crystallizing freely from Sp. W., cinchonine	...	0·49
Total	..	3·54

MEMO.—The sulphate of quinine did not stand the ether test.

From No. 2 specimen,—

Sulphate of quinine, alkaloid soluble in ether as above, quinine and cinchonidine	...	2.76
Alkaloid insoluble in ther cinchonine	...	0·61
Total	...	3·37

The bark from the upper part of the tree was so obviously inferior to that of the lower, being quite immature, that I was not surprised at the interior result.

I should strongly incline to the opinion that the C. Officinalis, either as Uritusinga or as Bonplandiana, would hold out the best prospect of successful and profitable cultivation in the climate of Darjeeling.

State of the Crops in the Famine Districts.

From T. B. LANE, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 1045M., dated the 4th June 1867.)

IN forwarding herewith, for the information of Government, copy of a letter from the Commissioner of Cuttack, and its annexure, I am directed to observe that the importations alluded to by the Commissioner will help to relieve the greater part of Central Cuttack District, though they will not effect Pooree, Northern Cuttack, or Southern Balasore.

From T. E. RAVENSHAW, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 269, dated the 28th May 1867.)

IN continuation of my No. 454, dated 25th April 1867, I have the honor to submit copy of a letter just received from the Deputy Commissioner at Sumbulpore, which is most re-assuring, and I shall hope to see an extensive and healthy trade commence as soon as the first rise of the Mahanuddy shall have opened communication with the interior. This may be expected before the end of June.

From LIEUTENANT M. M. BOWIE, Officiating Deputy Commissioner of Sumbulpore, to the Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division,—(No. 1090, dated the 20th May 1867.)

I HAVE just seen published in the Englishman your letter No. 454, dated the 25th April, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, in which you remark, with reference to my No. 790, dated 17th April 1867, that as soon as the rivers rise, you have every reason to suppose that a larger importation of rice will follow, "notwithstanding the fears expressed by the Deputy Commissioner of Sumbulpore."

2. This shows me that my letter has not conveyed to you my real meaning, but that I have misled you by using the word 'season' in my last paragraph somewhat loosely. I should have said "hot season;" and what I meant was, that so long as the navigation of the river continued tedious and difficult, the merchants could not make much profit in rice bought here at 18 seers per rupee and sold in Cuttack at 10 or 12 seers, and that consequently I did not think that there would be much more exportation while this state of things lasted.

3. I quite agree with you in thinking that as soon as the river rises there will be increased importation of rice into Cuttack from this District, and in fact I know that many of the mahajuns are already making arrangements to commence operations as soon as the rains set in.

4. The profits made by these men on last year's ventures were, as you mention, very large, and they will thus enter upon the trade this year with greater confidence, while their increased capital will also enable them to extend the scale of their operations; and should the state of the Cuttack market remain the same, and the prospects of the coming monsoon be favorable here, I think that you may expect the arrival of very considerable consignments by the first flood.

The mean Temperature and the mean Wet Bulb are derived from the twenty-four hourly Observations made during the day.

The Dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1 foot 2 inches, and that of the Anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1867.

Home Department.

LEGISLATIVE.

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 13th June 1867, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

Act No. XXIX of 1867.

An Act to explain and amend Act No. XXI of 1867.

Preamble.

Whereas it is expedient to explain and amend Act No. XXI of 1867 (for the licensing of Professions and Trades); It is hereby enacted as follows :—

New Sections substituted for Sections 10 and 11 of Act XXI of 1867.

I. Sections 10 and 11 of the said Act are hereby repealed, and in lieu thereof respectively shall be substituted the following (that is to say) :—

Collector to determine licensees and their classes.

"10. The Collector shall from time to time determine what persons are liable to take out licenses under this Act, and under which of the classes mentioned in Schedule A to this Act annexed every such person shall be assessed.

Annual list of licensees.

"11. As soon as may be after the first day of May 1867, and the same day in every subsequent year, the Collector shall prepare a list of the persons to be licensed under this Act in the district or place aforesaid, and may from time to time alter and add to the said list. Such list shall state—

(1.)—The profession or trade of each of the persons therein named.

(2.)—The class under which he is assessed, and

(3.)—The sum to be paid for his license.

Such list shall be filed in the office of the Collector, and the list, or such part or parts thereof as he shall think fit, shall be filed in such other places as the Collector shall direct, and shall be open to public inspection at all reasonable times without the payment of any fee."

Section 12 of Act XXI of 1867 amended.

II. In lieu of the first sentence of Section 12 of the said Act, the following shall be substituted (that is to say) : "Any person named in such list, and objecting to the class under which he is assessed, or denying his liability to be assessed under this Act shall be at liberty, if before the 15th day of June 1867 he shall have paid the sum in which he has been assessed under this Act, within thirty days of the said 15th day of June 1867, or if he pay such sum after the said 15th of June 1867, then within thirty days from such payment, to apply by petition to the Collector in order to establish his right to have his name transferred to another class or removed from the list." And Schedule C to the said Act annexed shall be read as if for the words "persons licensed," the words "persons to be licensed" were substituted, and as if the following words were added thereto (that is to say) "[or that his name may be removed from the said list.]

Amendment of Schedule C.

New Section substituted for Section 15 of Act XXI of 1867.

III. Section 15 of the said Act is hereby repealed, except as to offences committed and liabilities incurred before the passing of this Act, and in lieu thereof shall be substituted the following (that is to say) :—

Penalty for carrying on business without a license.

"15. If the Collector shall have caused a notice to be served on any person stating the class under which he has been assessed, and requiring him within seven days from the date of the service to take out a license and to pay for the same the sum (mentioning it) payable therefor under the provisions of this Act. and if the person so served shall not within the period specified in the said notice, have taken out a license and paid for the same as required by the said notice, he shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be subject to a penalty not exceeding Rupees five hundred, and not less than the sum mentioned in such notice. Every such notice shall be deemed to be sufficiently served if left at the residence or usual place of business of the person to whom it is addressed."

Section 19 of Act XXI of 1867 amended.

IV. The first two sentences of Section 19 of the said Act are hereby repealed, and in lieu thereof the following shall be substituted (that is to say) : "On and after the first day of May 1867 every Trading Company or Association in British India, whose stock or funds is or are divided into shares and transferable, whether such Company or Association be incorporated or not, and whether its principal place of business be situate in British India or not, shall take out a license and pay for the same such annual sum as is mentioned in Schedule B to this Act annexed. Provided that if any such Company or Association satisfy the Collector that the payment to which it is liable under this Section, exceeds two per cent. of its profits during the year ending on the thirtieth day of April preceding the year of assessment from its operations in British India, then the Collector shall grant a license to such Company or Association upon payment of the sum of two per cent. on such profits. Provided also that for any such license which shall be granted between the first day of November in each year and the thirtieth day of April next ensuing, there shall be paid only one-half of such annual sum, or of such sum of two per cent. on such profits."

New Sections 10, 11 and 15 to apply to Trading Companies.

V. The provisions of the Sections respectively substituted by this Act for Sections 10, 11 and 15 of the said Act apply to Trading Companies and Associations under Section 19 of the same Act, as amended by this Act. Provided that the maximum penalty to which a Trading Company or Association shall be subject on conviction under the Section substituted by this Act for Section 15 of the said Act, shall be Rupees two thousand.

This Act to be read with Act XXI of 1867.

VI. This Act shall be read with and taken as part of the said Act No. XXI of 1867, and shall have effect as from the eighth day of March 1867.

Government of Bengal.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 23rd May 1867, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General on the 30th idem, is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. V OF 1867.

An Act for shortening the language used in Acts passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Preamble.

WHEREAS certain provisions are commonly inserted in Acts passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council for the interpretation of such Acts, and it is expedient to avoid the frequent repetition of such provisions; It is declared and enacted as follows:—

Interpretation of certain words in future Acts.

I. In all Acts passed after the commencement of this Act, and containing nothing expressly to the contrary, words importing the masculine gender shall be deemed and taken to include females, and the singular to include the plural, and the plural the singular; the word "Magistrate" shall include all persons exercising all or any of the powers of a Magistrate; the word "person" shall include any incorporated Company or incorporated association of persons; the word "month" shall be taken to mean calendar months unless words be added showing lunar month to be intended; the word "land" shall include house, and buildings and corporeal hereditaments and tenements of any tenure, unless where there are words to exclude houses and buildings or to restrict the meaning to tenements of some particular tenure; and the words "oath," "swear," and "affidavit" shall include affirmation, declaration, affirming, and declaring, in the case of persons by law allowed to declare or affirm instead of swearing.

Repealed Acts not to be revived.

II. Wherever any Act shall, after the time fixed for the commencement of this Act, be passed repealing in whole or in part any former Act or Regulation, and such Act shall itself be repealed, such last repeal shall not revive the Act or Regulation or provisions before repealed, unless words be added reviving such Act, Regulation, or provisions.

Repealed provisions to continue in force till substituted provisions come into operation.

III. Wherever any Act shall, after the time fixed for the commencement of this Act, be passed repealing in whole or in part any former Act, and substituting some provision or provisions instead of the provision or provisions so repealed, the provision or provisions so repealed shall remain in force until the substituted provision or provisions shall come into operation by force of the last mentioned Act.

Provision for the recovery of fines

IV. The provisions of Sections 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, and 70 of the Indian Penal Code, and of Section 61 of the Code of Criminal Procedure shall apply to all fines which may be imposed under the authority of any Act hereafter to be passed.

Commencement of Act.

V. This Act shall commence and take effect upon the first day of June now next ensuing.

J. PITT KENNEDY,
Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Department.

THE following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 30th April 1867, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General on the 3rd June 1867, is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. VI OF 1867.

An Act for the better regulation of the Police in Towns and Municipalities in the Territories under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Preamble

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the regulation and maintenance of the Police Force employed in Towns and Municipalities in the territories under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; It is enacted as follows:—

Interpretation.

I. The following words and expressions in this Act shall have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, except where a different intention shall appear from the context, that is to say:—

"Magistrate." The word "Magistrate" shall include the Magistrate of a District, or a Magistrate in charge of a Division of a District.

"House." The word "House" shall include any shop or warehouse.

"Town." The word "Town" shall mean any city, town, suburb, station, or bazar, or union, to which the provisions of Act XX. of 1856, passed by the Governor General of India in Council, shall have been extended, and to which the provisions of Act III of 1864, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, shall not have been extended.

"Municipality." The word "Municipality" shall mean any town, suburb, station, bazar, village, or tract of country to which the said Act III of 1864 shall have been extended.

Gender. Words importing the masculine gender shall include the feminine.

Number. Words importing the singular number shall include the plural, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular.

Police in Towns and Municipalities to be appointed under Act V of 1861. II. From and after the commencement of this Act, no Police Chowkeydars shall be appointed, continued, or employed in any Town or Municipality under the provisions of Act XX of 1856 passed by the Governor General of India in Council, and all Police Officers appointed or employed in any Town or Municipality shall be appointed under the provisions of Act V of 1861 passed by the Governor General of India in Council, and shall be deemed to be a portion of the Police Establishment under the Local Government of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and shall, save as hereinafter appears, be subject to the provisions of the said Act V of 1861.

Repeal of Clauses. III. From and after the commencement of this Act, the various portions of Acts set forth in the Schedule hereto shall stand and be repealed, except as to any act which shall have been done, or any liability which shall have been incurred, before the passing of this Act, and except so far as they repeal the whole or any part of any other Act or Ordinance, or regulation.

District Superintendent of Police to prepare a Budget. IV. From and after the commencement of this Act, every District Superintendent of Police, on or before the first day of November in each year, shall prepare, in such form as may from time to time be directed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, a Budget or estimate of the income and expense of the Police Force in every Town and Municipality within his District, for the year to commence on the first day of January next after the preparation of such Budget, and present the Budget of every such Town or Municipality to the Magistrate thereof.

Contents of Budget. V. Every such Budget shall shew the number, constitution, and salaries of the Police Force to be maintained in any such Town or Municipality, and shall state whether the whole or some and what part of such expense is to be borne by rates to be levied in the Town or Municipality to which the same refers. Provided that the expense so to be borne in any Town shall not exceed the average rate of two annas per mensem for each house, and that the expense so to be borne in any Municipality shall not exceed five Rupees per centum of the annual value of all houses, buildings, and lands within the local limits of such Municipality.

Magistrate to consider Budget. VI. The Magistrate of every such Town or Municipality shall, forthwith after the receipt of such Budget, lodge the same in his Office, and shall cause the same to be translated into the language usually spoken in such Town or Municipality, and shall cause the same or the translation thereof to be laid before the Municipal Commissioners of such Municipality at their next General Meeting, or before the Punchayet appointed under the said Act XX of 1856 of such Town, and shall, during fourteen days after such Budget shall have been so received, permit the same and the translation thereof to be inspected at all reasonable times and seasons by any rate-payer of such Town or Municipality who may desire to inspect the same.

Budget to be transmitted to Lieutenant-Governor. VII. Immediately after the expiration of fourteen days from the receipt of any such Budget, the Magistrate, who shall have received the same, shall transmit to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal such Budget, together with any remarks or objections made by the said Municipal Commissioners or the said Punchayet, as the case may be.

Lieutenant Governor to decide on Budget. VIII. It shall be lawful for the said Lieutenant-Governor to consider such Budget so transmitted to him, and to approve, or to reject, or modify and approve as modified, such Budget or any part thereof.

Amount of estimate in Budget to be deemed expense of Police Force. IX. So much of the estimates in such approved Budget as may thereby be directed to be borne by the rates to be levied in such Town or Municipality, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be the expense of the Police to be borne by such Town or Municipality for the year for which such Budget shall have been presented.

Municipal Commissioners to pay amount of expense to Lieutenant-Governor. X. The Municipal Commissioners in every Municipality shall, out of the annual rates of such Municipality, cause to be paid to the said Lieutenant-Governor the expense of the Police Force of such Municipality, by equal quarterly instalments, which said instalments shall respectively be payable upon such quarterly days of payment as shall from time to time be fixed by the said Lieutenant-Governor for the payment thereof by such Municipal Commissioners.

Magistrate to raise amount of expense.

XI. The Magistrate of every Town shall, by the ways and means in and by the said Act XX of 1856 provided for raising the amount of the expense of Chowkeydars appointed under the same Act, cause to be levied and raised in such Town the amount of the expense of the Police to be borne under this Act by such Town and the costs of raising such amount.

Saving of powers of Police Commissioner in Calcutta.

XII. Nothing in this Act shall deprive the Commissioner of Police for the Town of Calcutta of any power or authority over the Police within the Town of Calcutta and the Suburbs thereof, in him vested by Act IV of 1866 or Act II of 1866 of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council or otherwise; and the Inspector-General of Police shall not exercise over the Police within the said Town or Suburbs any of the powers or authorities to him confided by the said Act V of 1861.

Deputy Commissioner to perform duties of District Superintendent under this Act.

XIII. The Deputy Commissioner of Police for the Suburbs of Calcutta shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the District Superintendent of the said Suburbs.

Commencement of Act.

XIV. This Act shall, so far as respects the preparation, presentation, inspection, consideration, and approval of Budgets, commence and take effect upon the first day of September now next ensuing, and as to the residue thereof, shall commence and take effect upon the first day of January 1868.

SCHEDULE OF LAWS REPEALED—(referred to in Section III.)

Number and Date of Act.	Title.	Extent of Repeal.
Act XX of 1856	An Act to make better provision for the appointment and maintenance of Police Chowkeydars in cities, towns, stations, suburbs, and bazars, in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.	Sections 7, 8, 9, 11, 32, 33, 35, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, and 56.
Act III of 1864 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.	An Act to provide for the appointment of Municipal Commissioners in towns and other places in the Provinces under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and to make better provision for the conservancy, improvement, and watching thereof, and for the levying of rates and taxes therein.	Section 34.

J. PITT KENNEDY,
Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Department.

The following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 30th May 1867, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General on the 17th June 1867, is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. VII OF 1867.

An Act to amend Act III of 1864 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act III of 1864 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council in the manner hereinafter expressed; It is enacted as follows:—

Interpretation.

I. The following words and expressions in this Act and in the said Act III of 1864, shall have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, except where a different intention shall appear from the context, that is to say:—

"Owner."

The word "Owner" shall mean the person for the time being receiving, either on his own account or as Agent or Trustee for another, the rent of land from the tenant in actual occupation thereof, or who would so receive the same, if such land were actually occupied by a tenant. Provided that no owner receiving rent as an Agent or Trustee shall be liable to pay any assessment under the said Act or this Act, unless he have sufficient funds of his principal or belonging to the Trust in his hand.

"Inhabitant"

The word "Inhabitant" shall include any owner of property in any place, although he may not be resident therein.

Service of notices.

II. Every bill, notice, schedule, summons, or notice of demand regarding any assessment, rate, or tax, or any money due in respect of the same, may be served personally upon the person to whom the same is addressed, or be left at his usual place of abode with some adult male member or servant of his family, or if it cannot be so served, may be put up on some conspicuous part of such place of abode, and shall thereby be deemed to be duly served. Provided that, if the place of abode of the owner of any house, building, or land in respect of which a rate is assessed be unknown, or if the owner of any such house, building, or land be not resident within the limits of the place, every such bill, notice, summons, or notice of demand shall be deemed to have been duly served, if put up on some conspicuous part of the house, building, or land in respect of which the rate is assessed.

Proviso.

Power to assess upon a house consolidated rate for house and ground on which it stands.

III. Whenever any house or building belongs to one owner, and the ground on which the same stands, and which is usually occupied therewith belongs to another, it shall be lawful for the Municipal Commissioners to assess such house or building and ground together at one consolidated rate, which shall be payable by the owner of the house or building. After so paying the consolidated rate, the owner of the house or building shall be entitled to deduct from the rent which he pays for the ground, such proportion of the rate so paid by him as is equal to the proportion which his rent bears to the annual value on which the rate has been assessed.

Rate due from non-resident owner may be recovered from occupier, and deducted by him from his rent.

IV. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any house, building, or land remains unpaid after the notice of demand has been duly served, and such owner be not resident within the place, or the place of abode of such owner be unknown, the Municipal Commissioners may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of such house, building, or land, and, on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any goods and chattels found on the premises; and whenever such rate shall be paid by or recovered from such occupier, he may deduct, from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from him. Provided that no arrear of rate, which has remained due from the owner of any house, building, or land for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof. Provided also that, if the rate so deducted is a consolidated rate payable by the owner of a house or building under Section III of this Act, the same shall, after such deduction, be deemed to have been paid by such owner within the meaning of the last mentioned Section.

Assessment not to be impeached, if the directions of the Act are in substance complied with.

V. No assessment, and no charge or demand of a rate or tax made under the authority of the said Act III of 1864, or of this Act, shall be impeached or affected by reason of any mistake in the name of any person liable to pay the rate or tax, or in the description of any property or thing liable to the rate or tax, or any mistake in the amount of assessment, provided the directions of the said Act III of 1864, and of this Act, be in substance and effect complied with; and no proceedings under this Act shall, for want of form, be quashed or set aside in any Court of Justice.

Distress not unlawful for want of form.

VI. No distress levied by virtue of the said Act III of 1864 or of this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the notice, schedule, summons, notice of demand, warrant of distress, inventory, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser ab initio, on account of any irregularity afterwards committed by him; but all persons aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for any special damage sustained by them, in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

District Superintendent of Police to be ex officio Municipal Commissioner.

VII. In addition to the Municipal Commissioners mentioned in the said Act III of 1864, the person for the time being filling the office of District Superintendent of Police in any District within which any place may be situated shall be ex-officio a Municipal Commissioner for such place.

Commissioners may expend a certain monthly sum for Hospitals or Dispensaries.

VIII. It shall be lawful for the Municipal Commissioners of any place, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, from time to time to apply out of the Municipal Fund of such place such monthly sum, not exceeding two hundred and fifty Rupees, as to them shall seem fit, in or towards the maintenance and support of an Hospital or Dispensary in such place for the benefit of the poor inhabitants.

Commissioners may provide expense of Vaccination.

IX. It shall be lawful for the Municipal Commissioners of any place, out of the Municipal Fund thereof, from time to time, to make such provision as to them shall seem fit, for the Vaccination of all persons resident in such place.

Commissioners indemnified as to monies heretofore expended on account of Vaccination, Hospitals, or Dispensaries.

X. All monies which may have been heretofore expended out of the Municipal Fund of any place by the Municipal Commissioners thereof, in making provision for the Vaccination of persons resident therein, or in or towards the maintenance or support of an Hospital or Dispensary for the benefit of the poor inhabitants of such place, shall be deemed to have been properly applied out of the said Municipal Fund.

Power to contract for lighting streets.

XI. With the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the Municipal Commissioners of any place may, if they shall so resolve at any meeting, contract with any person for the lighting of the streets of such place by such person on such terms as to yearly or other payment as may be agreed on, and may provide for such payment out of the rates levied under the said Act III of 1864 and this Act.

Construction.

XII. This Act shall be construed with and as part of the said Act III of 1864.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

JUDICIAL.

NOTIFICATION.

The 14th June 1867.

THE Governor General in Council has received, with sincere regret, official intimation of the death of the HON'BLE SHUMBOONATH PUNDIT, one of the Judges of Her Majesty's High Court at Fort William.

The Hon'ble the Chief Justice, in communicating this intelligence to the Governor General, has said,—"So far as Mr. Justice "Shumboonath Pundit was concerned, the "experiment of appointing a Native Gentle- "man to a seat in the High Court has suc- "ceeded. He had a considerable knowledge "of his profession, and a thorough acquaintance "with the Natives. I have always found him "upright, honorable, and independent, and "I believe that he was looked up to by his "countrymen with respect and confidence."

The interest which, both in India and in England, attaches to the experiment of placing a Native Gentleman in the highest Judicial situation in the country, has induced the Governor General in Council to make public the opinion of the Hon'ble the Chief Justice, in which His Excellency in Council entirely agrees.

E. C. BAYLEY,

NOTIFICATIONS.

The 19th June 1867.—The following Regulations for the Examination of candidates for the Civil Service of India, to be held in London in March and April 1868, are published for general information:—

EXAMINATIONS FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA.

REGULATIONS.

---

1. On Tuesday March 31st, 1868, and following days, an Examination of candidates will be held in London. Not less than candidates will be selected, if so many shall be found duly qualified. Of these, will be selected for the Presidency of Bengal, for the Upper Provinces, and for the Lower Provinces, for that of Madras, and for that of Bombay.†—Notice will hereafter be given of the days and place of examination.

2. Any natural-born subject of Her Majesty, who shall be desirous of entering the Civil Service of India, will be entitled to be examined at such Examination, provided he shall, on or before the 1st of February 1868, have transmitted to the Civil Service Commissioners, Dean's Yard, London, S. W.—

(a.) A certificate of his birth, shewing that his age on the 1st March 1868, will be above seventeen years and under twenty-one years;

(b.) A certificate, signed by a physician or surgeon, of his having no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting him for the Civil Service of India;

(c.) Satisfactory proof of good moral character;

(d.) A statement of those of the branches of knowledge hereinafter enumerated in which he desires to be examined.‡

3. In any case in which a doubt may arise as to the eligibility of a candidate in respect of age, health, or character, such inquiries as may be necessary will be instituted by the Civil Service Commissioners.

---

* The Regulations are liable to be altered in future years.

† The number of appointments to be made, and the number in each Presidency, &c., will be announced hereafter.

‡ Candidates are at liberty to send in their names and evidence of age as soon as they think fit to do so; but evidence of health and character must bear date not earlier than the 1st January 1868.

4. The Examination will take place only in the following branches of knowledge:*—

	Marks.
Language, Literature, and History of England—
Composition ... 500
History, including that of the Laws and Constitution ... 500	1,500

Moral Sciences; that is, Logic, Mental and Moral Philosophy ...	500
Sanskrit Language and Literature ...	375
Arabic Language and Literature ...	375

5. The merit of the persons examined will be estimated by marks, and the number set opposite to each branch in the preceding regulation denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it.

6. No candidate will be allowed any marks in respect of any subject of examination, unless he shall be considered to possess a competent knowledge of that subject.†

7. The Examination will be conducted by means of printed questions and written answers, and by vivâ voce Examination, as may be deemed necessary.

8. The marks obtained by each candidate, in respect of each of the subjects in which he shall have been examined, will be added up, and the names of the candidates who shall have obtained a greater aggregate number of marks than any of the remaining candidates will be set forth in order of merit, and such candidates shall be deemed to be selected candidates for the Civil Service of India. They shall be permitted to choose, according to the order in which they stand, as long as a choice remains, the Presidency (and in Bengal, the division of the Presidency) to which they shall be appointed.

9. Selected candidates before proceeding to India will be on probation for two years, during which time they will be examined periodically with the view of testing their progress in the following subjects* :—

	Marks.
1. Oriental Languages :
Sanskrit	500
Vernacular Languages of India (each)	400
2. The History and Geography of India	350
3. Law	1,250
4. Political Economy	850

In these Examinations, as in the open competition, the merit of the candidates examined will be estimated by marks, and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it at any one Examination. The Examination will be conducted by means of printed questions and written answers, and by vivâ voce Examination, as may be deemed necessary. The marks obtained at each of such periodical Examinations will be added to those previously or subsequently obtained. The last of these Examinations will be held at the close of the second year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination." By the merit then shewn it will be decided whether a selected candidate is qualified for the Civil Service of India.

10. No candidate will be permitted to proceed to India until he shall have passed the Final Examination, and received a certificate of qualification from the Civil Service Commissioners, or after he shall have attained the age of twenty-four years.

11. The selected candidates who at the Final Examination shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9 shall be adjudged to have passed, and to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India.

12. The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the selected candidates shall be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the Final Examination.

13. No person will, even after passing the Final Examination, be allowed to proceed to India unless he shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for the Civil Service of India, and shall be of sound bodily health and good moral character.—The Civil Service Commissioners will require such further evidence on these points as they may deem necessary before granting their Certificate of Qualification.

14. Applications from persons desirous to be admitted as candidates are to be addressed to the Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners, Dean's Yard, London, S. W.

The 15th April 1867.

NOTE—(1.) The Secretary of State for India in Council has authorized the Civil Service Commissioners to state that it is his intention to allow the sum of 100l. for the first year of probation, and 200l. for the second year to each selected candidate who shall have passed the required Examinations to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, and shall have complied with such rules as may be laid down for the guidance of selected candidates.

(2.) All selected candidates will be required, after having passed the second periodical Examination, to attend at the India Office for the purpose of entering into an agreement binding themselves, amongst other things, to refund in certain cases the amount of their allowance in the event of their failing to proceed to India. If a candidate is under age a surety is required.

(3.) After passing the Final Examination each candidate will be required to attend again at the India Office, with a view of entering into covenants and giving a bond for 1,000l., jointly with two sureties, for the due fulfilment of the same. The stamps payable by civilians on these documents amount to 3l. 10s.

(4.) Candidates rejected at the Final Examination of 1870 will in no case be allowed to present themselves for re-examination.

* It should be understood that candidates are at liberty to name at their pleasure any or all of these branches of knowledge, and that no subjects are obligatory.

† "Nothing can be further from our wish than to hold out "premiums for knowledge of wide surface and of small depth. We "are of opinion that a candidate ought to be allowed no credit at "all for taking up a subject in which he is a mere smatterer."—Report of Committee of 1854.

* Full instructions as to the course of study to be pursued will be issued to the successful candidates as soon as possible after the result of the open competition is declared.

The following Order issued by the Government of India, Home Department, is re-published for general information:—

No. 1212.—Simla, the 10*th June* 1867.—The undermentioned Covenanted Civil Servants having produced the necessary medical certificates, have been granted by the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India extensions of leave for the periods specified, viz.:—

APPENDIX TO

The Calcutta Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1867.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the sale of the Proprietary right of Government to the Estates enumerated in the following Advertisements of Sale will be made subject to these

CONDITIONS OF SALE:

1*st.*—The Estates to be sold, subject to the Government Revenue against each, to the highest bidder above the upset price.

2*nd.*—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and laws in force, and Purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the Schedule of Assessment made by the Revenue Authorities.

3*rd.*—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rupees 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4*th.*—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rupees 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding Office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the Estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting Purchaser after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

5*th.*—In addition to the ordinary Government Revenue fixed on the Estates, the Purchasers shall be bound to pay for the construction of roads and improvement of communications one per cent. on the Government Revenue assessed from the date of entry upon the purchase. This sum will be leviable in the same manner as other arrears of Revenue.

By Order of the Board of Revenue, L. P.,

R. B. Chapman,

Secretary.

Orissa—state of the coast country.

From T. B. LANE, ESQ., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 1057*I.*, dated the 4th June 1867.)

No. 636½, dated 21st May.

I AM directed to forward in original, for the information of Government, a further report concerning the state of the coast country during Mr. Geddes' recent visit into the interior, and to request the return of the report, with six printed copies, when no longer required.

2. With regard to the small stock at Pattamondai, and to the difficulty of transporting rice there from False Point, I am to report that the Board are endeavouring to arrange for the import of a cargo of 5,000 bags from Akyáb, where rice is cheap, in the Schooner Natmoo, about the only vessel procurable of sufficiently light draught to enter the Dhamrah river. The route between False Point and Pattamondai is very tedious, owing to the tortuousness and shallowness of the small stream between those places; and transport by this route would be very difficult, and cannot be relied upon with certainty. Should the Natmoo be secured, the Board will then have the means of continuing to throw in sufficient rice by the Dhamrah to meet all further requirements in that direction, should further experience prove that further supplies are required.

From T. E. RAVENSHAW, ESQ., Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 636½, dated the 21st May 1867.)

IN continuation of my report No. 621½, dated 18th May, I am in receipt of further particulars concerning the coast country from Mr. Geddes who left Hansooa on 11th May, passing Bunsmole, Rajgurh, Rajnuggur, and along the boundaries of Pergunnah Ootekun, Killahs Coojung and Kunika to Paint. The destruction caused by last year's floods has been excessive over a tract of country covering about 16 square miles lying within the villages of Dugnchea, San Olora, Dhurdeea Komorsay, Kooroontee and Dhunsurpore as shewn on district maps, caused by bursting of embankments on the Brahminee river and north west of Kunika, the inundated country is a hollow basin intersected by the Hansooa Nullah, a creek affected by the tide water from the Brahminee on the north and of the Boronee river on the south, the tides meeting at Rajnuggur.

2. Before Mr. Geddes' visit, heavy showers of rain had fallen, and the country round Rajnuggur was flooded as if in July in place of the month of May. The country contained in this low tract has been utterly ruined, and the large plain extending from Rajgurh to Rajnuggur completely desolate and without a sign of cultivation. Most of the villages were entirely deserted and in ruins; in others one or two houses remained, and though the grass was growing luxuriantly, not a head of cattle was to be seen. The centre of the plain had been taken possession of by a herd of wild buffaloes, and about the edges and outskirts a few groups of women gathering "Muti Sag," or searching for snails for food. The country had evidently been all under cultivation until last year.

3. Mr. Geddes learned that the embankment above noted on the Brahminee is being thoroughly repaired by the Department Public Works. To the east of the Hansooa Nullah runs a high ridge of country between it and the Kuldeep Nullah which has not suffered from inundation, and here abundance of ploughing and cultivation was going on, and, with the exception of the country about Rajgurh, the rest of Kunika was, in Mr. Geddes' opinion, getting on pretty fairly. One particular tract on the south of the Brahminee, extending from Koburkona on the west to Keerah Gurh on the coast, covering about 5 square miles, was one continued sheet of the richest cotton and bealee rice crop, looking in the present condition fair. From Dhunsurpore southwards, the appearance of the country improves: a considerable breadth of bealee crop has been sown and is well advanced, and may be reaped in July or August. The ryots are ploughing actively for the Sarud crop, and appear to possess an abundance of cattle and buffaloes, and are evidently working their way back to comparative prosperity. Mr. Kirkwood, who visited Kunika some time ago, drew a much more gloomy picture, probably taking the condition of Rajnuggur low country as a specimen of the whole.

4. At Rajnuggur itself, the chief market in the neighbourhood, rice sells on market days to 8½ and 9 Cuttack seers per rupee, but there are no permanent shops or dealers. The people at Paint have hitherto drawn their supplies from Rajnuggur on market days, and partly from the Government stock at Hansooa. There is little cultivation in and about Paint, the country being, strictly speaking, more pastural than agricultural; the people have large herds of cows and buffaloes, and deal largely in ghee; the new golah at Paint will now supply all local wants.

5. Some trade in rice and paddy still goes on, and the supply is derived partly from last cold-weather crops transported vid the Mutai river from Rooknadaipore, Bamongown and Balliapal; and 2nd, from this year's Dallooa crops drawn from Koomaree, a mart on the Salundee river, not noted on the map: last year's Sarud rice sells at 17 seers of dhan per Rupee and this year's Dallooa dhan at about 19 Cuttack seers.

6. The importation from outside is not expected to last much longer. At Paint Mr. Geddes met 3 boats of mustard and oil seeds from Ooteekun going north to Baliapal and Rooknadaipore to exchange for dhan; these boatmen also stated to Mr. Geddes that they had to pay toll at the police outposts at Gurjung and Rahamah; complaints were similarly made of illegal tolls levied at Burradee in Kunika, Hansooa, Beeturgurh, Rahamah and Gurjung, Police outpost in Cuttack; and also at Chand Balee, Panchtikree and Balliapal in Balasore district. This pernicious system appears generally to obtain, and I shall not fail to use every possible means for its suppression. It is the bounden duty of district police officers to insist on these tolls being stopped, and the local police agents summarily punished. It is evident that the supervision exercised over the police in these coast tracts is most inefficient. I have no possible reason to doubt the entire correctness of the information obtained by Mr. Geddes, and it is a scandal and disgrace that the great river highways of the country are thus obstructed by the illegal exactions of Government officials.

7. The Paint golah was fairly advanced and is expected to have been completed by the 20th May. The site is the best procurable in the neighbourhood. The contractor was under agreement to have it ready by the 4th and ought to have done so. At Puttamondai there is an increasing demand for Government rice, and about 50 bags per day were sold, vast crowds of people waiting to purchase. The usual disorder attending a crowd in Orissa prevailed. The retailing arrangements require strengthening, and more salesmen will be put on. The sales are in very small quantities, from 2 to 4 annas' worth, very few taking one Rupee worth of rice. I have called Mr. Wylly to account for this disorder as he has had ample notice, and should have been prepared to sell in any quantity without confusion.

8. The stock of rice at Puttamondai is about 5,000 bags, a quantity insufficient to meet the demand for sales and of the Relief Committee which will be large. Boats were on their way from False Point with further supply, and Mr. Geddes left orders to indent in case of need on Hansooa where there is a large stock of 32,000 bags. I have also addressed the Collector of Cuttack to send immediate continued supplies to Puttamondai. The golah accounts at Kendraparah were not balanced daily as they should be. Mr. Wylly has evidently been inactive in arranging for the supply of his golah, and inattentive to the preparation of his accounts. Between Puttamondai and Kendraparah a considerable amount of land has been ploughed and prepared for seed.

9. At Kendraparah sales are also in great demand; 61 bags were sold on 1st May and have gradually increased to 115 bags on 14th May, and the average was 72¼ bags per day.

10. The Kendraparah accounts were not well kept, and the entries on the credit side of the cash-book had not been written up for a fortnight, and the other accounts were several days in arrear. This is exceedingly unsatisfactory. The Extra Assistant Collector at Kendraparah has been directed to assist Mr. Currie in seeing that the Puttamondai and Kendraparah Golah Superintendents do their duty and keep their books in better order.

11. The Mohurum festival was being kept while Mr. Geddes was at Kendraparah, and he remarked the number of apparently well-to-do idlers about the town. Mr. Kirkwood being himself at Kendraparah, Mr. Geddes does not offer any remarks on relief arrangements.

From H. L. HARRISON, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 2340, dated the 18th June 1867.)

I AM directed by the Lieutenant-Governor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 1057I., dated the 4th instant, submitting a further report from the Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, on the present state of the coast country between the Dhamra and False Point, and, with reference thereto, I am to convey the following remarks and instructions.

Officiating Commissioner's paragraphs 1 to 3.

2. The Public Works Department under this Government has been urged to complete the repairs of the embankments on the Brahminee River as quickly as possible. When this is done, it is hoped that cultivation will be resumed.

Officiating Commissioner's paragraph 4.

3. The people in the neighbourhood of Rajnuggur will evidently soon be thrown almost entirely on the Government stores for their supply of rice. The local officers must be prepared for this.

4. The subject of the misconduct of the Police in taking unauthorized tolls has been dealt with in a separate correspondence.

Officiating Commissioner's paragraph 6.

5. It is observed that the rice stored in the Patamondai Golah was sufficient to meet the consumption at the rate which was going on for 20 days only; but the stores in this Golah can be replenished by boats from the Hansooa Golah, where there is fortunately a large stock.

Officiating Commissioner's paragraphs 7 and 8.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor awaits with anxiety the Board's report of the result of their endeavours to secure the Steamer Natmoo, on which, apparently, the continuance of the imports through the mouth of the Dhamra depends. The Bhudruck and Dhamnugur country depending on importations by the Dhamra, it is of the utmost importance that the arrangements for importing by that route be kept in as great a state of efficiency as is possible at this season of the year.

7. The Board will, doubtless, take proper notice of the neglect which has been going on at Patamondai and Kendraparah in the keeping of the books and accounts.

Officiating Commissioner's paragraphs 8 and 10.

Importation of Grain into Orissa.

From T. B. Lane, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 1026*I.*, dated the 3rd June 1867.)

I am directed to submit, in continuation of the correspondence noted in the margin, a further report on the operations relating to the importation of grain on behalf of Government into the Province of Orissa, up to the end of April last.

From Board to Government, No. 2481, dated 18th February.
Ditto „ „ „ 591I., dated 1st April.
Ditto Government to Board, „ 1397, dated 5th April.

2. Quantity of Grain to be imported.—Under orders dated the 14th of January last, the quantity of grain to be imported was fixed at six lakhs of maunds, but this limit has subsequently been extended from time to time, and has been ultimately raised to 10½ lakhs.

3. Quantity of grain ordered.—To meet these requirements there was at the commencement of 1867 a balance of old stocks in the Province amounting to 64,000 maunds; cargoes to the extent of 83,000 maunds, which had been purchased in Calcutta, Akyab, and Chittagong in 1866, reached the coast of Orissa in January; and to supply the balance of the first order for six lakhs tenders were invited for the supply of four lakhs of maunds in Calcutta. The lowest tender offered was accepted, and the contract was performed in a most satisfactory manner, the whole quantity having been delivered in by the 20th of March.

4. As, however, the purchase by Government of rice in Calcutta was found to have a very disturbing effect on the grain market, not only of Calcutta but of all the surrounding districts, it was determined that the balance of the grain required should be obtained from the ports of British Burmah.

5. Arrangements were accordingly made with a Calcutta firm for the supply of 4,80,000 maunds from those ports; and the Chief Commissioner of Burmah kindly undertook to cause the "bagging," weighment, and shipping of the rice to be properly and carefully supervised.

6. Thus the total amount, for which provision has been made, amounts to 10,27,000 maunds, or say 38,000 tons.

7. Sea transport of Grain.—The despatch of the rice purchased in Calcutta was most efficiently conducted under the supervision of the Master Attendant.

8. For the conveyance of the Burmah rice the steamers noted in the margin have been engaged to ply between the ports of supplying and those on the Orissa coast. Steamers have been engaged in preference to sailing vessels, to secure regularity of arrival, and to reduce as much as possible the risk attending landing operations during the South-West Monsoon at ports which are in fact, with one exception, mere open roadsteads.

T. A. Gibb, of 1,100 tons.

Mula, of 785 „
C. Apear, of 1,100 „

9. Landing arrangements at Pooree.—At Pooree the surf is often very high, and the anchorage dangerous for sailing vessels, during the force of the South-West Monsoon.

10. An effective landing establishment has been organized; additional Masula boats constructed and crews engaged; and twelve of the largest sized Masula boats, with their crews, have been procured from Madras. Import operations can now be carried on throughout the year, if necessary, to the extent of one lakh of maunds a month.

11. At Machgaon.—The Machgaon Import Depot is situated on the Devee River, some twelve miles up its course. This river is not accessible for vessels of more than ten feet draught, and that only prior to the setting in of the South-West Monsoon, after which period the surf at the entrance of the river renders it unnavigable.

12. The depot has been supplied by means of the native sloops belonging to Balasore, which were formerly employed in the transport of Salt from Orissa to Calcutta. They were towed to and fro by steam tugs, but being a very unseaworthy class of vessels, the service was attended with some risk; and so early as the 24th of February, out of a batch of sloops in tow of a steam tug which met with rather heavy weather off Saugor, one foundered with a cargo of 800 maunds of rice, and the others had to return to Calcutta in a damaged condition and reland their cargoes, of which about 300 maunds were injured.

13. The Monsoon set in early and caused the supply of this depot to be discontinued about the middle of March.

14. At False Point.—False Point is the only safe harbour on the coast of Orissa, it affords excellent anchorage for vessels of not more than sixteen and seventeen feet draught, is sheltered from all but a North-East Gale, and has good holding ground of soft mud. It labours under a very serious disadvantage in the distance of its anchorage from the shore, some nine miles of very shallow water, not exceeding two feet in depth at low tide, having to be traversed before the shore is reached.

15. A hulk with fifty lascars, and under orders of a Port Master, has been stationed at the anchorage ground; and the transport of the rice between the discharging vessels and the depot which is situated on the Barkood creek, from which it takes its name, is effected by the Government Steamer Teesta and a small steamer, the Olga, which, with nine iron flats, has been kindly placed at the disposal of Government for hire by the East India Irrigation and Navigation Company.

16. An additional number of cargo-boats and iron flats was despatched from Calcutta at the early part of the season to supplement those lent by the Company, and with the arrangements now in force, one and a half lakh to two lakhs of maunds of rice could be easily landed monthly throughout the year at the Barkood Depot.

17. To assist in transporting the rice landed at Barkood into the interior, the river steamer India and two flats, capable of holding 4,000 maunds each, were purchased, and reached False Point in safety, but not without considerable risk; for, although despatched early in March, it was only by carefully watching the weather that she was able to reach her destination in safety, being exposed, as it was, to considerable danger in rounding Point Palmiras. A large iron flat sent down in tow of a steamer about the same time was less fortunate, and foundered when in sight of False Point, partly owing to negligence on the part of her crew in not keeping her pumped out during the night.

18. At Dhamrah.—The Dhamrah River which is the boundary of the Balasore and Cuttack Districts, is an estuary formed by the junction of the Brahminy, the Byturny, the Salundee, and the Muttai Rivers, and on it is situated the Dhamrah Depot, about twelve miles from its entrance.

19. The Rooknadaipore Depot is on the Muttai, about 30 miles from the Dhamrah Depot, the Chandballee Depot at the junction of the Salundee and Byturny Rivers, about 35 miles from the sea, and the Hunsooa and the Patomundai Depots are on the Brahminy, respectively distant,—18 and 35 miles from the Dhamrah Depot.

20. The bar at the mouth of the Dhamrah will not admit vessels of more than fourteen feet draught, except in the very highest tides. About ten miles up its course there is a second bar carrying but half fathom at low tide with a rise of about ten feet.

21. Hence the same mode of supply was adopted as at Machgaon during the earlier part of the season; but when the weather became too rough to admit of the native sloops being towed between Calcutta and the Dhamrah, large sea-going vessels were engaged, and anchored off the outer bar, and the native crafts were employed as lighters to receive their cargo, being towed to and from the depots by a couple of steam tugs These arrangements were subject to constant interruption and were even attended with considerable risk whenever the weather became unfavorable; and on one occasion a native sloop foundered off the outer buoy with 1,200 maunds of rice on board, the crew however being saved.

22. The climate of the Dhamrah is deadly, and operations have been much delayed by the constant illness (chiefly fever) among all those employed in this duty, whether in the river or on land.

23. Quantity of Grain supplied up to end of April.—By the end of April the total amount of grain supplied to the several Import Depots amounted to maunds 6,59,000 and was distributed amongst them as shewn in Appendix A.

24. Construction of Golahs.—One of the heaviest duties which has devolved upon the local officers, in connection with these operations, has been the construction of the golahs for the storage of the rice at the several import and sale depots.

25. Most of these depots are situated in localities where labor and building materials are not procurable, except with great difficulty and often from a considerable distance, yet notwithstanding what at one time appeared almost unsurmountable obstacles, the local officers have exerted themselves so energetically and effectually, that good substantial golahs have been erected within a period of three months, amply sufficient to meet the requirements of every import golah, and of eight out of the thirteen sale depots which are distributed over the Cuttack and Pooree Districts. The remaining five, it is reported, will be completed during the course of this month, although their sites were not selected until the middle of March.

26. With the exception of grain in transit the entire Government stock is well stored and protected.

27. Inland Transit.—Up to the end of April two and a half lakhs of maunds of rice had been conveyed, partly by water and partly by land, from the Import Depots, to the Inland Sale Depots, of which 84,000 maunds had been transported within the last month alone. As the means of conveyance will become easier and more numerous as the rivers rise, no apprehension is felt of any possibility of failure to keep the Inland Sale Depots fully supplied, up to their utmost requirements, from the end of the current month.

28. Sale and distribution of Grain.—On the 30th of April the total expenditure from the Government stocks amounted to just under two lakhs of maunds, distributed among the several Districts as below shewn :—

	Sold to the public.	Supplied to Famine Relief Committees.	Total.
	Mds.	Mds.	Mds.
Pooree District	387	47,266	47,653
Cuttack „	17,993	1,14,970	1,32,963
Balasore „	101	15,199	15,300
Total ...	18,481	1,77,435	1,95,916

29. Both the sales to the public and the gratuitous distribution of rice have been greatest, it will be observed, in the Cuttack District, and this was to be expected, as it is in that District that the heavy inundation of last August caused the most extended injury.

30. Hitherto there has been a very extensive importation of rice on private account into the suffering tracts of Orissa, on the north from that portion of Balasore which escaped inundation, on the west from the Gurjats or Tributary Mehals and from Sumbulpore viâ the Mohanuddee, and on the south from Ganjam ; but already these have much diminished and will probably cease almost entirely except in the case of the Sumbulpore supplies, which may be expected to increase as the Mohanuddee River rises.

31. Undoubtedly the demand on the Government stock, both for public sales and for the requirements of the Famine Relief Committee, will largely increase month by month, up to the end of August, or even to the middle of September ,when, should the Province be blessed with a good crop of the early or Beallee rice, the demand should rapidly decrease until it altogether ceases with the incoming Sarud or main rice crop, which is harvested in December.

32. On the other hand should the Province be again visited by such a calamity as the inundation from which it suffered last year, it will be for Government to determine what measures are to be taken for the coming year.

33. In any case we must be now prepared to meet all possible demands up to the end of September.

34. Probable requirements of Grain up to September next.—The Calcutta Famine Relief Committee estimate, it is understood, their probable requirements of grain from the 1st of May up to the end of September at five lakhs of maunds.

35. Balance on hand on 30th April, and amount of further importations.—The balance in store on the 30th of April was maunds 4,40,700 as shewn in Appendix B. The imports still to be landed, amount to 3,68,000 maunds, giving an aggregate of maunds 8,08,700, or allowing for inevitable loss or wastage, say of seven and a half lakhs of maunds.

36. There would therefore be left, after supplying the Famine Relief Committee, two and a half lakhs of maunds for sale to the public and this should suffice.

37. Estimate of cost of operations.—No accurate calculation of the cost attending the operations can be formed until the importation of grain has ceased, but a rough estimate may be arrived at by taking the cost of each maund of rice, inclusive of all expenses, whether of purchase, transport, storage, establishments, loss, &c., at from Rupees 4 to 4-8 per maund. This rate for 10½ lakhs of maunds would give from 42 lakhs to 47¼ lakhs of Rupees as the total cost, less of course the amount recovered by sale to the public and to the Famine Relief Committees, which however can scarcely be taken at more than 28 lakhs, leaving a net charge to Government of from 14 to 19 lakhs, exclusive of the cost of Government assistance towards the operations of the Famine Relief Committee.

38. The Board desire to take this opportunity of recording their sense of the very great assistance they have received from the Master Attendant, who, although in no way subordinate to the Board, has responded on every occasion most cheerfully to the call of the Board for advice and for aid; and to him is due the credit that is deserved for the manner in which the exportation of some four and a half lakhs of maunds of rice from Calcutta has been conducted.

39. The Board also desire to bring to the notice of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor the unremitting exertions of the Commissioner and his subordinates. Overburthened as the local officers have been with a most unusual press of work in connection with the famine, with remission of revenue, and with a re-settlement of the Province, they have yet carried through, to the entire satisfaction of the Board, the harassing and multifarious duties involved in these operations, and have borne cheerfully the continued strain which, owing to the necessity for immediate action, the Board were obliged to throw on them.

40. The annexed map shews the position of the several Import and Sale Depots, as well as the Famine Relief Centres, which latter have been established by the Famine Relief Committees.

From H. L. Harrison, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 2279, dated the 14th June 1867.

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter No. 1026L., dated the 3rd instant, submitting a further report on the operations relating to the importation of grain on behalf of Government into the Province of Orissa, I am directed by the Lieutenant-Governor to communicate the following remarks and instructions.

2. It is estimated that, through the Ports of False Point and Pooree, from two and a half to three lakhs of maunds of rice can be imported and landed, monthly, throughout the year, and that a certain quantity, not easily estimable, can also be landed at the Depôt situated on the Dhamra. The Lieutenant-Governor would remind the Board how necessary it is that care should be taken to keep the supply well in excess of the anticipated requirements of rice to be landed at Pooree, as it will be recollected that at that Port, in consequence of bad weather, no less than seven weeks were occupied in unloading one vessel last year.

Paragraphs 9 and 15.

3. The matter of the sinking of the Flat off False Point, whilst in tow of the Steamer Union, has lately been under the consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor, and has been disposed of in a separate correspondence.

Paragraph 17.

4. The quantity of rice transported inland, up to the end of April last, was two and a half lakhs of maunds only, out of 6,59,000 maunds landed. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the expectations of making greater progress in this branch of the operations have been realised.

Paragraph 27.

5. With reference to paragraphs 31 and 36, the Lieutenant-Governor requests that the Board will furnish him with the earliest possible information of stocks and expenditure up to the end of May. It will be obvious to the Board that the increase of the demand for the imported rice should be very closely watched, so as to prevent any possibility of the supply failing.

Paragraphs 31 and 36.

6. A copy of paragraph 38 will be forwarded to the Master Attendant, with an expression of the Lieutenant-Governor's satisfaction at the ready and able assistance rendered by that officer in the exportation of grain from the Presidency.

Paragraph 38.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor is well aware of the pressure with which the Commissioner and his subordinates have to contend in connexion with famine operations; and he fully appreciates the unremitting and efficient exertion which they are making.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor directs me to thank the Board for this very complete report.

From H. L. HARRISON, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Master Attendant, Calcutta,—(No. 2281, dated the 14th June 1867.)

IN forwarding the annexed extract, paragraph 38, from a Report* by the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, on the operations relating to the importation of rice into the Province of Orissa, the Lieutenant-Governor desires me to convey his thanks to you for the ready and able assistance which you have rendered in the exportation of grain from the Presidency.

Progress of Importation.

From T. B. LANE, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 1055I., dated the 4th June 1867.)

I AM directed to forward herewith in original,* for the information of Government, a report by the Commissioner of Cuttack, on the progress of the importation operations and the general condition of the province; and to request its return with six printed copies, when no longer required.

* No. 621¾, dated 18th May.

From T. E. RAVENSHAW, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 621¾, dated the 18th May 1867.)

IN continuation of my No. 496 of 30th April, I have the honor to report further on the progress of importation and condition of the country.

2. Mr. Geddes, on 28th April, found a good golah, to hold 2,000 bags, had been erected by the Relief Committee at Bhuddruck, and 500 bags were then in store; 34 orphans had been collected from relief centres and were to be forwarded to Balasore. There appears to be some difficulty about the terms on which the children are to be made over to the Missionaries. The Government grant is insufficient, and what is wanting is a guarantee from Government that the children's expenses will be paid, the Missionaries will then be in a position to make permanent arrangements for their comfort and education in a matter of this sort. Government should not hesitate to guarantee a fixed and adequate allowance for its adopted children. It must be borne in mind that the education of these children in a proper manner may tend more to the future enlightenment and improvement of Orissa than any other means, and the subject is one of imperial necessity. Money has been given by Government with a free hand to feed the poor, and the position of these orphans should be at once put on a permanent and satisfactory footing.

3. Many tantees or weavers about Bhuddruck are enquiring what Government is going to do for them; they cannot make cotton weaving pay in competition with imported goods and consequently their livelihood is gone. This class are exceedingly averse from caste prejudice to engage in any other occupation, and have suffered most severely during the famine and, in comparing with the salt manufactures, are ruined by British importations, which have driven them out of the market, and the sooner they take to some other means of living the better, but this will doubtless be a long and tedious process. An experiment made at Bhuddruck in relieving weavers failed entirely, as after an expenditure of some Rupees 8,000 only, 7 or 800 Rupees worth of cloth was obtained.

4. On the road from Bhuddruck to Rooknadaipore upwards of 700 paupers are employed, receiving money wages of one anna per day, which had been raised to 5 pice. They are paid daily, and have a rice shop from which they obtain their food; this work is efficiently superintended by Mr. O'Rielly, Deputy Magistrate; most of the paupers at work are women, and appeared in good health and condition.

5. The Rooknadaipore golah is finished, but wants a raised platform for protection of the rice from damp. The walls have not been made rain-proof, although there is a plentiful supply of Calcutta mats on the spot; Mr. Geddes pointed out these defects; the golah is capable of holding 10,000 bags, and there were 3,026 bags in store on 1st May. The demand for sale to the public is nil; the issues up to date to relief committee and to road works has amounted to 2,151 bags, so that the aggregate of stock assigned to Rooknadaipore has been 5,177 bags; in addition to this stock, a further supply of 6,277 bags will be assigned from the cargo of the Alfred, and bring up the stock to 11,454 bags, but little short of the original estimate of 25,000 maunds.

6. In and about Rooknadaipore rice is cheap and abundant, and careful enquiry shewed the price to be from fifteen to sixteen seers per rupee, or Rs. 2-8 per maund. In ascertaining the rates of prices of rice, Police constables appeared to be able to procure at cheaper than any one else: unhusked paddy sells here at thirty-two to thirty-five seers at Panpow, in Pergunnah Bhera, east of the Matai River, and at Koloh in the same Pergunnah, west of the Matai, rice was selling at fourteen seers per rupee, and was procurable without difficulty.

7. Prices were being kept down by supplies of paddy coming on pack-bullocks from the Gurjat States. A considerable trade also goes on between Bhuddruck and North-East Cuttack through the tidal creeks. On his way from Rooknadaipore to Balliapal, Mr. Geddes met ten Cuttack boats of 100 to 150 maunds going northwards for rice; three of these boats came from Pergunnah Assurasur in Cuttack, three from Pergunnah Nahkhund, and four from Puttamoondai in Kendrapara Sub-Division. Same boats were going up empty, others laden with pumpkins and oil seeds to exchange for paddy. The boatmen stated that they had already carried during the present season 1,828 maunds of rice to Cuttack, and that the price they paid was about twenty-five seers of paddy per rupee. I regret to state that this healthy trade is reported to be seriously interrupted by the extortionate and unauthorized tolls levied at the Police Salt Chowkies and outposts on the Matai River.

8. I enclose an extract verbatim from Mr. Geddes' diary, which speaks for itself. Copy has also been forwarded to the Magistrate of Balasore, with orders to cause the Superintendent of Police to make a proper enquiry and to punish the delinquents, and further, to obviate by more frequent visits to these out of the way posts the possibility of a recurrence of such rascallity. The Assistant Superintendent of Police at Bhuddruck and the Inspector of the Police Division, particularly the latter, should be called to account as to why this systematic plunder has not been long ago brought to notice.

9. The manufacture of salt under license in Balasore this season has afforded very seasonable employment to the neighbouring population on the coast, and it is to be hoped will put a stop to illicit manufacture, which is said to be chiefly carried on the mouth of Khansbars River. Salt sells at three annas a seer, and appears tremendous temptation in these hard times, more particularly when a pot of brine and a bundle of sticks is all the capital required for its manufacture.

10. The country near Bhuddruck and along the Rooknadaipoor road eastward to Sabrung is doing very well, the extent of ploughing indicates confidence among the people, and abundance of employment is thus afforded to the laboring classes; the area planted is not great, as the time for sowing the heavy crop has hardly arrived. A ploughman earns two annas a day, and a boy 1½ annas, and find themselves in food; this appears a very liberal rate of wage, which has probably risen considerably, as compared with the rates paid in former years; the amount of labor thus employed is considerable and is a very healthy sign. No one west of Sabrung has any difficulty in procuring seed, but to the east and towards the coast from a line drawn through Sabrung, including half of Pergunnah Bhera and half of Ankoorah, and passing through Bassoodebpoor to Churamon and the Sea. The state of the country is very precarious; the loss of life and consequent abandonment of houses and cultivation has been great, perhaps not more than a sixth part of the ordinary cultivated area has been ploughed. Rice, however, is comparatively cheap, as the tract is traversed by the trade already noted, between west Bhuddruck and North East Cuttack, and the people can obtain supplies; the ryots speak gloomily of the future, and expect hard times when the rains set in and until December.

11. Mr. Irwin was, however, of opinion that sufficient land had been, and would be, cultivated to support the remaining population after harvest, and meanwhile they must depend mainly on the Government stock of rice. The mahajuns are unwilling to lend seed, and the people have no confidence in their Zemindars; 480 bags of seed, which arrived per Alfred, will be taken to Koloh, and there distributed as an advance dini to the ryots who have no means; those who have money can buy their seed at no great distance. Pergunnah Bhera is dependent on one crop (the sarad), and has little or no double crop lands. I am unable to understand why the Bhuddruck and Mutoh road, running through Koloh, has not been more rigorously pushed on and more people employed. I have addressed the Collector on the subject, as there were no less than 280 paupers at the Koloh relief centre fit for work who ought to be employed, and the paupers from Panpore centre might be similarly utilized. Mr. Geddes states that the people of the neighbouring country would willingly take work.

12. The relief arrangements at Koloh, Panpore, and Dhamrah, visited by Mr. Geddes, were anything but satisfactory; there appeared to be want of system and a deficiency in shelter for the paupers. These matters have been communicated direct to the Famine Commissioner, and with the large staff of relief officers now employed, a more frequent supervision of the centres and corrections of irregularities and abuses will be insisted on.

13. At Dhamrah the Alfred had been lightened and got inside the outer bar into smooth water, and her cargo was being rapidly discharged. As soon as direct importations to Dhamrah have ceased, it is proposed to remove the balance of rice stock to South Baliapal, which is in every respect better, more central, and healthy situation. Another cargo by the Mula is ordered to Dhamrah, and it is probable that the stock will then be sufficient and importations to Dhamrah may cease; the weather had been most unfavorable, and the anchorage is so far out at sea and so exposed, it is with the greatest difficulty and danger the sloops can be got alongside a rice ship. On 7th May, Mr. Geddes visited the Chandballee godown, the site of which is healthy and convenient; the stock of rice was on 1st May 9,529 bags, one golah has been finished and holds 9,000 bags; some of the rice is still stocked under temporary shelter, but is quite secure from wet.

14. The total stock for Bhuddruck Sub-Division is as follows: On 1st May, Dhamrah 11,444 bags, Chandballee 9,529 bags, and Rooknadaipore 3,026 bags, aggregating 23,999=46,703 maunds, exclusive of the cargoes of two sloops in transit=1,885 bags, and the balance of the cargo of the Alfred still unloading, say about 5,000 bags, (of this I am uncertain); the total will therefore amount to about 30,884 bags, or 61,768 maunds. Mr. Schalch's original estimate of the requirements of Bhuddruck and South Balasore was 1,50,000 maunds for nine months, viz., from 1st January to 30th September; of this period four months have passed without any extensive demand on our stocks, and on the original estimate 5-9 should be required for the remaining five months, or 83,330 maunds=41,665 bags; to meet this we have available 30,884 bags, having a balance of 10,781 as due according to estimate.

15. But to this must be added sufficient to supply one-half of Pergunnah Bhera, one-half of Pergunnah Ankoorah, an area of about ninety-four square miles, not originally included in the famine tract, one-third of the population of this additional tract at 200 per square mile, or 6,266 souls, may be estimated to require three maunds each per head for five months, or 18,789 maunds=9,394½ bags; this added to the deficiency above noted for the originally estimated famine tract on 10,781 bags×9,394 bags gives 20,175 bags of rice as now necessary to be imported to the Dhamrah, in accordance with the principles of Mr. Schalch's original estimate.

16. Experience, however, of the past four months leads me to suppose that the estimate formed was considerably in excess, and it was avowedly prepared to be on the safe side; it is quite possible, even probable, that the stock now in hand may carry us through the season, but to prevent all possibility of failure, I would adhere to my present arrangement under which the Mula is, in order to discharge her next cargo at Dhamrah, when this has been delivered. I am of opinion that further importations to Dhamrah may safely cease. The Dhamrah stock will then be transferred to South Balliapal, and an additional golah is being constructed at Bhuddruck. When these arrangements are completed, ample provision will have been made for Balasore.

17. In passing from Chandballee to Hansoa, Mr. Geddes made frequent visits to the villages on either side of the river; the extent of land ploughed in parts of Kunnika is considerable: stocks of straw near the cultivators' houses indicated that the whole of last season's crop had not been lost; rice was selling in the hâts at about 13 Calcutta seers per rupee, but there is but little trade; many houses were being re-thatched, a sure and certain sign that the inmates are above want.

18. At Hansoa golah, on 1st May, the stock in hand was 30,177 bags; during the whole of April 239 bags had been sold to the public, and the total issues from the golah for the same period was 3,259 bags; at the relief centre 450 paupers were being maintained, many of them of good caste and greatly emaciated, appeared to have arrived recently from Koojung. The abuses noticed by Mr. Geddes at his last visit to Hansoa, and the indiscriminate feeding of Brahmins had been stopped, and the centre was properly and systematically managed. At all the golahs visited by Mr. Geddes. He carefully checked the accounts, and ascertained that they are properly and regularly kept; some minor errors and irregularities were discovered and adjusted.

19. Salt at Hansoca was selling at three pice per seer, with every reason to suppose that it was of illicit manufacture as far as the salt tracts extend. Mr. Geddes was led to suppose from the accounts received that salt manufacture and smuggling on a small scale is systematically practised; the check exercised by the Police, except in respect to levy of a search fee from boats, is nil. At Botnagurh, about four miles south of Hansoca, the Head Constable of the outpost had thrown out a supplementary post at the mouth of the Hansoca Nulla, nominally to check smuggling; but as this was one of the places mentioned by the boatmen, Mr. Geddes met on the Matai, it is evident the object is more to levy a toll than to prevent illicit trade. This subject has been brought to the notice of the Cuttack Magistrate.

20. I have further information regarding Kunika Estate from the Collector of Cuttack, who is now on the spot. The Chamookha portion of Kunika has suffered severely from flood, but the destruction has not been so complete as in other parts, as the country is higher, and much of the crop was saved; the cultivators are in good condition, and there is no present appearance of famine or even distress among them. As regards the future things look well; a large portion of the lands have been ploughed and prepared for the coming crop, which has been partly sown and looks well; some villages have suffered much, and the miserable condition of disrepair of the houses indicates great poverty. No attempt appears to be made by the people to put their houses in order; the ryots have not been well treated by their Surberakars, who have collected the whole of the last year's and about half of the present year's rents. The Surberakars generally are a most turbulent and dissatisfied set, penniless and obstructive in the extreme. The Deputy Collector as manager of the estate, appears to exercise but little influence for good in mediating between the Surberakars and people. The Collector had been busy, organizing repairs to the embankments, for which funds have been provided from the proceeds of the estate, and had obtained assistance from Mr. Odling, the Assistant Executive Engineer. There is, notwithstanding the distress, considerable difficulty in procuring labor; the ryots will not work, though repair of the embankments is necessary for protection of their lands, and the rates of wages had been raised as an inducement to work.

21. In Punchmookha the loss of crops has been more severe, and great distress was reported; the Collector was about to proceed to this part of the estate; the golah at Paint is in a forward state, and the sales here will be of great assistance to the people, as it is situated in the midst of the worst part of Kunika. I hope shortly to be in possession of fuller particulars regarding this part of the country.

Extract from MR. GEDDES' Diary of Tour, Fourth Part, of 28th April 1867.

THE Police Constables at two out-posts on the Matai River, namely Panchtikree and Balliapal habitually levy a toll on every boat not in Government employ which passes up or down the river. Each one of the different five parties of boatmen whom I met from Rooknudaipore downwards complained to me of this abuse. A Police Constable, who had left Dhamrah on sick leave and his family complained also that his boat people had had to pay for leave to pass Panchtikree out-post, and got off at Balliapal only by reason of personal acquaintance with the Police people there; none of the five separate parties of boatmen knew anything of the complaints made by the other convoys, so that the complaints could not have been concerted, even if a concerted complaint was otherwise probable. The tax levied is not large, generally 4 annas to 8 annas, but the bullying commences at a higher figure, a demand for one or two rupees, and is gradually reduced as in a Dutch auction.

The boats are detained and sometimes lose a tide. The damage occasioned is certainly not heavy, and in this the constables do wisely so as to make it not worth while for an aggrieved party to go to the expense of a prosecution. The oppression is maintained under color of the Salt Law, and the tax is called the talashee fee, or fee to avoid searching for salt. I would submit that though the tax extorted is light, and although the boatmen have not public spirit enough to prosecute, yet such an abuse is disgraceful to an administration, and is obnoxious to a kind of trade which is of the highest importance at present. I trust, therefore, that you will call for an explanation from the District Superintendent as to why such an abuse goes on among his officers. I shall state the details of one of the complaints which I heard. On my arrival at Balliapal, on the afternoon of the 2nd, the manjee of the boat in which I was travelling commenced conversing with another manjee whose boat was lying too. I could not help overhearing their conversation when I was in my boat, and I heard the manjee of the other boat say that he has to pay 4 annas to the Head Constable there. I then asked the manjee what this was for, and finding that this was a complaint similar to the four complaints I already heard, I sent for the Head Constable, Durpo Narain, whose out-post was only a few yards from the ghât. I sent also for the boatmen of the Police dâk-boats which was close by. I examined the manjees of the three trading boats separately.

1*st*.—Bassoo Soy of Nabkhund, Cuttack.
2*nd*.—Gobind Soy of " "
3*rd*.—Some Nath of " "

I examined them immediately and took care by remaining separately then during the examination, that they could not have an opportunity of concerting their story. The substance of the story (in which by the way all three united) is as follows: "After we had put to here, we went into the village to see if we could get rice to buy or exchange; on our way past the station here, the Jemadar here (pointing to Durpo Narain, Head Constable,) who was setting in his court-yard with the Moonshee here (pointing to Bimhadhur Doss, Sub-Inspector of Motoh) called out to me to come. After hearing my business he said I should have to pay. I find I have not noted this figure in my written memoranda, but so far as I recollect it was Rupees 3, Rupees 3 tallashee fees for the three boats with me. I pleaded and remonstrated, and finally, after I entreated him on my knees, the Jemadars agreed to take 4 annas only, and then required me to pay his sum in mustard seed, which forms my cargo. I did so. The Moonshee was by all the time. He, the Moonshee, said he wanted to buy Rupees 3 worth of mustard seed, and so I gave him this bagful. I think I got the price to which I am entitled. I do not know yet how much paddy I could get for this bagful of mustard seed. How was I to know or what to do; it was a hakim who wanted the mustard seed. After we had left the station the pawnwallas (pointing to the men of Police dâk-boat) demanded 12 annas as their tallashee; they demanded our names and commenced writing, and said they would forward us to the sahibe, and so I thought there was something in that, and begged how to get off with a less sum. After a lot of entreating I was let off for 18 pice (1½ annas.)

The Sub-Inspector, in reply, said he was afraid the Balliapâl Head Constable might be a villain, but he himself knew nothing of the matter, except that he had bought and paid for Rupees 3 worth of mustard seed. The Head Constable for his part pleaded that he was very ill with an ague fit fever (an untruth, for his skin was all right) and that he would not tell a lie for the whole world, and that he was innocent. I have not the slightest hesitation in pronouncing him guilty. I did not enquire into the matter judicially, but executively, my instructions being not to interfere with details of administration.

Wholesale smuggling is thus universal. I notice that the Police Constables of the Beeturgur out-post, about 1½ miles south of Hansoa golah, have spontaneously, and without order, gone to the trouble of putting up a subsidiary out-post at the mouth of the Hansoa Nullah, nominally to maintain supervision of the Salt Law. As one of the convoys of boats in the Matai River complained of tolls being levied at Hansoa, I suspect these Constables have other views than the interests of the State Exchequer, and think Mr. Jones, of Jossporc, or Mr. Dawson, of Kendrapara, should be continued to see that tolls are not systematically levied on trading boats as at Balliapal.

From H. L. HARRISON, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,—(No. 2282, dated the 14th June 1867.)

I AM directed by the Lieutenant-Governor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 1055L., dated the 4th instant, and, with reference to the report by the Officiating Commissioner of the Cuttack Division, therewith submitted, on the progress of importation operations in, and the general condition of, the Province of Orissa, I am to communicate the following remarks and instructions.

Officiating Commissioner's 2nd paragraph.

2. The General Famine Relief Committee asked for the grant, by Government, of Rupees 2 a head per mensem, for the support of the orphans left destitute in consequence of the recent famine, and stated that they themselves would meet whatever additional expenditure was necessary for this purpose. Their request was duly complied with, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that the Commissioner may be called upon to explain more precisely how the allowance that is received, is "inadequate."

Officiating Commissioner's 3rd paragraph.

3. The distress among the weavers at Bhuddruck is, in great measure, attributable to other causes than the famine. His Honor fears that it is out of the question to attempt to counteract the causes which are throwing them out of employ and driving their handicraft out of the market. The local officers should kindly, but firmly, explain to the leading men that they have been driven out of the field by competition, and that henceforth they must betake themselves to other work, which the Commissioner should offer to them when possible.

Officiating Commissioner's 7th and 8th paragraphs.

4. With reference to the unauthorized habitual levy of tolls at the Police Salt Chowkies and Outposts on the Matai River, as reported by Mr. Geddes, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that it is greatly to be regretted that that Officer, who possesses judicial powers, did not so far use his discretion, and, after holding a formal proceeding, convict the Head Constable, Durpo Narain. His Honor, however, accepts the conclusion at which Mr. Geddes has arrived, that the Constable is guilty of extortion. The Inspector-General of Police, Lower Provinces, will be informed accordingly, and directed to order the Head Constable's immediate dismissal from the service; and the Officiating Commissioner will be instructed to make these orders known to the Police of the district generally. That Officer will also be required to submit, for the information of Government, a report on the result of the enquiry ordered to be instituted by the District Superintendent of Police, Balasore, and of the measures taken to prevent any repetition of such malpractices.

Officiating Commissioner's 11th paragraph.

5. The Officiating Commissioner will also be requested to submit a special report as to the progress which has been made in the construction of the Bhuddruck and Mutoh road, and the failure to employ the paupers who are fit for work.

Officiating Commissioner's 14th paragraph.

6. I am to point out that the calculation made in paragraph 14 of the Commissioner's letter, of the actual quantity of rice required for the Bhuddruck Sub-Division, up to the end of September next, is probably fallacious and apt to mislead. It is presumed that Mr. Schalch, in framing his estimates, made due allowance for the probability that the demand on the Government rice would be much greater in the later than in the earlier months. That being the case, and Mr. Schalch's estimate being accepted as the basis of calculation, it cannot safely be estimated that the consumption of the five months which have still to run will not exceed five-ninths of the entire quantity estimated for nine months.

Renewal of the exsisting Settlement in Orissa.

THE Commissioner of the Cuttack Division has been authorized to publish the following Notification regarding the settlement of Orissa:—

NOTIFICATION.

THE Governor General in Council, after considering the subject of re-settlement of Orissa Districts, has ordered the renewal of the existing settlement exactly as it stands for a further term of thirty years.

2. This arrangement, while it will leave thannee ryots in the advantageous position they are believed to occupy, viz., that of ryots with rents fixed during currency of the settlement, ought at the same time to operate as an inducement to Zemindars to show every consideration and reasonable indulgence to the pahee ryots, whose rents are subject to enhancement under the general law.

3. It is certain that, notwithstanding recent calamities of famine and flood, Zemindars ought speedily to recover from their difficulties under a settlement which was moderate at the time it was made, and has since become extraordinarily light, owing to the immense rise in the value of produce. This will leave a large profit to the Zemindar without affording inducement to rack-rent his tenantry.

4. This decision of the Supreme Government is now published for general information; and it is further notified that the current thirty years' settlement will expire on 26th Bhadro 1274 = 9th September 1867. All Zemindars, Surburakars or Malgoozars paying revenue direct to Government, are hereby called upon to appear before their several District Collectors, either in person or by duly authorised agent, to execute an agreement or kabooleut, in annexed form, renewing their engagements on the same terms for a further period of twenty years. It is to be clearly and distinctly understood that the rights of all under-tenants and ryots, as secured to them under the former settlement, are to be similarly continued for a further period of twenty years.

5. All Zemindars, Surburakars and Malgoozars are hereby invited and warned to appear before the Collectors of their respective districts on or before the 1st of August 1867 = 18th Srawun 1274, to execute the aforesaid renewed kabooleut for their holdings or estates for a further period of twenty years, namely, from commencement of the Umlee year 1275 to the end of the Umlee year 1294.

6. In default of such kabooleut or agreement being entered into by the 1st August 1867 = 18th Srawun 1274, the Collector will consider them as recusant, and will take proceedings to bring their estates under Government management, or to farm them out in accordance with the provisions of Regulation VII. of 1822.

T. E. RAVENSHAW,
Officiating Commissioner.
